NEW CHEVROLET VIEWED BY MANY

Many New Mechanical Innovations Embodied In The New Car

Wildfire enthusiasm kindled throughout the country last week when the new Chevrolet line for 1928 went on display took particular account of the many mechanical innovations embodied in the new car.

Thousands who viewed the new models noted that the wheelbase was increased and bodies made roomier and more beautiful, also that the mechanical features had been developed to a measure heretofore unknown in the low price class.

Outstanding developments in the engine and chassis that received widespread endorsement were the increased speed and power of the new car, easier steering, four wheel brakes of the new design, shock absorber springs marking an advanced trend toward riding comfort, and smoother engine performance.

The last mentioned feature was achieved by the use of constant clearance alloy "invar strut" pistons which make for smoother, more efficient motor performance. Further contributions toward this end were gained by raising the compression ratio and by stepping up the valve lifts. Thorugh these changes maximum power is developed.

Other changes in the engine are the addition of a breathing sytem to eliminate the annoyance of engine fuwes; a new two-port exhaust, and a silencing engine enclosure.

The four-wheel brakes are of nonlocking-design—the product of Chevrolet laboratories plus the facilities of General Motors laboratories and proving grounds. Front brakes are two-shoe unenergized internals, while the rear brakes are the energized external self wrapping type. Front and rear brakes have been proportioned to prevent side drag or pull. Each brake has an individual adjustment at the wheels, while "stops" have been provided to make the adjustment process especially easy. Easy initial pedal application throws the front brakes into action. Further application throws front brakes harder into action, and also brings the rear brakes into full play, so that it is possible to slide the rear wheels on dry pavement by using full pressure but not the front wheels.

The effect of this, according to Chevrolet engineers is to get uniform wear on the brake lining.

The springs also are of extraordinary interest. Realizing that all uncomfortable spring action is the result of rebound after striking a bump Chevrolet engineers set about to increase the friction of the springs and thus check the rebound.

This end was achieved by equipping the springs with special rebound checks Two checks are on each spring located half way between the center spring shackle and the spring end. These rebound checks are inverted bow shaped steel leaves assembled under high pressure against the top of the spring leaf, the ends pressing against the top of

THORSBY BAPTIST S. SCHOOL IS A-1

First School in State To Classify For Standard Of Excellence

Sunday morning, January 1st, with the temperature around 18 degrees, a large crowd of enthusiastic Sunday School people gathered at the First Baptist Church in Thorsby. After ten Intermediate boys and girls had explained the requirements of the Standard of Excellence, the school was checked. It was found that the school had attained the Standard of an A-1 school for 1928.

This Sunday school is the first one in the entire state to classify for the Standard of Excellence this year. The striking things about it is she classified the first day, is only a half time church, and has less than 200 resident church members.

Thorsby for the past few months has been the only Standard Sunday school in Chilton County. She now steps up a few notches and becowes the first Standard Sunday school on the huge honor roll in the Montgomery office.

Many people over the state are asking, how is it that Thorsby is able to do all these things with such a small membership? The answer is she has one of the best superintendents in the state, and every teacher and officer has found the thrill that comes from achievement, and each member of the entire Sunday school is enthusiastic and ardently loyal. Thus you have the secret of any successful Sunday school.

Rev. J. H. Roberts is the pastor of this church as well as pastor of several other churches in Chilton County.

This pastor, the superintendent, and the entire Sunday School are to be congratulated upon their splendid achievement and progress. May many others follow in the foo steps of this splendid church.

Legislature of 1927 Made Year Notable

Equalization of Tax Burden and Other Measures Mark Achievement

"The greatest year in its history", is the verdict of thousands of persons regarding the work of the state government, particularly of the legislature, during 1927. In many ways the record established in 1927 has been the greatest in the state's history. Notable achievements were registered by the legislature during its summer session which began early in June and continued until September 2.

For many years efforts had been made to persuade the legislature that large interests, such as railroads, power companies, companies owning mineral lands, were not bearing the fair share of the burden of taxation, with the result that adequate revenue was not obtained for public education, public helath and other governmental activities which the American people have come to demand of the state governments.

The corporations were always able to wield sufficient influence to prevent the passage of revenue laws which required them to pay a portion of the increase in taxes needed at frequent intervals because of expansion of state activities.

In 1927 the legislature declined to accept dictation from representatives of the corporations with the result that a revenue law was passed which required railroads, power companies, mineral companies and other large interests to pay a portion of their profits into the state treasury fo rthe advancement of education and public health.

This record alone marks 1927 as a year of unusual achievement on the part of those entrusted with public position in the state government.

Immediately after adequate revenue had been obtained, the legislature proceeded to appropriate it to public education and public helath. The bulk of the new money which will come to the state treasury as a result of the new revenue law will be used in the education of the youth and in the advancement of measures intended to conserve the health of the people.

A third achievement of the state government was the abolition of the convict lease system and the enactment of legislation providing for the

Our Tax Situation?

—AN EDITORIAL

It is a matter of common knowledge with every voter and tax payer in Chilton County that the Chairman and director of the present Commisioner's Court who has directed and dictated the affairs of all Commissioner's Courts for the past eleven years has always used as his battle cry, "That he saves the people money." His watchword has been "Economy." He has reported that his business ability and judgement justifies his continuation in power.

As we enter the year of 1928, a political year, when the control of County affairs will be determined by the votes at the polls we think it fit and proper that the manner in which one major feature of the County's affairs has been handled should be considered--not some little petty economy, but a matter of great and vital importance to the people as a whole.

On June 31, 1925 there was a surplus in the County Treasury, in the general fund, of $31,516.54. This surplus had jumped in one year,- June 31, 1926 to $53,173.79. A year ago on December 31, 1926 was $66,706.34. On June 30, 1927 it had climbed almost $10,000 00 more and had reached the total of $76,116.11.

These figures are taken from official report of the Treasurer of Chilton County. What do they mean?

The present County tax rate is50 cents on the $100.00 and figured on a $15,000,000.00 assessments, the county will receive annually from this source $75,000.00. The power to levy the general County Tax on property rests with the Commissioners Court. They can levy 50 cents on the $100.00 or any less amount than that, or they do not need to levy any tax at all, if the County's needs do not require it.

Is it not a fair conclusion that there was no necessity for the levy of any property tax in the County last year? The surplus has increased roughly speaking about $20,000.00 a year which would mean that about $55,000.00 would have supplied the needs of the Conuty this year and with $76,000.00 as a surplus, it is clear to any one that a useless, unfair, and unjust burden was placed upon every tax payer of Chilton County by the levy of a tax payable October 1, 1927 for County purposes.

Not only this but it appears that if it is an unwise policy to take off a tax levy for any one year that the County tax levy should have been reduced two or three years ago to at least 30 cents on the $100.00 and that insofar s this was not done an unfair and unjust burden was imposed on every tax payer of Chilton County.

Can there be any answer to these conclusions ? It is true that the County owes certain bonds and it is also true that the proceeds of the special road tax which is an addition to the general fund and also not considered above is pledged to the payment there of. The County has made an effort to retire these bonds and it has been found that it can not do so until they mature, and it is therefore non sensical to build up the surplus with the due date of these bonds years off, leaving this money to lie idle with no income and to be used as a political football, when it could even be invested and bring the County a far better return on its money. The interest on this surplus at 8per cent is costing someone about $6000.00 a year.

It goes without saying that our schools are in a deplorable condition and this is made evident by the fact that the Chairman of the Court of County Commissioners was Chairman of the Committee which last summer attempted to add an additional one mill tax on the people of this County for school purposes. Surely he would not have done this had he not honestly believed that the schools needed it, yet the Court with a vast surplus makes no move to relieve the school situation when in certain communities in this County forward looking and upright citizens have obligated themselves personally to such an extent to help their schools as to practically cripple them in their private affairs.

Our conclusion is that none of this money will ever be used for schools. Many of the more progressive citizens of this County have advocated the establishment of a heaith unit just as those same citizens advocated a County agent.

The chairman of the Commissioners Court likes to brag on the stump that he can handle a health problem at so much per day and there by save the County money. This of course, is the same line of thought that deprived Chilton County of a County agent for many years until the people spoke in no uncertain terms. It is useless, of course, to argue those to whom his view point appears but it is significient to note that the loss of interest on the County's surplus would more than pay the full cost of a full time health unit.

We conclude again that there is no hope from the present County Government of any progress along this line hence no need for money there.

Evidently the County had had enough money spent for it from the general fund to cover its needs according to those who approved the bills and it would appear that these figures would demonstrate that there is no reason to anticipate any greater expenditures in the future. We certainly hope under present conditions that none of this money will ever be applied to the road building system of Chilton County. Every thinking citizen of this County knows that the present administration has spent more County money out of the general funds than any that has preceeded it. They likewise know that neither the Probate Judge nor the Commissioners deserve one iota of credit for the surplus. This was amply demonstrated by a Republican who opposed the present chairman in the primary in 1922. Every citizen with ordinary common sense knows that the primary cause of this surplus is that the Alabama Power Company located two dams in this County which accounts for about two-thirds of our taxes.

We know that the present chairman will over his signature make a vigorous answer to and take violent exception to the conclusion expressed about it and of course many of his henchmen will sign prepared letters explaining, but the day for all such is passed. It is open to the voters and tax payers of this County to check up for themselves. We urge them to do it and form their own Conclusions.

THINK IT OVER MR. TAX PAYER.

CONVICT LABOR ON STATE ROADS

Finnell's Report Shows That Prisoners Have Built 120 Miles Highways

Opponents of the abolition of the convict lease system who contended that convict labor could not be made profitable on the public highways received a blow Friday by the announcement of Judge Woosley Finnell, state highway director that the state highway commission had constructed approximately 120 miles of standard highways with convict labor since the county convicts were taken from the lease system on June 1.

Judge Finnell also stated tat records of the highway commission show that highways built with convict labor have cost the state no more than the same work would have cost by contract. When the bill abolishing the lease system was pending the chief argument against it was that the convict system would become a financial burden on the state treasury and that working convicts in the coal mines was the best method of meeting the problem.

The fact that convicts when worked on the roads produce the same standard of highway at no greater cost than roads constructed by contract is regarded as an unusual showing. This record has been made during the period of organization and by the state officials who had never had experience in the use of convict labor on the highways.

Judge Finnell believes the state will make a better record next year due to the perfection of the ogranization and the experience gained during the first year.

Hon. A. P. Longshore To Speak in Clanton

Prominent Republican Will Discuss $20,000,000.00 Bond Issue

Hon. A. P. Longshore, former Judge of Probate of Shelby County, but now located in Birmingham, will speak here at the Court House Saturday morning at 10:30.

Judge Longshore will discuss the $20,000,000 Bond Issue, and both supporters and opponents of the proposed amendmeent are urged to be present, as we have been informed that Judge Longshore is in position to throw light on some important subjects pertaining to this issue, that is not yet thoroughly understood by a great majority.

Judge Longshore is an orator of no little ability, and was honored by the Republican party of Shelby county to several important offices in the past.

CLANTON LAUNDRY INSTALLS IRONER OF GREAT CAPACITY

The Clanton Laundry and Cleaning Cowpany has just installed what is believed to be one of the largest Ironers ever installed in a town the size of Clanton, the machine weighing seven tons, the cylinder being 36 by 100 inches, and it is equipped with two steam chests. It has a daily capacity of ten thousand pieces of average run, and when operating at full capacity, it requires eight persons to operate it.

This is just merely another step forward in the line of service that Mr. Leo Thompson, the manager, promised to the people of this section when he assumed charge of the local laundry a short time back. A number of other machines have recently been added also, and today the Clanton Laundry and Cleaning Company ranks with the best to be found in any city several tiwes the size of Clanton. The laundry has rendered the customers service unsurpassed, and have thus built up a fine and satisfied trade.

COUNTY AGENT ATTENDS DISTRICT MEET AT ALEX CITY

Mr. Stapp attended a district meeting of County Agents at Alexander City Tuesday of this week, where many vital questions pertaining to the county agents' work and to the welfare of the farmers were discussed.

WILKINSON HEARD BY LARGE CROWD

Gives Important Data Pertaining To the $20,000,000 School Bond Issue

Judge Horace Wilkinson of Birmingham, in accordance with schedule announced last week by the Clanton High School P. T. A., delivered a very able and instructive speech last Saturday afternoon, in the Court House, here in the interest of the $20,000,000.00 School Bond Issue. There was present a good representative number of voters of the county, who evidenced an interest in the issue, and many of whom stated that the speaker had cleared up some of the doubt they had entertained prior to the speech, as to voting for the amendment.

The speaker pointed out in a clear and concise way the benefits the people will derive from bond issue and showed conclusively that the taxes had already been levied to pay for same, and that no raise will be made in the taxes of the farmers and business men to pay for the bonds, or interest of the same.

The people of Chilton County have received from the state of Alabama one of the best highways, in the state. And with the survey completed for another one from Clanton to Maplesville and other points on the west side of the county, they should give some consideration to voting for a bond issue which will give us permanent school buildings. Heretofore, the communities who have built good school buildings have had to go to the banks and sign notes and make donations to raise the funds, and in many of these communities people are hard pressed and financially embarrassed for having made donations and executed notes to secure the necessary funds with which to pay for their school building. In a few places in this county a portion of the subscriptions for school buildings are being pressed for payment of same. These men have pride for their communities and their children and went down the line and made the necessary sacrifice to build buildings to meet the needs of the children and the community. The County school board being without funds, is unable to pay for only a part of the building, and the county commissioners have not heretofore saw fit to engage in the educational work, with but few exceptions, in the way of small doonations. Other communities will in the near future want schools and some that have recently built will desire to make new additions to meet the consta t growth of our county, and with the $20,000,000.00 this county will receive there will be no necessity for donations. Other communities will in the distant future. It was pointed out in the address by Judge Wilkinson, that the funds derived from this bond issue will be spent under the supervision of the State Department of Education and the County Board, which certainly insures a fair distribution of the funds.

STAPP ATTENDS MEETING OF ALABAMA FARM BUREAU

County Agent Stapp attended a meeting of officers and field men of the Alabama Farm Bureau in Montgomery last Saturday. Mr. Stapp believes that Alabama has the greatest farm organization of any state in the Union. The Alabama Farm Bureau is federated with all the other state Farm Bureaus and Mr. Edward O'Neal president of the Alabama Farm Bureau, is Vice President of the National Farm Bureau Federation.

At the meeting Saturday, the State Farm Bureau officers agreed to send two good field men to Chilton County on the 16th of January to begin soliciting members for the proposed Chilton County Farm Bureau.

Mr. Stapp reports that good farmers are calling at his office daily now and joining the Farm Bureau and placing their orders for cooperative shipment of fertilizers.

Communities desiring to have Farm Bureau meetings before the solicitors get here should notify Mr. Stapp at once.

WHITE'S GARAGE MOVES TO NEW LOCATION

The garage business, owned and operated by Mr. E. D. White, has been moved to the Jim Jones building, on the highway, just below Diel's.

This building will give Mr. White ample room to care for his repairing and storage business.

Put Education First--Do Not Deny the Children of Alabama Their Birthright

A Vote For The $20,000,000 Bond Issue For Permanent School Buildings Is A Vote For Educational Efficiency

THE NEED IS URGENT

On November 15, 1927, forty-three counties and forty cities and towns reported that they had FOR THEIR WHITE SCHOOL CHILDREN:

875 Satisfactory School Buildings,

483 Buildings that could be made satisfactory by altering, remodeling or reconditioning,

794 Buildings deemed wholly unsatisfactory and should be abandoned because of their utter unfitness for school purposes.

52,911 children were reported housed in the above buildings reported wholly unsatisfactory.

62,777 children more than ought to be were reported as packed in the above three classes of buildings because of lack of space.

The capacity of the satisfactory buildings was reported exceeded by 17,638 children.

The capacity of buildings that could be made satisfactory was exceeded by 25,730 children.

The capacity of the buildings deemed wholly unfit and which should be abandoned was exceeded by 19,409 children.

The above counties and cities report that their immediate school building needs are estimated at more than $13,700,000

This represents only a part of the school building need. Twenty-four counties and thirty-eight cities and towns have yet to report their condition.

The passage of this amendment will be the greatest forward step ever taken by Alabama. The investment of $20,000,000 in permanent school buildings right now will attract attention all over the United States. Alabama cannot afford for businees reasons to fail at this time to ratify the amendment. All the money will be invested right in the state.

NO INCREASE IN TAXES

School Building Bonds Will be Paid With one mill taken annually from the state taxes now levied and collected.

Additional Taxes Already Imposed Will Help to Make up for This Deduction.

Appropriations that Become Void if the Amendment is Adopted Will Reduce the Demands Upon the State Treasury by $4,150,000 for the next three years.

ADDITIONAL MONEY COMING INTO THE STATE FOR INVESTMENT INCREASES THE STATE'S ANNUAL INCOME.

Enemies of Public Education have charged that the present Revenue Act will create a great surplus. This we deny.

A careful study of receipts and disbursements shows no possible deficit nor any great excess of revenue.

There will be enough money in the Treasury to pay these bonds, principal and interest, without increasing the Tax Rate or the present basis of assessing taxes.

By misrepresentations the opponents say there are 20 reasons for voting against the amendment. There are 650,000 good reasons for voting for it. That many rural children of Alabama will be benefitted by the passage of the amendment.

Remember the opponents of this amendment wanted $75,000,000 for roads. Disregard political bunk and vote for the interest of your children. Read the amendment itself. It automatically distributes $200,000 to each county.

Each and every county MUST receive $200,000 for school buildings and improvements. The amendment says so. The State Board of Education says so. The Citizens' Committee says so. The "Taxpayers' Defense League" says "No." WHOM WILL THE VOTERS BELIEVE? The School Board is Building up the State's Educational System.

LAW ENFORCEMENT IN CHILTON COUNTY

The Union-Banner in its issue of December 29th, 1927, has the following to say on the question of law enforcement in Chilton County:

"We say it for a fact that the people of Chilton County, generally speaking, have not got the proper respect for the laws of our county, State and nation. There is too little regard for the law to result in our good. Take for instance, the whiskey traffic. There is hardly a rural community in the county but that there are automobiles sizzing back and forth all hours of the night. In many places there is shooting, hollering and so much general cutting up that the people cannot rest at night."

After asserting that the job of emforcing the law is too big for a half dozen sheriffs, the article says: "The bootleggers are running away with Chilton County, and there are too many people being willingly led by them. The bootleggers have too wurh help. There are too many supposedly "good" men who keep bootleg whiskey in their possession most all the time, who take the front seat at Church and Sunday School on Sunday and stay half "stewed" most all the rest of the week".

Commenting upon Christmas observance of twenty-five years ago, and of the immediate past, this same paper further remarks: "We heard it remarked this week that Christmas had been unusually quiet and that little whiskey drinking was in evidence. True, perhaps, so far as the evidence is concerned. But we may console ourselves with the almost certain assurance that we merely failed to see the evidnce. Thre is plenty of liquor being dispensed in our county. We have raised a fine crop of bootleggers and wildcatters during the past year. "What is the matter with our officers? you may ask. We will answer by asking: 'What is the matter with our citizens?' Our officers are doing all they can to enforce the law."

As a further indictment against the people of Chilton County, the Union-Banner asserts that it is near the impossible to select a jury of twelve men who are not themselves guilty of law violations.

The foregoing assertions constitute an awful commentary upon a civilized citizenship, composed in the great majority of white men and women, who are American born, and who ought to of all others be God fearing and law abiding citizens. The duly and constitutional officers of the law should have the support and assistance of every citizen in the enforcement of our laws, and since the specific violations cowplained of, in the said article, are against the Organic law of this Nation, every one of us should give them due consideration and do all in our power to help clean up the conditions complained of.

An investigation of the records of the Circuit Court of our county will disclose that Judge Smoot, and the Solicitor have dealt out open handed justice to all defendants properly brought before that court and that the juries have returned verdicts of convictions, where the evidence warranted it and we believe that they will continue to do so in the future.

We may rest assured that the courts of our county will do their part in stamping out vice and law violations. What we believe would be a start in the right direction is for our officers to arrest a few of the "BIG BOYS" along with the "Hickory Shirt Boys" and 'treat 'em all alike'. In other words, do as has been suggested by some one recently: "Kill a gobler, along with the sapsuckers." If the officers will bring one or more of these fellows 'who keep bootleg whiskey in their possession most of the time, and who take the front seat at Church and Sunday School on Sunday, and who stay half "stewed" most all the rest of the week' as mentioned in this article which appeared in the Union-Banner, before the Circuit Court of this county, we believe that something will happen, that will make things hum, and then we believe that the citizens of the county will have more heart to join in law enforcement.

WIDER ROADS

The governor of Wisconsin has announced that his state is planning for 40-foot roadways in the future, and motorists everywhere will hail the news as a step in the right direction. In changing from poor roads to good roads we took a wonderful step. It was so great an improvement, and we were so proud of our new good roads, that we gave a little thought to the width of them. Ask any motorist who has driven on 20-foot roads and also on 40-foot roads and he will tell you that there is a world of difference—more than 20 feet. With the multiplying of cars and their generally increasing speed narrow roads are getting to be very unstisfactory. They are actually a menace. It is uncomfortble to almost touch hubs with the cars you meet, and it is far more uncomfortable when you do touch. Accidents due to naarrow roads are far too numerous.

PRESIDENTIAL YEAR

We've already commenced to hear the usual talk around Clanton about this being a "presidential year", along with the customary speculation as to its effect on business. No one seems to know just why we've always looked on a presidential year as a bad business year; nobody seems to believe anything else but that it just simply has to be a "bad year"." Yet the fact remains that in both 1920 and 1924 business was about as good, taken as a whole, as it was during any of the years that went between them.

Prosperity is pretty much a state of mind, and business is a good deal what we make it. If we try to think we're getting along alright we'll get along a lot better than if we are constantly bemoaning our financial condition. If we don't go after business, if we don't work for it, we're not going to get it, presidential year or otherwise.

Economic and industrial experts take little stock in the old "persidential year," theory. They are saying right now that there is no reason why this should not be a prosperous year industrially. What it will be agriculturally remains, of course, with the elements. But even the weather forecasters are predicting any great disturbance, nor drouths nor floods during the year. With this in mind the man who keeps telling himself that this is going to be a good year, and who refuses to take any stock in the old "presidential year" bugaboo is pretty apt to fare best when next we come to observe a day of thanksgiving.

RUNINNG WILD

No matter haw dry some subjects may be, there is always much to interest the average man in a discussion of taxes. For that reason a few figures being sent out by the American Automobile Association ought to set him thinking.

These show that while the registration of autos increased only 7 per cent in 1927, taxes on the auto and the things that go with it increased more than 14 per cent. If it doesn't indicate anything else it shows a tendency on the part of our national and state legislators to make the auto owner carry all the burden that can be heaped upon his shoulders. If you doubt this, stop and consider the forms of taxation to which the auto owner is now subjected. He pays a federal excise tax, when he buys his car; a state license tax; a city or county tax; a gasoline tax; personal property tax and in many instances, a special registration or special road improvement tax. All of these served to increase automobile taxation 150 per cent in seven years

There seems to be pretty strong ground for alarm on the part of those who own and operate cars. If auto taxes keep on at the rate they've gone in the past seven years it is sure to bring a serious climax. The big motoring organizattion which gives out the figures offers but one solution. It urges every auto owner to refuse to vote for any candidate who shows a tendency to ignore the interests of the auto owner or for the re-election of any who have voted for burdensome tax legislation.

PAST THE TOY STAGE

Now that the holidays are over, Uncle Sam's officials are again able to use their pencils, they are sending out some interesting "dope." Of certain interest to those around Clanton owning radio sets is the announcement that more money was spent for them than for anything else. They were the most popular of all gifts. That ought to prove beyond all doubt that radio is no longer considered a toy or a fad, but as a practical proposition and big factor in our educational and social life. On top of it comes another announcement that one inventor is soon to bring forth an attachwent which will broadcast pictures, as well as sounds. Who knows but 1928 holds in store a few discoveries that will equal anything of which we have any knowledge up to this time? It is almost certain to be a year in which we can all say: "Well, I'm not surprised at anything these days.

CHANGING APPETITES

Clothing and habits are not the only things that have changed within the life of the present generation. Appetites have changed, too, and we are getting almost everything from soup to desert in cans. Quite a few citizens who realize this can also recall the days of home-slaughtered and home-cured meats—beef, bacon, sausage and ham carefully smoked over a slow fire of hickory wood for months. Who sees any more of that pickled beef that took weeks and months of preparation? Fruit cakes and plum puddings were made a year in advance, and real artists had the making. Now they are baked in one hour and bought over the counter with our jellies, preserves, salads, and everything else. And they had all sorts of game for their tables, too. Those were dishes that only kings, millionaires and bootleggers can afford now. In the matter of eating, custom seems to have taken a backward step, even though most of us are inclined to look upon it as "progress."

There is a lot of talk about this wet and dry issue, but no matter which party wins this year liquor prices will be as high as ever.

They can call cod liver oil a "substitute for sunshine" if they want to, but they're not going to fool kids that easily.

As for us, if we lived in Mexico we wouldn't even want to be mentioned for president.

We found a man yesterday who says he can't understand why a woman wil refuse to wear a made-over dress yet be perfectly content with a made-over face.

Talk as you will about the devil, but he's always at his post and ready to wait on customers.

If we hadn't read in an exchange that "Fifty dollar bills are being counterfeited" we wouldn't have known that they make them in that denomination

When a man is 50 the raffle is over and he knows he hasn't drawn anything, but a young man of 19 or 20 is just shaking the box for his first throw.

Grandma used to look funny in her night cap, but at that she had sense enough to wear it in the house and go out automobiling in it and calling it a boudoir cap.

Lindbergh declares he is not afraid of girls. But for that matter he's not afraid of anything.

If a child wanted to hide behind it's mother's skirts these days it would have to get on a high chair to do it.

About all that's left the average man for conversation now is congress and groundhog day.

Ever notice that the average woman will talk more about the man who marries three times than about the ones who don't marry at all?

The reward for good behavior may sometimes be slow in coming, but you never hear of good behavior getting a man in trouble.

We can remember the old-fashioned girl who wouldn't climb a fence if a man was looking?

The clutch is not only an important part of an auto, but it seems to figure prominently in the joy-ride.

Another thing we can't understand is why old maids think it is shameful the way married women manage their husbands.

TIMELY FARM FACTS

The old year, 1927, was favorable to Alabama farmers.

A year which began in gloom ended in optimism for the farmers of Alabama.

The hog house or shed should be fixed so that rain cannot blow in and wet the bed.

The hands of nature and economic factors gave Alabama farmers a better deal this year.

Admirers of beef cattle are optimistic over the price outlook for the next few years.

Hens lay better in winter time if they have warm water two or three times a day.

A bit of dry mustard rubbed into a ham before it is baked gives it a pleasant flavor.

A wise farmer knows by records what his crops cost and doesn't long continue planting those that lose him money.

Poor teeth, neglected tonsils, and bad food are more often to blame for school failures than is inborn dullness.

Poultry usually do not need such things as yeast, mineral or tonics if they receive adequate rations.

A shed is much cheaper than allowing farm machinery to set out in the weather and rust.

PLANT TREES NOW

Montgomery, Ala., Dec., 26.—The planting of young forest trees is usually the last forestry activity of the year in Alabama, according to the State Commission of Forestry. Most of this work is carried on by farmers although other landowners also take advantage of the convenient season to set out small trees.

Late Fall, winter and early spring comprise the season most favorable to planting. This is chiefly because during this period the young trees are dormant and their life processes are not disturbed materially through being transplanted. In most instances, by the time general warm weather brings about a renewal of growth, the seedlings and transplants have become firmly fixed in their new location. While there is a certain degree of retardation due largely to the necessity of establishing additional root fibers to take the place of the portion lost when the tree was removed from its original site, some growth takes place the first year. Usually by the second year growth proceeds at its normal rate.

Forest planting can be done much more cheaply in the South than elsewhere. This is principally because seedlings can be grown in nurseries so rapidly that many species are ready for planting the first year when but a few months old. This saves the expense of caring for the seedlings over an extended period. Further, fall planting is rendered still more feasible in the South for the reason that there is no danger of the seedlings being heaved by frost after having been transplanted to their permanent location.

The Federal Court Speaks

The citizens of Greenville and Samson, Alabama, have learned by experience that MORE BONDS mean MORE TAXES; and that every bond is a first mortgage on their property.

Under order of the Federal Court at Montgomery, property valuations in both of these towns have been increased from 60% to 100% to pay the interest and principal on the outstanding bonds, a part of which was school house bonds.

The tax is now being collected in Samson, where the 100% valuation was made retroactive to cover the years 1925 and 1926, resulting in a tax based on a 180% valuation for 1927.

These cases are now pending in the Federal Court at Montgomery, under the style of "Order of Maccabees vs. City of Greenville" and "Order of Maccabees vs. City of Samson."

If the people of Alabama vote in favor of the big $20,000,000 Bond Amendment they place a blanket mortgage on their property for $20,000,000. They also subject their property to a tax raise of from 60% valuation to 100% valuation, and this raise can be made by the courts, both state and federal, and will be made if necessary in order to collect the interest and principal.

Under the terms of the Bond Amendment "one mill of the two and one-half mills AD VALOREM TAX NOW LEVIED BY LAW for general purposes, is hereby set aside as a fund to be used exclusively for said purpose (the payment of the principal and interest of these bonds) until the principal and interest of said bonds shall have been paid in full."

The amendment further provides that "for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and interest thereon, THE FULL FAITH AND CREDIT OF THE STATE is hereby irrevocably pledged."

Why should the people of Alabama run the risk of having their property levied on and sold under order of court in order to turn over to the school organization $20,000,000 of unnecessary bonds when that organization already has available $116,000,000 to spend in four years?

By THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, by an Act of the Legislature of Alabama approved August 30, 1927, and passed at the regular session of the Legislature of Alabama 1927, an election was ordered for the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama, which proposed amendment is hereinafter set forth, and

WHEREAS, by said Act the election on said proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama was ordered to be held on the second Tuesday in January, 1928; and

WHEREAS, January 10, 1928, is the said second Tuesday in January, 1928, and

WHEREAS, notice of such election together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by Proclamation of the Governor.

NOW, therefore, I, BIBB GRAVES, GOVERNOR of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct, and proclaim that on Tuesday the 10th day of January, 1928, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama for a vote by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner and form and at the places as required by law upon the following amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama, namely:

Article XXI. Section 1. The State may engage in the construction and improvement of buildings for public schools and the institutions of higher learning, including the normal schools in this State and to this end and for this purpose, the State is authorized to appropriate funds and also to issue and sell interest-bearing negotiable State bonds in an amount not to exceed the sum of Twenty Million Dollars to be issued in such denominations, numbers, and series to mature at such time as may be provided for by law, but such bonds shall bear a rate of interest not greater than five per cent per annum payable semi-annually and shall be sold at a price not less than par value thereof. Such bonds when issued shall be a direct obligation of the State and for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and interest thereon, the full faith and credit of the State is hereby irrevocably pledged and such bonds shall be exempt forever from all taxes of every kind. Two Hundred Thousand Dollars of the proceeds of these bonds shall be set aside and expended for the permanent construction and permanent improvement of public school buildings in each county in the State when authorized by appropriate laws passed by the Legislature and the remainder of the proceeds of said bonds shall be set aside and expended for the permanent construction and permanent improvement of the school buildings for the institutions of higher learning, including the normal schools, in this State, when authorized by appropriate laws passed by the Legislature. To create a sinking fund for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and interest of these bonds and for the construction and improvement of such public schools, one mill of the two and one-half mills ad valorem tax now levied by law for general purposes, is hereby set aside as a fund to be used exclusively for said purpose until the principal and interest of said bonds shall have been paid in full. Nothing herein shall be construed as in anywise authorizing any increase in the rate of taxation now provided for by the Constitution of Alabama.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 10th day of January, 1928, in each County in the State of Alabama and in a newspaper published in said County.

IN WITNESS whereof I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery on this the 22nd day of October, 1927.

BIBB GRAVES,
Governor.

A WAVE OF SENTIMENT FOR BONDS IN NORTH ALABAMA

Birmingham, December 26.—A wave of sentiment in favor of the $20,000,000 school bond issue is now sweeping North Alablam, fast undermining the subtle propaganda implanted there one month ago by the "Taxpayers Defense League" which organization threw up a smoke screen in defense of the taxpayers' money, but which now is put in the position of defending "The League" itself.

The reaction has come with the disclosure of the real "Nigger in the woodpile," which is nothing more than the knowledge of the fact that the "Taxpayers Defense League" is an organization financed purely and simply by money contributed by the largest corporations in Alabama.

These corporations, it is not necessary to name specifically, but only that they are the same one affected by the last legislature. They are suffering from an unlooked for series of taxes which came from a fearless legislature despite the long program of "education" fostered onto the people of the state through their friendly daily newspapers of Alabama.

They have sought to defeat the school bond issue with but one purpose in view and that is with the defeat of the bonds they can go before the next session of the legislature and demand the repeal of the present corporation taxes on the plea that the state treasury will be overflowing with money.

This reaction has set in everywhere Col. Bibb Graves, Governor of Alabama, has spoken in the last ten days. In other parts of the North Alabama section where the Governor failed to visit other friends of education have exposed the program of the "Taxpayers Defense League" with the same results.

Jasper had heard that the school bond issue would increase taxes, this propaganda having been spread by the league. The governor gave the people there first hand information and a new aspect was placed on the situation. Several days ago the people of Boaz and other communities on Sand Mountain were told of the "Nigger in the woodpile."

Huntsville, Florence, Sheffield, Decatur and Gadsden have awakened to the real forces behind the effort to defeat the bond issue and everywhere the word is being passed that the "League" is trying to tie the hands of the voters of Alabama.

The reaction in North Alabama where the "League" has worked hardest was sure to come, say observers of the situation and the bogie of increased taxation put forward by the agents of the power, rail and transportation companies of the state has vanished into thin air, exposing the real purpose behind the corporations' efforts to destroy the bond issue, and that is the paving of the way to have the taxes on their own plants removed at the next legislature.

Mrs. Mildred White Wallace Of Columbiana Author of New Song

The many friends here of Mrs. Mildred White Wallace in Columbiana will be interested to learn that she has just published another of her compositions, "Goodbye", a song with piano accompaniment and violin obligato, as sung by the eminent tenor, J. Glenn Lee. The words of the song are by Clarice W. Luck, and the publishers, Dixon Lane, Inc., of New York, write that they are very enthusiastic over the success of the song, which is considerably different from the usual sentimental variety and rather a strictly musical success.

Mrs. Wallace is one of Alabama's well known composers, and is well known in Clanton.

Dreaded Aches, PAINS Disappeared

"My health had been poor for ten years, before I took Cardui," says Mrs. Anna Cronin, of Rockport, Ind. "I was lifeless and 'no account'. I dragged around day after day, every move an effort, and never feeling the joy of being well.

"At times, I had a dreadful ache across my back, and my sides hurt me. I worried along, sometimes hardly able to leave my bed, but the demands of a growing family had to be attended to; so I would get up, do what was absolutely necessary, and then lie down again.

"One day, someone suggested Cardui to me. I took it for several months, and all the time I was growing stronger, and less nervous. My aches and pains finally disappeared.

"That was two years ago. My improvement has been permanent. The good health, which followed the taking of Cardui, is still with me, so I do not hesitate to recommend it to my friends." E-124

TAKE CARDUI Helps Women to Health

Give The Rural Children Equal Educational Opportunities

The legislature for the first time in years tried to do this by increasing taxes on the bigger interests in the state in an effort to more nearly equalize the tax burden. This increase is sufficient to make possible the sale of bonds to the amount of $200,000 for each county for the immediate construction of rural school houses. These same interests are trying to induce the voters to defeat the bond amendment in the hope that sooner or later they may find a way of escaping the taxes they are already paying. Remember the legislature made no increase in property taxes and no future legislature can make any increase in property tax rates without the consent of the voters.

Don't Let The Opponents to The Bond Issue Fool You!

There is a deplorable need for rural school houses in the state, yet the opponents of the bond amendment offer nothing for the relief except to say that the people should vote more millage taxes upon themselves and make larger donations. School buildings are going to have to be built. There is no question about that. The easiest way is to ratify the bond amendment.

Vote "Yes" on January 10 for the sake of the rural children of Alabama.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The British-Palestine syndicate is trying to extract wealth from the Dead Sea. A press report says that 1,300,000 tons of potash worth $70,000,000 and 853,000,000 tons of bromide valued at $250,000,000 are to be removed.

Production of chemicals in the United States is now worth over two and a quarter billion dollars annually, said the Wall Street Journal. This is an increase of 100 per cent in a quarter of a century and production is still going forward.

Between January 1, 1920, and January 1, 1925, the number of white persons on farms in the United States decreased 7 per cent and the number of negroes decreased 1½ per cent. In round numbers 29,000,000 people lived on farms in the U. S. on January 1, 1925, as compared with 31,600,000 five years before.

A press dispatch from Paris says that negotiations are being made among French, German, and British manufacturers of synthetic nitrates with a view to controlling the supply. The promoters of the trust are anxious to include American manufacturers on a full share basis, the statement said.

BONDS ARE NEEDED

(By Reece H. Rogers)

I am intensely interested in the success of the Bond Issue for school buildings. Alabama is one of the greatest states in the Union, with her great natural resources. She is destined to become the leading state in the South. But it is pitiful to see the great need in school buildings and equipment. Before coming to Alabama I spent five years in Texas. They have a real school system. I fully believe if they had half of our buildings out there they (the citizens) would burn them down in the night. The Mexicans out there have as good as the best of our children.

I think we can realize this need more by noting the actual need in our own community and just remember that, that is the situation over almost all the state. Just think of it as to what we MUST have.

As I know more about Clanton than any other place in the county, I want to call to your attention the imperative need for schools here.

We have a very nice High School building (where I teach), but it is entirely too small for the number of students. The heating system is just half the size it should be. The rooms for the library is not at all suitable. The auditorium is not at all suitable for a study hall. If your present standing is retained these things must be improved.

The Grammar School building has been condemned for two years. It is actually dangerous. It is liable to fall down at any time. I am in constant dread when my child is up there. Suppose it should fall? Some who are opposing the School Bond Issue would be the first to criticize the state and county.

We have a fast growing little city and a very nice place to live. We are expecting a much greater increase because of the prospective cotton mill. What are we going to do?

You have voted bonds on the town but cannot sell them. The people do not seem to be willing to make special donations. What then can we do? What better plan can you suggest?

The opposition has offered nothing as a relief for just such situations, but more taxes on the property owners and special contributions.

How can you oppose an issue like this in view of such a crying need. You may travel this state over and you will find just such cases in most every community.

The "pay as you go" plan cannot give relief to the urgent need of today. We must have relief now or our children will have to suffer for an education.

They say, more bonds, more taxes, which is true, but they fail to tell you that the tax has already been levied on certain industries in the state to take care of this. When have the corporations ever before been so interested in the farmers to cause them to spend thousands of dollars to protect his interests? This is one great chance that the poor man has of making the rich carry the load.

Think of this issue in the light of the actual facts and go to the polls and VOTE YES on January 10th.

working of state and county convicts on the public highways and in cotton mills and kindred activities. Alabama was the last state in the American union to put a ban on the sale of convicts into slavery for the benefit of private interests. For many years agitation in favor of the abandonment of the practice had been carried on and a serious effort to abolish the lease system was started in 1915, but it could not be made effective until 1927 or 12 years after the serious movement started.

Corporations profiting by convict labor fought the abolition bill just as they fought the revenue bill because it required them to bear a greater share in the state's total taxation. Representatives of the corporations insisted that Alabama would become bankrupt if it took the convicts out of the mines and put them to work on the public highways.

The legislature ignored the appeal of the corporations and decreed that the last convict should come from the lease systtem not later than June 1, 1928. Governor Graves was given this extension of time because of information that the state would not be prepared to use the convict labor in other ways prior to that time. However, within a short time after the abolition bill became a law all county convicts had been taken from the coal mines and put to work on the public highways and employment above ground had been found for every white person sentenced to the penitentiary. The state is already completing its plans that every negro convict will be out of the coal mines and at work on the highways and in state industries not later than June 1, 1928.

So much has the spring friction been increased by this new device that the car is said to ride 50 per cent better than with old type springs. There bound checks also offer greater resistance to bumps.

Greater ease of steering was made possible by adopting a ball bearing worm and gear steering mechanism, including ball bearings in the steering knuckles, and by increasing the steering ration from 8. to 9.5 to 1. The four inch increase in wheelbase contributes greatly to the riding quality of the car, with less pitching and better road holding ability.

The front axle has been enlarged and strengthened to accomodate the new brake attachment. A fan shroud has been added for more efficient cooling, and a host of other details combine to make the Chevrolet for 1928 the best performing, most efficient and dependable mechanical unit ever built by the company.

To Perfect County Farm Bureau Jan. 25

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE TO BE STARTED BY JANUARY 16

Many Prominent Farmers Already Signed Up For Membership

WILL BE OF GREAT BENEFIT TO COUNTY

Business Men Cooperating For The Success Of The Bureau

The work of organizing and enlisting members in the Chilton County Farm Bureau has begun in earnest. State officials of the organization, in conjunction with our county agent and prominent local farmers, have perfected the plans and the program will begin immediately. At the request of the county agent two representatives of the Alabama Farm Bureau will be in Clanton January 16th to January 21st, to solicit members for the Chilton County branch organization.

A big meeting will be held at the courthouse at ten o'clock A. M. on Wednesday, January 25th, for the purpose of election of officers and the adoption of a constitution and by-laws of the Chilton County Farm Bureau.

The Farm Bureau is an organization which extends direct from the individual farmer to the American Farm Bureau Federation. This requires community, county, and state Farm Bureaus. It enables the organization to serve its members along local, county, state and national affairs.

When compared with other lines of business the Farm Bureau officials say that this organization has been remarkably successful. It represents one of the largest business concerns in the state.

When all facts are represented it is shown that cooperative work on the Farm Bureau plan is a model for efficiency and this explains why it has been an outstanding success.

Your County Agent, C. E. Stapp, thinks that Chilton County should have one of the strongest and most active Farm Bureaus in the State. Elsewhere in this issue there appears a page advertisement which sets out in detail many of the accomplishments, plans, and purposes of the Farm Bureau. It will be well for Chilton County farmers to make a careful study of this matter and we believe they will make no mistake to enlist in it. Many of our leading farmers are already enrolled. The movement has the endorsement of prominent merchants, bankers, business and professional men and farmers all over the country.

Calera Boy Fatally Injured In Car Wreck

Four Are Injured When Car Plunges Over Embankment Sunday

Caught beneath the wreckage of the automobile in which they were riding when it plunged over a 10-foot embankment on the Montgomery Highway, 10 miles south of Birmingham Sunday morning "Doc" Stonecypher, 17, was instantly killed and Raymond Templin, 19, was seriously injured.

Perry Collins, said to have been the driver of the car, and Walter Stonecypher, brother of the dead man, were being held in the city jail pending the outcome of Coroner Russum's inquest, which will be held Monday. Stonecypher is being held as a material witness, officers said. The men were arrested following the crash.

Three other occupants of the car, Walter Stonecypher, Mack Nabors, and Howard Finley, escaped with minor injuries. The six men were from Calera.

According to Templin, the accident occurred as the party was returning to Calera after having spent the evening in Birmingham.

"We were running about 40 miles an hour," Templin said, "when the right front wheel struck a large rock which had been left in the road. The car swerved sharply to the right, knocked down two concrete posts and toppled down the embankment," he said.

Stonecypher, who was riding in front, was partly thrown through the door, his neck being broken when the car turned over. The other occupants of the car made their way to a nearby house and summoned aid.

Stonecypher was dead when his body was removed from the wreckage. Johns' ambulance carried Templin to South Highlands Infirmary.

Funeral services for Stonecypher were held in Calera Monday afternoon, where the body was brought by Johns' for burial. Coroner Russum held a formal inquest Monday.

More Facts About Taxes!

—AN EDITORIAL

Last week the News published an editorial giving certain figures relative to the mater of taxation in Chilton County. At the time that the article went to press, we knew of no announced Candidate for any Public Office. Last week two hats were thrown into the ring, but the campaign of this ytar is not yet in full swing. We think it especially appropriate at this time that the voters of this County be informed as to its business affairs, and that they have an opportunity to study and analyze the conditions that may and should control their actions at the polls during this year.

It is of interest to every voter and tax payer of this County to know how his County's business is conducted and it is of special interest in this, a political year, when an opportunity is given to approve or disapprove the business management of the County's affairs. It was demonstrated and shown in the editorial published in this paper last week that a large surplus has been accumulated by this County. As there was practically no surplus on January 1, 1926, this has accumulated within the span of two years. (The balance in the general fund on December 31, 1925 was $6,884.73.)

The two funds in which citizens are most interested is the general fund and the road fund. The following is a statement by years of the County income as to both of these funds.

GENERAL FUNDS

Cash received in the year of 1922	$ 27,443.87
Cash received in the year of 1923	62,019.98
Cash received in the year of 1924	62,428.08
Cash received in the year of 1925	73,739.75
Cash received in the year of 1926	109,102.00

ROAD FUND

Cash received in the year of 1922	$19,500.00
Cash received in the year of 1923	36,043.21
Cash received in the year of 1924	43,944.64
Cash received in the year of 1925	72,596.21
Cash received in the year of 1926	74,202.11

The reason for beginning with the year 1922 was that we are unable to locate any published statement of the County Treasure covering the first half of 1921.

In addition to these tremendous totals, from February 10, 1923 to and including September 31, 1926, Chilton County had received from the State of Alabama as gasoline tax the sum of $93,653.93, or roughly speaking about $25,000.00 per year. We are informed that this year the County will receive over $43,000.00 as gasoline tax. This is road money.

An anlysis of these figures and a consideration of their causes are interesting and instructive. Credit for the surplus in the County Treasure is claimed by the Chairman of the Commissioners Court and the glory taken unto himself on account of his economy and judicious expenditures. However, this is evidently not the case. When we consider the income of the general fund in 1922 and find it around $30,000.00, and then find that the next year it more than doubled, naturally an explanation is sought. The Alabama Power Corpany began to pay taxes upon its property in full force and effect. There has come to Chilton County the taxes from its immense dams and it is that cause and that cause alone should be given the credit for this increase in revenue. Let us figure this from another angle. In the year of 1922 the County's affairs were operated on less than $30,000.00 and a small amount remained, in other words, the men who managed the affairs of the County got by so far as general expenses went for under $30,000.00. Howevev, in the good year of 1926 according to the report of the Treasurer of Chilton County the Commissioners Court expended the sum of $49,281.34 which is almost double the expenditures in 1922 and of practically a 100 per cent increase in cost of County operation. We leave it to you, Mr. Reader, whether this indicated an economical adminisaration of County affairs and as to whether or not the result of this great increase in amount of money spent from the general fund is apparent to the average citizen of this County.

Turning next to the road fund, it appears that the Commissioners Court has had to expend during the five years mentioned a total sum so far in excess of $300,000.00 that credit for all interest on bonds may be deducted which still leaves them about $60,000.00 a year net for this purpose, or in other words, each month they have $5,000.00 to spend on roads not counting the tax placed on individuals. To illustrate this more clearly it may be correctly stated as an approximate amount that since the present Probate Judge of this County took office in 1917 that the road funds available for his use has increased five times. It seems logical to say that he deserves no credit for the management or operation of the County road program if we have five times as good roads, (County roads only. Not State highways,) because in that event he gets no more for the dollar than was obtained before. Who would even dare to suggest that the road system of Chilton County has improved even one-half as much as the amount of money available for this purpose. This question also must be left with the citizens of this County.

These figures that have been given above are taken from the official report of the County Treasurer. They are open to everyone. The conclusion cannot be escaped that as the money received by tyhe County Treasurer has increased many times and the extravagance of the officers disbursing it has likewise increased and it would seem that it would now be in order in Chilton County, either,

1. That great relief be given the tax payers of this County by the reduction of their taxes and that real economy be established and practiced at the Court House, or,

2. That some progress and results of a truly worthwhile and progressive nature be shown the voters of this County to account for doubling the general expense and an increase five times in the road expense.

"Our Railways have reached the Highest Efficiency in their History and we must maintain them in that condition."

HERBERT C. HOOVER

SECRETARY of COMMERCE HOOVER in an address at St. Louis on Nov. 14th gave expression to the statement above quoted and, in addition, said, "Taking the country as a whole, the railways must ever bear the major burden of our goods traffic."

Probably no man in America is better equipped for authoritative expression on this subject than is Secretary Hoover—and this timely and indisputably-correct expression of his should influence fair consideration for the railroads in the vexing problems that now confront them.

Since the Transportation Act was passed in 1920, the railroads have spent billions of dollars in improving their property and undertaking to keep it in condition for efficient operation; rates as a whole, are lower now than at any period since Government operation—and all this in spite of the fact that the railroads, on an average, have not earned the fair return which the Government allows.

The public has, necessarily, been benefitted by these improvements in service and reductions in charges.

The railroad managements will continue their earnest endeavors to give the best service—which will be adequate for the public demands, and all they ask is a continuation of the fair play and intelligent cooperation which have marked their present state of efficiency.

Both our Legislative and Administrative bodies should heed the words of Secretary Hoover and approach with greatest care any suggestions or proposals for important changes that may receive Congressional attention. G-14

Frequent
Bilious
Attacks

"I suffered with severe bilious attacks which came on me two or three times every month," says Mr. Ollie Miller, of Murray, Ky. "I would become dizzy. My head would ache terribly, feeling as if it would almost burst. It felt exactly like a tight band was being drawn closer and closer around my temples.

"My stomach would be so upset I could not retain any kind of nourishment for hours. I would have to quit work and go to bed.

"My color was awful. I was yellow and my skin was drawn and dry. I did not have any energy—no ambition to work. I was just about half sick most of the time because of these spells.

"One day one of my neighbors, who has used Thedford's Black-Draught for years, said he had noticed how bad my color was and thought it would help me.

"I got some Black-Draught immediately and began to take it regularly until I got my system clear of the poison I had been absorbing. I soon began to feel better and developed a fine appetite. I had no more bad headaches or bilious spells." E-128

Chilton County Farm Bureau

Organization Date Set For

10 o'clock Wednesday, January 25th

WHAT IS IT?

The Farm Bureau is non-Sectarian, non-secret, but a nation-wide business organization for farmers. Bureaus were first organized as advisory councils to County Agents. Farm Bureau organizations are found wherever County Agents are employed.

Farm Bureau organization was started in Alabama in 1921. With the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation and its subsidiary organization now in its sixth year of cooperative work among farmers, the officials are optimistic as to the future. Results to date of the organization work convinces them that the practice of cooperation has become accepted as a fixed policy by thousands of the leading farmers of the state; and, with this assurance, the re-organization work is going forward with a view to increasing members, enlarging business, and adding new lines of service.

Figures given out by Edward A. O'Neal, president of the Farm Bureau, show that during its first five years the Farm Bureau has done a business of buying and selling exceeding $50,000,000. This averages more than $10,000,000 a year, and it exceeds $750,000 a month. It amounts to $30,000 for each working day.

Cotton sold represents a big portion of business done. During the first four years the Farm Bureau Cotton Association marketed cotton for $35,266,287.58. The value of the 1926 crop now being sold by the association will add another $7000,000 bringing the total for cotton to more than $42,000,000.

Next on the list is fertilizer, of which the Farm Bureau bought in four years 261,998 tons and paid for it $8,042,334.40. Other products bought on big cooperative scale by the Farm Bureau incude yetch, clover, soy beans; calcium arsenate for boll weevil control, and a few other products.

In addition, miscellaneous products such as, hay, lambs, turkeys, poultry and eggs, have been sold through the Farm Bureau for approximately $1,000,000

While doing a huge business of buying and selling the Farm Bureau has been a big force for constructive development. It has stood squarely behind the extension service and college of agriculture at Auburn and these forces, working together, have made a great contribution to improved production of cotton, corn and other crops as well as livestock.

Accomplishments to date in a 'better commercial fertilizer program' are said to be one of the biggest achievements of the organization. Following the results of the experiment station at Auburn, the Farm Bureau has thrown its entire force in favor of more commercial fertilizer of the right kind and this is said to be one of the main reasons why cotton production has come back so strong during the last four years.

The Farm Bureau is an organization which extends direct from the individual farmer to the American Farm Bureau Federation. This requires community, county, and state Farm Bureaus. It enables the organization to serve its members along local, county, state and national lines.

When compared with other lines of business the Farm Bureau officials say that this organization has been remarkably successful. It represents one of the largest business concerns in Alabama.

When all facts are represented it is shown that cooperative work on the Farm Bureau plan is a model for efficiency and this explains why it has been an outstanding success.

Your County Agent, C. E. Stapp, thinks that Chilton County should have one of the strongest and most active Farm Bureau in the State. At the request of your County Agent, two representatives of the State Farm Bureau will be in Clanton next week, January 16th. to the 21st. to solicit members for the Chilton County Farm Bureau. A meeting will be held at the Court House on Wednesday, Jan. 25th. at 10:00 o'clock for the election of officers and adoption of Constitution and by-laws of the Chilton County Farm Bureau.

IN NICARAGUA

The dispatch of additional marines to Nicaragua, following the fatalities in the recent clashes with the forces of General Sandino, indicates that our troubles in that country are not at an end.

While there may be a difference of opinion as to the wisdom of our initial entry into Nicaraguan affairs the consencus of opinion, after the matter has gone this far, is that sufficient marines should be sent to safeguard those already in Nicaragua and guarantee the effectual accomplishment of the present objective, which is the orderly conduct of the coming presidential election

That the fights will not enchance American prestige in the eyes of Latin-American and South American countries is a penalty that must be paid. There is no way out of the mess at the present time.

FAME AND FORTUNE

If any of our readers are interested in becoming famous, with an eye to having their names in "Who's Who", they might be interested in the following conclusion of Dr. Albert E. Wiggam, noted scientist and author.

Dr. Wiggam says, "married men are the ones who rise to fame and fortune. The likelihood of such an achievement rises with the number of children gradually until there are four in the family."

There are a number of men in our town who can qualify as to the number in their family. We hope them success on the road to fame and fortune.

FARMERS HUNTING PROSPERITY

The belief "that was may look forward to continued progress in the year ahead" is held by Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon.

That our past prosperity has been remarkable is the opinion of many economic observers, but the point that is hard to understand is why the agricultural classes as a whole, have failed to participate in it.

Inasmuch as our nation contains a vast number of people whose entire future is dependent upon the prosperity of the farms we see no reason why some adequate remedy is not supplied which will tend to distribute the prosperity that is said to be in the nation.

POLICEMEN HAVE FATAL FIGHT

While we are too far from the scene to know what would be called the "inside facts" we are close enough to deplore the fatal fight between city and county law enforcement officers of South Pittsburg, Tenn., where six police officers were slain in a pitched battle between the two factions on Christmas night.

With all our talk about law and order it would seem possible to instill sufficient spirit of obedience to constitute authority in the ranks of those sworn to uphold the law. The chances are about ten to one that the Tennessee tragedy followed foolish action, which had been preceded by intense rivalry and bad feeling.

BORROWED $87,000; LOANED $1,000,000

Business men are often accused of being hard hearted. Consequently it is interesting to pick up the report from the daily press that Edgar B. Davis, of New York, some years ago staked a friend to something like six million dollars because that friend had loaned him $57,000 when he was about down and out after losing much money in a search for oil.

The man he helped was Frank W. Seiberling, a maker of tires. Both had been in the rubber business but Davis sold out and lost his money in looking for oil. Seiberling made the first loan. After which Davis found oil and sold his holdings for $12,000,000. Later, Seiberling's rubber business was in difficulties and Davis backed him to the tune of $6,000,000. When final settlement was made he refused to accept interest.

So, in appraising this commercial age let us give credit to such spirit. While there is much that is bad in modern industry there is much that is worthy and it is a pleasure to record this illustration of the virtues of gratitude and friendship.

PICKS ALL AMERICAN BUSINESS ELEVEN FOR 1927

A Wal lStreet statistican, undertaking to prove that it is the country boy, rather than the city lad, who makes his mark in the world of business and finance, has just picked an all-American "business team" for 1927. He has selected eleven names, using for this purpose the men who have occupied the most prominent position each month in The American Magazine, and who therefore may be considered the most conspicious examples of achievement for the year. The list includes ten men and one womaan. It includes one newspaper man, one banker, one railroad man, and several merchants and manufacturers. Here is the 'All-Aemrican Business Eleven."

1. John A. Spencer, Revere, Massachusetts: Obliged to quit school at eleven, he evolved the $2,000,000 idea of a thermostat.

2. Daniel Murray Edwards, dry-good king of Buffalo, Syracuse and Rochester despite being crippled.

3. George Matthew Adams, Saline, Michigan: Thrown out of work during the panic of 1907 with $27 in his pocket, he now heads one of the biggest newspapers syndicates in America.

4. William Todd, Wilmington, Lelaware: He worried so over his parents that he bought a $7,000,000 shipyard on his nerve.

5. Peggy Hoyt, Saginaw, Michigan: At 19 years of age she borrowed $300 to start a fashion shop whic hhas grown into a big Fifth Avenue enterprise.

6. John G. Lonsdale, Memphis lad who is now president of the National Bank of Commerce in St. Louis.

7. Lawrence A. Downs, Indiana boy who is now president of the Illinois Central lines.

8. Theodore Gray of Macon, Missouri, who after 43 years of hard luck manufactures 80 per cent of all the world's automatic telephone equipment.

9. Edward E. Shumaker, president of the Victor Talking Machine Co., who saved the industry when it was believed the radio had killed the business.

10. M. H. Aylesworth, Colorado lawyer, now head of the National Broadcasting Company.

11. William A. Burnette, Tennessee mountain boy who started to get an education at 21, and now owns a greatt aluminum ware plant.

It is noted that all of the American Magazine's selections for these coveted positions of national eminence are country boys, who have beaten their city-bred rivals into the Hall of Faame.

CROP VALUES JUMP $34,241,000 IN ONE YEAR

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 4.—Not counting cowpeas, soybeans, and velvet beans, the value of farm crops produced in Alabama during 1927 exceeded 1926 production by $34,241,000, according to the final crop estimates for the year by F. W. Gist, agricultural statistican for Alabama.

This increased value was made on 100,000 fewer acres than was cultivated in 1926. The value of crops per acre in 1927 was $28.00 as compared with $23.79 for 1926.

Most of the increase was due to cotton. Although production of cotton in Alabama in 1927 was 1,200,000 bales as compared with 1,497,000 bales in 1926. The value in 1927 was $135,600,000 as compared with $108,500,000 for 1926. These figures include seed. Cotton acreage in 1927 was 3,225,000 as compared with 3,651,000 in 1926.

Corn was second, the corn acreage for 1927 being 2,966,000 as compared with 2,825,000 in 1926. Production in bushels was 47,456,000 in 1927 as compared with 45,765,000 in 1926. Values were $43,659,000 and $34,781,000.

The hay crops for the two years weer practically the same. However, in value the 1926 crop exceeded the 1927 by $1,500,000. The value of the peanut crop jumped from $3,591,000 in 1926 to $5,086,000 in 1927. Both sweet and Irish potatoes showed an increase in production over the previous year.

These figures by Mr. Gist indicate a changed situation on the farms of the state as compared with one year ago. Frmers re more optimistic and are starting in 1928 with a better outlook. In addition to greater crop values the values of livestock and livestock products increased. Improvements were made in farm equipment and farm practices, and still greater improvement is expected in 1928.

WHAT CLUB WORK FOR FARM GIRLS AND BOYS MEANS

Club work for farm boys and girls in England is conducted on a basis similar to the 4-H Clubs of the United States. It is known there as the Young Farmers' Club Movement. It has grown rapidly in recent years. Following we give a summary of the 4-H Club Work in the U. S.;

WHAT CLUB WORK IS:

Boys' and Girls' 4-H Club work is a part of the national agricultural extension system. Through it, rural boys and girls 10 to 20 years of age, in school and out of school, are taught better agricultural and home-economic practices and the finer and more significant things of rural life. It builds men and women.

WHAT CLUB WORK DOES:

4-H Club boys and girls are demonstrators—they learn and teach better ways on the farm, in the home, and in the community.

4-H Club boys and girls work, earn money, and acquire property.

4-H Club boys and girls do the needful, the wholesome, the helpful thing. They become leaders.

4-H Club boys and girls play the game fairly.

4-H Club boys and girls meet together, work together, play together, cooperate, achieve.

4-H Club boys and girls build up their bodies and their health through right living; they train their hands to be useful, their minds to think clearly; their hearts are kind.

4-H Club boys and girls have high ideals and standards. They serve.

4-H Club boys and girls are doers.

THE CLUB PROBLEM:

There are about 11,000,000 rural boys and girls 10 to 18 years of age in the United States. There are now enrolled in 4-H Club work about 600,000 rural boys and girls, or about 1 out of each 18. The aim is so to develop the work that every boy or girl who reaches maturity and takes up farm life shall have had the opportunity in youth to take part in 4-H Club work.

HOW TO FIND OUT MORE ABOUT 4-H CLUB WORK:

(1) Ask a club member or local club leader.

(2) Ask your county extension agent.

(3) Write to the extension director of your State agricultural college.

(4) Write to the Extension Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

AMERICA IS FIRST IN PORK BUSINESS OF WORLD

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 11.—In producing and in eating pork American people lead the world, investigations by the United States Department of Agriculture show.

With only 6 per cent of the population of the world, this country has contained in recent years, some 20 per cent of the swine in the world. In 1926 there were slaughtered in the United Stataes 42 1-2 million swine, out of a total of 70 million animals slaughtered for food. This was an increase of more than two million over the previous year.

Research by the federal department has shown that pork protein is unusually high in nutritive value and enchances the food value of cereals and vegetables consumed at the same time. A recent chemical examination of pure pork suasage showed that it contained more than 2,000 calories to the pound, approximately twice the number usually consumed at a meal. Pork products can be selected to furnish an abundant supply of fuel for hard manual labor, or a lesser quantity of energy and more protein, for the sendentary person Pork is relatively rich in the anti-neuritic and growth-promoting vitamin B.

The national appetite for pork, together with the progress which has been made in control of swine diseases, has made the production of swine safer as an industry, and has resulted in a lower cost of the pork, which is again one of the reasons for its popularity with the American people.

FARM OUTLOOK FOR 1928 IS GOOD, SAYS L. N. DUNCAN

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 11.—Based upon present conditions and outlook 1928 should be a normal year for farming in Alabama, according to Prof. L. N. Duncan director of the Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

In forming this conclusion he said that prices of Alabama farm products as a whole are now better than they have been in some time; that economic and business conditions appear to be sound; and that farmers are better prepared than ever before to farm efficiently, thereby reducing production costs.

He also said that cooperation among the farmers of Alabama has made steady progress under the Farm Bureau banner with indications that it will contniue to grow in volume and increase its usefulness.

Contrasted with present conditions Mr. Duncan said that "a year ago farmers were much discouraged." Prices for cotton were much below the cost of production and what appeared then to be a big surplus was on hand. Since then this surplus has disappeared and the price is recovering, thereby changing almost entirely the attitude among farmers.

In starting the new year Prof. Duncan pointed out that farmers who succeed must give attention to fundamentals. He considers a proper system of farming, efficiency in production, economy in financing, and efficiency in marketing as the most important fundamentals in successful farming.

Prof. Duncan again suggested that farmers keep in close touch with their county agents and that farm women and girls work with their home demonstrations agents under the leadership of whom better farming methods and practices are being introduced and put into operation.

HENS PAY $2.03 OVER FEED COST DURING 1927

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 4.—Good hens properly housed and managed in Alabama returned nice profits to the owners in 1927. The returns for eggs in 63 demonstration flocks of 225 hens each was $2.03 per hen above cost of feed, according to a summary for the year prepared by G. A. Trollope, extension poultry speialist.

These flocks are scattered throughout the state. They were managed by the owners in co-operation with the county agents, the home demonstration agents, under the general direction of Mr. Trollope. Sixty-three reported and the average number of birds per flock was 225. Production of each during the year was 158.6 per hen. The average sale price of eggs was 35 cents per dozen.

The records show that the average hen ate 3 pounds of grain and 3.28 lbs. of mash per month. The feed cost per dozen eggs was 21 cents; per bird per month, 18.7 cents. These flocks are used for demonstration purposes. Meetings are held at them, demonstrations conducted, and lectures delivered.

Seeing a bright outlook for future poultry developments in the state, the plan is to emphasize culling, better feeding, better housing, and better management during 1928. No effort is being made to increase the total number of hens but rather to get rid of unprofitable hens, adopt better methods in feeding and managing those retained and then gradually increase the flock back to the size it was before the culling process began. That plan will be followed in 1928.

CHEVROLET

Again -the Greatest Sensation of America's Greatest Industry

Again, Chevrolet has created an automobile so far beyond all expectations in the low-price field that it constitutes the greatest achievement of America's greatest industry.

Built on a 4-inch longer wheelbase—offering numerous improvements in performance, beauty and safety—the Bigger and Better Chevrolet marks a spectacular epoch in the development of luxurious transportation at low cost.

The engine is of improved valve-in-head design with alloy "invar strut" pistons . . . hydro-laminated camshaft gears . . . mushroom type valve tappets . . . AC oil filter . . . AC air cleaner and a new crankcase breathing system.

Throughout the entire car similar advancements are represented—from the four-inch longer wheelbase and the new semi-elliptic shock absorber springs—84% of the wheelbase, to the marvelously beautiful new Fisher bodies in new Duco colors.

Come in and drive this great new car. Drive it through traffic—and get the thrill of its darting pick-up . . . the smooth, certain action of its non-locking four-wheel brakes! Drive it on the open road—and test every point in the speed range for smoothness and roadability! Try it on the hills—and learn the true meaning of Chevrolet power!

Do that—and you will agree with thousands of others that here is the world's most luxurious low-priced automobile.

CHILTON LASSIES WIN FROM ENTERPRISE; LOSE TO SELMA

On last Friday afternoon the Chilton girls won the second game of the season with a score of 12-19 from Enterprise. The home team seemed to have had an off day and it took some hard fighting from them during the last half to keep the Enterprise girls from scoring above them.

Miss Gladys Johnson seemed to be the star player for Enterprise.

The line-up for both teams was as follows:

Johnson, K.....L F.....Johnson, G.
Jones, V.....R F..Neiley & Stroud
Danforth, M.....R G.....Stroud, R.
Alred, V .....R G
Foshee, C.....J C..... Pierce
Pyron, M. L.....L G.....Vance, V.
Sanders, V.....R G.....Martin, L.

The girls motored to Selma Saturday night to play the Selma Hi girls. The Chilton girls played a good game but they seemed to be outclassed. It was a disadvantege to the Chilton girls to play on an indoor court, and the Selma girls had it on them in that respect.

The same lineup was used in the Selma game as was used in the game with Enterprise, except Virginia Alred played during the entire game with Selma.

The last half of the game was fought hard by the Chilton Girls and even tho the score does not show it, they kept right up with the Selma girls. At the end the final score was 25 to 8 in favor of Selma Hi Girls.

JOEL WEBB INDICTED BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY

made general counsel and that he would press claims to obtain a large portion of real estate in New York City, which he said should rightfully belong to the heirs of Thomas Edwards and his son, Robert Edwards.

The Edwards heirs case is famous the country over. It is claimed that several thousand persons had joined the corporation from the United States and Canada.

The first fee for joining the corporation was a $5 retainer, the indictment says, and a genealogy fee of $5. The attorney's retainer fee, it says further, would be increased to $25. It further states "by reason of such false and fradulent devise, plan and scheme, he would collect and receive a large sum of money, to-wit, $100,000."

Fraud Charge

The indictment further alleges "that the defendant would falsely and fradulently represent and pretend to said heirs that he and others had spent long periods of time in geneaology blanks, various letters and other material are attached to the indictment.

Judge William E. Fort, who represents Mr. Webb, stated for his client:

"We will welcome the first opportunity to set before the jury and the public every fact in the case. Mr. Webb is not guilty and his whole conduct through the case has been that of an exemplary attorney representing a legitimate cause.

"When we first heard the Grand Jury was considering this case we went to United States Attorney Kennamer and offered every book and record in regard to the case. We have nothing to conceal. our cause is a good one and we have treated every client justly."

The trial will probably come up in March, Judge Fort expects.

"The case probably is the outgrowth of some disgruntled person, or it may be that the huge interests are taking this means to fight the claim Mr. Webb is presenting. In a case whic hinvolves many millions of dollars such as this does, it is highly possible that someone should have become agitated and instituted prosecution.

"Many of the Edwards heirs are in Birmingham, Friday, having come from Cincinnati, St. Louis, and even Canada. They are confident Mr. Webb is not guilty and are offering their help in defending him."

Suit to test the title to the New York property involved in the claim of the Edwards heirs, is expected to be filed in New York in a short time. The petition, drawn by Gen. Ransom E. Gillett, of Albany, assocted with Joel F. Webb in the Edwards' heir,s claim was received by Mr. Webb several days ago and 13 of the heirs came to Birmingham to sign it. They have been in Birmingham since Wednesday, remaining over when they heard that the Federal Grand Jury was investigating charges against Mr. Webb.

"These men whyo represent all the Edwards heirs ,prepared and delivered a statement to District Attorney Kennamer," Judge William P. Fort, of the firm of Fort, Bedlow & Ray, counsel for Mr. Webb said, "but the attorney said the mtater had already been entered and he did not care to interfere with the Grand Jury's work, or to hear witnesses at this time, that it was for the trial jury to decide what to do with the case.

"Mr. Webb and Mr. McCain were in New York two weeks ago and told one of the parties interested in defeating the claim of Edwards heirs that suit would be entered within a short time. Several days ago Floyd W. Davis, representing the insurance company, that has guaranteed a large number of the titles to the land involved, has been in Birmingham for several days. I don't know whether he went before the Grand Jury or not.

"Naturally where so much is involved every effort to defeat a claim will be made by those who suffer loss if it were to be established.

"One of the peculiar cirmucstances bearing upon this case is the fact that the letter "E" in 26 volumes of the real estate records index are missing from the New York record office.

"Mr. Webb never used the mails to get money, all of the Edwards heirs with whom I have talked tell me." To this statement several of the heirs present agreed, and Mr. Webb added that he is willing that every letter he ever wrote relative to the New York matter be published.

The statement offered to District Attorney Kennamer was signed by Dave Brown, Kars, Ontario, Canada; Arthur Edwards, Mt. Pleasant, W. Va.; W. S. Edwards, Lockland, Ohio; Arthur Carmony, Shelbyville, Ind.; E. W. Edwards, London, Ontario; Frank Connel, Dearborn, Mich.; E. F. Butlin, Detroit, Mich.; W. S. Brown, Kansas City, Kan.; L. M. Gilland, Cooksville, Quebec, Canada; Gus Reddish, Denver, Colo.; Felix Carlilse, Greenville, S. C.; G. B. Hamilton, Easley, S. C.; W. M. Wilson, Gadsden, Ala.; W. T. Coker, Cordova, Ala.; P. M. Carlisle, Birmingham; T. C. McCain,Birmingham.

Employed Webb

They said they are the duly constituted representatives of the Edward heirs, represented by different groups, that they employed Mr. Webb as attorney and without any solicitation paid him out of their own funds voluntarily to represent them; that Mr. Webb never contemplated suit but believed he could make settlement and still thinks suit is unnecessary because the Edward heirs have rights in the premises for which a reasonble settlement ought to be made, but Gen. Gillett, Albany, N. Y., attorney, employed by him, thinks otherwise and advised the bringing of an action in court. He prepared the papers to be sworn to by Felix W. Carlisle and P. M. Carlisle as representative of all the heirs.

"We, as clients and representatives of all the clients in the case, duly authorized to speak for them," the statement says, "believes in our case and believe that we have a good case. And for our sake, too, we want a judicial decision of our rights in the premises. We also want a judicial decision as to whether or not we can recover our just claims."

SHADY GROVE COMMUNITY

We are glad to know that little Lorain McKinney is still improving. We hope she will soon be able to come home.

Mr. John McKinney, riveter for the Ingalls Iron Works, of Birmingham, was almost instantly kiled last Friday morning, when the riveting machine fell on him. He was brought to Shady Grove, his former home, Sunday for burial. He is survived by his widow of Birmingham, his mother of Verbena, four sisters and fiveETAOI on bena, four brothers and five sisters, namely; Mr. E. L. and R. P. Let's make 1928 a prosperous year with the church.—Mrs. Carrie L. Nelson.

TIMELY FARM FACTS

The most illiterate farmers in America are those who can read and won't read.

Horse meat is consumed in France but only on a limited scale. It is exported from America.

The growing season is lengthened several weeks by using hot beds and cold frames for tender plants.

If it costs $2 a year to feed a rat, what do Alabama farmers lose thus, annually?

Wool stockings should be washed in warm water but not in hot suds and they should be rinsed well in water of the same temperature. They should not be ironed.

Curb markets will succeed as people have good products for sale each market day; and the seller who has products when others have none makes the most money.

While all cotton growers are concerned with prices those who use two-row cultivators and other improved implements are less dependent upon prices for a living return.

Although crop conditions were not favorable 11 Ohio corn growers this year earned membership in the 100-bushel corn club by producing 100 bu. or more per acre on ten-acre plots.

Recently the Dallas, Texas, agricultural club devoted an entire meeting to a discussion on raising cotton on a large acreage by the use of tractors and large machinery units.

We can't answer questions and render good service at the same time!

THERE was a time when the telephone operators could tell you where the fire was, the time of day, and the answers to a host of other questions.

But those leisurely days have gone! People now use their telephones more and expect fast and satisfactory service. To render such a service the operators must devote their whole time to it.

To ask telephone operators questions which are not directly concerned with the service itself is to imperil the serious needs of the community.

Democrats Set Party Harmony For Year

Selection Of Houston Blow To Al Smith, Is Writer's View

Washington, Jan. 13.—Harmony in the Democratic party became more than a possibility today as leaders who met here for the Jackson Day dinner last night discussed the events at the dinner with hints of a real "get together" for the presidential race this year.

The Southern Democrats appeared triumphant over their unexpected victory in taking the national convention to Houston and this action was regarded by many as a serious development for. Governor Smith's candidacy.

It takes the convention war away from the sidewalks of New York, and down into the heart of the dry, Protestant, southern democracy. What effect local conditions have on nominating conventions is often disputed but if there is any effect, it seems almost certain to be antagonistic to Smith.

But temporarily at least, the Democrats sat down at their first Jackson Day dinner since 1920 all in high gear for harmony. Speakers, bridled their tongues and spoke for party unity rather for factional views. There were no denunciations except for the Republicans. The hatchet of Madison Square Garden was left outside.

Prohibition was touched but gingerly by one wet—Governor Ritchie of Maryland.

Practically all of the national figures of the party were heard from, even Al Smith who did not attend but sent a letter declaring there must be a minimum of interference by the federal government with local habits and concerns, urging that the issue be faced without equivocation and proposing that the national committee start drafting the 1928 platform before the convention meets instead of hurriedly throwing it together over night after the proceedings begin.

Among the speakers were John W. Davis, presidential nominee in 1924; William G. McAdoo, Evans Woollen, of Indiana; Gov. Ritchie, of Maryland; Senator Reed of Missouri; and a dozen others of prominence in the party.

MRS. FLOYD IRVIN OF VERBENA BURIED JANUARY 10.

On the evening of January 8, 1928 at the Methodist Memorial Hospital in Montgomery occurred the death of Mrs. Floyd Irvin of Verbena, following an extended illness of ten weeks. Two weeks before Christmas she was brought to her home from the hospital and seemed to be steadily improving, but on December 24th, she became worse and the following week was again removed to the hospital, where she succumbed to the fourth operation within the time of her illness. But all the time of her illness. But all the while she bore her suffering patiently and bravely.

Mrs. Irvin was the daughter of Mrs. E. E. Headley, and was born near Clanton on August 18, 1898. At an early age she joined the Mt. Nebo Methodist Church and later removed her membership to Verbena. She was a devout member and took part in all phases of the church life.

For the past four years she taught in the public school of her home town and for the past year was president of the P. T. A. She was always ready to lend a helping hand to any worthy cause, and her friends were numbered by her acquaintances. She loved her home, her friends and her work and she will be sadly missed by all who knew her.

The funeral was conducted by her pastor, Rev. Henry Tate in the Methodist Church of Verbena, on Tuesday afternoon, January 10, after which she was laid to rest in Clanton beside her little daughter, Margaret Elizabeth McElvaine, who preceded her nearly four years ago.

Besides her mother she leaves to mourn for her, her husband, W. Floyd Irvin of Verbena; two sisters, Mrs. E. L. Jones of Ramer, Ala.; and Mrs. J. Elbert Littlejohn of Jemison; three brothers, Orman F. Headley, Mechanicville, N. Y., Wilburn Headley of Clanton and Marvin Headley of Gorges.

Movement Started To Organize Kiwanis Club

A great era for the life and progress of Clanton and vicinity began Tuesday evening when at the Court House a selected few gathered to hear a group of distinguished visitors tell of the advantages accruing to a town from the existence in it of a Kiwanis club. The speakers were Mr. Erskine Ramsey, captialist and philantrophist, and past Governor of the Alabama District of Kiwanis, Mr. W. A. Currie of Birmingham; Liet. Governor of Division 2; Mr. William Milliken of Florence, Liet. Governor of Division No. 1, Dr. M. F. Jackson, Director of Agricultural Extension of the T. C. & I. Co.; Mr. Cicero C. Blackwell, a past president of the Birmingham club; and Mr. Foster Hamilton, a bank president of Ensley and president of the Ensley club. The meeting was persided over by Mr. Lemuel B. Green who had been to Montgomery to the meeting of the Kiwanis District trustees and brought the speakers back with him.

The addresses aroused both interest and enthusiasm, as they related how a service club can lead and help the community to larger things. After short talks by Mr. Green, Mr. Stapp, Mr. Boyd, Judge Reynolds. Mr. Fox and Dr. Gragg, twenty-eight asked to be enrolled as charter members. A temporary organization was set up to the extent of electing a temporary chairman who appointed a membership committee (membership is by invitation only). The temporary chairman is Dr. S. J. Ezell, and the membership committee is composed of Mr. Green, Mr. Boyd, Mr. Stapp, and Mr. Omar Reynolds. Before twenty-four hours has passed it is expected that the thirty-five enrollments necessary for securing a charter will be exceeded by a large margin. A club of fifty members is an easy possibility.

The Kiwanis club is international, having 1672 clubs in the United States and Canada. Its aim is service and fellowship. Its motto is "We build." Its membership is over 100,000.

The local interest began in conversations between Messrs Green, Ezell, Stapp and Ellis. Last Thursday evening they had a meeting to discuss the literature they had secured on Kiwanis and another service club. Unanimously they agreed that Kiwanis is the ideal organization for Clanton. On Monday evening they had another meeting to which they invited about ten others. It was agreed to proceed with the organization. On Tuesday evening the meeting was had for the sixty or sixty-five who had been selcted to fill the adopted classifications. About thirty were present and after hearing the visitors, all but two asked to be enrolled.

We agree with two of the local speakers who said that the organization and operation of a live Kiwanis club will mean more for the progress of Clanton than even the coming of the cotton mill.

Ala. Power Co.'s 1928 Budget $15,000,000

Alabama Will Get Large Paper Mill, Says Martin

The following statement by Thomas W. Martin, president of the Alabama Power Company, appeared in the Birmingham News of last Sunday:

"Alabama Power Company's construction and extension budget for 1928 totaling approximately $15,000,000 is an indication of the company's confidence in the continued growth and prosperity of this state.

"To expend this large sum of money more than 5,000 men will be employed with a monthly pay roll of $500,000. There will be required to carry on the company's construction work 10,000 tons of steel and iron; 1,200,000 bags of cement, which is 800,000 bags less than the amount used in 1927; 250,000 lbs. of powder and dynamite, and many other items, all of which will be purchased in Alabama. This means that the bulk of the $15,000,000 will be kept at home, and that many communities, large and small, will feel its beneficial effects.

"While we must take into account that this is presidential year, there are now indications that the expansion of existing industries and the establishment of new industries during 1928 will exceed that of any previous year, both as to number and pay rolls, despite the fact that 1927 set a new pace in the matter of power and requirements for industrial purposes.

"A significant feature of the industrial movement of the old year was the wider interest in industrial development by those residing in rural sections and smaller towns. Realizing that industry follows the power lines, requests for power service from a number of small towns resulted in an extension of service to 68 communities making a total of 254 communities, in Alabama now having power service from Alabama Power Company. In addition 115 miles of lines were constructed for service to rural customers—a service which is steadily going forward as rapidly as conditions will permit.

Manufacturing Increasing

"There were recessions in some lines of business in 1927, less marked perhaps in the South than in other places, for it is now an accepted fact that manufacturing is increasing in the Southeastern states one and one-half times faster than for the country as a whole.

"The craft and pulp paper companies are showing a great deal of interest in the south and at least one large company will be in operation in Alabama during the year. Apparently this industry is going to give us an answer to the question of what to do with our cut-over timber lands.

"We may look for the movement of the paper mill industry to the South during the next ten years, similar to what we have had in the cotton mill industry during the past 10 years. The fundamental basis for this movement is the rapid growth of young timber in cut-over areas of this region requiring only one-fourth as much acreage to keep a mill continuously supplied with cord wood in the South as it does in the North. The textile industry will continue to expand, for Alabama, despite the acquisition of many new mills in 1927, continues to ship to other sections one-half of its annual cotton crop.

"In addition, we should see new industries, such as electro-chemical and electro-metallurgical plants, foundries, machine shops, fabricating plants, milk condensing and cheese plants, furniture factories, wood-working and garment factories.

"The major projects included in the company's construction program are the completion of Jordan Dam on the Coosa River, with 144,000 horse-power, the completion of the Upper Tallassee Dam on the Tallapoosa River, with 50,000 horsepower; and the beginning of the new Warrior Steam Plant on the Warrior River, to have an initial installation of 80,000 horsepower, making a total of 274,000 horsepower additional in hydro and steam plants to be in operation by the end of 1928.

Other Projects

"Other items will include the addition of 100,000 horsepower in step-down primary substations; 200 miles of 154 KV and 110 KV high tension transmission lines; 200 miles of 400,000 volt low tension transmission lines, and 500 miles of low-voltage distribution lines to connect consumers.

"These extensive developments, it should be noted, are required to meet present demands for power, and provide some surplus to take care of demands not now anticipated.

"It being the policy of the company to keep the supply well ahead of requirements, we plan in 1928 to begin further power projects, but whether they will be hydro or steam has not been determined."

Begins Work on Bridge In Escambia County

C. B. Cox, Local Contractor Awarded Contract By Highway Department

The following article taken from the Brewton Standard will be of interest to many of our readers:

"The first work preliminary to the re-building of Murder Creek bridge between Brewton and East Brewton was done this week when the cantractor, C. B. Cox, of Clanton, put a crew of men at the task of providing passageway over the creek while the new bridge, is under construction.

Mr. Cox stated Wednesday that it will probably require about ninety days to complete the job of building the bridge and that during that time he will make every effort to see that traffic is interfered with as little as possible. A two-way drive will be constructed along the temporary route, although the plans of the state only call for a one-way drive, so that the necessity of one vehicle waiting for another may be avoided.

During the course of construction, Mr. Cox said, it probably will be necessary to close the route entirely for a few hours when he reaches the point of removing the old steel span. Ample notice of this time will be given in advance, however, he said, and an effort will be made to have it occur at a period when the least inconvenience will result to the traveling public.

According to Mr. Cox, the bridge will be new throughout when completed, except for one concrete abutment, which is being used under the present bridge. This is the only part of the structure built by the county several years ago which will be salvaged by the state in putting an improved type of bridge over the stream.

Specifications call for the bridge to be constructed of concrete, steel and creosoted timber. It will be floored entirely with concrete from end to end, it being stated that concrete will not only be laid for the main span but also on each of the approaches. The old steel span will be replaced by a new one a hundred feet in length

The price of the job, under the contract which Mr. C x has with the highway department is $27,49.05.—Brewton Standard.

FARM BUREAU ORGANIZATION MEETING WEDNESDAY. JAN. 25

On next Wednesday, January 25th, at 10 o'clock a meeting will be held at the Court House for the election of officers and the adoption of the by-laws and constitution of the Chilton County Farm Bureau. A large attendance is urged.

COUNTY AGENT BUSY CONDUCTING BUREAU CAMPAIGN

The campaign for members to the proposed Chilton County Farm Bureau started Monday of this week. Mr. V. V. Mitchell and Mrs. W. S. Fair, State Farm Bureau representatives, came in to the county Monday and will remain here throughout the week.

Mr. Stapp has arranged with farmers in various sections of the county to go with Mr. Fair and Mr. Mitchell each day and put them in touch with as many farmers as is possible.

Mr. Stapp says it will be impossible to see every farmer in the county in so short a time and he urges those farmers whom the solicitors fail to see, to come to his office at their earliest convenience and sign up and help to make the Chilton County Farm Bureau one of the very best in the State.

Solicitors secured thirty members Tuesday and even a better daily average is expected.

Master Paul Gowan Celebrates Fifth Birthday Aninversary

One of the prettiest childrea parties of the season was given Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. J. E. Gowan at her home honoring the Fifth birthday of her little son, Paul.

The beautiful living room of the home, and the dining room, were thrown together and a color scheme of red and white most effectively carried out the Valentine idea.

The center motif of the dining table was a beautiful white birthday cake, embossed in white rosebuds and holding five red candels. Around the cake were the favors, red and white baskets of mints.

During the afternoon the children enjoyed many Valentine games, one of which was "Pinning the arrow on the Heart". In this contest Mary Frances Atkinson received a pretty telephone and Wendal Murrah a top for prizes.

Late in the afternoon the cake was cut and the symbols fell to the following: Annie Cordelia Smith cut the ring, Frances Bean the button, Joe Frank Higgins the thimble and Harry Sims the dime.

The Valentine idea was also carried out in the refreshments, which were red jello and white cake.

The little guests enjoying this party were: Joe Frank Higgins, Junior Plyler, Sam Johnson, Elizabeth Armstrong Jim Alex Wyatt, Wendall Murrah, Douglas Lowery, Frances and Annie Cordelia Smith, Mary Frances Atkinson, Mae Anice Polk, Frances Bean, Dan Allred, Neal Ousley, Jake Neighbors, Frank Cox, Billy Callen, Anne Ross, Harry Sims, J. FORMER CLANTON GIRL MARRIES IN ILLINOIS

The following clipping from a DeKalb newspaper, of the marriage of Miss Frances Hopkins and Mr. Lee Joseph Rice, will be of interest to many of our readers. Miss Hopkins is a former resident of Clanton;

DeKalb, Illinois, January 5, 1928—"What proved to be one of the most formal and brilliant occasions of the mid-winter social season was the marriage of Miss Frances Hopkins of this city, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. P. I. Hopkins, of North First street to Lee Joseph Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Rice, of Elgin, which was solemnized at the First Baptist Church, corner of South Third and Prospect streets at six o'clock last evening, Rev. Fred W. Field, pastor of the church, officiating.

The altar of the church was profusely decorated with ferns, palms, smilax, and candles forming a bower under which the marriage ceremony took place.

M. A. Raddatz presided over the organ opening the service with a beautiful solo. Dr. Howard M. Payne with the organ accompaniment, followed with a violin solo, John Ward of Sterling, schoolmate of Mr. Rice, sang. Mr. Ward's voice and manner won him many admirers and he will be remembered in DeKalb for some time.

As the beautiful strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March filled the quietness of the church, the bride, entered on the arm of her father, preceded by the matron of honor, Mrs. W. L. Bentley of St. Louis, and the maid of honor, Miss Marjorie Landphere of Hinsdale. Miss Hopkins was truly one of the lovliest brides seen in DeKalb in many years. Her brunette beauty was enhanced by a gown of white satin, trimmed in lace and pearls, with a beautiful viel. Her bouqet was of white roses and lillies of the valley. Her attendants, Miss Landphere was gowned in flesh colored taffeta and Mrs. Bentley in blue taffeta. Both carried bouqets of pink roses. Miss Landphere and Miss Hopkins attended Stetson University together.

Mr. Rice and his brother Roy, of this city, entered from the vestry meeting the bride and her father beneath the bower. The ceremony was an impressive one and very beautiful.

After the ceremony some 75 guests assembled at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hopkins where congratulations were extended the bride and bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Rice were fortunate in having Lloyd Leflin of Lake Forest, who drove them to Chicago, getting them away before any of the customary signs of wedding party flotousness were under way.

Miss Hopkins attended the Breneau college at Gainesville, Ga., and Stetson University at Deland, Fla. She is a member of the Pi Beta Phi and Phi Beta sororities. Although Miss Hopkins has made DeKalb her home but a few months her pleasing personality has made for her a host of friends.

Mr. Rice attended Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind. At present he is manager of the Fox Hotel at Elgin, where the young couple will make their home. Mr. Rice has visited in DeKalb frequently and has made many friends here.

Out of town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Degenhardt of Highland Park; Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hirons of Elgin, Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Benson of Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. M. Rice of Elgin; John Ward of Sterling; Lloyd Leflin of Lake Forest, Frank Briggs of Sterling, Miss Josephine Wicklund of Elgin, Melvin Burns of Elgin, Earl Britton of Elgin, O. E. Laham of Clanton, Ala., Miss Marjorie Landphere of Hinsdale, Mrs. W. L. Bentley of St. Louis.

IF WE DIVIDE CLANTON'S WEALTH

If all the wealth in Clanton were hoarded in a barrel, with the understanding that it would be distributed among citizens of Clanton it would be to the profit of every citizen, rich and poor to make the barrel as rich as possible.

Knowing that the contents would be distributed among the citizens here, and that they all, rich and poor, would share in the prize, each man, woman and child would strive to pack the barrel as tight as possible. There would be no careless dispatch of money to other cities, where other people would be happy in the distribution of the wealth, foolishly contributed by the people of Clanton.

The wealth of Clanton is expressed in money and every citizen has some of it. The barrel into which it can be placed is the commerce of Clanton. Every time a citizen buys from a Clanton merchant he puts some of his wealth into the business barrel of Clanton. This business barrel is in turn distributed to our citizens in wages, rents, and other transactions. The larger the barrel and the tighter it is packed the larger will be the share of every citizen.

The distribution of the wealth of Clanton, however, does not happen all at once. It is in process throughout the year. Every day as citizens trade in Clanton they add to the sum in the business barrel, and other citizens, taking it out, pass it around. The only hitch in this endless chain comes when some thoughtless man or woman, after receiving some of Clanton's wealth sends it through the mails to another city, where it goes into another barrel and is distributed among other people.

TO OUR YOUNG PEOPLE

Every once in a while we try to address one of our editorials to the young people who favor the News with their confidence. This week we would call attention to the fact that man is, in a measure, only an animal, but that the difference between human beings and other animals is that people have a sense of proportion as to time, appreciating the value of the present, the lessons of the past, the present and the future.

The young man or woman in Clanton who plans to get ahead in life and to [illegible] should begin by realizing the immense value of present time. It is the only thing that we have to utilize. The use that we make of our time, whether wise or foolish, depends in good measure, upon our absorption of the lessons that the past has furnished our race. Inasmuch as we have not lived through the past we must receive this information through books or through the wise teachings of those who have had experience in life.

It behooves all thoughtful young people therefore, to give some heed to what older people say and do. The chances are that the older people are right, but not always, fortunately. If young people acted as old people and failed to take chances for themselves the progress of the world would end. However, realizing that the older people are apt to be right a young man or woman is better fitted to weigh the chances of success when undertaking any new effort.

Then to all the young people in Chilton County we urge faith in their own powers. Rely upon them, after taking full counsel of the wisdom that is available. Never falter, but press on, and succeed!

A NATIONAL RADIO

Recently a radio hookup furnished millions of people with a program that included artists in New York, Chicago, California and New Orleans, together with an automobile manufacturer in Detroit. It is hard to estimate how many million people listened in on the entertainment, which was instaneously heard all over the United States.

It seems to us that the Federal government could follow this lead. A system of national stations, broadcasting over the entire country, could be used for many governmental purposes. It might be worth while to put the sessions of Congress on the air. This might keep the people at home intouch with their representatives.

FOOLISH UTTERANCE

It seems inconceivable that a man like Sigismund Freud, originator of psychoanalysis, could be the author of a statement that "one sees throughout a thousand years of religious life that religion has not bettered mankind to any appreciable extent."

Of course, the job of bettering mankind is not one subject to measurement in the course of an average lifetime. Man is, and for years has been, rather slow in making real progress. Nevertheless, there are many extremely intellectual men who are unable to account for the gradual betterment of mankind except upon the theory that there is a Supreme Power, from whom men draw inspiration and succor.

PRACTICAL INDUSTRY BUILDING PROGRAMS

Fifty thousand American communities want [illegible] with more jobs and capital and prestige; and doubtless at least that many new industries want towns in which to grow. They need only to get together. The Industrial Development Bulletin, issued by the Central Illinois Public Service Company, Springfield, Illinois, is one of the best circulars ever put out on the subject of "The New Industry" It ought to be in the hands of every organization pledged to build up its own home town.

The Alabama Power Company, operating out from Birmingham brought 19 major industries, employing 4,000 people, into its territory during 1926. Sixty-six new communities were added to the Company service, and 144 miles of rural lines were built to serve 1650 customers in 21 rural districts. In 1919 the company served 133 companies in 14 types of industry; last year, it had 419 companies representing 21 types. Cotton mills increased from 13 to 56, in those seven years; pipe plants from 2 to 19.

These stories of industry building is good American news.

Beware of the man whose story sounds too good.

We always like those people who are kind to dogs and horses.

When a delivery is late, a good excuse is even more irritating than a bad one—a good excuse leaves no outlet for anger.

The more trifling the man the more patent pencils and fountain pens he seems to carry around in his vest pocket.

Some of the wise old business men can "smell" a crook just as an old-fashioned doctor could "smell" a case of typhoid fever.

Every husband wonders what his wife does with all the money he brings home, and every wife wonders why her husband isn't able to bring home more money.

About the only things some people are able to save are trading stamps, cigar coupons and tinfoil.

When some people pay a compliment they act as though they wanted a receipt for it.

It is better to say nothing than to tell the plot of the play you saw last week.

A man is either honest or dishonest.

It's always comforting to know that others have troubles, too.

TO MARK HIGHWAYS OF STATE WITH METAL TAGS

All state highways of Alabama will be marked with metal tags manufactured in the state's tag plant at Kilby prison. Charles A. Moffett, president of the state board of administration today, announced that bides for the markers are being completed and the manufacture of the tags will be started during the next few days. The signs will designate road numbers and will give warning to motorists of turns or other impediments in the roads.

The tag factory was installed by the board of administration last year primarily to manufacture automobile tags. Mr. Moffett estimates that the state saved $10,000 on the tags last year and that profit obtained in commercial work and in manufacturing tags and signs needed by the state will be great enough to pay for the plant in three years.

HOME ORCHARD

Every farmer should have a good home orchard. A few trees properly cared for will produce an abundance of good fruit, while many trees not cared for may produce only a small quantity of inferior fruit.

All fruit trees are more or less affected with San Jose Scale this winter; in fact, I believe the scale is worse this winter than I have seen it in a long time.

Scale is easily controlled if all the trees are thoroughly sprayed with winter strength Lime-Sulphur solutions. For scale control in average home orchards I recommend either Scalecide, a commercially prepared mixture of lime and sulphur in the proportion of one gallo nto fifteen gallons of water, or Oil-Emulsion in the proportion of one gallon to twenty-one gallons of water. Trees not worth spraying thoroughly, should be dug up and burned or they will spread diseases to other trees.

FEEDING DAIRY COWS

Statistics show that the average annual production per Alabama dairy cow is approximately 2000 pounds of milk and 80 pounds of butter fat, while the average for the United States is approximately 4000 pounds of milk, and 160 pounds of butterfat. I do not know what the average annual production per Chilton County dairy cow is, but my guess is that it is too low to be very profitable. Profitable dairying depends upon high producing cows, just as profitable cotton growing depends upon high yields per acre.

Well bred and better fed cows are essential to high production. Good cows, well fed and cared for are profitable while good cows, as well as poor ones not properly fed and cared for, are usually unprofitable.

Generally speaking, cows not on good pastures should have one pound of grain for each two and one-half to three pounds of milk produced. Where good pasture is used, the grain feed may be cut to one pound for each five to seven pounds of milk.

Rations to use for Winter Feeding

Grain mixtures to use—If your hay consists of such legumes as soybeans, cowpeas, vetch, or lespedeza, use any of the following grain mixtures:

No 1—200 lbs. cornmeal; 100 lbs. ground oats; 100 lbs. wheat bran; 100 lbs. cotton seed meal and 5 lbs. salt.

No. 2—300 lbs. corn and cob meal; 50 lbs. velvet bean meal; 50 lbs. wheat bran; 100 lbs. cottonseed meal and 5 lbs. salt.

No. 3.—300 lbs. corn and cob meal; 100 lbs. wheat bran; 100 lbs. cottonseed meal and 5 lbs. salt.

Two Routes In Dairying

Remember there are two routes in dairying:

How To Fail In Dairying:

1. Use only scrub cows.
2. Breed these cows to scrub bulls.
3. Buy all your cows. These calves are not worth raising anyway.
4. Do not provide any pasture for your cows.
5. Buy all your grain mixture, preferably ready-mixed feed.
6. Buy your roughage.
7. Use insuffiicent labor to feed and milk your cows.
8. Do not keep records, they might discourage you.
9. Turn your cows out, winter and summer, without shelter.
10. Allow your cows to rustle for a living all winter and freshen in the spring in thin condition.

How to Succeed in Dairying:

1. Use cows of good dairy conformation and breeding.
2. Use pure-bred bulls with high-producing ancestors.
3. Raise heifer calves from your best producing cows.
4. Provide good pastures for your cows.
5. Grow as much of your grain as is possible on the farm.
6. Grow sufficient hay and silage to supply your herd's needs.
7. Give the herd your individual attention, particularly in feeding the cows and seeing that they are properly milked.
8. Check up on your cows by weighing the milk and feed, and testing the milk for butterfat. This is the only way to weed out unprofitable cows.
9. Provide shade in the summer and a cheap shelter in the winter.
10. See that your cows are in good condition at calving time.

If your roughage consists of silage and legume hay, or peavine and sorghum hay, or Johnson grass and alfalfa hay, or similar mixtures, use one of the following grain mixtures:

No. 4—200 lbs corn meal; 100 lbs ground oats; 100 lbs wheat bran; 150 lbs cottonseed meal and 5 lbs salt.

No. 5—100 lbs corn and cob meal; 100 lbs velvet bean meal; 100 lbs wheat bran; 100 lbs cottonseed meal and 5 lbs salt.

No. 6—150 lbs corn and cob meal; 100 lbs wheat bran; 100 lbs cottonseed meal and 4 lbs salt.

Rations to Be Used For Summer Feeding or Pasture

The following are good rations for summer feeding on pasture:

No. 12—200 lbs corn and cob meal; 50 lbs ground oats; 50 lbs cottonseed meal.

No. 13—200 lbs corn and cob meal; 50 lbs velvet bean meal and 50 lbs of cottonseed meal.

No. 14—200 lbs corn and cob meal; 50 lbs wheat bran and 50 lbs cotton-seed meal.

Mixture No. 1 will also give good results.

Water and Salt

One of the limiting factors in milk production is water, since milk is largely water. A cow will drink 15 to 30 gallons of water a day.

Cows in milk should receive about one ounce of salt per day.

FARM AND HOME FACTS

It is time to get ready to plant the spring garden.

Overweight usually indicates that too much starchy, fat and sweet food is being eaten.

Sour milk may be used in place of sweet milk in many flour mixtures. Substitute soda for baking powder.

It doesn't pay to keep a hen more than one year unless she has been an exceptionally good layer the first year.

A successful farmer is a good planner and is efficient in executing his plans.

Paper towels are useful for draining foods fried in deep fat or for greasing cake tins and molds.

Stuff wet shoes with crumpled newspaper and dry them slowly to keep the leather soft and to keep the shoes in shape.

The Jefferson County Truck Growers Association estimated that their business in 1927 amounted to little more than one million dollars.

The man who gets most fun out of farming is the one most likely to get the most profits and benefits out of it too.

Hens in demonstration flocks thruout Alabama returned an average of $2.03 each above feed costs in 1927, according to G. A. Trolope, extension poultryman, Aubrun.

NEWS IN BRIEF

During four weeks late in 1927, 618 people were killed by automobile accidents in 77 large cities. For the corresponding period a year ago 632 people were killed.

In spite of the bigger corn crop this season and the record barley crop, the total supply of the principal feed grains for the remainder of the season is little larger if any than a year ago.

With 42,200 fewer acres, the 1927 tobacco crop returned to the growers approximately $34,000,000 more money than the 1926 crop, according to a survey by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The last citrus fruit crop of California consisted of 70,600 carloads which returned to the state $120,000,000. The California Fruit Growers' Exchange, a cooperative association, says that it is the largest crop and the most money in the history of the state.

To increase the consumption of wheat hotel and restaurant proprietors in Kansas are urging their guests to consume more wheat bread. Kansas being the leading wheat state prosperity in that state is dependent upon it.

Scientists claim that 90 per cent of the children in the United States have rickets to some degree which leads to crooked and bowed legs and flat chests leaving them less able to ward off disease attacks. Among other things they emphasize the importance of milk and fresh vegetables.

FERTILIZER YEAR IS NOW GETTING UNDER WAY

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 18.—The delivery of fertilizer to the farms of Alabama for making crops in 1928 is now under way. Information from the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, at Montgomery, is that the present fertilizer season is opening earlier than usual. Local dealers throughout the state report also that the opening soon in advance of the normal date.

Between now and early spring Alabama farmers will spend upwards of $15,000,000 for commercial fertilizer. This estimate is based upon past performances. The annual fertilizer bill for the state has varied between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000; and the fertilizer manufacturers and dealers expect this to be a better than normal year.

Nitrate of soda is moving first. All of it is imported from Chile. Potash fertilizers used in Alabama are imported from France and Germany. Most of the raw phosphate from which acid phosphate is made is mined in Florida, Tennessee, and other states but it is processed in Alabama. Basic slag, another phosphate fertilizer, is a by-product of the steel industry and large quantities are manufactured by the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Co. of Birmingham as well as other steel concerns. Some buy ready-mixed fertilizer.

Under the stimulus of cooperative buying through the Farm Bureau the fertilizer business in Alabama in, recent years has become more of a cash business. This is reported to be more satisfactory all the way round.

Most of the fertilizer used in Alabama will go under cotton. However, some will be used for other crops. While there are many farms in Alabama on which cotton is not raised there are very few if any, that do not buy commercial fertilizer. Perhaps each of the 250,000 farms in Alabama will buy commercial fertilizer this season.

ENTERPRISE GIRLS WIN FROM CHILTON HIGH GIRLS JAN. 13

EDITORS NOTE—The following article is two write-ups of the basketball game played at Enterprise last Friday, between the Chilton County High girls and the Enterprise girls. As we did not have the pleasure of attending said game we leave to our readers to judge which was the winning team. One write-up came from a Clanton writer and the other from an Enterprise writer.

On Friday 13, the Enterprise sextette of Basketball girls matched their prowess in handling the cow-hide with that of Chilton County High. The visiting girls made off at a good, spirited pace. However, the Enterprise girls, knowing when things have gone far enough, began their wonderful team work in the second half. From then on it was easy to pick the winner.

Clanton High plays a good game but the most optimistic knows when his adversary has him outweighed in points.

It seemed that the battery of the Cheerers who came with the visiting team were soon so thrilled with the way our girls thrwarted their hopes until they unconsciously cheered at the wrong time. The final score was Enterprise 15; Clanton 14.

CLANTON GIRLS WIN FROM ENTERPRISE AGAIN FRIDAY

Last Friday afternoon the Clanton girls played the second game with Enterprise on the latters court and won by a close score of 13-14.

When the game was over with the Clanton girls winners, the Enterprise girls protested that in the beginning of the game a goal was shot that was not counted by the Enterprise scorekeeper. The goal was shot after the Enterprise referee blew his whistle for a fowl, and it was supposed not to have been counted even tho the ball was in the air after the referee called it, as he himself said "No goal". But after the game was over and the Clanton girls won by a point the coach of Enterprise and several onlookers from Enterprise pretended to have found fault with their score-keepers card. Th Enterprise referee did not mention this intereference and as he was by rules the one to decide, the game goes to Clanton.

This explanation is given authoritively in order that there be no mis-understanding or mistaken rumors.

ISABELLA ADDS ANOTHER VICTORY TO HER RECORD

The Isabella basket ball team added another victory to her record on last Friday, January 13, when she defeated the Stanton team with the score 13-6.

The game started rather slow, neither team scoring until the second quarter. Isabella gained the lead in the second quarter and was in the lead the remainder of the game. Stanton had a large team, but Isabella's defense was too strong for them to pile up many scores. Conway was Isabella's outstanding star, getting four field goals and one foul, while Martin played a good game at guard.

CHEVROLET MOTOR CO. HAS AMBITIOUS PLANS FOR 1928

Having achieved world leadership in automobile manufacturing in 1927 with a yearly output nearly 2,000 units in excess of it program of a million cars, the Chevrolet Motor Company has embarked in 1928 upon the most ambitious production and sales plans in its entire sixteen years of existence, according to W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager.

Production for the year just ended totaled 1,001,834 units for a gain of more than 36 per cent over the 732,147 cars and trucks built in 1926 and 93 per cent over the 1925 production of 519,066 units.

The 1,000,000th car built in 1927 rolled off the assembly lines at the Flint, Michigan plant December 30, with C. F. Barth, vice-president in charge of manufacturing at the wheel. The history-making model was a sedan. It was prepared for immediate shipment so that, with more than 32,000 other new models built in December, it might be available for prompt delivery to new car purchasers.

Throughout 1927 factories were on peak production schedules, while month after month tentative schedules had to be increased to meet the demand for the 1927 models.

The year as a result was the most spectular and most successful in Chevrolet history.

Remarkable as were its 1927 achievements, however, the outlook for 1928 looms even brighter, according to Mr. Knudsen, who stated that while no definite production figure has been set for 1928, this year's volume is certain to top by a comfortable margin the record high mark for 1927.

His prediction is based on country-wide prosperity which by every token should bring the automobile industry the greatest year it has ever known, Mr. Knudsen stated.

"Our own organization is prepared to handle its full share of this anticipated growth in business," he said. "All Chevrolet production operations are on a maximum capacity basis that we may meet the 1928 demand, and make immediate delivery on all models.

"During the latter part of 1927 we made extensive preparations for our 1928 program. Our sales organization has been enlarged and intensified thru the creation of the new regional offices and zone offices, and by additions to the field personnel.

"Our service to the owner is on a new high level through the opening of new parts depots and warehouses to expedite delivery of new or replacement parts.

"Production facilities also have been augmented by the recent purchase of a $4,500,000 foundry at Saginaw, Mich., and a new assembly plant which will get into production shortly at Atlanta, Ga., to supply the Southwest, and which will increase by 350 cars a day the volume of the other seven assembly plants now in operation in the United States.

"With these improved facilities, and with our bigger and better car for 1928, which at substantial price reductions won such a warm public reception upon its initial showing on January 1, we feel assured of establishing new records this year, and of maintaining the steadfast public confidence in the Chevrolet Motor Company which alone made possible our very gratifying showing in 1927."

Champion Entertainer of the Southeast

To be a champion in any walk of life is a signal honor. But to be the champion old-time fiddler and entertainer in a region that abounds with good fiddlers, is the Grand Accomplishment. It takes a great fiddler and that's just what Gid Tanner is.

Gid, who is frequently heard on the Sears Roebuck Agricultural Foundation programs over WSB, the Atlanta Journal Station, has been elevated to the old-time fiddling championship of the Southeast. Decisive factors in his ascendancy were his broad knowledge of those old tunes that the South has known and lover for years, his acrobatic fiddling, his infectious grin and his unique rendition of comic songs of his own composition.

Gid created a sensation on the occasion of a recent visit to WLS, the Sears Roebuck Station in Chicago, where he appeared on the National Barn Dance Program.

Democrats Set Party Harmony For Year

Selection Of Houston Blow To Al Smith, Is Writer's View

Washington, Jan. 13.—Harmony in the Democratic party became more than a possibility today as leaders who met here for the Jackson Day dinner last night discussed the events at the dinner with hints of a real "get together" for the presidential race this year.

The Southern Democrats appeared triumphant over their unexpected victory in taking the national convention to Houston and this action was regarded by many as a serious development for Governor Smith's candidacy.

It takes the convention war away from the sidewalks of New York, and down into the heart of the dry, Protestant, southern democracy. What effect local conditions have on nominating conventions is often disputed but if there is any effect, it seems almost certain to be antagonistic to Smith.

But temporarily at least, the Democrats sat down at their first Jackson Day dinner since 1920 all in high gear for harmony. Speakers, bridled their tongues and spoke for party unity rather for factional views. There were no denunciations except for the Republicans. The hatchet of Madison Square Garden was left outside.

Prohibition was touched but gingerly by one wet—Governor Ritchie of Maryland.

Practically all of the national figures of the party were heard from, even Al Smith who did not attend but sent a letter declaring there must be a minimum of interference by the federal government with local habits and concerns, urging that the issue be faced without equivocation and proposing that the national committee start drafting the 1928 platform before the convention meets instead of hurriedly throwing it together over night after the proceedings begin.

Among the speakers were John W. Davis, presidential nominee in 1924; William G. McAdoo, Evans Woollen, of Indiana; Gov. Ritchie, of Maryland; Senator Reed of Missouri; and a dozen others of prominence in the party.

MRS. FLOYD IRVIN OF VERBENA BURIED JANUARY 10.

On the evening of January 8, 1928 at the Methodist Memorial Hospital in Montgomery occurred the death of Mrs. Floyd Irvin of Verbena, following an extended illness of ten weeks. Two weeks before Christmas she was brought to her home from the hospital and seemed to be steadily improving, but on December 24th., she became worse and the following week was again removed to the hospital, where she succumbed to the fourth operation within the time of her illness. But all the time of her illness. But all the while she bore her suffering patiently and bravely.

Mrs. Irvin was the daughter of Mrs. E. E. Headley, and was born near Clanton on August 18, 1898. At an early age she joined the Mt. Nebo Methodist Church and later removed her membership to Verbena. She was a devout member and took part in all phases of the church life.

For the past four years she taught in the public school of her home town and for the past year was president of the P. T. A. She was always ready to lend a helping hand to any worthy cause, and her friends were numbered by her acquaintances. She loved her home, her friends and her work and she will be sadly missed by all who knew her.

The funeral was conducted by her pastor, Rev. Henry Tate in the Methodist Church of Verbena, on Tuesday afternoon, January 10, after which she was laid to rest in Clanton beside her little daughter, Margaret Elizabeth McElvaine, who preceded her nearly four years ago.

Besides her mother she leaves to mourn for her, her husband, W. Floyd Irvin of Verbena; two sisters, Mrs. E. L. Jones of Ramer, Ala.; and Mrs. J. Elbert Littlejohn of Jemison; three brothers, Orman F. Headley, Mechanicville, N. Y., Wilburn Headley of Clanton and Marvin Headley of Gorgas.

Movement Started To Organize Kiwanis Club

A great era for the life and progress of Clanton and vicinity began Tuesday evening when at the Court House a selected few gathered to hear a group of distinguished visitors tell of the advantages accruing to a town from the existence in it of a Kiwanis club. The speakers were Mr. Erskine Ramsey, captialist and philantrophist, and past Governor of the Alabama District of Kiwanis, Mr. W. A. Currie of Birmingham; Liet. Governor of Division 2; Mr. William Milliken of Florence, Liet. Governor of Division No. 1, Dr. M. F. Jackson, Director of Agricultural Extension of the T. C. & I. Co.; Mr. Cicero C. Blackwell, a past president of the Birmingham club; and Mr. Foster Hamilton, a bank president of Ensley and president of the Ensley club. The meeting was persided over by Mr. Lemuel B. Green who had been to Montgomery to the meeting of the Kiwanis District trustees and brought the speakers back with him.

The addresses aroused both interest and enthusiasm, as they related how a service club can lead and help the community to larger things. After short talks by Mr. Green, Mr. Stapp, Mr. Boyd, Judge Reynolds, Mr. Fox and Dr. Gragg, twenty-eight asked to be enrolled as charter members. A temporary organization was set up to the extent of electing a temporary chairman who appointed a membership committee (membership is by invitation only). The temporary chairman is Dr. S. J. Ezell, and the membership committee is composed of Mr. Green, Mr. Boyd, Mr. Stapp, and Mr. Omar Reynolds. Before twenty-four hours has passed it is expected that the thirty-five enrollments necessary for securing a charter will be exceeded by a large margin. A club of fifty members is an easy possibility.

The Kiwanis club is international, having 1672 clubs in the United States and Canada. Its aim is service and fellowship. Its motto is "We build." Its membership is over 100,000.

The local interest began in conversations between Messrs Green, Ezell, Stapp and Ellis. Last Thursday evening they had a meeting to discuss the literature they had secured on Kiwanis and another service club. Unanimously they agreed that Kiwanis is the ideal organization for Clanton. On Monday evening they had another meeting to which they invited about ten others. It was agreed to proceed with the organization. On Tuesday evening the meeting was had for the sixty or sixty-five who had been selcted to fill the adopted classifications. About thirty were present and after hearing the visitors, all but two asked to be enrolled.

We agree with two of the local speakers who said that the organization and operation of a live Kiwanis club will mean more for the progress of Clanton than even the coming of the cotton mill.

J. HANCE ALRED RE-ENTERS DRUG BUSINESS

Purchases Half Interest In Concern Established By Him In 1909

A January business deal of no little consequence was that made last week, when Mr. J. Hance Alred purchased half interest in the Alred Drug Company here, and again became actively engaged in the drug business.

The deal was closed last Friday, Mr. Joe Calloway who has been connected with the firm for some time retiring. No announcement has been made by Mr. Calloway as what his future plans are.

Mr. Alred retired from active connection with the drug business three years ago, in order to take a much needed rest.

There will be no other change in the personell of the Alred Drug Company, as Dr. Neighbors, Calvin Lenoir, and Albert Davis will remain with the firm in the same capacity as before Mr. Alred joined the firm.

CLANTON MOTORS RECEIVES NEW FORD SEDAN

J. C. Bowen, Local Dealer Highly Pleased With New Model Car

Last week the Clanton Motors, local Ford dealers, received one of the new model Ford Sedans, which they have been using as a demonstrator.

Mr. J. C. Bowen, the general manager of the Clanton Motors, states that his company is highly pleased with the new model cars, and that they are receiving many orders for delivery. He stated further that in all probability his company would be able to begin making deliveries within a very short time now, as the Ford Factory is now turning out the new models on scheduled time.

However, he stated that all orders would be filled in the order in which they were booked.

Ala. Power Co.'s 1928 Budget $15,000,000

Alabama Will Get Large Paper Mill, Says Martin

The following statement by Thomas W. Martin, president of the Alabama Power Company, appeared in the Birmingham News of last Sunday:

"Alabama Power Company's construction and extension budget for 1928 totaling approximately $15,000,000 is an indication of the company's confidence in the continued growth and prosperity of this state.

"To expend this large sum of money more than 5,000 men will be employed with a monthly pay roll of $500,000. There will be required to carry on the company's construction work 10,000 tons of steel and iron; 1,200,000 bags of cement, which is 800,000 bags less than the amount used in 1927; 250,000 lbs. of powder and dynamite, and many other items, all of which will be purchased in Alabama. This means that the bulk of the $15,000,000 will be kept at home, and that many communities, large and small, will feet its beneficial effects.

"While we must take into account that this is presidential year, there are now indications that the expansion of existing industries and the establishment of new industries during 1928 will exceed that of any previous year, both as to number and pay rolls, despite the fact that 1927 set a new pace in the matter of power and requirements for industrial purposes.

"A significant feature of the industrial movement of the old year was the wider interest in industrial development by those residing in rural sections and smaller towns. Realizing that industry follows the power lines, requests for power service from a number of small towns resulted in an extension of service to 68 communities making a total of 254 communities in Alabama now having power service from Alabama Power Company. In addition 115 miles of lines were constructed for service to rural customers—a service which is steadily going forward as rapidly as conditions will permit.

Manufacturing Increasing

"There were recessions in some lines of business in 1927, less marked perhaps in the South than in other places, for it is now an accepted fact that manufacturing is increasing in the Southeastern states one and one-half times faster than for the country as a whole.

"The craft and pulp paper companies are showing a great deal of interest in the south and at least one large company will be in operation in Alabama during the year. Apparently this industry is going to give us an answer to the question of what to do with our cut-over timber lands.

"We may look for the movement of the paper mill industry to the South during the next ten years, similar to what we have had in the cotton mill industry during the past 10 years. The fundamental basis for this movement is the rapid growth of young timber in cut-over areas of this region requiring only one-fourth as much acreage to keep a mill continuously supplied with cord wood in the South as it does in the North. The textile industry will continue to expand, for Alabama, depite the acquisition of many new mills in 1927, continues to ship to other sections one-half of its annual cotton crop.

"In addition, we should see new industries, such as electro-chemical and electro-metallurgical plants, foundries, machine shops, fabricating plants, milk condensing and cheese plants, furniture factories, wood-working and garment factories.

"The major projects included in the company's construction program are the completion of Jordan Dam on the Coosa River, with 144,000 horse-power, the completion of the Upper Tallassee Dam on the Tallapoosa River, with 50,000 horsepower; and the beginning of the new Warrior Steam Plant on the Warrior River, to have an initial installation of 80,000 horsepower, making a total of 274,000 horsepower additional in hydro and steam plants to be in operation by the end of 1928.

Other Projects

"Other items will include the addition of 100,000 horsepower in step-down primary substations; 200 miles of 154 KV and 110 KV high tension transmission lines; 200 miles of 400,000 volt low tension transmission lines, and 500 miles of low-voltage distribution lines to connect consumers.

"These extensive developments, it should be noted, are required to meet present demands for power, and provide some surplus to take care of demands not now anticipated.

"It being the policy of the company to keep the supply well ahead of requirements, we plan in 1928 to begin further power projects, but whether they will be hydro or steam has not been determined."

Begins Work on Bridge In Escambia County

C. B. Cox, Local Contractor Awarded Contract By Highway Department

The following article taken from the Brewton Standard will be of interest to many of our readers:

"The first work preliminary to the re-building of Murder Creek bridge between Brewton and East Brewton was done this week when the cantractor, C. B. Cox, of Clanton, put a crew of men at the task of providing passageway over the creek while the new bridge, is under construction.

Mr. Cox stated Wednesday that it will probably require about ninety days to complete the job of building the bridge and that during that time he will make every effort to see that traffic is interfered with as little as possible. A two-way drive will be constructed along the temporary route, although the plans of the state only call for a one-way drive, so that the necessity of one vehicle waiting for another may be avoided.

During the course of construction, Mr. Cox said, it probably will be necessary to close the route entirely for a few hours when he reaches the point of removing the old steel span. Ample notice of this time will be given in advance, however, he said, and an effort will be made to have it occur at a period when the least inconvenience will result to the traveling public.

According to Mr. Cox, the bridge will be new throughout when completed, except for one concrete abutment, which is being used under the present bridge. This is the only part of the structure built by the county several years ago which will be salvaged by the state in putting an improved type of bridge over the stream.

Specifications call for the bridge to be constructed of concrete, steel and creosoted timber. It will be floored entirely with concrete from end to end, it being stated that concrete will not only be laid for the main span but also on each of the approaches. The old steel span will be replaced by a new one a hundred feet in length

The price of the job, under the contract which Mr. Cox has with the highway department is $27,649.05.—Brewton Standard.

FARM BUREAU ORGANIZATION MEETING WEDNESDAY. JAN. 25

On next Wednesday, January 25th, at 10 o'clock a meeting will be held at the Court House for the election of officers and the adoption of the by-laws and constitution of the Chilton County Farm Bureau. A large attendance is urged.

COUNTY AGENT BUSY CONDUCTING BUREAU CAMPAIGN

The campaign for members to the proposed Chilton County Farm Bureau started Monday of this week. Mr. V. V. Mitchell and Mrs. W. S. Fair, State Farm Bureau representatives, came in to the county Monday and will remain here throughout the week.

Mr. Stapp has arranged with farmers in various sections of the county to go with Mr. Fair and Mr. Mitchell each day and put them in touch with as many farmers as is possible.

Mr. Stapp says it will be impossible to see every farmer in the county in so short a time and he urges those farmers whom the solicitors fail to see, to come to his office at their earliest convenience and sign up and help to make the Chilton County Farm Bureau one of the very best in the State.

Solicitors secured thirty members Tuesday and even a better daily average is expected.

FORMER CLANTON GIRL MARRIES IN ILLINOIS

The following clipping from a DeKalb newspaper, of the marriage of Miss Frances Hopkins and Mr. Lee Joseph Rice, will be of interest to many of our readers. Miss Hopkins is a former resident of Clanton:

DeKalb, Illinois, January 5, 1928—"What proved to be one of the most formal and brilliant occasions of the mid-winter social season was the marriage of Miss Frances Hopkins of this city, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. P. I. Hopkins, of North First street to Lee Joseph Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Rice, of Elgin, which was solemnized at the First Baptist Church, corner of South Third and Prospect streets at six o'clock last evening, Rev. Fred W. Field, pastor of the church, officiating.

The altar of the church was profusely decorated with ferns, palms, simlax, and candles forming a bower under which the marriage ceremony took place.

M. A. Raddatz presided over the organ opening the service with a beautiful solo. Dr. Howard M. Payne with the organ accompaniment, followed with a violin solo. John Ward, of Sterling, schoolmate of Mr. Rice, sang. Mr. Ward's voice and manner won him many admirers and he will be remembered in DeKalb for some time.

As the beautiful strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March filled the quietness of the church, the bride, entered on the arm of her father, preceded by the matron of honor, Mrs. W. L. Bentley of St. Louis, and the maid of honor, Miss Marjorie Landphere of Hinsdale. Miss Hopkins was truly one of the loviest brides seen in DeKalb in many years. Her brunette beauty was enhanced by a gown of white satin, trimmed in lace and pearls, with a beautiful viel. Her bouqet was of white roses and lillies of the valley. Her attendants, Miss Landphere was gowned in flesh colored taffeta and Mrs. Bentley in blue taffeta. Both carried bouqets of pink roses. Miss Landphere and Miss Hopkins attended Stetson University together.

Mr. Rice and his brother Roy, of this city, entered from the vestry meeting the bride and her father beneath the bower. The ceremony was an impressive one and very beautiful.

After the ceremony some 75 guests assembled at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hopkins where congratulations were extended the bride and bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Rice were fortunate in having Lloyd Leflin of Lake Forest, who drove them to Chicago, getting them away before any of the customary signs of wedding party riotousness were under way.

Miss Hopkins attended the Breneau college at Gainesville, Ga., and Stetson University at Deland, Fla. She is a member of the Pi Beta Phi and Phi Beta soroities. Although Miss Hopkins has made DeKalb her home but a few months her pleasing personality has made for her a host of friends.

Mr. Rice attended Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind. At present he is manager of the Fox Hotel at Elgin, where the young couple will make their home. Mr. Rice has visited in DeKalb frequently and has made many friends here.

Out of town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Degenhardt of Highland Park; Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hirons of Elgin, Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Benson of Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. M. Rice of Elgin; John Ward of Sterling; Lloyd Leflin of Lake Forest, Frank Briggs of Sterling, Miss Josephine Wicklund of Elgin, Melvin Burns of Elgin, Earl Britton of Elgin, O. E. Latham of Clanton, Ala., Miss Marjorie Landphere of Hinsdale, Mrs. W. L. Bentley of St. Louis.

IF WE DIVIDE CLANTON'S WEALTH

If all the wealth in Clanton was hoarded in a barrel, with the understanding that it would be distributed among citizens of Clanton it would be to the profit of every citizen, rich and poor to make the barrel as rich as possible.

Knowing that the contents would be distributed among the citizens here, and that they alone, would share in the prize, each man, woman and child would strive to pack the barrel as tight as possible. There would be no careless dispatch of money to other cities, where other people would be happy in the distribution of the wealth, foolishly contributed by the people of Clanton.

The wealth of Clanton is expressed in money and every citizen has some of it. The barrel into which it can be placed is the commerce of Clanton. Every time a citizen buys from a Clanton merchant he puts some of his wealth into the business barrel of Clanton. This business barrel is in turn distributed to our citizens in wages, rents, and other transactions. The larger the barrel and the tighter it is packed the larger will be the share of every citizen.

The distribution of the wealth of Clanton, however, does not happen all at once. It is in process throughout the year. Every day as citizens trade in Clanton they add to the sum in the business barrel, and other citizens, taking it out, pass it around. The only hitch in this endless chain comes when some thoughtless man or woman, after receiving some of Clanton's wealth sends it through the mails to another city, where it goes into another barrel and is distributed among other people.

TO OUR YOUNG PEOPLE

Every once in a while we try to address one of our editorials to the young people who favor the News with their confidence. This week we would call attention to the fact that man is, in a measure, only an animal, but that the difference between human beings and other animals is that people have a sense of proportion as to time, appreciating if they are wise, the relatively of the past, the present and the future.

The young man or woman in Clanton who plans to get ahead in life and to make somebody of himself or herself should begin by realizing the immense value of present time. It is the only thing that we have to utilize. The use that we make of our time, whether wise or foolish, depends in good measure, upon our absorption of the lessons that the past has furnished our race. Inasmuch as we have not lived through the past we must receive this information through books or through the wise teachings of those who have had experience in life.

It behooves all thoughtful young people therefore, to give some heed to what older people say and do. The chances are that the older people are right, but not always, fortunately. If young people acted as old people and failed to take chances for themselves the progress of the world would end. However, realizing that the older people are apt to be right a young man or woman is better fitted to weigh the chances of success when undertaking any new effort.

Then to all the young people in Chilton County we urge faith in their own powers. Rely upon them, after taking full counsel of the wisdom that is available. Never falter, but press on, and succeed!

A NATIONAL RADIO

Recently a radio hookup furnished millions of people with a program that included artists in New York, Chicago, California and New Orleans, together with an automobile manufacturer in Detroit. It is hard to estimate how many million people listened in on the entertainment, which was instaneously heard all over the United States.

It seems to us that the Federal government could follow this lead. A system of national stations, broadcasting over the entire country, could be used for many governmental purposes. It might be worth while to put the sessions of Congress on the air. This might keep the people at home intouch with their representatives.

FOOLISH UTTERANCE

It seems inconceivable that a man like Sigismund Freud, originator of psychoanalysis, could be the author of a statement that "one sees throughout a thousand years of religious life that religion has not bettered mankind to any appreciable extent."

Of course, the job of bettering mankind is not one subject to measurement in the course of an average lifetime. Man is, and for years has been, rather slow in making real progress. Nevertheless, there are many extremely intellectual men who are unable to account for the gradual betterment of mankind except upon the theory that there is a Supreme Power, from whom men draw inspiration and succor.

PRACTICAL INDUSTRY BUILDING PROGRAMS

Fifty thousand American communities want new industries, with payrolls and capital and prestige; and doubtless at least that many new industries want towns in which to grow. They need only to get together. The Industrial Development Bulletin, issued by the Central Illinois Public Service Company, Springfield, Illinois, is one of the best circulars ever put out on this proposition of "The New Industry" It ought to be in the hands of every organization pledged to build up its own home town.

The Alabama Power Company, operating out from Birmingham brought 19 major industries, employing 4,000 people, into its territory during 1926. Sixty-six new communities were added to the Company service, and 144 miles of rural lines were built to serve 1650 customers in 21 rural districts. In 1919 the company served 133 companies in 14 types of industry; last year, it had 419 companies representing 21 types. Cotton mills increased from 13 to 56, in those seven years; pipe plants from 2 to 19.

These stories of industry building is good American news.

Beware of the man whose story sounds too good.

We always like those people who are kind to dogs and horses.

When a delivery is late, a good excuse is even more irritating than a bad one—a good excuse leaves no outlet for anger.

The more trifling the man the more patent pencils and fountain pens he seems to carry around in his vest pocket.

Some of the wise old business men can "smell" a crook just as an old-fashioned doctor could "smell" a case of typhoid fever.

Every husband wonders what his wife does with all the money he brings home, and every wife wonders why her husband isn't able to bring home more money.

About the only things some people are able to save are trading stamps, cigar coupons and tinfoil.

When some people pay a compliment they act as though they wanted a receipt for it.

It is better to say nothing than to tell the plot of the play you saw last week.

A man is either honest or dishonest.

It's always comforting to know that others have troubles, too.

TO MARK HIGHWAYS OF STATE WITH METAL TAGS

All state highways of Alabama will be marked with metal tags manufactured in the state's tag plant at Kilby prison. Charles A. Moffett, president of the state board of administration today, announced that dies for the markers are being completed and the manufacture of the tags will be started during the next few days. The signs will designate road numbers and will give warning to motorists of turns or other impediments in the roads.

The tag factory was installed by the board of administration last year primarily to manufacture automobile tags. Mr. Moffett estimates that the state saved $10,000 on the tags last year and that profit obtained in commercial work and in manufacturing tags and signs needed by the state will be great enough to pay for the plant in three years.

FIDDLERS' CONVENTION AT THORSBY SCHOOL JAN. 21

There will be a Fiddlers' Convention held at the Thorsby Public School Auditorium Saturday night, January 21, 1928. This is given under the auspices of the Thorsby Chapter, Order Eastern Star. Prizes will be awarded. Admission will be 15 and 25 cents. It will be greatly appreciated if all fiddlers will come and take part.

HOME ORCHARD

Every farmer should have a good home orchard. A few trees properly cared for will produce an abundance of good fruit, while many trees not cared for may produce only a small quantity of inferior fruit.

All fruit trees are more or less affected with San Jose Scale this winter; in fact, I believe the scale is worse this winter than I have seen it in a long time.

Scale is easily controlled if all the trees are thoroughly sprayed with winter strength Lime-Sulphur solutions. For scale control in average home orchards I recommend either Scalecide, a commercially prepared mixture of lime and sulphur in the proportion of one gallo nto fifteen gallons of water, or Oil-Emulsion in the proportion of one gallon to twenty-one gallons of water. Trees not worth spraying thoroughly, should be dug up and burned or they will spread diseases to other trees.

FEEDING DAIRY COWS

Statistics show that the average annual production per Alabama dairy cow is approximately 2000 pounds of milk and 80 pounds of butter fat, while the average for the United States is approximately 4000 pounds of milk, and 160 pounds of butterfat. I do not know what the average annual production per Chilton County dairy cow is, but my guess is that it is too low to be very profitable. Profitable dairying depends upon high producing cows, just as profitable cotton growing depends upon high yields per acre.

Well bred and better fed cows are essential to high production. Good cows, well fed and cared for are profitable while, good cows, as well as poor ones not properly fed and cared for, are usually unprofitable.

Generally speaking, cows not on good pastures should have one pound of grain for each two and one-half to three pounds of milk produced. Where good pasture is used, the grain feed may be cut to one pound for each five to seven pounds of milk.

Rations to use for Winter Feeding

Grain mixtures to use—If your hay consists of such legumes as soybeans, cowpeas, vetch, or lespedeza, use any of the following grain mixtures:

No 1—200 lbs. cornmeal; 100 lbs. ground oats; 100 lbs. wheat bran; 100 lbs. cotton seed meal and 5 lbs. salt.

No. 2—300 lbs. corn and cob meal; 50 lbs. velvet bean meal; 50 lbs. wheat bran; 100 lbs. cottonseed meal and 5 lbs. salt.

No. 3.—300 lbs. corn and cob meal; 100 lbs. wheat bran; 100 lbs. cottonseed meal and 5 lbs. salt.

Two Routes In Dairying

Remember there are two routes in dairying:

How To Fail In Dairying:

1. Use only scrub cows.
2. Breed these cows to scrub bulls.
3. Buy all your cows. These calves are not worth raising anyway.
4. Do not provide any pasture for your cows.
5. Buy all your grain mixture, preferably ready-mixed feed.
6. Buy your roughage.
7. Use insuffiicent labor to feed and milk your cows.
8. Do not keep records, they might discourage you.
9. Turn your cows out, winter and summer, without shelter.
10. Allow your cows to rustle for a living all winter and freshen in the spring in thin condition.

How to Succeed in Dairying:

1. Use cows of good dairy conformation and breeding.
2. Use pure-bred bulls with high-producing ancestors.
3. Raise heifer calves from your best producing cows.
4. Provide good pastures for your cows.
5. Grow as much of your grain as is possible on the farm.
6. Grow sufficient hay and silage to supply your herd's needs.
7. Give the herd your individual attention, particularly in feeding the cows and seeing that they are properly milked.
8. Check up on your cows by weighing the milk and feed, and testing the milk for butterfat. This is the only way to weed out unprofitable cows.
9. Provide shade in the summer and a cheap shelter in the winter.
10. See that your cows are in good condition at calving time.

If your roughage consists of silage and legume hay, or peaving and sorghum hay, or Johnson grass and alfalfa hay, or similar mixtures, use one of the following grain mixtures:

No. 4—200 lbs corn meal; 100 lbs ground oats; 100 lbs wheat bran; 150 lbs cottonseed meal and 5 lbs salt.

No. 5—100 lbs corn and cob meal; 100 lbs velvet bean meal; 100 lbs wheat bran; 100 lbs cottonseed meal and 5 lbs salt.

No. 6—150 lbs corn and cob meal; 100 lbs wheat bran; 100 lbs cottonseed meal and 4 lbs salt.

Rations to Be Used For Summer Feeding or Pasture

The following are good rations for summer feeding on pasture:

No. 12—200 lbs corn and cob meal; 50 lbs ground oats; 50 lbs cottonseed meal.

No. 13—200 lbs corn and cob meal; 50 lbs velvet bean meal and 50 lbs of cottonseed meal.

No. 14—200 lbs corn and cob meal; 50 lbs wheat bran and 50 lbs cottonseed meal.

Mixture No. 1 will also give good results.

Water and Salt

One of the limiting factors in milk production is water, since milk is largely water. A cow will drink 15 to 30 gallons of water a day.

Cows in milk should receive about one ounce of salt per day.

FARM AND HOME FACTS

It is time to get ready to plant the spring garden.

Overweight usually indicates that too much starchy, fat and sweet food is being eaten.

Sour milk may be used in place of sweet milk in many flour mixtures. Substitute soda for baking powder.

It doesn't pay to keep a hen more than one year unless she has been an exceptionally good layer the first year.

A successful farmer is a good planner and is efficient in executing his plans.

Paper towels are useful for draining foods fried in deep fat or for greasing cake tins and molds.

Stuff wet shoes with crumpled newspaper and dry them slowly to keep the leather soft and to keep the shoes in shape.

J. A. Beaty is the new county agent in Cullman County, succeeding J. B. Mitchell, who was transferred to Madison county.

The Jefferson County Truck Growers Association estimated that their business in 1927 amounted to little more than one million dollars.

The man who gets most fun out of farming is the one most likely to get the most profits and benefits out of it too.

Hens in demonstration flocks thruout Alabama returned an average of $2.03 each above feed costs in 1927, according to G. A. Trolope, extension poultryman, Aubrun.

NEWS IN BRIEF

During four weeks late in 1927, 618 people were killed by automobile accidents in 77 large cities. For the corresponding period a year ago 632 people were killed.

In spite of the bigger corn crop this season and the record barley crop, the total supply of the principal feed grains for the remainder of the season is little larger if any than a year ago.

With 42,200 fewer acres, the 1927 tobacco crop returned to the growers approximately $34,000,000 more money than the 1926 crop, according to a survey by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The last citrus fruit crop of California consisted of 70,600 carloads which returned to the state $120,000,000. The California Fruit Growers' Exchange, a cooperative association, says that it is the largest crop and the most money in the history of the state.

To increase the consumption of wheat hotel and restaurant proprietors in Kansas are urging their guests to consume more wheat bread. Kansas being the leading wheat state prosperity in that state is dependent upon it.

Scientists claim that 90 per cent of the children in the United States have rickets to some degree which leads to crooked and bowed legs and flat chests leaving them less able to ward off disease attacks. Among other things they emphasize the importance of milk and fresh vegetables.

FERTILIZER YEAR IS NOW GETTING UNDER WAY

Auburn, Ala., Jan. 18.—The delivery of fertilizer to the farms of Alabama for making crops in 1928 is now under way. Information from the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, at Montgomery, is that the present fertilizer season is opening earlier than usual. Local dealers throughout the state report also that the opening some in advance of the normal date.

Between now and early spring Alabama farmers will spend upwards of $15,000,000 for commercial fertilizer. This estimate is based upon past performances. The annual fertilizer bill for the state has varied between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000; and the fertilizer manufacturers and dealers expect this to be a better than normal year.

Nitrate of soda is moving first. All of it is imported from Chile. Potash fertilizers used in Alabama are imported from France and Germany. Most of the raw phosphate from which acid phosphate is made is mined in Florida, Tennessee, and other states but it is processed in Alabama. Basic slag, another phosphate fertilizer, is a by-product of the steel industry and large quantities are manufactured by the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Co. of Birmingham as well as other steel concerns. Some buy ready-mixed fertilizer.

Under the stimulus of cooperative buying through the Farm Bureau the fertilizer business in Alabama in recent years has become more of a cash business. This is reported to be more satisfactory all the way round.

Most of the fertilizer used in Alabama will go under cotton. However, some will be used for other crops. While there are many farms in Alabama on which cotton is not raised there are very few if any, that do not buy commercial fertilizer. Perhaps each of the 250,000 farms in Alabama will buy commercial fertilizer this season.

ENTERPRISE GIRLS WIN FROM CHILTON HIGH GIRLS JAN. 13

EDITORS NOTE—The following article is two write-ups of the basketball game played at Enterprise last Friday, between the Chilton County High girls and the Enterprise girls. As we did not have the pleasure of attending said game we leave to our readers to judge which was the winning team. One write-up came from a Clanton writer and the other from an Enterprise writer.

On Friday 13, the Enterprise sextette of Basketball girls matched their prowess in handling the cow-hide with that of Chilton County High. The visiting girls made off at a good, spirited pace. However, the Enterprise girls, knowing when things have gone far enough, began their wonderful team work in the second half. From then on it was easy to pick the winner.

Clanton High plays a good game but the most optimistic knows when his adversary has him outweighed in points.

It seemed that the battery of the Cheerers who came with the visiting team were soon so thrilled with the way our girls thrwarted their hopes until they unconsciously cheered at the wrong time. The final score was Enterprise 15; Clanton 14.

CLANTON GIRLS WIN FROM ENTERPRISE AGAIN FRIDAY

Last Friday afternoon the Clanton girls played the second game with Enterprise on the latters court and won by a close score of 13-14.

When the game was over with the Clanton girls winners, the Enterprise girls protested that in the beginning of the game a goal was shot that was not counted by the Enterprise scorekeeper. The goal was shot after the Enterprise referee blew his whistle for a fowl, and it was supposed not to have been counted even tho the ball was in the air after the referee called it, as he himself said "No goal". But after the game was over and the Clanton girls won by a point the coach of Enterprise and several onlookers from Enterprise pretended to have found fault with their score-keepers card. Th Enterprise referee did not mention this intereference and as he was by rules the one to decide, the game goes to Clanton.

This explanation is given authoritively in order that there be no mis-understanding or mistaken rumors.

ISABELLA ADDS ANOTHER VICTORY TO HER RECORD

The Isabella basketball team added another victory to her record on last Friday, January 13, when she defeated the Stanton team with the score 15-6.

The game started rather slow, neither team scoring until the end of the quarter. Isabella gained the lead in the second quarter and was in the lead the remainder of the game. Stanton had a large team, but Isabella's defense was too strong for them to pile up many scores. Conway was Isabella's outstanding star, getting four field goals and one foul, while Martin played a good game at guard.

CHEVROLET MOTOR CO. HAS AMBITIOUS PLANS FOR 1928

Having achieved world leadership in automobile manufacturing in 1927 with a yearly output nearly 2,000 units in excess of it program of a million cars, the Chevrolet Motor Company has embarked in 1928 upon the most ambitious production and sales plans in its entire sixteen years of existence, according to W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager.

Production for the year just ended totaled 1,001,834 units for a gain of more than 36 per cent over the 732,147 cars and trucks built in 1926 and 93 per cent over the 1925 production of 519,066 units.

The 1,000,000th car built in 1927 rolled off the assembly lines at the Flint, Michigan plant December 30, with C. F. Barth, vice-president in charge of manufacturing at the wheel. The historymaking model was a sedan. It was prepared for immediate shipment so that, with more than 32,000 other new models built in December, it might be available for prompt delivery to new car purchasers.

Throughout 1927 factories were on peak production schedules, while month after month tentative schedules had to be increased to meet the demand for the 1927 models.

The year as a result was the most spectular and most successful in Chevrolet history.

Remarkable as were its 1927 achievements, however, the outlook for 1928 looms even brighter, according to Mr. Knudsen, who stated that while no definite production figure has been set for 1928, this year's volume is certain to top by a comfortable margin the record high mark for 1927.

His prediction is based on country-wide prosperity which by every token should bring the automobile industry the greatest year it has ever known, Mr. Knudsen stated.

"Our own organization is prepared to handle its full share of this anticipated growth in business," he said. "All Chevrolet production operations are on a maximum capacity basis that we may meet the 1928 demand, and make immediate delivery on all models.

"During the latter part of 1927 we made extensive preparations for our 1928 program. Our sales oganization has been enlarged and intensified thru the creation of the new regional offices and zone offices, and by additions to the field personnel.

"Our service to the owner is on a new high level through the opening of new parts depots and warehouses to expedite delivery of new or replacement parts.

"Production facilities also have been augmented by the recent purchase of a $4,500,000 foundry at Saginaw, Mich., and a new assembly plant which will get into production shortly at Atlanta, Ga., to supply the Southwest, and which will increase by 350 cars a day the volume of the other seven assembly plants now in operation in the United States.

"With these improved facilities, and with our bigger and better car for 1928, which at substantial price reductions won such a warm public reception upon its initial showing on January 1, we feel assured of establishing new records this year, and of maintaining the steadfast public confidence in the Chevrolet Motor Company which alone made possible our very gratifying showing in 1927."

To be a champion in any walk of life is a signal honor. But to be the champion old-time fiddler and entertainer in a region that abounds with good fiddlers, is the Grand Accomplishment. It takes a great fiddler and that's just what Gid Tanner is.

Gid, who is frequently heard on the Sears Roebuck Agricultural Foundation programs over WSB, the Atlanta Journal Station, has been elevated to the old-time fiddling championship of the Southeast. Decisive factors in his ascendancy were his broad knowledge of those old tunes that the South has known and lover for years, his acrobatic fiddling, his infectious grin and his unique rendition of comic songs of his own composition.

Gid created a sensation on the occasion of a recent visit to WLS, the Sears Roebuck Station in Chicago, where he appeared on the National Barn Dance Program.

Adopt Resolutions Condemning Waste of Public Funds Of The County

The Democratic Executive Committee of Chilton County, with a large number of representative Democrats of the County, held a very enthusiastic meeting in Clanton, last Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was harmonious and each one present was highly elated over the work being done by the Democrats of the County, inn registering and paying poll taxes and in qualifying to put over a Democratic victory in Chilton County in the coming November election. Every Democrat of the county should see to it that their poll taxes are paid during this week and if there are any who have not yet registered, they should do so before the 2nd. day of February, 1928.

Many of those present at the meeting made talks for the good of the party and it was pointed out that the Democrats of the county have more voters than the opposition, if they would pay their poll tax and register. The registrars have registered over one thousand new voters this year and many more are yet to be registered.

There is within the ranks of the Democratic party of this county plenty of men and women who are eminently qualified to fill any office in the county and many who could, no doubt, make more progress with the county affairs than we have had in recent years. The committee urged that every Democrat get busy and get every one of his or her friends qualified before it is too late. The voters will have a large number of candidates to select from in making nominations, if we interpret the shadow of events correctly.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted by the meeting:

WHEREAS, Chilton County is now in a position to make material advances in civic and commercial life, and offers many inducements to people in every line of activity, and has open before it the opportunity to make as great or greater progress and advance, as any County of Alabama, and,

WHEREAS, it is first necessary to realize this opportunity that this County have a truly progressive government; that the men in office who believe that a Public Office is for their private gain must be eliminated, and that the officers of this County must be men who inspire the respect and confidence of the public and command harmony among citizens; and,

WHEREAS, the Republican party in Chilton County has shown that it is unable to place in office to manage the affairs of this County men who will give unselfish service to the business management of the County, and who can maintain the respect of, and harmony among its citizens, but men who believe in family gain and profit at the expense of its citizens;

BE IT RESOLVED, that the record of the Republican party in Chilton County, in the management of the business affairs of this County be condemned, and that the Democratic Party does hereby pledge itself to stand for and promote a truly progressive government for the benefit of the citizens of the County, to eliminate the exploitation of public office for private gain, and to eliminate any one family rule.

POLL TAX MUST BE PAID BEFORE FEB. 1

Pay Now And Take Part In The Coming Important Elections

It is not only the privilege but the duty of the newspapers of Alabama to call attention of the voters to the fact that the time limit for paying poll tax expires on February 1st, and The News wishes to urge all of its readers who have not done so, to make their remittance to the Tax Collector at once, provided of coure, that they are liable for the annual tax.

This is a political year in Alabama politics and the voter who keeps in good standing will have an opportunity to participate in the selection of officers who will fill many important places during the next few years. State, district, circuit and county officers are to be elected this year.

The privilege of voting is one that is too valuable to be allowed to lapse because of forgetfulness or any other preventable cause.

The opportunity to take part in the selection of state, county and municipal officers is great. The amount of poll tax is comparitively small. Get square on the poll tax books before the time expires. You'll regret it before next May if you don't.

Kiwanis Club For Clanton Looms As a Certainty; Charter Applied For

The committee on membership of the Kiwanis club, composed of Messrs Green, Boyd, Stapp and Omar Reynolds, have sent to the District governor a petition for charter signed by twelve citizens certifying that more than thirty-five members, required for the issuance of a charter, have been secured. The chairman of the committee has received the following reply:

University, Ala., Jan. 21, 1928.

Rev. Lemuel B. Green,
Clanton, Ala.

My Dear Kiwanian:

You may be assured that it was with the greatest pleasure that I received your application for a charter leading to the establishment of the Kiwanis Club in Clanton. I have already attached my signature to the petition. I have placed it in the mail for the early attention of the International office.

The official Field Representative will be there within a reasonable time and he will remain with you and complete all the details of organization and supply you with the necessary literature. It is your privilege to make free use of him in the matter of selling Kiwanis to your associates.

I want to say to you that this action on the part of the men of Clanton means the dawning of a new day for your little city. You may say to them that while Kiwanis is not a "cure-all" by any means, yet it will bring to them the means of a more organized plan of civic betterment and social contact as well as a better business understanding. It will also present an opportunity of bringing relief to any unfortunate children of the community and a closer relation between the men of the town and those of the country districts. Kiwanis is organized helpfulness and is a great leveller and a sure and certain means of the final removal of all unnecessary factional differences.

The date for the Charter Night will be announced later and you may be sure that it is going to be a great pleasure to me when I shall officially appear before you and deliver the charter to this new club.

This should be made a most special occasion and should be one of the greatest interest to the people of Clanton. The program will be partly in the hands of the local club and of the sponsoring club, while the official part of the program will be in charge of the district officers. I will send you a suggested program around which you can build your own entertainment.

I was very much pleased that you were able to attend the Trustees' Conference at Montgomery and I hope that you received enough inspiration from that affair to justify your time and expense. Personally I was very much pleased with the results attained even though I had some reason to be disappointed over certain features. I sincerely believe that the Alabama district is now in a fine healthy condition, and that we are going to make real progress this year.

With every assurance of my appreciation of your efforts in the behalf of Kiwanis and wishing for you every degree of success and happiness, I am

Sincerely and cordially yours,

JAS. A. ANDERSON, Governor.

Bank of Verbena Robbed Last Sunday Night

Mlle. Dolores To Appear In Clanton Next Monday, Jan. 30

Yeggs Use Acetylene Torch Make Away With $1,400 In Cash

Using acetylene torches to burn their way into the vault of the Bank of Verbena, at Verbena, Ala., fourteen miles south of Clanton, yeggs succeeded in securing between $1,400 and $1,500 in coin some time Sunday night or early Monday morning. The robbery was discovered about 7 o'clock by Cashier Horrace Davis.

The job, according to Mr. Davis, was evidently the work of experts who knew what they wanted as nothing except money was taken, although several valuable articles were easily accessible. In addition to the loss of cash, it is estimated that replacing the double steel doors will cost approximately $500.

Mr. Davis explained the smallness of the haul by stating that the currency was locked up in a time-locked steel banker's chest which has baffled other burglars. This chest was not large enough to hold the large amount of currency on hand and all of the coin which consisted principally of small change.

The burglars backed a truck or automobile up to a window, effected an entrance into the building and operated the blow torch tube through the window. The vault is of brick and equipped with double steel doors. The outer door gave very little trouble, it appeared, as the yeggs evidently knew just where to burn a hole in order to remove this obstacle. The inner door, however, presented a more difficult problem as several holes were necessary before entrance was gained to the inner vault.

The fact that the metal was still very warm when the burglary was discovered leads to the belief that the work was done just before day. Several people passing the bank in the early morning hours failed to notice anything amiss. One person was found who remembered seeing an automobile puling away from the bank or that vicinity but paid no attention to it.

The bank is insured against burglars and no loss will be sustained by the institution on that score. Representatives of the W. J Burns Detective Agency have been assigned the task of apprehending the criminal, or criminals and will work on the case at once.

The bank is capitalized at $15,000 and has surplus and undivided profits of $11,250. The last statement showed total deposits of more than $100,000.

Mlle Dolores Comes To Clanton Next Monday

Mental Wonder Will Drive Car While Blindfolded On Streets of Clanton

One of the most daring and sensational feats ever attempted in Clanton will be performed by Mlle. Dolores, commonly known as the mental wonder girl, three score of thrills are promised the residents of Clanton and it is estimated that thousands will witness the daring feature while completely blind. Mlle. Dolores will drive an Essex Coach through the streets of Clanton, nor will she confine her drive to the safer streets but will roar up and down Clanton's steepest and dangerous hills, dodging fast moving trains, weaving and twisting her way through dangerous traffic. All of this she will absolutely accomplish while completely blindfolded. Not only will she do these dare-devil feats while blindfolded, but she will conform with all traffic regulations, which should prove an interesting feature and much needed lesson to some of our drivers. If history repeats itself you will witness one of the most thrilling and death defying stunts of the age. This drive will make Mlle. Dolores' 577 bindfold drives in this country and each has been accomplished in a most miraculous manner, as Mlle Doores has never experienced so much as an accident or any difficulty whatsoever. She uses an Essex car in all of her drives. She says they are more dependable than any other car she has ever driven. A committee of the prominent citizens will be in charge of the blindfolding of Mille Dolores and you are invited to personally witness the application of this sight proof bandage, which will take place at 12 o'clock noon, Monday, January 30th, in front of the Bates Motor Co.

Mlle. Dolores has no explanation for this miraculous feat other than she drives by hunches which she says are projected from the minds of the spectators that line the streets. "They guide me on my journey by mental radio but they are unaware of it" says Mlle. Dolores. Prepare for a thrill and you will not get disappointed. Watch for Mlle Dolores on the streets of Clanton between the hours of 12 o'clock noon and 4 P. M. This drive is made possible through the courtesy of the following places: Upchurch Drug Co.; Bates Motor Co.; Woco Pep Service Station and The New Cafe.

Mlle Dolores will appear in person at the Upchurch Drug Co. every 30 or 40 minutes. Be at Bates Motor Co. and see her start her drive.

One of the prettiest and most delightful parties of the season was given last week when Miss Hilda Hart entertained a number of her friends at a "Doll Party" at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hart.

For this occasion the home was decorated in beautiful baskets and vases of pink and white cut flowers and greenery. The dining table was centered with a pretty green venetian bowl of pink carnations and four pink tapers in green holders were placed at intervals on the table. The favors were tiny dolls dressed in pink dresses and these were standing on the table.

Delicious nectar was served from a prettily appointed table by Nell Ross Mullins and Eloise Rasberry, as the guests arrived. The color scheme of pink, white and green was most effectively carried out in the decorations and refreshments.

During the afternoon many interesting games were enjoyed, afterwards the little hostess assisted by her mother served a delicious ice course.

DOFFING THE HIGH HAT

You answer the telephone. A sweet young voice says "just a moment please Mr. Schlitz wants to speak with you."

You snort loudly, but to no avail. For the next few minutes you draw cubes [illegible]. When Mr. Shhlitz does come, you are probably not very cordial to him.

High hats are out of place in telephoning. The few seconds saved are more than discounted by the irritation caused to the recipient of the call.

"OIL"

The worry about our "vanishing oil supply" appears to be unnecessary, according to the report of the Maryland Committee on Conservation appointed by the American Petroleum Institute.

Not only are improved methods of manufacturing and use possible, but a hitherto unknown source of supply of huge extent may lie beneath the strata in which oil is now obtained.

Geological investigation leads to this conclusion and painstaking development is expected to reveal the new sources of supply.

There is no emminent danger of the exhaustion of the petróleum reserves of the United States. It is reasonable to assume that a sufficient supply of oil will be available for national defense and for essential uses in the United States beyond the time when science will limit the demand by developing more efficient use or substitutes for oil --or will displace its use as a source of power b yharnessing a natural energy.

The above words from the Maryland report should allay any fears that are current about the danger of exhaustion.

Refinements in machines, said to be possible by automotive experts, will more than double the mileage now obtained when prices justify changes and improved mechanics will also result in smaller consumption of lubricants.

People once--some still do-- feared the time when our coal deposits would disappear. This fear is practically gone. Thus far science and discovery of new sources have allayed any doubt that may have existed concerning the disappearance of any resources.

The powers of science are great and when necessity appears there is nearly always, so far as we know, --a substitute for the material once regarded as irreplaceable. Unused power lies about us in profusion. All that is needed is discovery of how to release it. Fiction writers have imagined these possibilities and hardheaded experts are persuaded of the eventual solution of the difficulties. Science is nearly always in advance of man's needs, and there is no reason to expect that it will fail now.—Argus-Leader Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

CONTROL OF CORN DISEASES

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 31.—S. W. Long, Editor of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau News of Westchester, Pennsylvania, has issued the following newspaper dispatch from Nashville:

"Results of experiments in the control of seed-borne corn diseases which causes an annual loss of more than two and a quarter million bushels were described at the meeting of the American Phytopathological Society held here, by Dr. J. R. Holbert, Agronomist of the United States Department of Agriculture. Dr. Holbert in cooperation with the University of Illinois experts and others, is connected with the Federal Government's corn disease investigations in the Corn Belt.

"Corn seed treatments", said Dr. Holbert, "have been very effective in Iodia, gibberella and basisporium, and although there are a number of compounds that are effective in controlling these seedling blight diseases many of these compounds have a depressing effect on the growth and yield of corn from good seed. Only a very few compounds have been found which effectively control disease and at the same time have no ill effect on good seed, or, under conditions of early planting, actually benefit good seed. Dr Holbert stated "As a class, the organic cresol mercury dusts have been outstanding in disease control and lack of injury to corn from good seed under a very wide range of conditions.

"With the best dusts that have been available during the past two years," Dr. Holbert asserted, "under the conditions of the experiments, increases in yield from the best seed have ranged from tracts to more than five bushels. With well-selected, but untested seed, increases have ranged from two and three bushels to eight and nine bushels The greatest practical benefits from the use of seed treatments may be expected from early planting when weather and soil conditions are unfavorable, from well-selected seed, and on the more productive soils."

Thirteen Winners Represent Six States

Hundreds of essays covering the marketing of every conceivable farm crop in the Southeast were received by the Sears Roebuck Agricultural Foundation on the occasion of its recent marketing essay contest in Atlanta.

Through the co-operation of the various agricultural agencies, including county agents, vocational agriculture teachers and boy and girl club leaders, hundreds of essays were submitted. They were read very carefully and the writers of the two best essays in each of the six Southeastern states were awarded prizes consisting of a gold Stone Mountain Memorial Medal and a trip to Atlanta. During their stay, the party visited the Southeastern Fair, the Georgia College of Agriculture at Athens, Stone Mountain, and other places of interest.

The capital prize for the entire section was awarded to Miss Melba Sparks of Carrollton, Ga., who selected as her subject "The Marketing of Cotton in My Community."

The picture shows in addition to the prize winners, Hollins N. Randolph (rear center), President of the Stone Mountain Memorial Association, who awarded the trophies, and George C. Biggar, Secretary of the Agricultural Foundation, who conducted the contest.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

Nine Out Of Ten Women

To seek knowledge of womankind is always intriguing if sometimes precarious. For instance:

How tall is the average woman? Nobody seems to know. No national situation having yet caused all women to be weighed and measured, there exists no standard of judging the average size. The war draft determined that the average man betwen 21 and 30 years of age weighed between 141 and 142 pounds and was about five feet six and a half inches tall. One can only judge from considerable observation that the ladies do not consistently top the gentlemen in either way.

As to coloring the hairdressers report that a decided predominance of brunettes. Natural blondes are by comparison fairly rare.

For a solid week, a New York reporter braved the hazards of stationing himself at busy street corners in pursuit of sidewalk type of knowledge. He has determined brown and black to be the leading winter-time outer apparel colors; small hats to lead over large by a big majority; and that there is decidedly not a white horse for every red headed woman.

Two months ago at the opening of the "season" in New York and energectic fashion writer who constantly attends fashionable functions, began jotting in her notebook the apparent preferences of the majority of women as well as their idiosyncracies. Her notes have developed into a veritable survey. They read like this:

1. Most excessively stout women have a tendency to compartively small feet. (This was checked up with shoe clerks in 12 different stores.)

2. Most tall, wollowly society women have a predilection for transparent velvets, satins, rayons, silks and other softly shimmering materials.

3. Women with too large hands wear few rings.

4. Nine out of ten blondes prefer shades of blue, black or yellow merging into brown.

5. Nine out of ten brunettes prefer red, pink and black.

6. Lip-sticks, compacts and mirrors consume more area in feminine purses than money by an appropriate ratio of 8 to 2.

7 Mirror-less drawing rooms (as well as soda founts) are unpopular.

8. When driving lone in the back seats of their motor cars, most women sit on the left hand side.

9. To be known as amusing is of far greater personal publicity value than to be known as a beauty.

10. The woman who knows instinctively how to dress "smartly" is much more envied than she who is called "pretty" or "sweet".

From this we observe that the ladies have at last gotten together on quite a few things.

A CORRECTION

Since giving out authorized information seems to be in order, here is some:

After reading Clanton's version of the results of the game with us on Friday, Jan. 13, we have troubled ourselves to see both the referee and the score keeper. The referee states emphatically that a foul was made when our player was making a trial for goal that furthermore, the ball was in the air when he blew the whistle, and he assuredly signaled for the goal to count. The score keeper states that some objection was raised and this goal was not at that time marked, but was added when our coach called her attention to the rules. Result, Enterprise, 15; Clanton, 14.—Sent in by the Enterprise Coach.

His face was badly burned and some of his hair singed. Examination showed that he was not seriously injured.

WARMING FIRES NOT TO BE LEFT BURNING

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 19.—The "warming fire" built by persons whose business takes them into the woods during the colder months of the year is now the greatest threat to the safety of Alabama's forests. Woodsmen, field hands, hunters and others who are out of doors a great deal frequently build little fires to take off the chill while resting or while working for a considerable time at one spot. These fires often are not completely extinguished before left, and the first breeze may fan them into flames and send sparks out into the rough.

While Alabama has many natural advantges that easily place it in the front rank of timber producing states, nevertheless there are also certain hindrances. Fortunately, however, most of these, such as carelessly abandoned fires, can easily be overcome. In the case of the small fire built for purposes of comfort in the woods, it is only necessary to make certain that it is completely out before leaving it. A few minutes attention to this matter may easily avert damage amounting to many thousands of dollars. If everyone is careful in this regard during the present winter it is very likely that Alabama will suffer much less injury to her forests.

CROP CHAMPIONS TO MAKE TRIP TO FLORIDA AND CUBA

Auburn, Ala., January 23.—Three crop champions in Alabama and one county agent will visit Florida and Cuba as guests of the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau. They will leave on February 1 and return about a week later, spending two days in Cuba and three in Florida, and the balance of the time enroute going and coming.

A. L. Ford, Hightower, Cleburne County, is the farmer who will make the trip. As a member of the 5-acre cotton club he produced 3044 pounds of lint cotton on 5 acres. His cost was 6.72 cents per pound. He worked in cooperation with County Agent E. R. Carlson.

John Givhan, Blalock, Dallas County, will go as the representative of the 4-H cotton club boys of the state. He made 983 pounds of lint cotton on his acre, this being approximately two bales. His brother, Joe, made an outstanding record in 4-H club work. He is now a student at Auburn.

The vocational agricultural students will be represented by Clintus Brown, Cherokee, Colbert County. His project was corn, and he made 80 bushels on an acre at a cost of 40 cents per bushel. Prof. F. A. Pittman directed his work.

County Agent Sam M. Day, Alexander City, was awarded the trip because of excellence of 5-acre cotton club work in his county. Boys' 4-H club work on the one-acre basis, also, has been an outstanding success under his direction.

At Jacksonville, Florida, the Alabama champions will be joined by the champions from other southern states making a party of 30 or 40. A busy schedule has been arranged for their two day's stay in Cuba. Among other features they are expected to call on the President of Cuba.

FARM AND HOME FACTS

Sunny days now have a call to the farm.

When land is wet it is not time to plow it.

Farmers who keep books know just what they are doing.

Money wisely spent for fertilizer is a splendid investment.

Weather during June, July and August is a bigger factor than winter weather in boll weevil control.

A farmer's income is based upon his production. If he produces little he will have a small income; and vice versa.

The family which has two vegetables a day besides potatoes all the winter long has little need for "Sulphur and Molasses" in the spring.

If cotton is fifteen cents per pound the farmer who raises five bales will receive only $375 from which he deducts costs.

Scrubbing brushes can keep mud off the kitchen floor as well as take it off, and with a lot less work. Mount a pair of them face to face on either side of a shoe scraper on the back porch to take mud off the sides of the shoes too.

Three crop champions of Alabama will go to Cuba early in February as guests of the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau. They are Clitus Brown, Cherokee; John Givhan, Blalock, and A. L. Ford, Hightower. County Agent Sam Day of Alexander City will go also.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES

R. V. Burt of the Bankers Trust Company announced recently that there is possiblity of releasing more than $4,000,000,000 of gold from the monetary reserves of the world for future growth of credit. He estimates that the annual average increase required in gold reserves against deposits and currency is about $392,000,000.

Five Tennessee farm women are to be recognized as master farm home makers, the recognition being made by The Farmers Wife, a national fram woman's magazine, in cooperation with the Tennessee Extension Service.

During the first nine months of 1927, 731,911,00 pounds of crude rubber were brought into the United States. The average price was 37 cents per pound which was a decline of 23 cents below the average a year ago. The volume was up 6.4 per cent but the value decreased 35 per cent in comparison with the same period in 1926.

Rats which probably would have caused damage amounting to 100,000 dollars in Clinton County, Ohio, this year were eradicated during the county-wide rat-killing campaign conducted by the county agent during December. Fifty thousand rodents were killed. The government estimates that each rat does $2 damage annually.

WEEVIL FORECASTS MEAN BUT VERY LITTLE NOW

Auburn, Ala., January 23.—Contrary to general opinion, light infestations of boll weevils to a cotton crop do not follow a severe winter. This is revealed by statistical information compiled by F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician.

The question was raised following the severe freezes early in January. The opinion became prevalent that there will be very few boll weevils this year. Naturally, this aroused interest in planting cotton. Mr Gist compiled weather and weevil records from 1916 to 1925, inclusive. After compiling these figures he said:

"It will be seen that seven times out of ten boll weevil damage followed the trend of low winter temperature, while 9 times out of 10 it followed the trend of rainy days during July and August. It will also be noted that in 1918, when the lowest temperature of the 10 occurred, 17 below, the number of rainy days in July and August was also much below the average, but that in 1919, when the temperature was 11 below, the number of rainy days was much above the average.

"In 1918 weevil damage was slight, but in 1919 it was very heavy. In 1917, with the low temperature at 2 degrees above, and the rainy days at 24, the damage was also heavy."

Discussing the subject he pointed out that without knowledge to temperature and rain during the growing season no intelligent forecasts of the weevil damage can be made. Regardless of the cold weather of the past, weevil damage in Alabama depends largely upon weathering during June, July, and August.

This statement made by Mr. Gist refutes the prediction that there will be few boll weevils this year. No one can foretell this far in advance.

TIMELY FARM FACTS

It is time to put the plow in order.

A community rat-killing campaign is profitable.

It is a fact that all boll weevils are not dead.

Farmers having something for sale should tell it to their Farm Bureau.

One way to lower production costs is to increase production per man.

Most farmers who are not served by their county agent are not trying to succeed.

The recent cold weather taught some valuable lessons on storing potatoes and other products for winter.

To keep linen white while it is laid away, place an old sheet dipped in strong bluing water over it.

In the years 1926-27, 4-H club members cultivated more than 80,000 acres of corn, cotton and other crops.

A good litter of straw on the henhouse floor will make the fowls exercise for their grain.

With 35 million more people in the United States than 25 years ago, the United States Department of Agriculture says that there are about 22 million fewer beef cattle, sheep and swine to provide meat for them.

Seven companies are now engaged exclusively in the reclamation of rubber in Great Britian and some others are producing good waste and hard rubber dust, says the American Commercial attache at London in a recent report.

Farmers in one section of Ohio now have an opportunity to sell corn husk for $15 to $17 per acre to be used by rubber manufacturing companies to polish hard rubber articles. A factory is located in that state. Such factories are located also in New Jersey and the Carolinas.

The veterinarian of Arnansas reports cattle losses in that state due to tannic acid poisoning caused by eating acorns. He reports that cattle losses always occur in the spring of the year in that state from eating oak leaves.

The importation of raw silk into the United States set a new high record in 1927. The average price was $5.38 per pound which was 95 cents lower than the average for 1926. Imports amounted to 55,831,000 pounds of raw silk valued at $300,487,000 during the first three-quarters of 1927. This was an increase of 20.7 per cent in quanity and 8.8 per cent in value.

Farmer's cooperative associations in the United States have grown to such an extent in recent years that in 1926 they sold products amounting in value to $2,255,000,000, according to a report by the Department of Commerce. Secretary Hoover declared trade associations have improved businss conditions generally. The report emphasized the fact that such associations were spending $35,000,000 a year for industrial research and are supporting about 400 University fellowships.

The Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, has published a farm account book for distribution to farmers wishing to keep records. The couny agents are handling requests.

Miss Callie Watts, proprietor of the Watts Hat Shoppe, at Piedmont, Ala., spent last week in Clanton visiting her sister, Mrs. W. H. Sartor.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNEX OPENING SUNDAY

Next Sunday morning at the Sunday school hour the new Sunday School Annex of the Baptist church will be formally opened for use. All the finshing touches will be done by Thursday.

A goal of 400 in attendance has been set. Every member of the church is urgently requested to be present and to bring some friend. Help us to make this a banner day in our Sunday school as we enter our new building.

The Men's Class are going to have over 100 present. The other classes and departments surely can furnish the other three hundred.

Prof. H. C. McDonald whom we all love and admire will be with us. He will address the men's class at their lesson period. At the closing exercies he will speak to the entire school. You will want to hear him and you will want your friends to hear him.

PROF. McDONALD WILL SPEAK TO MEN'S CLASS

Prof. H. C. McDonald of Wetumpka will speak to the mens Bibls class of Clanton Baptist Sunday school at the Sunday school hour next Sunday morning in the new class room of the annex. It is hoped that every Baptist man in town will be present and bring at least one friend to the formal opening of this beautiful room and buiding.

A minimum goal of 100 men present has been set. Provsions will be made to care for 150. The pastor assures us that every thing will be in order and that the new building will be in readiness for class work.

Nothing need be said here to emphasize the ability of Prof. McDonald as a speaker or Sunday school teacher. He is well known in Clanton where he lived for four years. He was teacher of the mens class while here and he was uniformly loved and admired. The men will be glad of an opportunity to hear him again and we look for a record attendance.

ROBERTA CURRY TAKES PART IN "THE WHITE EAGLE"

The following clipping, taken from the Birmingham News will be of considerable interest to the many friends of Miss Roberta Curry here, her home town. We have already rejoiced in the glad tidings of Roberta's success, but it makes us proud to have others make commendable mention of her:

"Birmingham and all Alabama should rejoice in these glad tidings—Miss Roberta Curry, who received her voice training in Birmingham from Mrs. Clara Harper Steel, is playing the lead in "The White Eagle", a new musical play which has just opened at the Casino Theatre, located at Thirty-Ninth Street and Broadway.

As a rule, before a show opens in New York, it first has a road tryout. Such was the case with "The White Eagle". Two weeks ago, when this play was appearing in Detroit, the then leading lady became ill just a few hours before the performance. So ill was she that it was certain she would be unable to play her role that night.

The director was pale with excitement. He was frantic when the regular understudy told him that she did not know the part well enough to play the lead that evening. Roberta, however, was the only calm one in the company. She braved the director's scowl and assured him she knew the leading part well enough to try it. That Roberta Curry was a success that night is proved by the fact that she still retains the part—and right here on Broadway, too!"

VOLUME 6 | CLANTON, ALABAMA, THURSDAY | FEBRUARY 2, 1928 | NUMBER 18

Several Democrats Out For County Offices

DR. HINKLE ANNOUNCES FOR JUDGE OF PROBATE OFFICE

J. R. Walker Announces For Member Of Commissioners Court

ALL THREE MEN WELL KNOWN IN COUNTY

C. J. Klinner Announces For Member Of Board Of Education

DR. P. T. HINKLE

In making my official announcement as a candidate for Probate Judge, in the forthcoming Democratic Primary, to be held in May, 1928, I desire to state to the people of the county that I have a desire to serve them for one term as their Probate Judge. I have been solicited to make the race by many of my friends and it would be indeed a real pleasure for me to be honored by the people of Chilton County, by electing me to the highest office thereof and for the opportunity of rendering six years of service to my people. I believe that if I am elected that I can work and advise with the commissioners so that we can have a system of good roads over the entire county, and that I will use my best efforts to see that all of the roads of the county are worked as regularly as possible, and without discriminating against any individuals or showing any special favors to any community. The schools of the county are important factors in our progress and I believe that the county commissioners and county school board should work together in an effort to run our schools nine months, without increased taxation on the people and it will be my policy to work with the school board and the people to accomplish nine months school terms without increased taxes or incidental fees.

From twenty-five years of living on the farm, I have an idea of the many problems that the farmers of the county have and if I am elected I shall do everything in my power to aid them in the producing and marketing of their crops.

The income of this county from taxes and licenses is now very large, in fact, we are now considered as one of the richest agricultural counties in the state, and our potential wealth and opportunities are rated very high. We have an indebtedness of approximately $200,000.00 in bonds which are outstanding against us and with this large revenue each year this indebtedness should be paid and if the bonds are not redeemable it would be my policy to invest an equal amount of money in government bonds, which would draw interest at the same rate the outstanding bonds are drawing and relieve the county of this expense.

As there will be in the county treasury large sums of money from time to time as collected, it will be necessary for the commissioners Court to designate banks where the money may be deposited. I shall favor designating each of the five banks of Chilton County as places for depositing the county money and would use my influence to see that same is pro-rated among them.

If I am nominated and elected I shall endeavor to serve the people courteously and render them honest and conscientious service and merit the confidence reposed.

Respectfully,
P. T. HINKLE.

Mr. James R. Walker, of Pletcher, Alabama, announces this week as a candidate for member of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County from the Third District, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary to be held in May, 1928. Mr. Walker is well and favorably known in Chilton County, and is peculiarly qualified to fill the position of commissioner. He was born and reared in this county and is acquainted with the conditions of our roads and finances of the county and stated to a News representative, that if he was nominated and elected that he would see to it that the roads were worked regularly and that a permanent road building program would be inaugerated and that he would favor the reduction of taxes, if the finances of the county would permit and that he would work with the school board to see that the schools of the county were operated nine months, without additional taxes.

Mr. Walker has a large number of friends nd acquaintances over the county, who will no doubt, be glad to know that he has offered his services to the people of Chilton County, in the capacity of commissioner.

In another column of the News will be found the announcement of Mr. C. J. Klinner, of Maplesville, Route 2, for member of the Board of Education of Chilton County, Aabama, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary to be held in May of this year. Mr. Klinner, who is known to a large number of his friends as Coy Klinner, hardly needs an introduction to the people of this county. He has resided in the county all of his life and has made a success of his own business affairs, and has studied the school system of the county and watched with interest whatever progress has been made in the schools during his majority. He resides in Beat Fifteen, one of the progressive beats of the county, and the people will make no mistake in intrusting to his care the duties and obligations incident to the offices which he aspires to fill. Mr. Klinner stated that later on he would have more to say to the people regarding his candidacy and he requests the News to urge our readers to consider his candidacy before making up their minds who they will vote for to fill this office.

TWO CLANTON STORES EFFECT CONSOLIDATION

Will Carry Complete Line Found In Department Stores

Announcement was made this week that the Clanton Cash Store, managed by Mr. Obie DeLoach, and the Baltimore Store, managed by Mr. Jesse Baker, had effected a consolidation, and that the two firms would operate under the name of the Clanton Cash Store, in the future.

A crew of carpenters have been engaged in removing a portion of the partition which formerly separated the two different stores, and a large doorway is now cut in the center of the building. That portion of the building formerly occupied by Mr. DeLoach will be used as the grocery and feed department, and we have been informed that in the future, this concern will carry one of the most complete line of groceries to be found anywhere, together with a regular line of staple goods and feed.

The part of the building formerly housing the Baltimore Store will be used for the dry goods, shoes, ladies and gents furnishings, and the management states that with additional buying power the two concerns will enjoy as one concern, they will be in position to carry an exceptionally fine line of goods, and still maintain a low retail price.

There will be no change in the personnel as both Mr. DeLoach and Mr. Baker will be actively connected with the firm.

HODGES DRY GOODS CO., PLEASED WITH RESULTS

Mr. W. Z. Hodges, manager of the Hodges Dry Goods Company, states that he is highly pleased with results from his ad in last week's News. He states that he has learned that he has learned that if has quality merchandise to offer his customers, they will buy it, especially when he quotes such low prices. Mr. Hodges states that he intends to pay cash for his merchandise and sell it for cash, thereby being in a position to offer lower prices. Watch the News for his special offerings.

Local H. S. Girls Have Chance for Scholarship

National Live Stock and Meat Board Announce Annual Contest

Knowledge of cookery, food values, selection as to quality, or other phases of the subject of meat, may bring local high school girls within reach of a university scholarship or cash award if—they can transfer this knowledge to paper.

High school home economics teachers have just received formal announcement of the Fifth National Meat Story Contest. The contest is held annually in high schools of the United States, under the sponsorship of the National Live Stock and Meat Board. It has the indorsement of college home economics heads and other leaders in the field who look upon it as a valuable educational project.

Interest in the contest has increased each year, it is said. Last year approximately 14,000 girls from high schools in every state of the union competed and the Board expects that even a larger number will be enrolled in the present contest. As in the past, the distribution of prizes is arranged so that girls in every state will be among the winners. Miss Rose Gertrude Schmidt of Moorestown, N. J., won the national championship last year.

The present contest will close on March 15, according to the announcement. Judging of the stories will be in the hands of a committee which is to be selected from college directors of home economics and other authorities on the subject.

It is explained that the purpose of the contest is to stipulate more interest in the study of home economics. The scholarships offered are for home economics courses. These and the cash prizes furnish an incentive for the future housewife to take part in the event, which, it is hoped, will better fit her to assume the responsibilities of home manager.

CHILTON HIGH BOYS DEFEAT JEMISON TEAM

Last Thursday, the Chilton High School boys met and defeated the Jemison boys on the local court, the score being Chilton High 21; Jemison 17.

The game was fast and snappy throughout, and for a time it looked as though the visitors would win, as they took the lead early in the game. However, the Clanton boys soon began shooting goals and at the end of the first quarter, the local boys had a 7-point lead.

Jemison came back strong in the last period and finished just five points short of victory. Franklin and White put up the best fight for the loosers. Franklin is unusually fast and one of the best players seen on the ocal court this season.

Captain Johnson and Pete Sanford were best at securing points for the locals, each having 8 to their credit. Willis and Cox as guards, put up a good fight, and no doubt they are responsible for the forwards from Jemison not running up a higher score, for if given a show, the Jemison boys were sure to shoot goal. "Dock" Baker appeared in his first game at center for Clanton. He is fast, a good jumper and will show up most favorably with any high school player in the county.

Mr. Kimsey, the field representative, stated that he had never had the pleasure of completing the details for the organization in so little time, as he found that the local people had eliminated a great amount of the usual duties, and all that he had to do was just merely go through the formality of listing and reporting to headquarters the charter members. He was very high in his praise for the co-operation found in Clanton among the business and professional men.

A PETTY BUSINESS

It has been said that Uncle Sam is a poor business man. Most of his excursions into business of magnitude have resulted rather disastrously for the taxpayers who have to pay his losses.

Possibly that is why he engages in the business of printing envelopes in competition with private citizens. In such petty business he appears to shine. He might be a success in running a chain of government-operated peanut stands. There would be about as much excuse for one activity as the other.

Private printers must pay the taxes, licenses and other overhead charges, besides they must make some profit if they are to continue to exist. Uncle Sam has none of these conditions to meet. The money lost by the Post Office Department is made up by further taxation, drawn in part from the very citizens who are injured by this uncalled-for competition.

Bills are before Congress whose object is to end this unfair and utterly indefensible practice of printing envelopes by the government. The small-town printers who are greatly handicapped by the practice—mostly publishers of community weekly papers—are asking for relief from this injustice.

Other business men, who stand for the principle of private instead of public control of business, should rally to the support of the printers in their eminently just demand that this rotten practice be stopped.

No Senator or Congressman possessed of even an elementary sense of fair dealing should fail to see why it should be stopped, or fail to vote to stop it.

A LESSON FOR MOBS

How unjust it is to judge of guilt on the strength of superficial circumstntial evidence was illustrated a few weeks ago by the case of a 11-year old boy murdered for a small amount of money he carried

It was known that shortly before his death he had been in company with a one-eyed negro boy, who also was missing. Search for the negro was begun, with open threats of summary vengeance. After several days the negro boy was found not far from where the white boy was killed. But he also was dead with indications that he gave his life in common battle with the white lad's murderers.

Now suppose that the two boys had separated before the white boy was billed. And suppose the mob had captured the negro lad, whose sightless eyes would have identified him beyond question. There would have been just one more lynching of a negro, despite his pleadings and protestations of innocence.

This should be a lesson for any who may be tempted to take part in mob murder.

CHEV. MOTOR CAR CO. TURNS OUT FOUR MILLIONTH CAR

Detroit, Michigan, February 2.— Added impetus was given the swift pace set for 1928 by the Chevrolet Motor Company here today with the announcement by W. S. Knudsen, President and General Manager, that the four-millionth Chevrolet unit rolled off the assembly lines of the Flint, Michigan plant on Jauanry 11.

The record model—a 1928 coach—was built only 363 days after the three millionth car had been turned out at the same factory.

This brief interval between production of the two epoch making cars reveals the tremendous volume of the company the past year—when it was the world's largest automobile manufacturer—and shows the rapidity with which new cars are now being built to supply dealers in all parts of the world with an adequate number for prompt delivery.

Production for the year just ended exceeded the program of a million units by 1,800 cars and accelerated production this January over January a year ago, necessitated by the splendid reception accorded the new line, made possible the building of the four millionth car two days less than a year after the three millionth unit had been produced.

Various dates in the life of the Chevrolet Motor Company on which the millionth car mark has been passed furnish a graphic picture of the rapid strides made by the company to its position of leadership in the industry.

Nearly twelve years elapsed after its organization—on November 3, 1911—before the one millionth car was built. That record day was February 27, 1923.

There followed an interval of two years and five months before, on July 20, 1925, the two millionth car was produced. Between the two and three millionoth cars was a period of a year and six months, the three millionth unit having been built on January 13, 1927, while from that date to the building of the four millionth unit was 363 days.

Like the three millionth car, the four millionth one was equipped with a coach body. The one and two millionth models both were touring types.

Little ceremony attended the production of the four millionth car. Mr. Knudseden, C. F. Barth, vice-president in charge of manufacturing, and C. E. Wetherald, Flint plant manager, inspected it, and shortly afterward it went with the millions of others produced to date to the loading docks for prompt shipment.

Only a few seconds before the record model had left the production line, number 4,000,0001 rolled off, and the ceaseless activity evident at all Chevrolet plants since the middle of December continued its record-setting pace.

THE BANKER-FARMER MOVEMENT GROWING

There are several reasons for the growth of the banker-farmer movement in Pennsylvania, William S. McKay, Chairman of the Agricultural Committee, Pennsylvania Bankers Association, has reported to the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association. The cooperation and leadership of the county agents in the several counties of the state; the appointment and functioning of county chairmen of agriculture known as Key Bankers, one of whom there is in each county of the state; and the organization of county bankers associations, whereby agriculture is given consideration by all the banks, are responsible for this interest. The following table shows the activities for the year:

Project	Number of Counties
Sent young farmers to state college for special course	5
Encouraged farm shows	16
Held agricultural tours	6
Sponsored various club activities	38
Gave illustrated lectures on poultry, cow testing, and improved farm methods	1
Distributed purebred livestock, chicks, and disease-free potatoes	13

"There is probably no class of business men that has a greater opportunity for helpfulness than the bankers in this movement," declares Mr. McKay. "It builds up a substantial community which makes for better banking institutions; it adds to the material prosperity of our state, but above all, it is the expression of a service which will react favorably upon the character of those interested."

BANKERS HELP OUT

The Oklahoma Bankers Association for the past twelve years has financed through its five groups ten scholarships in the A. & M. College at Stillwater. The winners are chosen by the Extension Department of the college on the merits of the club work done by the boys and girls over a certain period of time. The groups of the association finance the first year of the winner's college work.

The president of a national bank in Fayettesville, Arkansas, has been credited with doing more for the farmers of his section than any other one man. His work has consisted of introducing pure bred Holstein cattle into his county, helping employ a county agent, donating prizes to boys and girls in club work, and distributing better seed.

Here are some of the things accomplished in Randolph County, Ark., with the help of bankers last year: forty-three purebred gilts were bought at a reasonable price and placed with boys and girls, on notes; three thousand eggs from high producing hens were distributed with the idea of developing flocks of at least one hundred hens on every farm; four purebred Jersey bulls whose dams had a record of over 700 pounds butterfat, have been purchased by the banks and will be paid for out of service fees.

Miss Ella Dickinson and Mr. R. P. Mills were maried at the home of the brides parents on January 29, 1878. They celebrated their golden anniversary at the same place they were married fifty years ago.

A most delicious luncheon was served at the noon hour to the guests who were several relatives of the happy couple. The luncheon was presided over by Mrs. R. P. Mills.

The afternoon was spent most enjoyably by listening to the host tell of the days when he and his wife were young, and of the great changes that had taken place in the past fifty years, the guests were also entertained by old time melodies ppropriate for the occasion, rendered by Mr. J. M. Dickinson, and his sisters, Misses Myrtle and Lucille, on violin, mandolin and piano.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Mills, and two sons, Bruce and Cecil, Mr. E. B. Mills, and wife and two sons Ralph and Philip, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Mills and Misses Myrtle and Lucille Dickinson. Among the beautiful gifts received by Mr. and Mrs. Mills, was a loving cup, suitably inscribed, given to them by their youngest son, S. B. Mills and wife.

Mrs. Mills was the daughter of J. M. Dickinson, Sr., a well known planter of the 70's. Mr. Mill s served throughout the Civil War, enlisting in 1861 at Autaugaville when only a lad of seventeen years. He was under several Generals including Joseph E. Johnston, being with him when he surrendered to General Sherman near Durham, S. C., in April, 1865.

PUBLIC HIGHWAY NO PARKING PLACE FOR AUTOMOBILES

The Alabama Court of Appeals has ruled in effect that the public highways of the state are not legitimate parking places for automobiles with lights out. In the event a car so parked is hit, and damaged by another car, the owner of the parked car is out of luck so far as being able to collect damages through court action is concerned.

The high court ruled in the case of R. F. Wall vs. M. L. and Houston Cotton, appealed from Elmore Circuit Court. In which case Wall sought damages from the Cotton men in the sum of $125.00 for injury to his Chevrolet by being struck by a truck driven by Cotton after nightfall. The lowe rcourt found for the defendants and Wall appealed.

Just Tottering,
So Weak

"I was in a bad state of health and was going through a critical time of my life," says Mrs. Ella Scarborough, R. F. D. 5, Dothan, Ala. "Several different things were recommended to me, but I did not get any real relief until I began to take Cardui.

"I was just as weak as could be. My legs were shaky, and often I would just totter around the house. I finally got so bad that I was in bed several weeks.

"It was then that I began to take Cardui. I kept it up for quite a while, and at last I regained my health. Cardui was certainly a friend to me in time of need.

"My health is splendid now, and I seldom have to use medicine, but I gladly say a word about Cardui whenever I find a friend going through the same suffering which I endured."

INDUSTRY HELPS AGRICULTURE BUILD UP THE SMALL TOWN

Decentralization of Manufacturing Brings Markets for Products Closer to the Farm—Gives Employment and Better Standards of Living to Rural Communities.

By T. R. PRESTON
President, American Bankers Association

NO class of people has been more diligent in trying to understand the agricultural problem than the bankers of this country. The agricultural problem is a real problem and demands the best thought of everyone. This country cannot continue along happy lines with only sections of the country prosperous. Prosperity must be passed around if anybody is long to enjoy it. This question cannot be solved by the farmers alone, but the majority opinion is that there is no legislative remedy for agriculture. It is an economic question pure and simple and must be worked out accordingly.

T. R. PRESTON

A few years ago it was contended that agriculture did not have sufficient credit facilities. That proposition was often made a political question. I do not presume there are many who will question the fact that agriculture now has ample credit facilities.

Mixing Farms and Factories

It is a fact that no community and no state has ever become great purely from agriculture. It is not to the interest of New York and other great centers to see the small communities and the agricultural sections losing their wealth and importance. In the end it will react upon them to their disadvantage. There seems to me a real remedy for these small communities and also for agriculture. This remedy, which is the mixing of industry with agriculture, is now being applied in many localities with satisfactory results.

Industry and agriculture are better balanced in Ohio, North Carolina and Pennsylvania than in any other states of the Union, and in these states there is no serious agricultural problem and we hear little complaint from the farmers. This mixing of industry and agriculture is called by some decentralization of industry.

I would not suggest that manufacturing institutions move from the cities to the small villages, but I do think it would be better for this country for future industries to be placed in these small villages rather than to be further congested in the great centers. This would in part also be a solution of our labor problem. The bringing of industries to small villages increases the market for agricultural products, gives employment to surplus labor, elevates the standards of living, increases public revenue, reduces taxes and vastly increases educational facilities.

Two Striking Examples

I believe I can give you two striking examples from my own state to prove this proposition, and I mention these because I am more familiar with conditions there than elsewhere.

Twelve years ago Kingsport, Tennessee, had a population of about one thousand. Great industries like a large camera company, a big cement plant and a number of other industries were located there partly through the influence of an outstanding New York business man. In a little more than twelve years these have brought the population of that city up to seventeen thousand. Just a few miles away, at Elizabethton, they are building a great rayon plant, the first unit to cost $5,000,000. The population of that town is now two thousand, but it is estimated that this will be multiplied by five in less than two years. It is stated that the total investment in manufacturing industry in that community within a period of five years will probably reach $50,000,000.

The balancing of industry and agriculture will solve most of our so-called agricultural problems and we will not need such political measures as will in my opinion, do harm if enacted to the very class they pretend to benefit.

National sales meetings of the most elaborate order ever attempted in the automobile industry are being held again this year by the Chevrolet Motor Company, with crews of factory officials blanketing the country in a series of meetings that will bring them into contact with every dealer and associate dealer in the United States.

Each meeting consists of a three-hour afternoon program—usually held at the largest auditorium in town—followed by an elaborate evening banquet, while ample time has been provided for dealers to take up their individual problems with the factory officials.

More than a carload of scenery, props, stage properties and special lighting equipment are necessary for the presentation of the sales program in every city. A stage manager and a specially trained show crew direct the work behind the stage, while in front of the footlights the dealer organization sees the most interesting sales show ever presented in the industry.

Farm Demonstration Dept.

(By C. E. Stapp, County Agent)

4-H CLUB BOYS DID BIG THINGS IN 1928

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 1.—The 4-H farm club boys of Alabama did big things during 1927. They conducted their work under the direction of the county demonstration agents and a summary of results for the state during the year made by T. A. Sims and J. C. Lowery, state club leaders of the extension service, Auburn, reveals that they produced products worth $265,105.50. This represents new wealth created by cotton, corn, hogs, dairy cows, poultry and other crops. A total of 5,401 boys living in 52 counties were engaged in the work.

With them cotton was the leading project. The cotton club boys produced cotton worth $170,839.50 at market prices. Corn was next with $50,771; and hogs third with $35,130.00. Minor projects represented the remainder.

The report shows that 1,629 of these youngsters made a bale of cotton to the acre. In 1925 a total of 1,071 attained this high goal; and 1,726 in 1926. The average for all cotton club members in 1927 ws 1,209 pounds of seed cotton per acre, or almost a bale. In 1927 the average was 1,046 and in 1926 it was 1,070.

Corn was second with 1,301 members, and the average yield was 42 bushels per acre which was 2 1-2 times the verage for the entire state.

Although the money value of crops and livestock was large Mr. Sims and Mr. Lowery declare the educational value to be greater. The lessons taught these youngsters by the county agents will stick with them and will prove beneficial in whatever line of work they engage as men. They will be more beneficial to them as farmers but professional men and industrial leaders need to know about agriculture. They were organized into clubs, of which there were 423. These clubs gave them experience in group action in cooperation.

ALABAMA FARMERS PLAN BIGGER UNITS THIS YEAR

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 2.—The outlook for farming in Alabama in 1928 is that it will be done in bigger units or in bigger terms than in former years. More acres will be cultivated than in 1927; more fertilizer and more improved machinery will be used; and a larger number of farmers will increase their efficiency.

J. D. Pope, farm economist of the experiment station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, thinks that the total area cultivated in Alabama this year will be as great as that of 1926 which exceeded that of 1927 by 100,000 acres. The concensus of opinion is that more acres will be planted to cotton. This conclusion is based upon the fact that cotton prices are higher than they were a year ago; and higher prices cause increased production.

The fertilizer season has opened earlier and the general conclusion is that more of it will be used. County agents in Alabama are recommending home-mixing and larger applications per acre. This combination, they say gets the largest net returns from the use of commercial fertilizers which when properly used are very profitable.

Farm machinery manufacturers and dealers are optimistic over tthe outlook and expect a larger business.

Large production per acre is essential but coupled with it must go a large number of acres per man so that a large amount will be produced. It is probable that farmers will go too strong with cotton. If this happens the farmer who is an efficient producer will be in much better position than he who is inefficient.

FARM AND HOME FACTS

Every child likes to have a place reserved especially for his toys and treasures.

Various attachments for sewing machines save labor and help to give the professional touch to home-made garments.

It is a strange fact that an orchard neglected is expected to make good fruit while cotton and corn are cultivated often.

Last year 1,629 boys in cotton club work in Alabama produced a bale to the acre. The average for all was 1,209 pounds of seed cotton, or almost a bale per acre.

Besides the fact that we know more of its value as a food, cod-liver oil today is more highly purified than it was twenty-five years ago.

The best course the fertilizer industry can follow and succeed in the long run is to stick to scientific facts intelligently determined by research.

During the last twenty years more than 1000 varieties of soybeans have been introduced into the United States from China, Japan, India, and other countries of that region.

When dry skimmilk is remixed with wter at the rate of one pound of powder to nine pounds of water, it may be fed to calves exactly the same as fresh skimmilk.

A survey by the United States Department of Agriculture revealed that the states leading in milk production per cow are the states with the highest percentage of purebred dairy sires.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES

In a recent address Dean Virginia C. Gildersleeve of Barnard College, said that 2,000,000 of the 8,500,000 American women who go to work every day are combining carreers and families.

In a letter published in Manufacturers Record, N. L. Willett of Beaufort, S. C., urged government advertising of agricultural products as one way to be of service to agriculture.

Leaflet No. 15 entitled Rabbit House Construction and available for general distribution has been published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, at Washington.

Congress is being asked to appropriate $10,000,000 for the 1928 fight on the European corn borer. This insect entered the United States a few years ago and continues to spread over the corn belt. It is one of the most destructive insects known to American farmers.

The Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, has published a farm account book to be used by those farmers who wish to keep records; and to know at the end of the year what they have accomplished. At your request your county agent will get a copy for you.

Live cattle will dress out 48 to 55 per cent, and hogs 75 to 85 per cent depending on quality. Sheep dress out 42 to 58 per cent. While the hog carries the most meat in proportion to live weight, the head and skin of the hog remain on the carcass after it is dressed. This accounts for some of the difference.

C. O. BELL BRINGS IN LARGE WILD POTATOE

Mr. C. O. Bell, who resides on Route 1, about four miles from Clanton, brought to the News office a "wild potato", which he dug up on his place while clearing a piece of ground.

This specimen of potato resembles the sweet potato slightly, and though it has no commercial value, Mr. Bell states that ground that will produce such a large wild potato evidently has the desired soil for the producing of any kind of commercial potatoes. The specimen of 'wild potato" measured four feet in length from tip to top, and measured 7 inches in circumference at the largest part.

CHILTON LASSIES WIN TWO GAMES HERE LAST WEEK

On Thursday afternoon last, the Chilton Tigress' met the Jemison lassies in a "hot battle" on the local court. In the first half the Tigress' piled up the score of 20-0. At the beginning of the second half, one of the Chilton forwards, Kathryn Johnson, had the misfortune of getting an arm knocked out of place and this was a hindrance to Chilton for a higher score. During the last half the Jemison girls managed to score 4 points.

Friday afternoon gave the Tigress' another chance to show what they could when they met the Stanton girls. Despite the unfavorable weather the local girls were winners. Owing to the misfortune of one of the Chilton players in Thursday's game, the lineup was changed. Mildred Danforth and Charlisle Pryon were run in as forward Danforth scored 4 points for Chilton and Jones scored the remaining 8 points.

Stanton has a good team and by their fine sportsmanship won for themselves a good opinion.

The score in the game with Stanton was 12-7 in favor of Chilton.

ALABAMA POWER CO. GAINS 30,000 FOR POPULATION

Six Thousand People Will Get Employment In New Industries

WILL CREATE NEW MARKET FOR FARMERS

Added Payroll of $5,000,000 Yearly Will Be Added To State

Six thousand people will get employment in industries fully set up and in operation, which were induced to locate in this state in the past year through the industries division of the Alabama Power Company, a statement of whose activities has just been made public.

Capital investment by reason of the new industries brought in through the efforts of the division in the power company organization is set at $15,000,000 and an added pay roll of $5,000,000 annually is estimated. Farmers of the state will have 30,000 additional persons to feed and clothe. The employed are estimated at 6,000, each one representing a family of five, thus reaching the total named.

Included in the statement of the activities of the industries division of the Alabama Power Company is the following:

"The expenditure of approximately $15,000,000 in construction, etc., together with pay rolls from the operation of the industries, should materially effect the prosperity of the communities in the territory of the location of the various industries. Alabama lime, cement, brick, lumber, and steel producers and labor of many kinds will be among the largest beneficiaries of this construction program", the report said.

"There will be some 6,000 families to purchase eggs, butter, milk, vegetables, groceries, shoes, clothing and all other necessities of life. To serve such an industrial populations will be of great advantage to the farmer, the merchant, the doctor, the bker and the banker. One can best visualize what this means by likening it to a city approximately the size of Gadsden developing within 12 months. As an example of what these new industries will mean in the way of creating new markets for farm products, one of the major industries obtained last year will require 100,000 cords of wood annually, while another industry will consume 90,000 bales of Alabama-grown cotton.

"Of the $15,000,000 necessary to the financing of the new industries, $3,500,000 was subscribed by citizens of the communities in which the industries will be located," the report said.

GASOLINE WAR ON PRICES REACH CLANTON LAST WEEK

The gasoline price war that has geen raging for some time in the state reached Clanton last week, and since then gasoline has been retailing at 15 cents per gallon.

CHILD WELFARE DEPARTMENT WORKER VISITS HERE

Recently the State of Alabama has added to its many departments, a Child Welfare Department, which means much to the children of our state. Local workers represent this department in each county. After getting in touch with the cripple children and with the consent of the parents they place the cripples in clinics where clone specialists give them careful attention and correct their deformities. This is done with very little cost to the parents and in most cases the results are amazing.

Recently one of the state welfare workers was in Clanton in the interest of this department. It is the wish of the worker to get in touch with each crippled child in the state.

Hinkle Resigns His Position With A. P. Co.

Resignation Accepted With Regrets, So Officials State In Letter Published

Dr. P. T. Hinkle, who last week made his official announcement as a candidate for the Judge of Probate office of Chilton County, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary, has resigned his position with the Alabama Power Company, who he has been connected with for several years.

In accepting Dr. Hinkle's resignation, the chief surgeon of the Alabama Power Company wrote Dr. Hinkle the following letter:

Birmingham, Feb. 1, 1928.

Dr. P. T. Hinkle,
Clanton, Ala.

Dear Dr. Hinkle:

I am in receipt of your resignation to the Alabama Power Company and Dixie Construction Company, to take effect immediately, and I wish to say that I accept this with regret. Your services certainly have been satisfactory from every standpoint.

A NEW AUTOMOBILE AGENCY TO OPEN HERE

Messrs. Luther Foshee And Joe Calloway Agents For Whippet Cars

Messrs. Luther Foshee and Joe Calloway have closed a deal whereby they have arranged to handle the Whippet Automobile in Clanton and the surrounding territory.

The home of the Whippet automobile Agency will be in the building formerly occupied by W. T. Baker, on Sixth St. south of the Court House. A force of carpenters are now busily engaged in putting the building in readiness for the housing of this new Clanton concern.

These two gentlemen who are to handle the Whippet cars in this section are well known throughout the county. Mr. Foshee has been connected with local automobile dealers for some time, and his experience in this line of business will be a great asset to the new concern.

Up to a few weeks ago Mr. Calloway was actively engaged in the drug business, being a partner in the Alred Drug Company, and Mr. Calloway, too, is well and favorably known throughout the county, and with the qualifications of these two gentlemen and with the amount of attention this popular priced car is attracting, there should be no doubt as to their success.

Messrs. Foshee and Calloway stated to a representative of the News, that they expected to have a shipment of cars here within the next few days, and that they were now ready to begin booking orders.

Chilton Co. Improves Its Highway System

County Builds 1,400 Miles of Fine Public Roads Within Last Three Years—Birmingham News

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 25, 1926—Three years ago, almost to the day, Chilton County began a movement to dig itself out of the mud, insofar as its roads were concerned. At that time Chilton County possessed nothing in the way of highways other than muddy trails, some little better than wagon ruts.

Today Chilton County is crossed and countercrossed by nearly 1,400 miles of county highways, these graded and chert or graveled surfaced, in addition to several roads maintained by the state.

The change is due solely, according to Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds, to the purchase by the county three years ago of modern road-making machinery.

The transition was made almost immediately, Judge Reynolds said in a recent interview, the overseer system by which the so-called county roads were maintained, involving employment of scores of farmers who "leased" their teams to the county, and gangs of men, these in turn in charge of foremen, while the tools used were the implements of the farm.

1,400 Miles Kept Up

The cost of maintaining such roads as the county then possessed was practically as much per annum as that of last year, even counting depreciation on caterpillar tractors, road scrapers and ditch digging apparatus. Last year, according to Judge Reynolds, 1,400 miles of highways, all surfaced with either chert or gravel, was maintained through the expenditure of $25,000. This included the salaries of superintendent and three operators of tractors, one for each of the machines of that type owned by the county.

Included in the total cost for the year was the installation of galvanized culverts, since many of the roads are built across what heretofore was wet or muddy ground and in some instances the construction of galvanized pipe sewers.

The fact that 600 miles of the Chilton County highway system are classed as mail roads, hence ordered kept in exceptional state of repair, was used by Judge Reynolds in illustrating the extensive growth of "good roads" through his county.

The roads through the county are watched carefully, deterioration being held in abeyance by prompt attention, and in this work, too, Judge Reynolds said, modern machinery, operated by tractor power, is used to the exclusion of the pick and shovel system.—Birmingham News, Sunday, September 26, 1926.

Taking the foregoing statement as literally true, it may be of interest to the voters and taxpayers of Chilton County to learn what expenditures have been made since the completion of fourteen hundred miles of chert and gravel roads in Chilton County since September, 1926, and omitting the receipts and expenditures of the county for the last quarter of 1926, we give below a table of receipts and disbursements for the calendar year of 1927, as shown by the Treasurer's report, viz:

The county received according to the Treasurer's report, the following during 1927, viz:

General Funds	$ 41,329.24
Road Tax	69,630.47
Gasoline Tax from State	49,527.41
Total receipts for 1927	$160,496.12

The county commissioners court expended during the year of 1927, according to said report, the following:

General Funds	$ 58,048.85
Road Funds	67,293.92
Gasoline Tax Paid by State	35,199.53
Total expended during 1927	$160,542.30

Keeping in mind these statements and the tables of expenditures and receipts the News will in the next issue give you some of the items for which the money was spent, that the people may understand the cost of road building and maintenance, in our County.

1,000 Miles of Highways Now Being Built

Advancing One and One-Half Times Remaining Areas, Says Record

More than 1,000 miles of standard highway was under construction by the state highway commission January 10, according to an official report of the commission on the condition of road building in Alabama.

When completed the total cost of the projects will be $10,665,840.58. Of this amount $6,776,827.53 will be paid jointly by the state and federal governments and $3,889,013.05 by the state for projects in which the federal government is not participating.

In addition to the great road building program now being carried out by the state highway commission the bridge department is now supervising the construction of 51 bridges and overpasses.

Many of the contracts call for the use of concrete and other permanent building materials. Every county in Alabama is the scene of road building operaitons. No other state in the United States is carrying on such a lagre road building program. It is because of the speed with which the state highway commission is lettting contracts for road construction that scores of road contractors have been attracted to Alabama from other states and are entering into the competition

Reedie Taylor returned last Saturday from the Eastern markets where he went to buy spring and summer goods for the Chicago Sales Company, and also for the new Gents Furnishing Store, which will open up at an early date in the building now occupied by the Clanton Model Shoppe.

Mr. Taylor stated that he decided to make the change in the line of goods only recently, and while at the market he arranged to carry exclusive lines of gents furnishings, such as Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothing, and an exclusive line of shirts, hats and shoes.

New store fixtures have been purchased from the Georgia Showcase Co. and just as soon as the building is vacated this concern will begin remodeling the building and installing the fix-

RECORD SHIPMENT OF PEANUTS MADE TO CHICAGO FIRM

400 Carloads of Shelled Peanuts Being Shipped To Candy Manufacturer

ASSIGNED TO BABY RUTH CANDY CO.

Peanut Designed To Become A Leading Money Crop In This Country

Chicago, Feb. 7.—What is said to be the largest shipment of peanuts ever made to one concern is now in progress from Southern points, to a candy bar manufacturer here. The consignment consists of 400 carloads of shelled peanuts, weighing more than 12,000,000 lbs., and represents only a portion of the company's yearly requirements.

If the goobers in this movement were laid end to end, they would encircle the globe nearly two and a third times, as they would make a strip more than 57,000 miles long.

The peanuts are consigned to the Baby Ruth Candy Company, which uses approximately 45,000,000 pounds of the shelled product yearly, or one-tenth of this country's total yield, in the manufacture of 1,000,000,000 candy bars, according to Otto Y. Schnering, president.

"The rapidly increasing popularity of peanuts roasted in the shell, salted and in candy bars, as well as in the form of peanut butter, oil and flour, will soon demand a yearly production of 1,000,000,000 pounds in this country." Mr. Schnering said. "There were 1,132,000 acres planted in peanuts in Southern States last year, which produced a yield of 866,822,000 pounds of farmer stock (unshelled) or approximately 440,000,000 pounds of shelled product. The growing knowledge of the dietary value of the goober among the people of this country has made the peanut a leading money crop in the program of crop diversification now gaining ground in the Southern states."

GROTTO CLUB TO PRESENT VAUDEVILLE HERE FRIDAY

The Dramatic Class of the Kamram Grotto of Birmingham will present a complete vaudeville performance under the auspices of the Clanton Grotto Club Friday night, Feb. 10, at 8 o'clock at the High School Auditorium.

Last fall the Kamram Grotto Club of Birmingham rendered a band concert at the High School grounds that was highly enjoyed by a large crowd, and the predictions are that the local high school auditorium will be filled to its capacity, Friday night, as all who attend re assured of a good clean show, chuck full of fun and laughter. An admission fee of 25 and 40 cents will be charged.

TO RENDER TWO PROGRAMS UNDER AUSPICES W. M. S.

Advance announcement is made this week of a program extraordinary which has been secured for presentation in Clanton Friday and Saturday night, February 17-18, under auspices of W. M. S. of Clanton Baptist church. The show will be given on the stage at the County High School.

The program includes a variety of latest song selections by the Riggins Quartet of Birmingham, interspersed with Fred MacCauley's country boy act and black face comedy by Clint Dodd and Slick Smith. All the actors are Birmingham amateurs of recognized ability, except Fred MacCauley who is a former Keith circuit artist. The reputation of these singers and players on Birmingham stage is very widely known and their presentations are in constant demand by social and civic organizations in the magic city. It is considered fortunate that they were secured for Clanton on two nights.

The Riggins boys are natives of Chilton County. They are sons of Seaborn Riggins, and have many relatives who yet live around here. Three of them sing in the quartet—Bryan, Jack and Bill. Jack is a former student of Chilton County High school. The fourth member of the quartet is Speedy Marston.

The people of Clanton and Chilton County may well look forward to this program with much interest, as those who have seen it declare that it is a program of no ordinary worth. Make your plans to attend now. You will hear more about it between now and the 17th.

Last Tuesday night, about 8:30, Samuel Harmon, negro, better known as "Sambo", was arrested on a charge of burglary.

For several days Mr. J. Lee Smith of the J. Lee Smith Wholesale Grocery Co., had been missing articles from his warehouse, and later found a window that had been tampered with. The window had been arranged so that the intruder could easily gain entrance to the warehouse through it.

After the self-invited guest had leisurely carried four sacks of flour out of the window, he returned and loaded himself with several cartons of cigarettes.

Then the fun began, the watching men fired several shots at the intruder, barely missing him each time. And after quite a chase which led to the abode of "Gambo" Harmon, who was placed in jail, later confessing. The arrest by made by Mr. W. W. Jones, who is on duty as night watchman while the regular night watchman, Mr. Wyatt, is on a vacation.

CORPORATION REPLACING OLD CHEVROLETS WITH NEW ONES

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 7.—Wholesale replacement of former Chevrolet models with the new 1928 line is now under way by the Hertz Driveurself Corporation one of the largest fleet of users of passenger automobiles in the world, which controls the operation of automobile rental stations in more than 300 representative cities in the United States and Canada, according to advices received here from Chas. W. Litsey, operating vice-president and general manager of the Hertz organization, with headquarters at Chicago.

"Replacement of old models with new ones is a regular periodical event with us, made possible by the extreme popularity of our Chevrolets", said Mr. Litsey. "This means that they are almost constantly on the road, and as a result they pile up a tremendous mileage total at the end of a year. In addition, their low initial cost and economy of operation enable us to pay out in Hertz mileage our full investment within twelve months, despite the fact that our Chevrolet rental rates are lower than on any other make of car in our service.

"During 1928 practically all former Chevrolet models will be replaced with the 'Bigger and Better' line in order that full advantage of the added features in the new car may be available for Hertz patrons. More than 3,000 Chevrolets are now in use by Hertz stations, and this number will be considerably augmented during the year because of the insistent calls for this make of car.

"We have used Chevrolets in the Hertz organization consistently since our inception. They now make up approximately one-fourth the total number of cars in our service.

"The Hertz rental stations now have on hand the complete line of Chevrolet passenger models to meet the demands of our customers. The sport cabriolet and the coupe are overwhelming favorites among business and professional people. The rear deck passenger or luggage compartment on this type of car plays a big part in their selection.

"The larger types, combining beauty with performance, are in high favor for evening engagements and week-end trips; while those who take advantage of our weekly rate plan for extended out-of-town business or vacation tours select the type best suited to their needs.

"Our organization was immensely impressed with the many points of advantage of the 'Bigger and Better' Chevrolet line over the 1927 car, and we feel assured that a substantial growth in our 1928 business will be affected by reason of the country-side enthusiasm which I understand the new car is commanding."

KIWANIS CLUB OF CLANTON

The first meeting of Clanton Kiwanis Club was held last Thursday noon at the Wilson Hotel. Forty-three members, excusing half a dozen absentees, gathered around the festive board for a social hour, concluded by a brief business session.

Kiwanis is new in Clanton. Perhaps many have asked the question of themselves and others—What is this thing Kiwanis? It is a great movement in which a group of Clanton business men have enlisted in the hope of doing some constructive lasting good for Clanton and Chilton County. The public will see and learn more about Kiwanis as time passes. For the present we offer our readers the following in explanation of the "Fundamentals of Kiwanis," being a discussion of the subject by Perry S. Patterson, past president of Kiwanis International.

Kiwanis, which has grown to a membership of over ninety thousand in more than twelve hundred cities of the United States and Canada within the short span of nine years, is confronted with the problem of educating this increasing membership in its aims, purposes and ideals.

Kiwanis is a composite group of business, professional and agricultural men devoted to the rendition of service to the respective communities in which the clubs are located.

Theological dogma, political creed, nationality, wealth, social status—none of these have any place in its membership. It is a mosaic not only of North American business life, but also of varied social and economic points of view.

One of the real contributions that Kiwanis makes is the inculcation in each member of a fine sense of perspective—a keen appreciation of fundamental life values, and a working knowledge of the relation of the forces of the spirits of business achievement.

The success of individuals, of communities, and of nation, depends on the extent to which the spiritual forces, latent in all of us, are wholesomely developed. It is these spiritual forces which constitute the fundamentals of Kiwanis. They are age old, sometimes called old-fashioned, but always powerful and ever new in their application.

Integrity, faith, industry, vision, thrift and an interest in the other fellow—these constitute the fundamentals of Kiwanis.

The function of Kiwanis is to demonstrate clearly and unequivocally the vital relation existing between these forces and the social economic and personal prosperity of the individual.

Building with these spiritual forces, Kiwanis is truly a conscious driving force toward newer and higher ideals.

You cannot mistake the impression that Essex gives on sight of completeness and fine quality in design of every detail.

Add these details to the performance of its famous Super-Six high-compression, high efficiency motor, and you have $200 or $300 more visible values than in the previous Essex, which had such outstanding superiority that it outsold all "Sixes" at or near the price, by an overwhelming margin.

No wonder everyone calls it the "World's Greatest Value."

(By C. E. Stapp)

During the past five years leading farmers from all sections of Alabama have gotten wonderful results from home mixing of their fertilizers for cotton according to the Auburn recommendations.

Quite often I am asked if the Auburn recommendations will apply to poor and good land alike. I remember two tests I conducted with two club members in North-east Alabama about four years go, the results of which were about as follows:

On poor land—no fertilizer—95 lbs. seed cotton per acre:

325 lbs.—200 lbs. Phosphate, 100 lbs. Soda, 25 lbs. Potash—594 pounds of seed cotton per acre.

650 lbs.—400 lbs. Phosphate, 200 lbs. Soda, 50 lbs. Potash—980 pounds seed cotton per acre.

On a good piece of land—no fertilizer—560 pounds seed cotton per acre.

325 lbs.—200 lbs. Phosphate, 100 lbs. Soda, 25 lbs. Potash—1080 lbs. seed cotton per acre.

650 lbs.—400 lbs. Phosphate, 200 lbs. Soda, 50 lbs. Potash—1620 lbs. seed cotton per acre.

The above proportion for mixing of fertilizer is the result of some fourteen years of experimental work by the Alabama Experiment Station, using all kinds and amounts of fertilizers on every soil type in Alabama. Wherever you find farmers fertilizing according to our recommendations, you will find farmers who are making close to a bale of cotton to the acre each year.

LEE A. POPWELL, Clanton, Ala. Route 8. No. 19-Feb. 9-2t-pd.

A NEW safety record was established by the steam railroads of this country during the first six months of 1927 when only two passengers lost their lives in train accidents. This remarkable achievement shows a reduction from 22 fatalities during the same period of 1926, and 52 during the same period of 1925.

The railroads are proud of this record but there remains much to be done in advancing the cause of safety, particularly insofar as the co-operation of the public is concerned. Grade crossings account for the largest number of accidents—and although the railroads have provided safety gates and watchmen or automatic signals at practically all main-travelled crossings; although safety regulations require the adequate blowing or signaling before the locomotive reaches these crossings, 1062 persons lost their lives during the first six months of 1927 by failing to heed the danger warnings set up by the railroads, while 2901 other people were injured in such accidents.

The co-operation of the public is again requested; and attention is drawn to the fact that railroad trains never leave their rails, that they can not stop or turn out for the approaching motorist, and that they are operating over their own right-of-way.

The Supreme Court of the United States has recently decided as follows.

"When a man goes upon a railroad track he knows that he goes to a place where he will be killed if a train comes upon him before he is clear of the tracks. He knows that he must stop for the train, and not the train stop for him. In such circumstances it seems to us that if a driver can not be sure otherwise whether a train is dangerously near, he must stop and get out of his vehicle, although obviously he will not often be required to do more than stop and look. It seems to us that if he relies upon not hearing the train or any signal and takes no further precaution, he does so at his own risk."

THE OLD RELIABLE L&N

do you talk in your telephone - or at it?

This is the right way to hold the telephone — directly in front of and one inch away from the lips. The mouthpiece catches the sound waves (represented by the dotted lines) so that your voice is heard clearly.

And this is the wrong way to hold the telephone. The full force of the sound waves escapes the mouthpiece and the voice is heard indistinctly.

THE rubber mouthpiece on the telephone transmitter was put there for a specific purpose. It concentrates the sound waves when you speak in your telephone. Now if you merely talk at your telephone, holding the transmitter to one side or several inches away from your lips, the mouthpiece cannot help you. Furthermore, the person at the other end of the line will find it difficult to understand you.

If the person you are talking with complains that he cannot hear you — try holding the transmitter as directed.

FOUR BILLS AFFECTING U. S. VETS BUREAU INTRODUCED

Four bills affecting the United States Veterans Bureau and designed for the benefit of the World War Veterans, were introduced in the Senate Monday afternoon by Senator L. Hugo Black of Alabama. Senator Black, an ex-service man himself, is of the opinion he said, that many disabled veterans of the World War are excluded from the compension benefits offered by the Government through the Veterans Bureau under the existing lws. This is the first general legislation offered by Senator Black, who took his seat in the Senate in December, succeding Senator Underwood.

One of the bills introduced by Senator Black provides that any Veteran of the World War who is totally and permanently disabled, regardless of proof of service connection shall receive the sum of $50.00 per month during the period of such disability, from the U. S. Veterans Bureau. The Senator explained that he is of the opinion that there are thousands of veterans who served their country well during 1917-18 who are now permanently and totally disabled and who cannot absolutely prove that their physical condition is traceable to military service. He would give these veterans $50 per month. This bill in no way affects the veterans who are now receiving compensation from the Veterans Bureau.

Another bill introduced by Senator Black would strengthen the compensation claims of those veterans who at some time prior to January 1, 1925, were found to be disabled, but who have been unable to get the Veterans Bureau to connect their disabilities with the military service. Senator Black explained that he does not believe that technicalities of the law should bar a veteran from receiving compensation when persumably the the veteran's disability was incurred in or aggravated by his military service.

A third bill introduced by Senator Black would abolish the so-called Central Office Boards of Appeal now located in certain districts throughout the United States. The Senator said that he believed when a veteran's claim is turned down in his Regional office in his own state, that in order to avoid unecessary delay he should have the right to appeal his case directly to the court of last resort at the Central Office in Washington. He expressed the opinion that the subordinate Appeal Boards result in great delay in adjusting the veteran's claims. He also said that he thought such a change might reduce the overhead expense of the Bureau.

A fourth bill introduced by the Senator would make it mandatory upon the officials of the Veterans Bureau to give due consideration to all affidavits submitted by Veterans or by doctors who have examined the veteran, as well as comrades who served with the veteran, submitted in support of the veteran's claim for compensation.

CRESTVIEW POULTRY FARM ISSUES FOLDER TO TRADE

The commercial department of the Chilton County News has just completed a phamplet or folder for the Crestview Poultry Farm, which is owned by Mr. F. E. Mastin. Mr. Mastin is mailing these folders out to prospective customers.

At the poultry farm owned by Mr. Mastin will be found some of the finest bred white leghorns in the state, and as Mr. Mastin has had quite a bit of experience in the poultry business, we feel sure that he knows just what to do in order to produce money making chickens.

Last year the Crestview Poultry Farm purchased the stock of birds owned by the Golden Glow Farm of Mobile. Included in this purchase were some hens that had established high records in laying contests. There is now two hens at the Crestview Poultry Farm that established a record in the Texas Laying Contest. These two hens laid a total of 623 eggs in 365 days

The Crestview Poultry Farm has four grades and the eggs are being sold at from $15.00 for a setting of 15 eggs, down to $5.00 for the setting of 15 eggs. This farm also sells baby chicks and Mr. Mastin states that he is already being swamped with orders for both chicks and eggs.

FEDERAL COMMERCIAL REPORT PRAISES SECTION

That the traditional South is changing to one of industry and commerce and, in his respect, is advancing one and one-half times faster than the country as a whole, is the high point in the "Commercial Survey of the Southeast," recently published by the United States Department of Commerce. The report covers the period from 1914 to 1925, and embraces all Southeastern states beginning with Alabama on the West.

While the report credits the Southeast with having led the nation in industrial and commercial growth during the 12-year period, it says the region is still a virgin one, and stresses its opportunities.

Agriculture, mining, hydroelectric development, forestry, and manufacturing are given as the basic factors and main sources of wealth and income behind the regions' advancement. Manufacturing and the development and wide distribution of electric power are given special emphasis in the report.

Manufacturing in Alabama, Georgia, Florida and South Carolina increased 14.3 percent during a two-year period from 1923 to 1925, while the increase for the country as a whole, during that time, was only 4.1 percent, according to the survey.

"Waterpower early assumed a place of importance in the industrial life of the Southeast", says the report. Alabama is credited with leading the South in power development, followed by South Carolina and Georgia. The total developed horsepower in the Southeast as of Jan. 1 1924 was 2,404,869, representing an increase of 31 percent in the period since March 1925, as compared with an increase of 13 percent for the United States as a whole.

Textile manufacturing is the predominant manufacturing industry whether measured by wage earners, or value of production. In 1880 the United States retained only one-fourth of its consumption in the cotton-growing states formed 66.1 percent of the total for the country. In 1926 Southern mills had reached the point where they were consuming about 28 percent of the entire American cotton crop.

For the year ended July 31, 1926, the cotton crop for domestic manufacture and only one-sixth of the domestic portion was utilized by the Southern Mills.

Cotton Consumption

"Reasons for this strong movement of the textile industry into the Southeast may be found," the report said, in its abundance of fuel and water power relatively cheaper labor supply, special tax inducements, encouragement by the railroads and municipalities and, in some instances, proximity to materials, although this seldom is an important factor."

Labor Conditions

Absence of foreign labor economic living conditions, due to mild climate, and high percentage of rural population (75 pe rcent of total) are listed in the report as contributing factors to the South's advantage over other regions in the matter of labor.

That the Southeast is capable of feeding itself is contained in the statement that the wide range of climates and soil conditions permit the cultivation of almosst every food necessity.

Industry Decentralized

Decentralization of industry is a growing practice in the Southeast and industry is benefitting by it, for, as the report says, The result is a more widespread distribution of small manufacturing towns which enjoy the combined benefit of rural and urban society, with the resulting economics."—The Birmingham Age Herald, Feb. 1, 1928.

If windows are noticeably small for a room,placing opaque curtains out along the wall and raising the valance above the framework will apparently increase the size.

The modern needs of the modern farm are calling into play to an increasing extent technical engineering skill in the designing of agricultural implements and other machinery.

THIS, BOOKS CAN DO

This, hooks can do:—nor this alone;—
they give
New views to life, and teach us how to live;
They soothe the grieved, the stubborn
they chastise.
Fools they admonish, and con...
wise
Their aid they yield to all; they never shun
The man of sorrow, nor the wretch undone;
Unlike the hard, the selfish and the proud,
They flv not sullen from the supliant
crowd;
Nor tell the various people various things,
But show to subjects, what they should show to kings. —Crabble.

WAR IS WAGED ON DISEASES OF POULTRY

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 8.—In Alabama war has been waged on baccillary white diarrhea—the most destructive poultry disease known. The poultry department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, the State Department of Agriculture, Montgomery, the Farm Bureau, county agents, and leading poultrymen have banded themselves together to eradicate it from the state.

Blood testing work is being done by the State Department of Agriculture; and, as a flock meets the requirements it is accredited by the Farm Bureau Poultry Association. Already flocks of all the popular breeds have been accredited and are supplying hatching eggs and baby chicks.

With figures based on an average of five years of experimental work by the Kansas experiment Station, Prof. John E. Ivey, Auburn, says that the average mortality from baby chicks free from baccillary white diarrhea is ten per cent. Where this disease occurs it is 46 per cent. On this basis he figures that if 100 chicks free from this disease are bought at 15 cents each the 90 remaining will cost 17 cents; and if 100 are bought from flocks infected the 56 which live will cost 28 cents.

Prof. Ivey insists that those who buy eggs or baby chicks be very careful about baccillary white diarrhea. It is much cheaper and better to buy from a disease-free and accredited flock. Since the word "accredited" does not mean the same in each state he advises those ordering from other states to get information about what accredited means before placing their orders. A safer plan is to buy from Alabama flocks, he said.

PLANS FOR POULTRY SALES MADE KNOWN

Auburn, Ala., Feb. —A state-wide system for marketing poultry will be inaugurated in Alabama this season. County agents, county Frm Bureaus, the state Farm Bureau, and the extension marketing specialists of Auburn will conduct it, announcement of it having been made by J. B. Sylvest and J. D. Moore, extension marketing specialists, Auburn. Carloads of Alabama poultry will be moved to market this way, beginning in February and continuing until the end of the season.

The plan as outlined is to operate poultry cars in every section of the state where the supply of poultry and the market demands show that it is feasible to do so. Each car will be started at a given point and will load at additional points until it is filled with poultry, after which it will be rushed to market. Most of it will go to the North and East, New York being the main center.

Farmers and poultrymen will be notified in advance so that they may deliver their poultry to the car where they will be paid on the basis of market prices. A representative of a big buyer will be with each car to receive the poultry and to make payment. In this way the route from the producer to the consumer will be shortened, resulting in a better price for the producer.

Spring broilers, chickens of other kinds, and also other kinds of poultry will be included. The object is to take whatever the farmers have for sale, and do so in such way as to return to them the highest market prices for their products.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Value of agricultural production in 1927 was $13,185,000,000 compared with $12,985,000,000 in 1926.

An average of 42 bushels per acre was the record of the 1,301 4-H corn club boys engaged in Alabama last year under the direction of the county agents.

A complete commercial fertilizer contains nitrogen, phosphate, and potash. Nitrogen stimulates vegetative growth resulting in larger and better developed plants; phosphate has a marked effect on root and seed development; potash makes plants more vigorous and more resistant to disease.

Now is the time to make a pasture and your county agent will tell you how

"It pays to buy eggs and baby chicks from accredited flocks and hatcheries."—John E. Ivey, Auburn, Alabama.

Between 15,000,000 and 20,000,000 eggs have been or will be hatched in Alabama this season.

New Zealand spinach is a leafy vegetable which thrives during hot weather of the summer and fall. It is worthy of a place in every garden.

Where fall oats were killed by freezes, spring oats are recommended for those who will be short of efed in making their 1928 crop.

Baby chicks are now being delivered and the best results are being obtained by those who have a warm place for them when they arrive. However, a place that is too hot is as bad as one that is too cold.

During the last century the commercial fertilizer business has grown from nothing to millions of dollars annually. It is being used on a scientific basis by leading farmers who get several dollars in return for each dollar intelligently expended.

CHESTNUT BLIGHT MAKES APPEARANCE IN ALABAMA

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 8.—The chestnut blight has made its appearance in Alabama, having been discovered in the northern part of the state by Charles H. Schaeffer of the State Department of Forestry. It thus appears that this destructive tree disease is destined to sweep the entire range of the chestnut in North America.

All of the species of the chestnut genus are susceptible to the attacks of this fungus. Included in this group are the common American Chestnut, the chinquapin and the European and the Japanese chestnut. Pure strains of the Jananese varieties are resistant, but all the other species are quite susceptible. Economically, the American chestnut is by far the most important species.

The chestnut blight, or chestnut bark disease, was first noted in America when it was discovered in New York in 1904. Since that time it has spread for hundreds of miles north, west and south. It has the most destructive and rapidly spreading tree disease known. It appears to have originated in Japan and to have reaced the United States through the importation of Japanese chestnuts. The greatly increased destructiveness of the disease in this country is due to the greater susceptibility of the American chestnut.

The rapid spread of the chestnue bark disease is usually attributed to its being carried by the winds and also by birds. At the present time the chief hope for the growing of chestnut trees in America appears to be through the developing of resistant strains.

HAYS' SENTENCE IS COMMUTED TO LIFE PRISON TERM

Alabama Cannot Execute An Imbecile Governor Graves Declares

CONDEMNED NEGRO WAS READY TO GO

Father Had Made Request For Body Of His Son

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 10.—"Commuted to life imprisonment. Alabama cannot execute an imbecile."

This is the order written late yesterday afternoon by Gov. Bibb Graves in the case of Hays Leonard, Elmore County negro farm hand.

Leonard would have gone to his death in the electric chair at Kilby prison last night for the murder of Judge Lamar Smith, of Wetumpka, had not the governor acting upon the report of a committee of experts appointed by him to investigate the negroe's mental condition, issued the order for commutation.

The commission which conducted the mental examination of Leonard reported to the chief executive Wednesday that Leonard has been a mental defective since birth; that he is an imbecile; that he has the mind of an 8-year old child although his actual age is about 20 years, and that he could be held responsible to the law only to the extent that an 8-year old child could be held responsible.

During the forenoon yesterday, the State Board of Pardons, reporting to Governor Graves in the Leonard case, voted two to one against executive clemency, Attorney General Charlie C. McCall, recommending commutation for the negro and Secretary of State John Brandon and State Auditor S. H. Blan recommending that the law take its course. At the capital, opinion was about equally divided throughout the day as to whether the governor would or would not extend clemency in the case. There was no definnite indication what his action would be until it was taken.

No one knew what his decision would be until it was penned by his own hand across the record in the case.

The negro, with little understanding of the legal technicalities that were moving at the last moment to determine his fate, had prepared to meet his doom.

KIWANIS CLUB HOLDS SECOND WEEKLY MEET

Meet At First Baptist Church Today (Thursday) For Third Meeting

The second regular weekly meeting of the newly organized Clanton Kiwanis club was held last Thursday at the new Wilson Hotel at 12:15 P. M.

Aside from enjoying a splendid luncheon, members and visitors heard several important matters discussed. Probably the most interesting talk of the hour was that made by Rev. S. J. Bell, who, in discussing two things that he would like to see the Kiwanis club accomplish during 1928, took the subject of school buildings in Clanton. The subject was very ably and intelligently handled. Rev. Ezell also discussed the subject of "Keeping Clanton Beautiful."

Several musical numbers and readings were pleasingly rendered by Misses Sunset Polk and Velma Spencer.

There were a number of visitors at the meeting. The next and third meeting will be held at the Baptist church, where the ladies will serve the luncheon, the directors having decided upon this as the regular meeting place for the first quarter. The second quarter meetings will be held at the Methodist Church, where the ladies of the church will serve the luncheons during that period.

The "Improved" County Roads

As stated in last week's issue of the News, we give below some items of expenditures of the county during the year of 1927. During that year it will be recalled that the County expended in all $160,542.30, which approximately represented the entire income of the county for that period.

Bearing in mind that in September, 1926, Chilton County—according to the statement given out by our officials in the Birmingham News—had completed fourteen hundred miles of chert and gravel roads, and included in this was the installing of galvanized drain pipes, we thought it would be of interest to learn the cost of maintenance of our roads for one year.

During the period stated the county spent approximately the following:

For tractors, parts and graders	$16,000.00
For culverts.....(Pipes)	$15,000.00
For gasoline and oil	$12,000.00
Total	$43,000.00

According to the Treasurer's report for this period there was expended out of the road funds and special gasoline tax the following: $102,493.25 and deducting from this the $43,000.00 for the above items it would appear that the county had expended for labor, lumber and road material for that period approximately $60,000.00 or over $420.00 per mile for maintenance.

Whether fourteen hundred miles will include all of our roads is not exactly certain, however, from best information it would appear that this would cover the entire system, and it must be remembered that the above cost of maintenance does not include the upkeep of the paved highway running north and south through the county, and with only a small amount of work done on the Clanton-Maplesville road.

Now, as it is stated that all the roads of the county have been worked the question is: Has your road received during the last year, $420.00 per mile?

Why Make a Change?

The Chilton County High School during the last two years has made noticeable progress in many ways. The fact that the school has been admitted to the Southern Accredited list of schools is a mark of distinction and a self evident fact that those who have had charge of the institution have convinced the school officials that the school is capable of, and is doing work in keeping with the standards set by these authorities for High Schools.

The spirit of co-operation existing between the faculty and the student body of the school, and the fidelity apparent for each other in their work to build the school and accomplish more for themselves, is highly commendable, and a fact that has in some periods of the history of the school been lacking.

The school this year has demonstrated that we have a well balanced faculty and student body who are indeed working and striving to do a real year's work. The News has no cause to complain of the results thus far of the school, and if our county school board and patrons will continue to back Supt. Ellis, the faculty, student body and P. T. A., we believe that the 1928-29 year will be far more advanced than any heretofore. There is no excuse at this time to raise the question of making a change in the principal of this school. Mr. Ellis has demonstrated his ability as executive officer of the school, and until his report of the work accomplished during the term, we feel that talk of a change is highly premature and will only tend to cause confusion and disrupt the splendid work that is so nicely progressing. Interpeting the shadow of events we cannot help but express our regrets that some have raised this question, and it would appear to be more for personal reasons than for the advancement of this institution.

BOOK SHOWER TO BE HELD ON FEBRUARY 17TH

Arrangements have been completed for the holding of the "Book Shower" for the proposed Clanton Library and the shower will be held in the new Mullins Building on Seventh Street, next to the New Exchange Hotel, Friday afternoon, Feb. 17th.

This movement is being sponsored by progressive civic working ladies of Clanton, and the public is most cordially urged to attend and bring any books they can. There is many ways in which you can aid this movement, which is indeed one worthy of your consideration.

While no solicitation has been made for funds, several progressive business firms have already sent in liberal cash subscriptions. It is hoped that every one will give their support and thereby aid Clanton in securing the library, which is a long felt need.

Bates Motor Co. To Sell Star Cars Here

Will Have New Model In Show Room Next Saturday, February 18

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the announcement of the opening of the Star Automobile Agency in Clanton, by the H. M. Bates Motor Co.

While the Star Car is new in this territory, this section can claim nothing over the rest of the country, for the Star car that is to be handled by the H. M. Bates Motor Co., is distinctively new, or the model which the local dealer will handle, all over the country.

As everyone knows, the Star car is a product of the Durant Motors, Inc., and when one takes into consideration that Durant is numbered among the oldest of automobile dealers in the country, they feel assured that the car mentioned above has every reason to bear the name of "Star."

Star cars are distinctive in many ways, and the new model is winning the confidence of the automobile buying public in no small way. Handlers of this popular priced car stated that it is the greatest buy in the automobile world today, and when the announcement was recently made that the prices had been slashed to a low level, quite a flurry was in evidence over the automobile field. Mr. Bates especially asks that every one note the prices quoted in their large display ad in this issue.

Mr. Bates has recently secured the services of Mr. E. E. Smith, who will be connected with the sales department. Others connected with the sales department are Messrs T. A. CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER MADE AGAINST McLAIN

Grand Jury Probes Killing Of Merchant; Widow Denies Story

SLAIN MAN WELL KNOWN IN CLANTON

Meat Knife Is Found Near Scene of Tragedy By Lieut. Young

The following article taken from the Montgomery Advertiser gives an account of the slaying of J. T. Hester, of that city, who is a brother to Mr. J. A. Hester of our city:

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 11.—Beginning early yesterday morning in an investigation of the death of J. T. Hester, former employe of the Western Railway, who died of three bullet wounds in his chest while enroute to the hospital Thursday night, the Grand Jury yesterday afternoon returned an indictment against W. H. McLain for manslaughter in the first degree in the slaying of Hester.

Date for trial of McLain has not been set. It is expected that his case would come up for trial within ten days after the convening of the Circuit Court Monday. The charge of first degree manslaughter carries a penalty of from one to ten years in the penitentiary.

Police officers and witnesses to the tragedy were called by the Grand Jury and questioned concerning the slaying. The indictment against Mr. McLain was returned with the report of that body.

Says McLain Story False

Mrs. Hester declined to discuss the tragedy but she said that the statement of McLain published in The Advertiser yesterday morning was entirely false.

Attending physicians of Mrs. McLain would permit no one to disturb her. Meanwhile McLain, in the city jail, reiterated his former statement that he shot in self defense.

A long meat or cheese knife was found near the spot where Hester's body fell. His glasses were nearby. The knife was found by Lieut. Young after the body had been removed on Thursday night

Capt. Troy Murrell said that McLain would not be given a hearing in Recorder's Court, in view of the Grand Jury indictment and that he would be turned over to the sheriff and held there until the Circuit Court convenes.

CHILTON HIGH PROVES TOO STRONG FOR GLENCOE

Accurate Shooting of Local Lads Pile Up Big Score; 22-15

After defeating high school basketball teams in many different parts of the state, the fast Glencoe High team met bitter defeat here Friday night, when they were swamped by the score of 22 to 15.

Glencoe, known to be a strong team having two men who were placed on the all-state team of 1927, apparently were overconfident, and when the local lads began the fight that supporters thought would end just the reverse, they went in to win, and guarded the fast Glencoe forwards so closely that the visitors failed to register a single field goal during the first half.

The Chilton boys looked like midgets on the court with their heavy opponents, but what they lacked in weight was easily offset by the lightening like speed, the latter baffling the visitors in no small way.

In the second half, Glencoe seemed to rally after Coach Bruner had sent in a number of his second string men. Hall flashed for the visitors, and when the game ended he was apparently at his best, having shot three goals in quick fashion. Hall was high point man for the game, having shot nine of the 15 points made by Glencoe.

Willis, on of Chilton's stars, who has had a wonderful season at the game, was closely guarded, and could only account for four points during the game. Johnston was high point man for Chilton, making three field goals and getting one free counter, while Baker, was next, with two field goals and one foul goal. Cox showed up exceptionally well while Sanford, Brunner, and Simpson were in there to win.

Wiley Gray, Of West End Looses Mules, Cows, Feed, Etc.

Tuesday morning, about five o'clock, the large barn of Mr. Wiley Gray, who lives just a short distance west of Clanton, on the Clanton-Maplesville highway, was destroyed by fire.

According to information given to a representative of the News, Mr. Gray was arroused early in the morning by what proved to be the roaring of the flames, which consumed the large barn located a short distance from the Gray home.

An alarm was immediately sounded, but before the neighbors could reach the place, the flames had gained such headway that it was only possible to save a few hogs and one milch cow. According to information, Mr. Gray suffered besides the loss of the building three fine mules, three milch cows, and several head of fine hogs that were housed in the barn.

Mr. Gray also had a very large quantity of feed stuff and numerous farm implements stored in the barn, all of which were destroyed. There was no insurance carried, so we were informed.

CHEV. MOTOR CO. SHATTERS PREVIOUS JAN. PRODUCTION

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 16.—All previous January production records were shattered here last month by the Chevrolet Motor Company when the total output for the thirty-day period reached 91,594 units, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, announced today.

This figure topped by nearly 20,000 units the 73,676 cars and trucks produced in January, 1927, and more than doubled the outlet for the corresponding month in 1926 when only 46,437 units were manufactured.

As a esult of this tremendous volume, production in January was exceeded by that of only four other months in the entire history of the company. Every indication points to new Chevrolet records in the coming months of 1928, Mr. Knudsen said.

The tentative production schedule for February is 112,475 units, as against 85,000 units last February, while actual production for the month this year is certain to exceed the tentative schedule by a comfortable margin. Mr. Knudsen said. Tentative plans for March call for the building of more than 127,000 units, which will establish a new all-time monthly record for the manufacture of gear shift cars, according to Mr. Knudsen.

This huge volume has been made possible by the enormous sales gains registered since the introduction of the "Bigger and Better" Chevrolet on January 1. R. H. Grant, vice-president of the company in charge of sales, stated that more than 125,000 units were sold for immediate delivery at retail in the United States to date.

Another high record was set during the Chicago Automobile Show, ended February 4, when more Chevrolets were sold during the show week than any other make of car at this or any other automobile show.

Chevrolet officials were unanimous in the opinion that the company's performance last year, when it built and sold a million units to become the world's largest automobile manufacter, would be substantially expanded this year.

"I am just as confident of selling a million cars this year as if I had them sold right now," Mr. Grant said at a recent dealer meeting.

To achieve this record volume the seven great assembly plants strung across the Continent are on peak production schedules in answer to calls from the 45 Chevrolet zone headquarters for ample cars to assure prompt delivery to the public. Another assembly plant, with a production of 350 cars a day, will get into full swing within a few weeks at Atlanta, Ga., to augment the facilities of the other factories now running to capacity.

A measure of how enthusiastically the new car was received by the public is shown by the fact that the January production schedule had to be stepped up on six different occasions to keep the manufacturing volume on an even basis with rapidly piling orders. The first tentative figure for the month was set on November 17th, and called for the building of 72,058 units.

Five hundred more units were added to this figure on December 1, and on January 5, after factory officials saw the measure of enthusiasm the new car was commanding, 10,000 additional units were ordered built. On January 9 this figure was stepped up another thousand units, and since that date two general orders went out to assembly plants to over-run for a total of 8,000 more cars and trucks.

Finished cars are leaving the factories with all possible dispatch that dealers in all quarters of the country may have an ample supply to make prompt delivery on all models. In addition, the seventeen overseas plants operated by General Motors Export are humming along at a record clip to supply the foreign market with the "Bigger and Better" line.

DANGER IS FORESEEN IN BIG COTTON CROP

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 13.—Foreseeing danger ahead if farmers go too strong on cotton, bankers, agricultural leaders, business men, and representatives of farm organizations are working jointly in the interest of "safe and sane" farming in Alabama this year. Judge C. E. Thomas, state superintendent of banks, has taken the lead in the movement. The Extension Service of Auburn, the Farm Bureau, the state department of agriculture, and others are cooperating.

Governor Bibb Graves is active also and expects to attend the Southwide cotton meeting in Jackson, Miss. on February 20. He has appointed twenty delegates representing farming, banking, and business; and has urged each to attend and to assist in working out an effective plan that will prove beneficial to every interest in the South, especially the producers of cotton.

Leaders in the movement point out that a big crop of cotton returns to the growers less than a little crop, and that the world does not at present need another big crop. The record crop of 1926 plus an average crop for 1927 has stocked the world's cotton markets and a big crop in 1928 would work disastrously to the growers, the leaders declare.

Plans are being formulated for a series of district meetings in Alabama at which bankers, farmers, county agents, and others will discuss the situation from every angle with a view to making local recommendations and using their influence to get farmers to put them into practice.

WHY COUNTRY BOYS WIN

Despite the great increase in city population in recent decades, country boys, that is, boys raised on farms or in small towns, still seem to sapture their share of the important places in the business or professional world. The two richest men in America, Ford and Rockefeller, both were country boys, and so likewise, was the world's greatest inventor, Edison. The president is a farm boy, and numerous instances could be cited to show that outstanding leaders in business, politics nd the professios in this country were recruited from the rural districts. This, in spite of the fact that within the past 50 years the rural population or those people living on farms and in towns, has shrunken from about 75 per cent to less than 50 per cent of the total population.

There are probably many good reasons why the country boys take high places. Perhaps one reason is that the country boy usually arrives in big city without frinds or influence, with limited cash, but with a fine determination to make good and show the folks back home what he can do. City boys, on the other hand, often have relatives and friends through whose influence they get a "comfortable berth" to start off with, and they gradually settle down to the business routine of a big corporation, enjoy the numerous diversions of the big city where they are thoroughly at home, and where the demands on their spare time are so heavy that it takes a Spartan determination to study instead of play after working hours.

The country boy, determined to show his folks and friends that he can make good in the big town, "saws wood"; his superiors notice the difference between his attitude and that of those who are satisfied with a comfortable, wellpaying, job, and the result is that they advance the "hayseed" to more important places when the opportunity offers.

TOURING INTO THE HEART OF CUBA

When Cuba has its new central highway completed, it is believed that the great inrush of winter tourists, which has been an outstanding feature of the winter season for several years back, will be greatly increased. In expectation of this, the government is even now arranging for auto feries from Key West, which will connect with the Overseas Highway, now under construction in Florida, and make it possible for the American tourist to ferry across to Cuba in his own car and travel the length of the island. But far beyond the pelasure and interest it will bring to the visiting tourist, is the actual day-to-day benefit which will accrue to the Cubans. It will make possible the better handling of the sugar crop and the other agricultural wealth of Cuba. It will probably be a great factor in making it possible to ship vegetables and fruits to the north in greater quantities than ever. It will also mean an increase in other agricultural development and especially in formenting the growth of rural life. This will be especially interesting to the Americans who are already living in the island or who are planning to live there and are buying estates for development.

HELPFUL THOUGHTS

Perseverance

The conditions of conquest are always easy. We have but to toil awhile endure awhile believe always, and never turn back.—Simms.

If a man has any brains at all, let him hold on to his calling, and, in the grand sweep of things, his turn will come at last.—W. McCune.

Perseverance is a Roman virtue, that wins each godlike act and plucks success even from the spear-proof crest of rugged danger.—Harvard.

Never despair; but if you do, work on in despair.—Burke.

By gnawing through a dyke, even a rat may drown a nation.—Burke.

The difference between perseverence and obstinancy is that one often comes from a strong will, and the other from a strong won't.—Henry Ward Beecher

The divine insanity of noble minds, that never falters, no abates, but labors, endures, and waits, till all that its forsees it finds, or what it cannot find, creates.—Longfellow.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

Did you ever hear of Antonio Sobera? He was born at Casalmontferrato in Italy, in the year when the United States was busy with its second and last great war with England. He obtained his degree of doctor of medicine and surgery from the University of Turin in 1833.

In Paris, he studied chemistry under some of the greatest scientists of the times, and later became director of the School of Mechanics and Chemistry Applied to Arts, at Turin. There, in the same town where he had received his medical education, he made the great discovery of nitro-glycerine.

While testing the effect of nitrac acid on different organic materials, he found that, by combining it with glycerine, a yellow, sluggish-looking oil that proved to be highly explosive was obtained. He wrote to his old Parisian instructors about the questionable merit of his discovery.

All the scientific world was agog with interest, and many young chemists tried to improve upon Sobero's experiment, with tragic results. Poor Soberro was filled with horror at the dangerous plaything that they had put in the hands of careless humanity. When nitro-glycerine was mentioned, he referred to it as "that terrible product."

Modern civilization owes reverence to the inventor of that potent yellow oil. To supply the demand for it the du-Pont Company, alone, has turned out more than 1,000,000,000 pounds of explosives for commercial purposes in the past five years.

JUDY O'GRADY AND THE COLONEL'S LADY

The Colonel's wife and Judy O'Grady are not only alike underneath the skin, but bear a remarkable recemblance in those external things which more than anything else use to put up a fence between them.

It would now take a Sherlock Holmes to differentiate unmistably between modern Judy O'Grady and the Colonel's wife.

Judy with her homely virtues, cotton stockings and gingham aprons, has disappeared.

The 1927 Judy O'Grady like the 1927 Colonel's wife—wears sheer hose, fine underwear and modish silky rayon and woolen frocks—to say nothing at all of fur coats.

A preliminary survey of the years 1921 to 1927 taken by the Bureau of Home Economics, Washington, proves that there is more demand for silk and rayon than for cotton in families whose incomes are under $10,000 a year.

Of course those families with incomes over $10,000 a year always did wear fashionable fabrics and from all reports at hand, always will.

There are many reasons advanced for the new popular use of silk and rayon. Their styling, their fashionableness, their general becomingness all lend a hand. The woman on a small income is just as much disposed against dressing without taste and charm as the woman who spends a fortune yearly on her wearing apparel. There is little reason why she should not be for the correct in style is all about her. Magazines, newspapers, stores,—all are her educators and milday of 1928 has found that intelligent shopping is more valuable than a limitless purse.

Yes certainly the day of bonnets, mother hubbards and aprons has passed. They are sweet—sometimes—on the ingenue in the movies, but without virtue on the shortest Main street.

French and American designers are finding that today the question of la mode is an international one not confined to metropolitan districts alone, but to small towns and the farming districts as well. In fact, the farmer's wife is often quite as chic when she "comes to town" as are any of the women she passes on the street.

Women everywhere today know the names of the great designers. If they have never had occasion to buy directly from one of the well known fashion houses, they have at least worn charming copies. They are beginning to meet with adequate knowledge the supercilious clerk who pretends to have inside information on the movements of fashion.

Today the woman who has never crossed the Atlantic and purchased her gowns in Paris is buying the chic new spring weaves of wool, rayon and silk because she knows they are fashionably correct. She is buying basket weaves polka dot weaves and their many varieties for the same reason. She is buying wool and rayon georgette for exactly the same purpose—in order to have something which is making of America not a land of Colonel's wives and Judy O'Grady's, but a land of correctly and smartly dressed women.

Gentlemen, try to tell an intelligent woman this is not true!

Month Set To Educate To Reduce Hazard

Provision Made To Inspect Cars at Service Stations And Garages Free

Montgomery, Ala, Feb. 11.—Official details of the "Save-a-Life" campaign and mechanical inspection of all automobiles and trucks in this state from February 20th to March 17th, just authorized by proclamation of Governor Graves were announced today (Sat.) by Commissioner of Maintenance Jno. S. Turner.

Brakes, lights, horns, steering apparatus, windshield wipers, and rear-view mirrors an trucks, are to be salient points of mechanical inspection, Commissioner Turner said, since those parts or equipment are among the first to become defective, and when defective are responsible for a large number of the serious accidents that take place each year.

The official inspection will be entirely free of charge, Commissioner Turner announced, due to the co-operation of garages, shops, and service stations in every community of the state which have indicated their willingness to serve as official State inspection stations and make the required examination without any charge to the car owner or the State or community.

Every leading motor organization, commercial and civic bodies, numerous municipal authorities, are already expressing their willingness to lend their approval and cooperation to the "Save-a-Life" movement, the Commissioner said.

"The 'Save-a-Life' campaign is really an intensive effort to cut down the accident rate In Alabama," he explained "and to make the State a model in this respect. The campaign is directed solely against the mechanical defects that are apt to develop in cars and in trucks under service conditions, because such defects are one of the leading causes of motor accidents. It is the belief of automobile authorities throughout the United States that if all motor vehicles could be easily and quickly controlled by their drivers, the accident rate would rapidly diminish.

The campaign is a national movement and Alabama should take a leading role."

The official method of the campaign and of the inspection will be as follows

1.—Every auto and truck in the State must be inspected by a competent mechanic in a reliable service station, to be designated and appointed by the Commissioner of Maintenance, and if this car or truck is found unsafe or to have mechanical defects it must be put in safe condition before an official inspection tag will be issued to the owner.

2.—Official State inspection tags will be issued to all cars and trucks that have been examined and found to be in good condition or that have been put in good condition after having been examined and found to need adjustment.

3.—In order to remove any possible cause for resentment, inconvenience, hardship or loss of time on the part of the automobile or truck owner, this inspection will be absolutely free of charge at official inspection stations, and the vehicle owner is at liberty to choose any official station he prefers.

4.—Any adjustment of repair found necessary to insure safe operation, may, at the owner's order, be charged for at the usual standard rate of charge for such mechanical service.

5—Brakes, horns, lights, steering mechanisms, and rear-view mirrors on trucks, will be the chief points of inspection.

6.—Brakes shall be tested as follows: 2 wheel brakes, car going 20 miles per hour must stop in 50 feet; 4 wheel brakes, car going 20 miles per hour must stop in 35 feet; emergency brakes, car going 20 miles per hour must stop in 75 feet; trucks over 3 tons, going 20 miles per hour must stop in 75 feet by foot brakes.

7.—Horns shall be tested by pressing the horn-button, and determining whether the signal is prompt and gives sufficient warning.

8—Lights shall be tested as follows: bulbs in headlights shall be checked for conformity to State laws; bulbs showing signs of blackening, or a whitish discoloration inside of the glass, are inefficient and should be discarded; all bulbs which are burned out or missing must be replaced; lights must have proper lens, and reflectors must be bright; all tail-lamps must have a red lens.

9.—Steering mechanisms are to be examined in all their wearing parts; these wearing parts must appear to be sufficiently strong to avoid any possibility of breaking under ordinary conditions, thus causing an accident.

10.—Truck rear-view mirrors are to be inspected to make sure they are in such condition and so placed as to give good rear visibility."

"The cooperation of the mortoring public is earnestly requested to make the 'Save-a-Life' campaign a great success," the Commissioner said, "and in the interest of public safetly every car and truck in Alabama should be wearing its official inspection emblem of civic co-operation and mechanical good order by March 17th, when the 'Save-a-Life" campaign ends."

Nurse Advises
WEAK, RUN-DOWN
WOMEN
To Take Cardui

"I have known of Cardui for nearly twenty-five years," says Mrs. Selma Meissner, 1072 Harrison Ave., Beaumont, Texas. "During that time, I have taken it several times and have frequently recommended it to others, for it is a splendid medicine and I am glad to give people the benefit of my experience.

"I have been a nurse for several years and have often come in contact with patients who were run-down and weak. Often I have told sufferers of Cardui, and the way I, myself, had been helped after taking it, and advised them to give it a trial. Many of them have since thanked me for what I told them, so I am willing that other women should know about it, too.

"I first took Cardui because I was awfully run-down. I had no appetite, and was weak and listless. It was hard to keep going under such conditions, and I looked for something which would help me.

"I had read of Cardui and decided to try it. After taking it, I improved so much that I have taken it since whenever I needed a tonic."

MAPLE SPRINGS NEWS

We are glad to say that the services at Maple Springs church were good. Rev. Parrish delivered a most wonderful sermon. There was a good attendance.

In the afternoon the Maple Springs and Poplar Springs Singing Societies met at 2 o'clock and had a good singing. The singing was opened by the chairman, Prof. O. L. DeVaughn, who was followed by Mr. L. F. Grant, J. E. Minor, J. Z. Mims, J. P. Huett, A. O. Boswell and Mr. Smith from Elmore county. Then Mr. L. F. Is a Prescription for Colds, Grippe, Flu, Dengue, Bilious Fever and Malaria
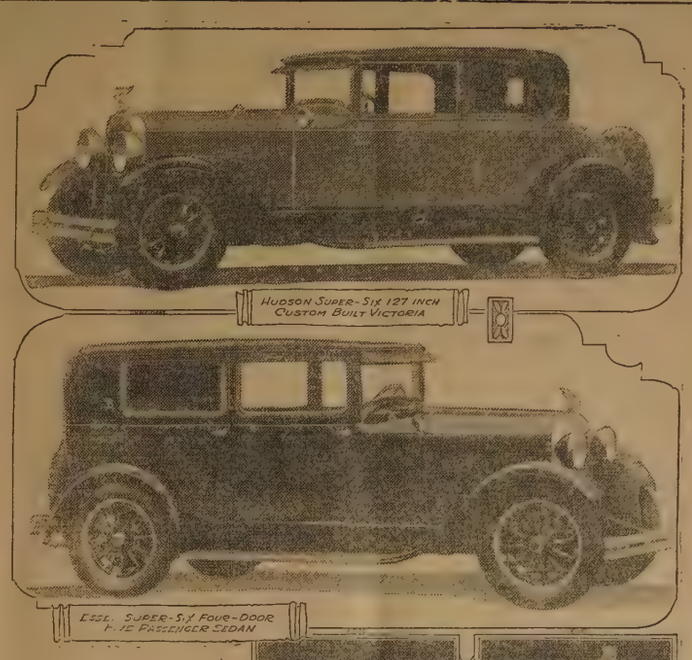
It Kills the Germs



Above is the Hudson Super-Six Victoria, an attractive new car type introduced this year. Below is the Essex 6-cylinder, 4-door Sedan, expected to be one of the company's most popular models.

ADVANCED style is the outstanding change in the new Hudson-Essex line of cars introduced yesterday by the Hudson-Essex dealers. Motorists here are viewing the new cars simultaneously with the throngs who attended the national Automobile Show in New York City, where the Hudson-Essex line made its bow to the public.

But though these new cars, as seen yesterday, are strikingly improved in style and beauty, Hudson-Essex has kept a traditionally keen eye on fundamentals of value, in fact the price on a highly important model—the Essex 4-door sedan—is reduced $40. Hudson-Essex presents this as the only 6-cylinder, 4-door sedan with a list price below the $800 level. On other cars, some prices remain with no change; others are advanced.

Essex is now equipped with Bendix 4-wheel brakes and a heavier anti-friction steering gear. Hudson frames have two tubular cross members. Essex, as well as Hudson, now has the Electro-lock anti-theft device. Both cars continue their high-compression, high-efficiency motors. These are said to operate smoothly on any type of gasoline, and through intensive development to assure even smoother and more powerful performance.

Series Of Cars Complete

The new line offers a variety of models—10 closed cars immediately, while additional open and sport type cars will be ready for the spring and summer season. All cars are low-hung, modern in style, and designed with a unity of line to assure them a distinctive character of their own.

Beginning at the very front, both Hudson and Essex cars have higher and more slender radiators. This effect is heightened by the shutters, which are cleanly patterned and vertical in design. On all cars the shutters are finished in lacquer to match the lower body color.

Surmounting the radiators, on both Hudson and Essex cars, are the new, sculptured radiator ornaments of classic beauty, representing fleetness. Motometers have been removed to the dash. Both cars are fitted with head lamps of Colonial design and with saddle lamps of like design, mounted on the cowl. In the Hudson cars all these lamps are nickel; in the Essex the rims are nickled while the main body lamps are in brilliant black. All cars have wide sweeping fenders, extra-narrow front body pillars and distinctively shaped visors. Windows are set off by recessed reveals and stripping. The running boards are lower to the ground, covered with a rubber matting in pattern and bound with aluminum strips.

Body Construction Rigid

Not only in their smart new lines are the new bodies interesting; their strength and rigidity as well are exceptional. Construction is along the exclusive Hudson-Essex design of recent seasons, but is now even more rigid. At vital points in the structure reenforcing plates and brackets have been added. One large steel stamping now forms the entire rear structure of the cars, extending from one rear window aound to the other.

For silence as well as strength, the doors are built of three layers of stamped steel, with felt and fibre board sandwiched in as sound-deadeners. Special precautions have been taken similarly around the door locks, and a silencing pad cemented inside the cowl. In the custom-built bodies the construction is of hammered aluminum sheets over hardwood frames. This aluminum construction is said to save the weight of one passenger, thus improving performance. Rear quarters are covered with landau leather. Windshield frames and interior window ledges are nickel-finish which adds distinction and richness to appearance.

Interior Design Attractive

The new Essex bodies are roomier than in any previous cars, the low-hung effect having been obtained with no lessening of head-room. Seats are form-fitting, well-fashioned and upholstered in velour. Other details combine to give an impression of richness. In the front compartment the panel between the windshield and dash is of distinctive burl walnut design. Just underneath the instrument board is of ebony black lacquer. Set into this background the instruments are grouped under glass—including the motometer, oil and gasoline guages, ammeter and speedometer. Centered beneath is the Electreo-lock, while at the left is the starter button and to the right the choke control.

An important feature in Essex, as well as Hudson, is the new steering wheel. This is slender in design, formed with finger scallops, and colored an ebony-black to match the instrument board. Concealed within its slender outline is extraordinary strength, for its backbone is a structure of re-enforced steel. Around this skeleton is moulded hard black rubber in an attractive design. The whole unit, used until this year only in very expensive cars, not only enriches the appearance of the car, but also promotes both safety and easy handling, since its weight is sufficient to absorb all minor road shocks. The steering wheel jacket on both Hudson and Essex is nickeled as far as the dash, and where it is fastened to the instrument board a ball-bearing eliminates all danger of binding. On Essex, the steering wheel carries the parabeam light control, hand throttle and horn button; on Hudson the hand spark advance also.

In accordance with 1928 styles, the coach and sedan are built with two side windows each. They slide between felt pads, against which is maintained a slight spring pressure; this minimizes looseness and rattles. In the coupe, the rear window lowers so that the rumble seat passengers may speak with those inside. Window ledges are of rich burl walnut finish.

Hudson's Advnaced Styles

The new Hudson cars are designed so that motorists who enjoy Super-Six performance may also have exceptional standards of style and smartness. In the custom-built cars, color panels and mouldings are employed to bring about remarkably pleasing and distinctive effects. Within, the seats are form-fitting and deeply cushioned, with upholstery of mohair. Hardware is especially rich and attractive; all fittings and appointments are not only complete but of advanced standard; the whole impression is of richness and luxury.

The standard cars, both on the 127 inch and 118 inch chassis, are built on attractive lines. The bodies are roomy, seats are form-fitting and upholstered in mohair. The windshield panel is burl walnut; the dash ebony black with grouped instruments; the steering wheel is steel-framed; with a hard rubber covering to fit the fingers. Smoking sets are standard equipment.

Prospects for Year

Hudson-Essex is introducing this line of cars after completing the most successful year in its history, with around 280.000 six cylinder cars manufactured. This year's styles carry forward the principles of a year ago adding beauty and style to the well-known Hudson-Essex standards of value and utility. The present daily total of cars built is the largest, for this time of year, in Hudson-Essex history. The whole Hudson-Essex organization is highly confidentthat 1928 will establish for it a new standard of success.

TIMBER LAND IS CONSIDERED PAYING LAND NOW

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 16.—Rough land that is not considered valuable for farming need not be considered worthless, according to Otto Brown, extension forester, Auburn. Such land, he said, can be made to pay from $2 to $8 per acre each year by growing timber.

Mr. Brown pointed out that a few years ago the average person thought of forest conservation as a responsibility. He felt it duty to protect his woodland from fire in order to grow timber growth is Alabama fire prevention is now not only a duty but an opportunity for the farmer to increase the cash returns from his farm, he declared.

With present prices of timber rough land may now be one of the most profitable parts of a farm, he said.

As timber in the United States and Alabama is disappearing four times as fast as it is being grown, and as the price is necessarily increasing, the profits from timber growing will no doubt be greater as the years go by.

The main operation connected with timber growth is Alabama fire prevnetion, he said. At this season of the year there are always lots of forest fires started by people in preparing the land for spring planting. If the owners but realized the damage done by these fires to trees, there would be fewer fires.

"Many farmers will stop their hands at the busiest season of the year to put out a fire in their woods. They find it pays to do this", he added.

TIMELY FARM FACTS

Farming plus figuring equals more profits.

A low production cost per pound is essential to profit in raising cotton.

Farm accounts serve as a guide to better farm practices and better business management.

Ten per cent of all the newly born calves, pigs, lambs, colts, and chicks die each year as a result of the work of parasites.

Two-thirds of the country's meat supply is raised west of the Mississippi and two-thirds of it is consumed east of the Mississippi.

The Alabama Experiment Station at Auburn recommends a top dressing of nitrate of soda for oats and other small grains. It should be applied between February 15 and March 1 at the rate of 150 to 200 pounds per acre.

COTTON ACREAGE INCREASE UNSAFE SAY EXPERTS

Following an extended study of the cotton conditions, the following statement was recently issued to the farmers of Alabama, signed jointly by the three leading agricultural officials of the State, from which is quoted the following items of importance:

"There is no disposition on the part of agricultural officials to dictate the acreage policies of farmers, but it is our duty to point out the various conditions touching this most important subject, and we quote from the U. S. Department of Agriculture in part as follows."

" 'Expansion in cash crops for 1928 is to be guarded against.

'The low prices for 1926 cotton were due to overplanting. Overplanting this year will bring about the same low prices and distress.

'Weevils will undoubtedly survive in greater numbers this year than in 1927. The more acres planted in 1928, the less per acre will be the income.' "

Continuing the authorities whose names appear below said:

"We have had in this state four years of good yields, due to a combination of intelligent fertilizing, favorable seasons, and comparatively low rate of insect damage. It is possible that the above unusual run of favorable cotton conditions will fail this year and Alabama will have unfavorable weather, heavy weevil infestation, low yields on a large acreage and low prices. This would be disastrous and farmers must guard against any increase of acreage."

Alabama farmers are still short on hay. Feed must be produced for the increased number of hogs. Poultry and hogs promise good profits and feed must be produced for these. Home supplies demand the farmers first attention."

"After providing for these essentials of food and feed, it seems the part of wisdom to not increase cotton acreage, but to continue careful fertilizing, improved cultural methods, watchful care against weevil damage, attention to cost of production, improvement in quality of cotton and intelligent marketing as the program of the Alabama farmer for 1928."—(Signed) S. M. Dunwoody, Commissioner; L. N. Duncan, Director of Extension; M. J. Funchess, Director, Experiment Station.

ALABAMA issues a call to all her citizens to enlist in her war against Woods Fires!

Woods Fires are costing $4,000,000 each year. They not only destroy seedlings and young trees that should grow to be our forests of the future but also burn much timber that has present value.

Alabama is engaged in a finish fight against Woods Fires, so that your trees can grow into tall timber and be made into lumber and other forest products to keep the wheels of her industries turning.

But this is going to be an unusual kind of fire fighting. There is no state wide fire department to be called out. The cooperation of every true Alabaman will win the fight. Such a war is less expensive to the tax payer and far more effective.

Woods fires can be prevented. It is only necessary to be careful and help others to be careful. Fight every fire that starts anywhere near you, and go to the assistance of others who are fighting fire. Do everything you can to prevent Woods Fires and Alabama will win her war.

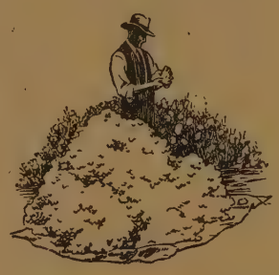
Cotton Yield Doubled



COTTON RESULTS UNEQUALED . . . Mr. W. Y. Allen of Louisville, Winston Co., Miss., says: "I used 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizers this year for the first time and obtained one of the best crops I have ever made. This was the worst growing season we have ever had and I am sure that your fertilizer produced results that cannot be equaled in this section." —Sept. 29, 1927.

"AA QUALITY" YIELDS 33 1/3% MORE COTTON . . . Mr. G. W. Riddle of Alabama City, Etowah Co., Ala., says: "I planted one acre to cotton, using 400 lbs. of Sea Fowl Fertilizer ('AA QUALITY'), and another acre, using the same amount of another well-known make. I am quite sure the acre where the Sea Fowl Fertilizer was used will yield at least one-third more cotton. Another thing that appeals to me very strongly is the excellent mechanical condition of your goods."—Sept. 16, 1927.

GOOD CROP DESPITE BAD CONDITIONS . . . Mr. R. W. Huey of Pontotoc, Pontotoc Co., Miss., says: "In spite of heavy rains at planting time and the long drought following, I will say without prejudice that where 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer was used the crop was much better than I had any reason to expect. Your fertilizer must be properly balanced, as it shows such good results."—Sept. 26, 1927.

CONSISTENT HIGH QUALITY FOR 30 YEARS . . . Mr. N. B. Windham of Columbus, Monroe Co., Miss., says: "I first used 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizers 30 years ago. The quality and condition of each sack of 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizers are the same now as they were then. Judging from my crop, 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizers are still living up to their reputation as the best crop producers."—Sept. 27, 1927.

Note the remarkable results that Mr. J. H. Gulledge of Verbena, Ala., got with "AA QUALITY" Fertilizer last season. He wrote on November 26, 1927:

"Where I used 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizers, the yield was 58 bales of cotton on 81 acres. Under same conditions, adjoining lands where other makes were used produced one-half as much cotton per acre. My crop was unusually early. Farmers who are using other makes of fertilizers are not getting over one-half as much cotton per acre as I am with 'AA QUALITY' goods."

Hundreds of other successful cotton growers have found that "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers produce larger yields and better quality. It's the extra yield per acre that writes the extra entries in the bank book.

Read these statements. They speak of facts and tell of results. You are now planning Spring fertilization. Careful selection of the right fertilizer now means dollars in your pocket later on.

"AA QUALITY" Fertilizers are painstakingly made for cotton fields—for your fields. They are scientifically prepared, completely cured and remilled, to ensure perfect mechanical condition.

The largest fertilizer company in the world stands back of every bag of "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers. A record of over sixty years' successful crop production.

Use "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers for your 1928 cotton crop. You can get a bigger yield of cotton per acre—and a greater yield in dollars per acre.

Hays' Sentence Commuted To Life Imprisonment

His father and mother appeared at the prison yesterday and made formal claim for the body. They spent the day with him.

Leonard told prison attaches that he "was ready to go."

The prison barber had shaved his head for the metal electrode.

A few minutes after 5 o'clock Gov. Graves made the decision. The message was telephoned to Warden Shirley, who inturn told Leonard that his life had been spared.

For a second or two the negro groped for words.

"Th-th-thank you, thank you, boss, please sir," he stammered.

That was all. He was removed from the death cell and given a bunk in the tier with other members of his race. The negro wept freely as he walked from the death house.

The commutation of Leonard's sentence closed one of the most sentational murder cases in the recent history of Alabama.

Judge Lamar Smith was murdered as he lay reading in bed on the night of August 30 1926. A shot from a shotgun fired through an open window within a few feet of his head, blew half of the top of his head away.

For several days after the murder the identity of his assasins remained a mystery. Then a trail of circumstantial evidence led to the arrest of Clyde Reese Bachelor, his son-in-law nd Leonard, who was a farm hand on Bachelor's plantation.

Implicates Bachelor

In the Montgomery County jail Leonard confessed that he had fired the shot that killed Judge Smith. He implicated Bachelor in the crime, charging that Bachelor had persuaded him to commit the crime and that he had stood with a loaded pistol at his side, forcing him to shoot Judge Smith.

Fear of mob violence led officers to take Bachelor to Mobile. On the way to Mobile Bachelor confessed. Later he signed a typewritten statement telling th eentire story of the crime.

In it he stated that he killed Judge Smith in order that he might collect his life insurance. Bachelor, however, said that he was some thirty feet from him at the time the shot was fired.

The trials at which the two men were convicted of the murder attracted wide interest. It was bitterly fought by the defense.

Later on the appeal of the case to the Supreme Court, another legal battle to save Bachelor's life was waged.

After the Supreme Court had affirmed the death sentence, an attempt was made to escape electrocution on the theory that the law changing the mode of execution from hanging to electrocution did not cary a "saving" clause and that Bachelor, sentenced to be hanged could only be hanged—a form of exectution which had become illegal. The Supreme Court, however, ruled adversely, and on July 15 Bachelor paid the supreme penalty in the electric chair at Kilby prison for his part in the crime.

Case Affirmed

Leonard's case in the meantime had been held in the Supreme Court pending the disposition of Bachelor's case. About two months ago a decision affiming the death verdict was handed down. Several days later Leonard was taken from the Montgomery jail, where he had been held and carried to Wetumpka, where he was resentenced to be electrocuted.

Almost immediately a wave of feeling favorable to the negro began to make itself felt throughout the state. Numerous letters were received by the governor, asking that he commute the negroe's sentence.

The majority of them acted upon the theory that the negro had been under the influence of ihs white employer and that he had to that extent bee ncoerced into firing the fatal shot. Early in the presen week a formal hearing was held at the capitol after which the negro was examined by a committee of alienists.

Rev. J. T. Williams Writes From China

Tells of December "Reign Of Terroor" In Chinese City of Canton

Since it has been some time since I wrote anything for the papers at home, I shall send a few lines at this time. Perhaps some of the readers of the News would like to hear something of some recent happening in Canton. As you know, we do not live in Canton now, but lived there all our time in China until about three years ago. I am giving below a letter written by one of our missionaries in Canton to a missionary in Shanghai.

During the last year or two China has been going through with some very severe trials. They took the Russian Communists into all their councils and some of them believed the Russians would help them to rid the country of all other people and set up a veritable paradise. Now they are getting their eyes open and see what a terrible thing they have done. The letter below shows something of the erign of terror in Canton in December. They found out that it was led by Russians, who care nothing for what people have to suffer—they only want to tear down, burn and kill, to carry out their schemes of the devil.

Following is the letter:

December 16, 1927.

"You cannot imagine anything so horrible. I did not believe human nature capable of such.

The Communists took advantage of no soldiers in town and begun to rule. Robbers from all directions took advantage of them and began to rob everybody and all houses, banks, stores, etc. They disarmed the police and went fearlessly about in the day time taking whatever they pleased.

"The Workers Union (not all members) took a big hand. Most of them turned robbers and all tried to get revenge on anybody they ever had a grudge against.

"You cannot imagine what agony we suffered (and still suffer) for two days and night. We could hear the mobs coming and hear people begging for life. We saw the city in flames and did not know when we would be next. The Chinese homes around us were robbed, some of people killed outright, some put in jail. Only a few fires at Tung Shan (the section of the city where the Baptist Mission is located), but in the city they burned entire blocks and streets. The city looks terrible.

"They sometimes closed all doors and wouldn't let people come out. They fired the buildings and burned the people alive. I saw the remains of them. I saw the charred body of a woman burned in a kneeling position. They burned garages and banks by the wholesale. They burned a big shed with about one hundred horses in it. They did not kill people instantly—they stabbed and beat them to death.

"We could not get away from our homes. Some had already gone from home (but not by consular orders). Finally the Consul sent us word to go and told the marines to take us by force, if we didn't go. With such orders we were willing to go, but the gun boat was stuck in the mud on account of low tide and no sampan (paddle boat) could get to us or them because of the fighting between.

"Finally the battle and the tide turned and we went aboard the gunboat until the new army got in. They are in now and conditions are much better, but there is no head yet and robbing and burning continues though in a smalled degree.

"What next? The people are simply panic stricken. There are rumors that the worst is yet to come. I can't see that it is possible to be any worse.

"When the army came in and got the better of the communities they found that they were being led by Russians. They executed Russians right and left. I saw four myself. The streets are full of dead bodies. They are removing them as fast as they can. It is the most gruesome sight to see the wagons stacked full of dead bodies and being pulled by the coolies."

Wherever in the world there are people who can do such things, do they not need the Gospel of Christ? The work of the missionaries has been seriously hindered but they have kept on with it, and the Lord is leading in it. There is much to be thankful for, and to encourage us in the work in China.

J. T. WILLIAMS.

CLANTON GETS NEW FIRE FIGHTING EQUIPMENT

New American La-France Fire Truck Arrived Last Week

CITY OFFICIALS MAKE WISE INVESTMENT

Will Probably Be Instrumental In Reducing Insurance Rating

Clanton can now boast of fire fighting equipment seldom found in a town his size, for the city officials have purchased a late model American LaFrance Fire engine, which is equipped with a 500 gallon per minute pump and also a chemical tank and equipment.

This new equipment arrived in Clanton last week, and was given an official test by R. G. Peebles, engineer for the Southeastern Underwriters Association, Tuesday of this week. Mr. Peebles stated that the test was highly successful, and while he did not state just what classifications would be given Clanton in the future, he inferred that we would probably be granted much lower insurance rating owing to the added protection we now have.

This new fire engine and hose truck will be stationed in a building that is to be erected on the lot adjoining the Methodist parsonage on Eighth Street, and there will be someone stationed in the building both day and night regularly.

This new fire truck is so built that it can secure water from the water mains, or from any other source that might be more handy and furnish sufficient pressure to throw water much farther than the height of any building in this section.

Included with the truck was an order for several hundred feet of new standard fire hose, giving the city something like 2,000 feet of hose to use in case of fire and also giving added protection to buildings located that distance beyond a fire plug.

The city officials are to be congratulated on this wise move, and we believe that it will prove very profitable to, from the Underwriters Association Clanton will probably be given a reduction on fire insurance, which in the run of a few years will amount to the price of the equipment.

MORBUS SABBATICUS" A GROWING DISEASE

Mr. Green read the following clipping at the Methodist Church Sunday, February 19, There may be others that need warning against the ravages of the prevalent disease—Morbus Sabbaticus:

"MORBUS SABBATICUS, attacks the patient suddenly every Sunday; no symptons are felt on Saturday night; the patient sleeps well, wakes feeling well; eats a hearty breakfast; but about Church time, the attack comes on and continues until services are over for the morning. Then the patient feels easy and eats a hearty dinner. In the afternoon he feels much better and is able to take a walk, talk about politics, and read the Sunday papers; he eats a hearty supper but about Church time he has another attack and stays at home. He retires early, sleeps well, and wakes up Monday morning refreshed and able to go to work and does not have any symptoms of the disease until the following Sunday. The peculiar features are as follows:

1. It always attacks members of the Church.
2. It never makes its appearance except on Sunday and prayer meeting night.
3. The symptoms vary, but it never interferes with the sleep or appetite.
4. It never lasts more than twenty-four hours.
5. It generally attacks the head of the family.
6. It is contagious.
7. No physician is ever called.
8. It always proves fatal in the end to the soul.
9. No remedy is known for it except prayer.
10. Christ is the only antidote.
11. It is becoming fearfully prevalent and is sweeping thousands every year prematurely to destruction.

"Be not deceived; God is not mocked, for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." (Gal. 6:7.)—Rev. George E. Muran in Schuyler Co. Herald, Iowa.

George Washington's Farewell Address

Extracts From His Address Counselling The Maintenance of the General Government to its Constitutional Limitations and Avoidance of Relations With Foreign Political Affairs

Interwoven as is the love of liberty with every ligament of your hearts, no recommendation of mine is necessary to fortify or confirm the attachment.

The unity of government which constitutes you one people, is also now dear to you. It is justly so; for it is a main pillar in the edifice of your real independence—the support of your tranquility at home, your peace abroad, of your safety, of your prosperity, of that very liberty which you so highly prize. But as it is easy to forsee that, from different causes and from different quarters, much pains will be taken, many artifices employed, to weaken in your minds the conviction of this truth; as this is the point in your political fortress against which the batteries of internal and external enemies will be most constantly and actively (though often covertly and insidiously) directed—it is of infinite moment that you should properly estimate the immense value of your national union to your collective and individual happiness; that you should cherish a cordial, habitual and immovable attachment to it; accustoming yourselves to think and speak of it as of the palladium of your political safety and prosperity; watching for its preservation with jealous anxiety; discountenancing whatever may suggest even a suspicion that it can in any event be abandoned; and indignantly frowning upon the first dawning of every attempt to alienate any portion of our country from the rest, or to enfeeble the sacred ties which now link together the various parts.

For this you have every inducement of sympathy and interest. Citizens by birth or choice of a common country, that country has a right to concentrate your affections. The name of American, which belongs to you, in your national capacity, must always exalt the just pride of patriotism, more than any appellation derived from local discriminations. With slight shades of difference, you have the same religion, manners, habits, and political principles. You have, in a common cause, fought and triumphed together; the independence and liberty you possess are the work of joint counsels and joint efforts—of common dangers, sufferings, and successes.

It is important, likewise, that the habits of thinking in a free country should inspire caution in those intrusted with its administration to confine themselves within their respective constitutional spheres, avoiding, in the exercise of the powers of one department, to encroach upon another. The spirit of encroachment tends to consolidate the powers of all the departments in one, and thus to create, whatever the form of gov-

JUDGE GEO. F. SMOOT ANNOUNCES FOR RE-ELECTION

Past Record Shows Proof Of Many Excellent Qualifications

THREE COUNTIES INCLUDED IN CIRCUIT

Praised For Just And Impartial Enforcement Of Laws

Judge George F. Smoot, of Wetumpka, Ala., was in Clanton last Monday holding a non-jury term of the Circuit Court. Several criminal cases were disposed of and the equity docket called and several cases submitted for decrees.

While here Judge Smoot announced his candidacy for re-election as Judge of the Nineteenth Judicial Circuit, composed of Elmore, Chilton and Autauga counties.

Judge Smoot was elected Judge of this Circuit in 1922, for a six-year term and very soon after going on the bench was recognized by the Bar in Alabama, as one of the best—if not the best—trial judges in the state. He has dispatched the business of the courts in his circuit, in a satisfactory manner and besides doing this, he has held a number of terms of Court in Jefferson and other counties of Alabama, and received high praise from the bar of th counties where he has presided. Judge Smoot's judicial temperment, poise, sense of justice and desire to deal impartially and fair with all parties has made for him a state-wide reputation and a record that will advance him to a higher place of trust on the bench of Alabama, should he in the future aspire to such a place. The people of the Nineteenth Judicial Circuit have just cause to be proud of Judge Smoot, for having enforced the law and upheld the peace and dignity of the State of Alabama in his jurisdiction and he should be re-elected without opposition, which fact we feel will be done.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 21.—Of unusual interest to the millions of Chevrolet owners in the United States was the announcement made here today by the Chevrolet Motor Company that nearly 4,000 men—heads of dealers' service departments—are being called in to attend specially conducted service schools.

These schools, designed to place the service facilities of the company on a higher plane than ever before, are being held during February and March for the service personnel of the Chevrolet dealer establishments throughout the country.

The Service managers are being summoned to the 45 zone headquarters, located at key centers, where the schools are being conducted. Here, under resident instructors, they are given a course in every phase of shop management.

Among the principal subjects covered are shop arrangement; equipment and special tools; appearance and maintenance; shop personnel; training of service personnel; operating costs; specializing the work of mechanics; compensation of mechanics, and the keeping of detailed and exact shop records.

Upon completion of the course, the service managers are competent to go back to their own establishments prepared to conduct their end of the dealer's business upon the high standards evolved by factory officials from the most approved methods known.

This means that Chevrolet owners everywhere may expect uniformly efficient service and courteous attention from the service departments of the wide-spread Chevrolet dealer organization.

JEMISON VICTORIOUS OVER CLANTON IN DOUBLE-HEADER

The Jemison High School Wildcats handed the Chilton County High School two defeats Tuesday afternoon, the girls coping the first game by a score of 15 to 4, and the boys winning the second by a score of 30 to 5.

Both games were rather one-sided but due to the keen rivalry between the two schools, the spectators watched with unusual interest until the final whistle.

The Clanton girls fought hard and were game until the end, but the well-balanced team of Jemison held them to one field goal, while Jemison was successful in scoring six goals.

The Jemison boys' team, although crippled by the loss of one of their star players, seemed to have little trouble in defeating the Chilton High team. The varsity team of the visitors failing to check the Jemison attack, resorted to the use of many substitutes but with no avail.

The score does not show any outstanding star for the visitors, but from the spectator's point of view, Johnson and Sanford starred for Chilton. The fighting spirit of the Chilton team never ceased but the coordination and the skill of Jemison could not be surpassed. They shot goals from every angle of the field, the final score being 30 to 5.

AUBURN'S SIXTEENTH SUMMER SESSION BEGINS JUNE 4

Auburn, Ala., February 20.—Auburn's sixteenth summer session will include a more extensive program than ever before, it was announced this week by Dean Zebulon Judd, director of the summer quarter. Special emphasis will be given graduate work for experienced teachers, principals and superintendents leading toward higher degrees and to the extension of all types of teacher's certificates.

Beginning June 4 and continuing until August 13, the instruction will meet the needs of the students taking any college course both graduate and undergraduate. The summer's work will be divided into two terms, the first ending July 13 and the last beginning July 16.

Dean Judd will again bring to the Auburn campus a number of distinguished teachers and educators from other states to be included in the summer faculty.

The courses offered will meet the extension requirements of pre-normal certificates, class A. elemetary certificates, the A. and B. secondary professional certificates including special certificates in home economics, agriculture and manual training and the class A. and B. certificates in administration and supervison.

A model high school will be conducted to provide instruction for secondary school students who are irregular in their courses, and wish to make up deficiencies or to complete the college entrance requirements. The model school will also serve as a demonstration school for those who are preparing to teach.

In 1927 the Auburn summer session enrolled more than 1000 students and the last several years the attendance has been steadily gaining. Indications predict that the enrollment will show a marked increase this year.

Anyone desiring information about the summer school is asked to correspond directly with Dean Judd.

A. L. FORD OF HIGHTOWER, ALA., WINS TRIP TO CUBA

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 16.—A. L. Ford of Hightower, Ala., winner of the State-Wide Cotton Contest will be a member of the party of crop champions which the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau is taking to Florida and Cuba this year. He will be accompanied on the trip by County Agent S. M. Day who was awarded the trip because of his outstanding work in Coosa and Tallapoosa Counties. Mr. Ford produced 3,044 pounds of lint cotton on 5 acres fertilized with 120 pounds of nitrate of soda, 240 pounds of acid phosphate and 40 pounds of muriate of potash per acre. The cost of producing the cotton after allowing all charges was 6.72 cents per pound of lint.

There will be four Alabama representatives in the Chilean Nitrate of Soda party. John Givhan, Dallas County, 4-H club boy who produced 983 pounds of lint cotton per acre, the highest yield of any boy reporting 4-H Club wokr in Alabama will make the trip, as will Clitus Brown of Cherokee County, Winner of the State-Wide Vocational Corn Contest. Young Brown produced 80 bushels of corn per acre at a cost of 40 cents per bushel.

All of the above crop champions used nitrate of soda in fertilizing their crops. The Alabama results are in accord with those of other Southern state where state-wide crop-growing contests were held during the past year. In every one of these states the winner of first place used Chilean nitrate of soda in fertilizing his prize-winning crop.

Elaborate preparations are being made for entertainment of the champions on their visit to Florida and Cuba. The Alabama delegation will meet other members of the party at Jacksonville, Fla., and from there travel in special cars to Key West where they will take a boat for Havana. In Cuba they will be received by high Government and agricultural officials. They will also be entertained at a large sugar plantation.

There will be about 40 of the South's representative farmers on the tour. Returning to the States from Cuba, they will stop at Miami and Palm Beach, take a motor trip through the Everglades and after that visit Tampa, Orlando and other points of interest. Citrus groves and commercial truck gardens will be inspected during the tour.

FARM ROBBERS DECREASE IN NUMBERS, SAYS F. W. GIST

Montgomery, Ala., Feb.18.—"Robber and boarder cows, which steal the farmers' hard earned feed and give no profit, have gone to the butcher by gratifying numbers during 1927," according to F. W. Gist, agricultural statistican for the National and State Department of Agriculture, who issued the 1928 estimate of livestock in Alabama according to conditions of Jan. 1.

The number of milk cows has remained stationary but has made a handsome increase in value from $32.00 per head in 1926, to $42.00 in 1928, from which fact Mr. Gist concludes that better cows are the growing order of the day. Sheep have increased from 53,000 to 66,000 in numbers, and from $3.73 per head to $4.39 each: a highly satisfactory condition, but limited to the 11 black belt counties.

Hogs have made the greatest increase in numbers, from 854,000 to 982,000, with southeast Alabama showing the greatest production. The price of hogs is slightly lower than last year, but still tempting to producers. Horses are being gradually displaced by mules.

Cattle, other than dairy cows, have decreased in numbers, but have increased in value—the average value being about $2.00 more per head.

On the whole, the 67 counties in Alabama have increased in value of livestock, excluding poultry, $124,000 per county, which adds a total of eight and one-third millions wealth to Alabama farms for 1928.

Mr. Gist concludes that the situation with regard to livestock is highly satisfactory, especially with regard to sheep and dairy cows. The increase in dairy cows in value has been 31 per cent; in other words, each milk producing cow has gained almost one-third in value in one year.

GEORGE WASHINGTON, A TOWERING PERSONALITY

The fame of George Washington will live as long as the memory of man endures. He is one of the towering personalities of human history. No man had a more kingly presence than he yet, "in the course of human events", he was destined to become the first president of the world's greatest republic. He had everything that a great king should have—a magnificent presence, matchless dignity, and a sort of majestic aloofness and reserve—but no king seems to have combined these qualities so idealy.

We cannot conceive of the Revolutionary War ever having been brought to a successful conclusion by the American colonies without George Washington. His figure moves through the stirring drama with stately dignity, and despite the most heart-breaking difficulties, he apparently was always calm and self-contained.

Washington was a splendid example of the solid, conservative type of citizen, yet he was the leader of a revolution. Most of the conspicious figures on the American side during the Revolution were inherently conservative men, and this fact gives emphasis to the justice of the cause they championed. Conservative men do not shoulder guns and change governments without provocation.

As military leader of the American forces, Washington's burden must have been tremendous. He was leading an untrained rebel army against the famed soldiers of England, whose might he and his men had been taught to respect.

While Washington was in the field, the Continental Congress, a temporary makeshift, was scrambling to provide ways and means of holding the colonies together for war purposes and making a desperate effort to provide the sinews of war, not always with conspicious success.

For a large part of the war Washington necessarily was on the defensive, running away or parrying and avoiding a more powerful foe, and occasionally taking almost a gamblers chance to strike a telling blow. He did this, too, with ill-trained, ill-fed ill-clothed and often disgruntled men. Washington was, in fact, playing a game of hide and seek with the British, in which a serious mistake on his part probably would have meant disaster to the American cause. The Father of his Country also had his full share of scheming enemies within the American ranks, and some in whom he placed great trust failed him in the hour of need.

Being human, he occasionally must have thought of himself and what would become of him if the war went against him. His life probably would have been forfeited, or at least he would have been exiled and all his property confiscated. Nor must it be forgotten that Washington had no guarantee that if the war was successful, the great experiment of self-government would succeed. He was toking a chance on that, and he ahd as much at stake as anoyne in the country.

The actual service of Washington to his country as general and a statesman was of incalcuable value, but perhaps even this was surpassed by the value of his tremendous personality to the American cause. He enjoyed the deepest respect of the great men who were his associates, and his mere presence seemed to stiffen the backbones of ordinary men, even when the posture of affairs seemed almost hopeless. Washington was an anchor for the cause of liberty when the storms were fiercest. Those calm, knowing eyes that peer at us from his best portraits, seemed to inspire men with courage and determination when there was hardly an excuse for hope.

Sued for debt Charles Yorke of Chicago testified that his wife had an income of $2,500 a year gao, but he "never saw any of it."

"I'm a good husband," pleaded James Murphy of Chicago, arrested for cruelty to his wife. "I scrub the floor, wash dishes, make the beds and mind the children."

ernment, a real despotism. A just estimate of that love of power, and proneness to abuse it which predominates in the human heart, is sufficient to satisfy us of the truth of this position. The necessity of reciporal checks in the exercise of political power, by dividing and distributing it into different depositories, and constituting each the guardian of the public weal, against invasions by the others, has been evinced by experiments, ancient and modern; some of them in our country and under our own eyes. To preserve them must be as necessary as to institute them. If, in the opinion of the people, the distribution or modification of the constitutional powers be, in any particular, wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the Constitution designates. But let there be no change by usurpation; for though this, in one instance, may be the instrument of good, it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed. The precedent must always greatly overbalance, in permanent evil, any partial or transient benefit which the use can, at any time, yield.

Observe good faith and justice towards all nations; cultivate peace and harmony with all. Religion and morality enjoin this conduct; and can it be that good policy does not equally enjoin it? It will be worthy of a free, enlightened, and, at no distant period, a great nation, to give to mankind the magnanimous and too novel example of a people always guided by an exalted justice and benevolence. Who can doubt that, in the course of time and things, the fruits of such a plan would richly repay any temporary advantages which might be lost by a steady adherence to it? The experiment, at least, is recommended by every sentiment which ennobles human nature. Alas, is it rendered impossible by its vices?

Entanglements With Foreign Powers

Against the insidious wiles of foreign influence, I conjure you to believe me, fellow-citizens, the jealousy of a free people ought to constantly awake; since history and experience prove that foreign influence is one of the most baneful foes of republican government. But that jealousy to be useful, must be impartial; else it becomes the instrument of the very influence to be avoided, instead of a defence against it. Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another, cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots, who may resist the intrigues of the favorite, are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people, to surrender their interests.

The great rule of conduct for us, in regard to foreign nations, is, in extending our commercial relations, to have with them as little political connection as possible. So far as we have already formed engagements, let them be fulfilled with perfect good faith. Here let us stop.

Europe has a set of primary interests, which to us have none, or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves, by artificial ties, in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics, or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendship or enmities.

Our detached and distant situation invites and enables us to pursue a different course. If we remain one people under an efficient government, the period is not far off when we may defy material injury from external annoyance; when we may take such an attitude as will cause the neutrality we may at any time resolve upon, to be scrupuiously respected; when belligerent nations, under the impossibility of making acquisitions upon us, will not lightly hazard the giving us provacation; when we may choose peace or war, as our interest, guided by justice shall counsel.

Why forego the advantages of so peculiar a situation? Why quit our own to stand upon foreign ground? Why, by interweaving our destiny with that of any part of Europe, entangle our peace and prosperity in the toils of European ambition, rivalship, interest, humor or caprice?

'Tis our true policy to steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world; so far, I mean, as we are now at liberty to do it; for let me not be understood as capable of patronizing infidelity to existing engagements. I hold the maxim no less applicable to public than to private affairs, that honesty is always the best policy. I repeat it, let those engagements be observed in their genuine sense. But, in my opinion, it is unnecessary and would be unwise to extend them.

Taking care always to keep ourselves, by suitable establishments, on a respectably defensive posture, we may safely trust to temporary alliances for extraordinary emergencies.

In offering to you, my countrymen, these counsels of an old and affectionate friend, I dare not hope that they will make the strong and lasting impression I could wish; that they will control the usual current of the passions, or prevent our nation from running the course which hereto has marked the destiny of nations that they may now and then recur to moderate the fury of party spirit, to warn against the impostures of pretended patriotism, this hope will be full recompense for the solicitude for your welfare by which they have been dictated.

United States, September 17, 1796.

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

WHAT JNO. WANAMAKER SAID OF GOSSIPS

In addition to being one of the most successful merchants this country ever produced, John Wanamaker was a shrewd student of human nature. He left behind him not only three large department stores, but also some very wise sayings, of which the following regarding gossips is one:

"You will find it a good rule not to listen to anything a tattler brings you against your neighbors. Talebearers have no rights and should have no standing. Some wise persons say, 'We never repeat what we hear.' But why listen to it? If scandals or jealousies nad no ears to hear them, there would be fewer tongues doing the scandalizing, wasting their own time and yours and mine, also."

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Listen to any old-timer hold forth and almost invariably he will allude to "the good old days." The youngsters who hear him with skeptical smiles will do the same when they grow old. It's human nature, that's all. It is the man in the twilight of life looking back at the bright noonday. The soft shadows of the twilight obscure all the rough spots and unpleasant memories and there remains only the thought of the tingle and tang of life 'when we were 21.' Perhaps also as we inevitably approach nearer the journey's end, we do not like to look ahead, but find a measure of solace by looking backward and living over again the days that are gone.

ADVERTISING EQUALIZES INCREASED FOOD PRICES

National advertising of food products has equalized the prices of food twenty years ago and today, according to the Womans' Home Companion, which is conducting a series of food experiments under the direction of its experts.

In proof of this statement, a series of recipes are being published every month showing that an excellent dinner for four persons can be prepared for one dollar.

"The answer," says the magazine, "is in the products and ingredients used in modern cooking compared with those used years ago when there was no standard for food materials. In the recipes prepared by our experts, no less than ten nationally advertised products are used. These constitute ten safeguards for the success of the meal. Experimentation is no more. National advertising makes possible such ideas as this dollar dinner because it gives a specific guarantee of quality and eliminates waste. National advertising has more than made up for the difference in prices twenty years ago and now."

For te third successive year a cow owned by Hugo Andrew of Haddington, Eng., has vgien 2,000 gallons of milk.

Arthhur Colvin, of Birmingham, Eng., jilted Mrs. Ruth Pearson, a widow, because she belonged to a different religious faith, and she collected $5,000 in damaages.

When James Martin of St. Louis was arranged for theft his wife appeared and declared he had dodged all work for 20 years.

More than $400,000 has been raised to build 25 new churches to "chase the devil out of the diocese of Southwark."

Lady Carey Evans of London, has launched a campaign to raise the minimum marriage age, now 13 years for girls, and 14 for boys.

Mrs. J. C. Laws of Chicago, testified in her divorce suit that her husband had fallen in love with her niece.

It's hard to keep local color out of the news. Recently a leading Italian newspaper referred to the American Farm Bureau Federation as the "American Peasants' Union."

A taxicab taking Mrs. Janet Byrnes, of Manchester, Eng., to the hospital got lost in the fog and her baby was born in the car.

Released from prison after serving six months, Sir Gerard Maxwell of London said he had enjoyed his experience.

Pierre Galdrot aged 86, of Toul, France, who married his fourth wife a year ago is the happy father of a new son.

COUNTY AGENT STAPP ANNOUNCES MEETINGS FOR DISCUSSING FERTILIZERS

The farmers of Chilton County seem to be buying every grade of fertilizer and many of them depending upon brands instead of plant food.

The Alabama Experiment Station has been running some valuable fertilizer tests with some of the best farmers in 43 of the 67 counties in Alabama for the past sixteen years. The average results for the past sixteen years make it possible for the county agent to make definite recommendations relative to ferilizers for different crops.

Mr. Stapp has held a large number of meetings in the county for the purpose of giving the recommendations of the Experiment to Chilton County farmers, but he feels that there are still many farmers in the county who are in need of this information before buying their fertilizer this spring.

Mr. Stapp is announcing meetings as follows:

Thomas Jr. High. Thursday, February 23, 7 P. M.

Verbena Public School, Friday, February 24, 7 P. M.

Clanton Court House, Saturday, February 25, 10 A. M.

Stanton School, Monday, February 27, 7 P. M.

Maplesville, School, Tuesday, February 28, 7 P. M.

Vermont School, Wednesday, February 29, 7 P. M.

Adams School, Thursday, March 1, 7 P. M.

New Cedron, Friday, March 2, 7 P. M.

Union Grove School, Tuesday the 6th of March, 7 P. M.

Concord School, Wednesday the 7th of March, 7 P. M.

Mt. Pleasant School, Thursday, March 8, 7 P. M.

Mr. Stapp urges the farmers who are interested in getting largest returns for money spent for fertilizers, seed, etc., to attend one of the above meetings. He also requests that some one in the various communities provide lights for the meeting.

The officers and Directors of the Chilton County Farm Bureau will meet at Mr. Stapp's office Saturday, February 25th at 1:30 P. M.

LEADING FARMERS SAY GOOD SEED MAKE BIGGER YIELDS

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 22.—With a view to increasing yields per acre and reducing the cost of production per pound or per bushel, leading farmers in Alabama are insisting on good seed of the best varieties of crops this spring. Variety tests conducted in the past under the direction of the county agents and experiments conducted by the experiment station at Auburn have revealed a big difference in varieties of cotton, corn and other crops, and the leading varieties are being sought this year.

An outstanding example of this is the work being done in Covington County A report from County Agent W. T. Cheney is that farmers of that county have bought a carload of select Cook wilt-resistant cotton seed produced by a leadiing seed farm of the state.

In south Alabama where soil is infected with wilt a variety that is resistant to this disease produces the largest yields. Annually for several years Covington County farmers have bought 200 to 300 pounds of Cook wilt-resistant cotton seed. The movement this year is planned to put this variety on most of the farms of the county within a few years. The seed already in the county plus those bought this year are calculated to produce enough seed in 1928 for 20,000 acres of cotton in 1929.

Tests and experiments throughout Alabama have revealed the best varieties of cotton and corn and to some extent other crops. No one variety is the leader throughout the state but county agents are informed as to the leaders for their respective counties. Seed supplies have been located and farmers advised to buy good seed of these varieties.

FARM OUTLOOK FACTS

(By J. D. Pope, Auburn, Ala.)

Prospects for dairying in Alabama in 1928 are good.

The outlook for Alabama strawberries this year is favorable.

The outlook for early Irish potatoes is slightly less favorable than a year ago.

If, as is expected, the sweet potato acreage is reduced in 1928 the outlook may be considered favorable.

The general outlook is for cotton prices to be lower for the 1928 crop than was paid for the 1927 crop.

A large hay crop in 1927 has resulted in a large carryover, causing an unfavorable outlook for commercial hay in 1928.

If the peanut acreage is not increased, over 1927 a favorable outlook for the peanut crop is foreseen.

All factors considered, indications are that egg prices will be higher this year than last. The outlook is favorable also for live and dressed poultry.

TON-LITTER WORK PLANNED FOR 1928

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 22.—The ton-litter method of pork production will be continued in Alabama during 1928. Announcement of a ton-litter contest for the year has been made by W. F. Burns, extension livestock specialist, Auburn, working in cooperation with the county demonstration agents.

The contest will begin in the spring and continue for six months, or until the show and fair season next fall. The goal of each farmer entering the contest will be to make one litter of pigs weigh one ton or more by the time they are six months old. Last year several exceeded this goal, and their cost was very low.

The regulations permit any farmer or hog owner in Alabama to join the contest without cost. A litter of pigs farrowed between March 1 and May 15 is required. Written applications are necessary; and they may be made to the county agent or to Mr. Burns.

If a litter is not 180 days old but is over 150 days it will be eligible to compete for prizes next fall. A basis of credit has been provided for the younger litters in order to give them an even chance for prizes. Adjustments will be made also for pigs over 180 days old.

As a climax to this work a ton-litter show will be staged at the Stock Yards, Montgomery, next October. Ten cash prizes will be awarded, the largest being $75 and the smallest $20. A free trip to the International Livestock Show, Chicago, will be awarded to the county agent in the county making the best showing.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Two or three carloads of Alabama chickens are now being sold cooperatively each week by the county agents.

Exports of automobiles from the United States in 1927 amounted to $406,007,984. The 1926 value was $337,458,157, it being more than any former year.

Onion growers from different sections of the country testified recently before the Federal Tariff Commission in favor of increasing by 50 per cent the present import duty on onions. This can be done under the flexible provisions of the tariff act.

A recent editorial in the Progressive Farmer, published in Birmingham, pointed out that whereas the states of Minnesota, Iowa, and Wisconsin have largely taken the dairy industry from the East, the southern states are now a big factor in dairying which continues to grow.

A dozen years ago A. J. West of Portland Oregon, made cottage cheese and delivered in ordinary tin buckets. His work was the beginning of the Red Rock Company, which now has six plants and uses annually a total of 45,000,000 pounds of milk, equivalent to 2,200 carloads or 50 trainloads of 44 cars each. Cottage cheese is becoming rapidly a food of primary importance on the Pacific Coast.

A farmer who is not sure about his seed is careless.

TIMELY FARM FACTS

Economical production of crops is the farmer's financial salvation.

Too much heat as well as too much cold is bad for baby chicks.

Potatoes that are stored in bins should be watched for rot. Remove any infested ones.

The way for a farmer to have a big increase is to produce at a low cost a large amount for sale.

"Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap" is applicable to the kind of seed he plants.

During the last five years there has been a marked increase in imports of mahogany. The total for 1922 was 50,900,000 board feet, while the annual average for the 3-year period 1925-27 was 70,000,000 board feet. This is 35 per cent greater than the general pre-war average.

Although the commercial hay crop is not promising production of a home supply by Alabama farmers is in order.

The farmer who wishes to do so can estimate his cash income next fall. Your county agent will be glad to help you.

Farmers who have tried it have found that a good plan is to increase production when prices are low and decreases when prices are high, thereby doing the reverse of what the majority do.

After experiments have shown that a dollar wisely spent for commercial fertilizer will produce several dollars in return, it would seem that farmers would not be reluctant about using more fertilizer.

Prices of hogs during 1928 are expected to be equal to or slightly better than prices prevailing during the past twelve months. Higher prices are expected by the time pigs farrowed in the fall of 1928 get to market.

MRS. JACK HARRIS

Miss Sarah M. Williams was born June 12th, 1850 and died Februray 12th, 1928. Miss Williams married Mr. Jack Chandler and to this union was born two sons, M. D. and Willie. Mr. Chandler died leaving her a widow with these two children to care for. Later she wed Jack Harris and to this union was born three children, Mrs. Matilda Chapman, Mrs. Mary Teal of Birmingham and Mr. Armster Harris of Plantersville.

Mrs. Harris' eldest son, M. D., had preceeded her to the grave many years ago and her husband died on December 18th, 1924. Mrs. Harris was a cripple for many years but she never complained, was always bright and cheerful. The writer was her neighbor and visited her quite often. She always greeted you with a smile and seemed to be so happy. May I say this is the secret; if she was not reading her Bible you would see it nearby where she had been reading it. Mrs. Harris was never idle when she was able to work. Being cripple she was only able to do hand work. She made tattin and did some beautiful embroidering for a person of her age during her last years.

Mrs. Harris always lived at home and her son and wife lived with her. Mrs. Harris had the best of treatment. Her son and his wife cared for her just as they would a little baby. They never left undone anything that willing hands could do.

The past two winters she spent with her daughter in Birmingham helped to improve her very much. Mrs. Harris suffered many years with severe pains in her face which doctors did not seem to understand. These pains grew worse until they were continuous. Doctors gave her shots for these pains but they got to where they did not relieve her. Friday Februray 3, she was carried from her daughter's to South Highland Hospital where she was operated on for these pains but this operation did not prove a success and Sunday night, February 12, at eleven-thirty a gentle voice whispered "come" and the spirit of Mrs. Sarah M. Harris took its flight to be with God, who gave it.

She was a loyal member of the Plantersville Baptist church. With willing hands and a smile, she was always ready to help those who needed her. Her gentle character was never more manifest than during her last illness. Each day was filled with loving devotion, cheerfulness and calm content that comes only to God's children. She leaves two sons and two daughters, their wives and their husbands and ten grandchildren. All were present at the funeral except Dr. Willie Chandler and wife of Texas.

The body was sent to Plantersville and funeral services were conducted in her home by Bro. Lee. The floral offerings were beautiful, and may I say here that the wreath given her by her children, her church and her family physicans showed the love special songs were sung, Nearer my God to Thee, Safe in the Arms of Jesus, and Abide with Me. The body was laid to rest in the family cemetery beside her husband, near the home.

Not, now, but in the coming years,
It may be in the better land,
We'll read the meaning of our tears,
And there, sometime we'll understand.

God knows the way, He holds the key,
He guides us with unerring hand;
Sometime with tearless eyes we'll see,
Yes, up there, we'll understand.

—A friend, Mrs. C. C Gay.

COTTON AND CORN CHAMPIONS USED NITRATE OF SODA

At the date of this writing, 19 of the first-prize Southern cotton and corn growers for 1927 have been officially announced. Every one of these champions used Chilean Nitrate of Soda. If only a small percentage of these winners used Soda and if this were the only year it had happened, the fact perhaps would not deserve more than passing notice; but since all of them used Nitrate of Soda, not just this year but every year since State-wide contests began, one is compelled to acknowledge the vital significance of this series of achievements that has endured unbroken over a period of four years. These official results direct attention to two outstanding things: (1) the ability of Nitrate of Soda consistently to produce big and profitable yields, and (2) the important relation that Chilean Nitrate of Soda bears to successful farming.

Certainly the slogan "It's Soda, Not Luck", that is beginning to be heard everywhere in the Southern States, was never better substantiated than by the results of the crop contests of 1925, 1926 and 1927.

THE OUTLOOK FOR COTTON PRODUCTION IN 1928

To the Farmers of Alabama:

At this time we feel that it will be of interest and value to call attention to certain facts which are pertinent and important to the cotton grower. There is no disposition on the part of official agricultural workers to dictate the polices of farmers, espceially those to be followed regarding the distribution of crop acreage; but it is our luty to point out the existence of certain conditions which bear directly on this subject. Since cotton is our chief farm commodity and furnishes our main volume of income, all other activity of southern farmers must be largely dependent upon the outlook for its production and consumption and upon the value thereof.

We can advise you no better than to quote some of the statements recently issued by the United States Department of Agriculture in its annual discussion of the agricultural situation:

"Agricultural income in 1928 for the country as a whole is likely to show some improvement over that of 1927, provided total farm production is maintained at its present volume and farmers continue to make further adjustments toward a more balanced production. Expansion, especially in cash crops, is to be guarded against.

"When American cotton growers begin to market the 1928 crop, it is probable that they will meet the relatively favorable condition of a smaller carryover than last year and a demand situation about the same as for the 1927 crop.

"In planning production cotton growers should remember the very low prices resulting from over-planting in 1926.

"Weevils undoubtedly entered hibernation last fall in larger numbers and with greater vitality than for several years. A large percentage still survive.

"Any increase in the use of fertilizers should be by application of more pounds per acre rather than upon more acres.

"If the yield per acre in 1928 should equal the average for the past four years the crop would be considerably larger than last year.

"To the extent which cotton growers increase their acreage over that planted in 1927 they will tend to reduce the total return from the 1928 crop."

These excerpts refer, of course, to the cotton belt as a whole. The Alabama farmer last year enjoyed an average acre-yield somewhat in excess of the average for the belt, and consequently enjoyed a lower cost of production and received better than the average net returns. We have had in this state four years of good yields, due to intelligent fertilizing, favorable seasons, and comparatively low insect damage. It may well happen that conditions will reverse themselves and our farmers in 1928 find themselves with unfavorable weather, heavy weevil infestation, and consequent low yields on a large acreage in the belt with low prices. This would be disastrous. From all the facts at hand we must guard the Alabama farmer against any expansion of cotton acreage.

Alabama farmers are still very short of producing the amount of hay needed on their own farms. If hog production is to continue, and it bids fair to remain profitable, feed must be produced. Poultry still promises net profit. Home supplies demand the farmers' first attention.

After provision for these essentials we advise no expansion of cotton acreage, continuation of intelligent fertilization and cultural methods, watchful care against weevil damage, attention to production cost, improvement in quality of production, and intelligent marketing as the attitude of the Alabama farmer toward cotton for the current year.

Long Troubled by Constipation

"Black-Draught has been a family medicine with us for fifteen years," says Mr. F. M. Huntley, of Neosho, Mo. "I read about it first in the Ladies Birthday Almanac and what I read there sounded so convincing I made up my mind to try Black-Draught, as I had been troubled with constipation for a long time.

"I found Black-Draught to be the ideal medicine for this trouble. It gave me quick relief. Frequently I had bad headaches and pains, due to toxic poison. By taking a course of Black-Draught I gave my system a thorough cleansing, and I have had little or no trouble since then.

"Now, if I am becoming constipated, I take several small doses of Black-Draught, and am very soon feeling fine."

Costs only 1 cent a dose. E-188

REED HINGES HOT FIGHT ON ISSUE, NOT CANDIDATE

Missourian Attacks G. O. P. Corruption; Riddles Administration In Speech

PLEADS FOR RIGHTS OF THE STATES

Declares That United, Militant Democracy Is Necessary for 1928 Success

Dallas, Texas, Feb. 21.—In the fight for "united and militant Democracy" which he demanded here last night to bring about "the return of hoensty in government," Senator James A. Reed, of Missouria, set out Tuesday for Tulsa, Okla., and the Far West to spread his doctrine of harmony.

Opening his Western campaign the Misouri Democratic presidential candidate told his party first of all it must be united. He set out the platform on which he believed the Democratic party can unite and win.

The veteran silver-haired campaigner who is making his first bid for the presidency, centered his opening attack on what he described as the "public plunderers" and corruptionists," of the Harding and Cooledge administrations. He called for the "swift and sure punishment of all public plunderers, bribe givers, election corruptionists, and other malefactors." He departed from his prepared address to declare for law observance and to denounce racial and religious prejudices,

"I shall take the liberty of expressing my own views frankly, fully aware of the fact that the great council of the party which next June will assemble at Houston, will write its own platform and conduct its own business.

"The impending campaign will determine governmental polices which are of vital concern to the republic.

"I shall venture to outline what I conceive to be some of the controlling issues. If in your opinion these issues are of vital importance, then they should not be obscured or the battle lost by division over minor questions.

"If the policies of the Republican party are injurious and dangerous, if the great fundamentals of government are being undemined, then, all patriots ought to unite in resistance.

"Certain it is, Democratic division means Republican success. And Republican success means that we shall not only lose the great issues, but will also lose the lesser.

Defeat Boodlers

"The chief doctrine of military and political stragetists is 'divide' and destroy.' If we engage in internecine controversies over questions upon which there is grave division within the party, then we play directly into the hands of the enemy.

"I submit that the most important question before the American people is to drive the Republican party from power; to take this government out of the hands of boodlers, grafters and lobbyists and to place its control once more in the hands of the American people.

"That great preliminary work can only be accomplished by a united and militant democracy.

"Once the Democratic party is installed in power, I hope to see it reinaugurate in all their vigor the principles enunciated by Jefferson and enforced by Jackson.

"The departure from these ancient rules of government must be arrested, or we will soon cease to be a government of liberty, equality and justice.

"If I comprehend the spirit of our institutions, this government was established to protect the life, liberty and property of the individual. And this protection was to be exerted against the criminal elements of foreign powers, and against usurpations by of own governmental agencies.

"To this end he ordained the constitution and attached to it the immortal bill of rights. It was contemplated that there should be reserved to local communities the largest right of self-government. That the states should be in all respects sovereign, save as they had expressly granted limited powers to the federal government. And that all powers not expressly so granted should be

Geo. Guy Announces For Commissioner

Well and Favorably Known; Needs No Further Introduction

Mr. George T. Guy, of Mountain Creek, this week announced his candidacy for a member of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, from the Fourth District, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary to be held in May. Mr. Guy is one of Chilton's most progressive farmers and is well and favorably known over the county. He is a man of sterling character and worth, and is one of the highest type citizens of the county. He has a knowledge of the county affairs, which qualifies him for the position of commissioner. With Mr. Guy as a member of the commissioners court, the people would receive their just dues without distinction, and will find in him a man who would inaugurate a program for better schools, roads and progress of the county affairs in general and is a man who can be depended upon and trusted. We know that Mr. Guy will make a spendid race for the office to which he aspires.

Typographical Error in News Irritates Judge Reynolds

In the issue of the Chilton County News, of February 16th, 1928, there appeared the following editorial:

THE "IMPROVED" COUNTY ROADS

As stated in last week's issue of the News, we give below some items of expenditure of the county during the year of 1927. During the year it will be recalled that the county expended in all $160,542.30, which approximately represented the entire income of the county for that period.

Bearing in mind that in September 1926, Chilton County—according to the statement given out by our officials in the Birmingham News—had completed fourteen hundred miles of chert and gravel roads, and included in this was the installing of galvanized drain pipes, we thought it would be of interest to learn the cost of maintenance of our roads for one year.

During the period stated the county spent approximately the following:

For tractors, parts and graders $16,000.00
For culverts .....(Pipes) $15,000.00
For gasoline and oil $12,000.00

According to the Treasurer's report for this period there was expended out of the road funds and special gasoline tax the following: $102,493.25 and deducting from this the $43,000.00 for the above items it would appear that the county had expended for labor, lumber and road material for that period approximately $60,000.00 or over $420.00 per mile for maintenance.

Whether fourteen hundred miles will include all of our roads is not exactly cetain, however, from best information it would appear that this would cover the entire system, and it must be remembered that the above cost of maintenance does not include the upkeep of the paved highway running north and south through the county, and with only a small amount of work done on the Clanton-Maplesville road.

Now, as it is stated that all the roads of the county have been worked the question is: Has your road received during the last year $420.00 per mile?"

Through a typographical error we used the figures $420.00 instead of $42.00, however, a casual reading of the article will show that the result was self-evident, as the $60,000.00 was used or stated for the total to be divided by the 1400 miles of chert and gravel roads. The News regrets that the error crept into the article and is pleased to state that we have only heard of one exception being taken to the error—out of our some twenty-five hundred readers of our paper—and that exception eminates from Judge L. H. Reynolds, according to an article in the Union-Banner of February 23rd, 1928, and he has this to say:

"For several weeks Mr. Atkinson and his paper, The Chilton County News, have seen fit to make some statements in regard to the road business of Chilton County which are manifestly untrue, and which can have but one purpose, to try to defeat me in the Republican primary. This slanderous paper reached the climax last week with its double-barreled article on the front page headed "The Improved County Roads." For insidiousness, malice, untruth, and pure misrepresentation of the facts, this article of last week in the News outstretched anything that has ever before appeared in the political annals of Chilton County."

Wherein the News has been 'slanderous' is not pointed out and we are at a loss to know where he justifies his statement that "this slanderous paper reached the climax last week, etc." for it has been the policy of the News, under the present ownership and management and will continue to be, to abstain from directly or indirectly slander any one or to indulge in publishing vile or indecent matter, nor will we engage in mud slinging, or the use of slanderous phrases regarding any one, however, we do feel that the readers of the News and the public in general are entitled to know where the tax money is being spent and for what purposes.

The further statement in the above that "For several weeks Mr. Atkinson and his paper, The Chilton County News, have seen fit to make some statements in regard to the road business of Chilton County which are manifestly untrue," requires us to ask, wherein these statements are manifestly untrue. The writer of each of the articles relating to the road business of this county took the figures from the reports of the county treasurer, and we would like to know wherein they are false, as the only thing pointed out in his malapert article is the typographical error we mentioned above. Further, the Judge must have been misinformed or his imaginary faculties have failed him, for Mr. Atkinson did not write the articles about the road business of Chilton County as is charged.

He further states: "I do not feel that the roads of Chilton County need any defense or recommendation at my hands," prompts us to ask if any one has requested him to come forth with same? In an article in the Union Banner last July the Judge stated that under the road law of Chilton County, he had nothing to do with hiring of his son or others to work on the roads and that the Commissioners handled that matter. Then why the aspersions and pert remarks in his article last week? The purpose is plain and his desires are evident. He prefers that the record of some one else be discussed, and not his. He desires that if there are any voters in the county who may be swayed by preju-

REED HINGES HOT FIGHT ON ISSUE, NOT CANDIDATE

Missourian Attacks G. O. P. Corruption; Riddles Administration In Speech

PLEADS FOR RIGHTS OF THE STATES

Declares That United, Militant Democracy Is Necessary for 1928 Success

Dallas, Texas, Feb. 21.—In the fight for "united and militant Democracy" which he demanded here last night to bring about "the return of hoensty in government," Senator James A. Reed, of Missouria, set out Tuesday for Tulsa, Okla., and the Far West to spread his doctrine of harmony.

Opening his Western campaign the Misouri Democratic presidential candidate told his party first of all it must be united. He set out the platform on which he believed the Democratic party can unite and win.

The veteran silver-haired campaigner who is making his first bid for the presidency, centered his opening attack on what he described as the "public plunderers" and corruptionists," of the Harding and Cooledge administrations. He called for the "swift and sure punishment of all public plunderers, bribe givers, election corruptionists, and other malefactors." He departed from his prepared address to declare for law observance and to denounce racial and religious prejudices,

"I shall take the liberty of expressing my own views frankly, fully aware of the fact that the great council of the party which next June will assemble at Houston, will write its own platform and conduct its own business.

"The impending campaign will determine governmental polices which are of vital concern to the republic.

"I shall venture to outline what I conceive to be some of the controlling issues. If in your opinion these issues are of vital importance, then they should not be obscured or the battle lost by division over minor questions.

"If the policies of the Republican party are injurious and dangerous, if the great fundamentals of government are being undemined, then, all patriots ought to unite in resistance.

"Certain it is, Democratic division means Republican success. And Republican success means that we shall not only lose the great issues, but will also lose the lesser.

Defeat Boodlers

"The chief doctrine of military and political stragetists is 'divide' and destroy.' If we engage in internecine controversies over questions upon which there is grave division within the party, then we play directly into the hands of the enemy.

"I submit that the most important question before the American people is to drive the Republican party from power; to take this government out of the hands of boodlers, graffters and lobbyists and to place its control once more in the hands of the American people.

"That great preliminary work can only be accomplished by a united and militant democracy.

"Once the Democratic party is installed in power, I hope to see it reinaugurate in all their vigor the principles enunciated by Jefferson and enforced by Jackson.

"The departure from these ancient rules of government must be arrested, or we will soon cease to be a government of liberty, equality and justice.

"If I comprehend the spirit of our institutions, this government was established to protect the life, liberty and property of the individual. And this protection was to be exerted against the criminal elements of foreign powers, and against usurpations by of own governmental agencies.

"To this end he ordained the constitution and attached to it the immortal bill of rights. It was conemplated that there should be reserved to local communities the largest right of self-government. That the states should be in all respects sovereign, save as they had expressly granted limited powers to the federal government. And that all powers not expressly so granted should be

Well and Favorably Known; Needs No Further Introduction

Mr. George T. Guy, of Mountain Creek, this week announced his candidacy for a member of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, from the Fourth District, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary to be held in May. Mr. Guy is one of Chilton's most progressive farmers and is well and favorably known over the county. He is a man of sterling character and worth, and is one of the highest type citizens of the county. He has a knowledge of the county affairs, which qualifies him for the position of commissioner. With Mr. Guy as a member of the commissioners court, the people would receive their just dues without distinction, and will find in him a man who would inaugurate a program for better schools, roads and progress of the county affairs in general and is a man who can be depended upon and trusted. We know that Mr. Guy will make a spendid race for the office to which he aspires.

Typographical Error in News Irritates Judge Reynolds

In the issue of the Chilton County News, of February 16th, 1928, there appeared the following editorial:

THE "IMPROVED" COUNTY ROADS

As stated in last week's issue of the News, we give below some items of expenditure of the county during the year of 1927. During the year it will be recalled that the county expended in all $160,542.30, which approximately represented the entire income of the county for that period.

Bearing in mind that in September 1926, Chilton County—according to the statement given out by our officials in the Birmingham News—had completed fourteen hundred miles of chert and gravel roads, and included in this was the installing of galvanized drain pipes, we thought it would be of interest to learn the cost of maintenance of our roads for one year.

During the period stated the county spent approximately the following:

For tractors, parts and graders	$16,000.00
For culverts (Pipes)	$15,000.00
For gasoline and oil	$12,000.00

According to the Treasurer's report for this period there was expended out of the road funds and special gasoline tax the following: $102,493.25 and deducting from this the $43,000.00 for the above items it would appear that the county had expended for labor, lumber and road material for that period approximately $60,000.00 or over $420.00 per mile for maintenance.

Whether fourteen hundred miles will include all of our roads is not exactly cetain, however, from best information it would appear that this would cover the entire system, and it must be remembered that the above cost of maintenance does not include the upkeep of the paved highway running north and south through the county, and with only a small amount of work done on the Clanton-Maplesville road.

Now, as it is stated that all the roads of the county have been worked the question is: Has your road received during the last year $420.00 per mile?"

Through a typographical error we used the figures $420.00 instead of $42.00, however, a casual reading of the article will show that the result was self-evident, as the $60,000.00 was used or stated for the total to be divided by the 1400 miles of chert and gravel roads. The News regrets that the error crept into the article and is pleased to state that we have only heard of one exception being taken to the error—out of our some twenty-five hundred readers of our paper—and that exception eminates from Judge L. H. Reynolds, according to an article in the Union-Banner of February 23rd, 1928, and he has this to say:

"For several weeks Mr. Atkinson and his paper, The Chilton County News, have seen fit to make some statements in regard to the road business of Chilton County which are manifestly untrue, and which can have but one purpose, to try to defeat me in the Republican primary. This slanderous paper reached the climax last week with its double-barreled article on the front page headed "The Improved County Roads." For insidiousness, malice, untruth, and pure misrepresentation of the facts, this article of last week in the News outstretched anything that has ever before appeared in the political annals of Chilton County."

Wherein the News has been 'slanderous' is not pointed out and we are at a loss to know where he justifies his statement that "this slanderous paper reached the climax last week, etc." for it has been the policy of the News, under the present ownership and management and will continue to be, to abstain from directly or indirectly slander any one or to indulge in publishing vile or indecent matter, nor will we engage in mud slinging, or the use of slanderous phrases regarding any one, however, we do feel that the readers of the News and the public in general are entitled to know where the tax money is being spent and for what purposes.

The further statement in the above that "For several weeks Mr. Atkinson and his paper, The Chilton County News, have seen fit to make some statements in regard to the road business of Chilton County which are manifestly untrue," requires us to ask, wherein these statements are manifestly untrue. The writer of each of the articles relating to the road business of this county took the figures from the reports of the county treasurer, and we would like to know wherein they are false, as the only thing pointed out in his malapert article is the typographical error we mentioned above. Further, the Judge must have been misinformed or his imaginary faculties have failed him, for Mr. Atkinson did not write the articles about the road business of Chilton County as is charged.

He further states: "I do not feel that the roads of Chilton County need any defense or recommendation at my hands," prompts us to ask if any one has requested him to come forth with same? In an article in the Union Banner last July the Judge stated that under the road law of Chilton County, he had nothing to do with hiring of his son or others to work on the roads and that the Commissioners handled that matter. Then why the aspersions and pert remarks in his article last week? The purpose is plain and his desires are evident. He prefers that the record of some one else be discussed, and not his. He desires that if there are any voters in the county who may be swayed by preju-

Powers Of Government

"That the powers of the federal government should be confined to the protection of the nation in international controversies; to the settlement of controversies between states; regulation of inter state commerce; establishment of postoffices and post-roads and certain minor powers.

"It was contemplated that the federal government should therefore be a very simple form of government, rarely touching the individual rights of the people. Back of this scheme of government was the theory—sound then and sound now—that when the federal government assumes jurisdiction over question it does so in diminution of the powers of the states.

"Likewise, it was recognized that in proportion as authority is centered in the federal government, not alone the states, but also the individuals lose the ability to protect themselves against ...emental aggresesion or to accomplish changes in the law.

"The fathers held to the theory as ...hold to the theory that the people ...f a state like Texas know better ...hat they need than a congress composed largely of men who have never ...en within the borders of this great ...commonwealth. Texas can run her ...siness from the homes of her people and from the capital of her state ...tter than that business can be run ...the Congress of the United States, ...by any board or commission sit... in Washington.

"The fathers also thought that it ...he duty of the federal govern... to maintain unimpaired the in... the sovereignty and the dig... the United States.

"...rferences by any foreign po... or power with any of the ... of the republic were to be ...ly resented and repelled.

"During recent years two movements running along parallel lines have been gradually undermining these established polices. The first is a combination of pacificism and internationalism.

"We entered upon that scheme. At a time when we had substantially created a navy great enough to guard our shores against all attacks, the Harding administration, agreed to scrap $400,000,000 to $500,000,000 worth of our great dreadnaughts, constructed or in process of construction; only to discover that Japan and Great Britian were building vast fleets of smaller vessels, so that our fleet would be destroyed by Great Britian and probably Japan.

"Now, having lost our superior advantage and destroyed our great vessels at a loss of between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000, we find ourselves compelled to seriously consider the expenditure of $750,000,000 to construct a fleet of smaller craft which would have been wholly unnecessary had we not destroyed our major vessels.

"One word further upon this subject and I shall dismiss it. There is no such thing as a divided allegiance. A man who divides his allegiance between two countries is loyal to neither and a traitor to both.

"I know but one country—the United States of America. I recognize but one flag—the Stars and Stripes. I would yield not one jot or tittle of the sovereignty of the United States. I would continue to follow the policies which have made us great and prosperous—the cultivation of amity and good-will with all of the world.

"Without pursuing a miliaristic policy I would keep this country forever in a position to defend her honor and to protect her shores.

"The second movement has been the concentration of power in Washington, largely through the stretching and distortion of the federal constitution. The fathers never dreamed of a situation, such as now confronts us. The civil list of the federal government embraces over 600,000 employes.

"There is scarcely a line of business which is not subjected to federal espionage. Courts and quasi-courts, bureaus and departments, pry into the business of private institutions. The dockets of our federal courts are crowded with cases hitherto recognizable by state courts.

"Homes and places of business of citizens are daily invaded, frequently in direct violation of the Bill of Rights.

"I unhesitatingly say that the managers of great organizations have for the past eight years exercised more control over the federal government than has been exercised

You destroy a Forest When You "Burn Over" Ground!

THEY are the same--the thin thread of fire that creeps over Alabama's hills, and the raging forest fire which destroys everything in its path. The difference is only that between future value and present value. The Woods Fires you see at every turn may seem harmless. Yet, they actually kill as many trees as the greatest forest fires.

Thousands of farmers "burn over" the ground thinking they improve the soil, but instead the soil is actually impoverished. Besides, such "burning over" is wiping out the forests of the future.

Unless we grow our own timber, much of Alabama's prosperity will go to the winds. To import our lumber from the Northwest would cost our citizens annually from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000 FOR FREIGHT ALONE.

Defend the prosperity of Alabama! Do not "burn over" ground.

INDICATIONS OF BETTER BUSINESS

If advertising is a weather vane by which the currents of the business winds may be studied, then conditions for the coming year are sound and point to a period of good business activity, according to Lee W. Maxwell, President of the Crowell Publishing Company and head of a group of national magazines.

The lines on which the most energetic advertising and other sales activities are indicated include food products, drugs and toilet goods, automobiles, tires, building materials and household equipment. The lines which, in general, show hesitation and uncertainty are clothing and dress goods, furniture, automobile accessories and radio.

Mr. Maxwell comments: "If business generally hal less to sell, or if the people of the country just simply could not buy, then we might look forward to a year of rough sledding and thin picking. But business generally has a whale of a lot of production capacity, therefore a lot to make and quite plainly a lot to sell.

"But the people of this country—the greatest consuming group in the world—even though they have a tremendous purchasing power, must be reached and convinced.

"All business houses, therefore, except those dying of dry rot, will need every possible sales aid, such as advertising. You may be sure they will seek every possible sales aid.

"Consumer demand cannot be caught, hog-tied, and branded by any one outfit or by any one group. Freedom of choice on the part of the consumer creates the great hunt and sport in American business. And that is where advertising gets its inning.

"Advertising is something, which, economically and effectively, can aid business in influencing the consumer's choice. It can help them business man to do a better job in 1928. There are many businesses which need it and many which will make effective use of ti during the next year."

SHRINKING, MODEST WORLD

Big things are being made small, and small things big in this tewntieth century.

Mayor Walker of New York talks over the radio-phone to Berlin and in that moment the world becomes a vastly small place, just as it did on such a grandly shrinking scale when Lindbergh spanned the Atlantic.

It takes a fraction less than a minute and a half to descend 54 floors in the Woolworth Building express elevators and proportionately in the other great skyscrapers of New York and other cities.

Small things too are being made smaller in this rushing age. Take the innocent little dress and coat hanger! They used—for ladies and men alike—to approximate broad shoulders. Dressmakers have changed all that. They have taken fine soft, silks and rayons and woolens and made them into narrow necked frocks that do not unfasten but must be pulled off over feminine heads. That is all right—for the bobbed haired ladies, at least—but what of the wide shouldered dress hanger? It needs must shrink. No intelligent women will subject a dainty frock to daily neckline tucks and pulls.

Luggage is acting the same way—shrinking away to suit over-night demands, becoming a mere cookie sized affair for modern hats, a mere soda cracks for diaphanous nighties, or whisps of rayon pajamas, or mites of satin mules.

Powder compacts are being decreased to affairs called wafers, that will slip into the most minute purses. Typewriters and pianos, and airplanes are all acting the same way to fit smaller spaces in this shrinking but scarcely modest old world.

But with it all, our minds must be growing larger to think of so much smallness and to match each diminutive against its neighbor! A veritable world-wide game of blocks, isn't it?

TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR IN NEWS IRRITATES JUDGE L. H. REYNOLDS

dice and made to believe that he is the sole defender of the peoples rights of Chilton County, that that be done. That there was a mighty conflict on and the ship of state in Chilton is headed to the rocks of destruction is what he wants made to appear. And also to becloud the facts of what has been accomplished with money of the people in this county. If giving the people of the county the facts as to how much money has been spent in this county for the past five years constitutes "SLANDER," then we are going to commit the ACT right now, for we say to the voters of the county that since January 1st, 1923—since the Judge took office for this time—there has been expended out of the general, road and special gas funds over $725,000.00, and it would be of far more interest to the intelligent minds of the people of the county if the Judge would tell them the exact accomplishments of this enormous sum of money, than to continue to follow his ancient method of revileing or abusing some person whom he dislikes.

J. B. Atkinson Makes Statement Relative to Affairs of The Town

In the Union-Banner of July 14th and 21st, 1927, and February 23rd, 1928, also in a letter bearing date of January 18th, 1928, and which was sent out over the county, Judge L. H. Reynolds, has deemed it wise to make various and sundry insinuations and charges about me, with regard to my political activities, as well as my official conduct as an official of the Town of Clanton, Ala. However, maladroit his writing about me are and his apparent suffering with a political malaise and the evident fact that he labors with pains of the most excruciating severity, to gather words which may appear malapert, I do not regard his attacks as being serious or even of the nature to become alarmed about, for if I am any judge of events, the Probate Judge desires some one to write about, and while he is talking about me and giving me advertisement, he is letting the other fellow rest. In fact, I do not really consider his aspersions serious, owing to the fact that he has a chronic ailment for such. Neither do I think he ever reflects back over his life to see how many political changes he has made. Speaking of being of a chameleon nature, it would be amusing to know that the Judge himself is reputed to have first been a Populist, second a Republican, then a Bull Mooser, and then a "Lily-White" Republican, next a Republican—(Kelly Gentry said something about there being some spots on the lily)—and then he jined the G. O. P. (Grady, Omar and Pa) Party, all of which reminds me of the old adage "that he who lives in a glass house should not throw stones," but the Judge will do so, even though he knew he would break every panel of glass in his political dwelling.

The Judge wants me to debate with him about the town and county affairs, all of which would give me great pleasure when the opportune time arrives for such a discussion—and I beleive the occasion will be an amusing and humorous affairs, and further that the ladies of the Churches should take advantage of the opportunity and dvertise the speaking under their auspices and charge admission and thereby raise a good fund to pay on the indebtedness of the Churches. I'll let you know, Judge, when everything is in readiness for the 'jint discussion' and will give you all the audits of the town books since I have been an official of the town, to enable you to secure any data therein contained. However, you remember that you have already inspected the auditor's reports of the town of Clanton, when you and Mr. Pitts came to my office in 1926, after I had given you a good trimming at Cane Creek, in that memorable joint discussion out there, when you admiited that you had not constructed one mile of chert and gravel roads in this county, although you gave out a statement in the Birmingham News that you had built 1400 miles.

Now let us study facts a little along with the Judge's insinuations and charges and ascertain the truth about these questions which he advances. First, what is the cause of the Judge writing about me? There is but one logical answer, and that it he desires to attract the public attention away from his record, to some other place and lead some to believe that he is the political god-father of Chilton County. He does not want the scrutinizing eyes of the people turned on his record and yells wolf some where else. He has quite a good deal to say about the Town of Clanton being in debt and up to the debt limit, and asks certain questions, all of which he is very little concerned, for the reason that if he had that desire to co-operate with his fellow townsmen to build up the town, he would have the County pay for the paving around the Court House and Jail, done by the Town, which has been due for some time and amounts to around $3,000.00.

The Judge presses his desire to have the affairs of the town published. The law relating to cities and towns is as follows: (Section 1953 of the Code of Alabama is as follows:

"Sec. 1953 (1299) Accountant, expert, employed; duties of—In Cities and Towns the Mayor shall at least once a year, appoint an expert accountant who shall make an examination in detail of all books and accounts of the city officials to cover the period since the preceed-

WHERE'D YOU GET THAT HAT?

The derby hat has reappeared upon the dome of man; and it is such a war-like creation that it has already gained the popular cogomen of "the iron hat". Women always do fresh stunts in hats—that is one of their pastimes and responsibilities. An interesting and novel note at the spring fashion centers is shown in new trimmings for felt hats by the use of the ever-increasing cellophane, which is gradually breaking into every branch of industry. This new glistening material gives a beautiful contrast to dull finished felt and other basis for hats. In the smart shops it is being regarded as the "quintessence of class."

500,000 MEN WITHOUT A COUNTRY

A generation ago, the "man without a country" was so unusual and exceptional that he provided an intriguing title for a great novel. Today, there are so many people in this category that a nation of them could easily be gathered together.

The Near East Relief, in its annual report to Congress, estimates at more than 500,000 the number of refugees in the Near East who are officially classed as people without a country. For years international law had no method of dealing with them, but now they carry an international passport, issued by the League of Nations.

Whereever they go, these unfortunates are aliens. No country wants them; no nation bids them welcome. They have no political claim on any Government, and no racial tie with any existing state.

Most of them are Armenians, but many thousands are designated by the League of Nations merely as "of undeterminable nationality". At least half of them owe their lives to American relief effort during the post-war period, —otherwise, they would have fallen victims to massacre, famine or epidemic.

They still remain an international problem and a problem in humanitarianism. The final campaign of Near East Relief for $6,000,000 to complete its overseas work, aims to proivde about a third of this sum for the solution of several of the more acute problems arising out of this refugee situation, particularly as it effects the women and children among the 500,000 people without a country.

CHEVROLET MOTOR CO. BREAKS OWN RECORD

Detroit, Mich., February 20.—All previous January production records were shattered here last month by the Chevrolet Motor Company when the total output for the thirty-five day period reached 91,584 units, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, announced today.

This figure topped by nearly 20,000 units the 73,676 cars and trucks produced in January, 1927, and more than doubled the outlet for the corresponding month in 1926 when only 46,437 units were manufactured.

As a result of this tremendous volume, production in January was exceeded by that of only four other months in the entire history of the company. Every indication points to new Chevrolet records in the coming months of 1928, Mr. Knudsen said.

The tentative production schedule for February is 112,475 units, as against 85,000 units last February, while actual production for the month this year is certain to exceed the tentative schedule by a comfortable margin, Mr. Knudsen said. Tentative plans for March call for the building of more than 127,000 units, which will establish a new all-time monthly record for the manufacture of gear shift cars, according to Mr. Knudsen.

This huge volume has been made possible by the enormous sales gains registered since the introduction of the "Bigger and Better" Chevrolet on January 1. R. H. Grant, vice-president of the company in charge of sales, stated that more than 125,000 units were sold for immediate delivery at retail in the United States to date.

Another high record was set during the Chicago Automobile Show, ended February 4, when more Chevrolets were sold during show week than any other make of car at this or any other automobile show.

Chevrolet officials were unanimous in the opinion that the company's performance last year, when it built and sold a million units to become the world's largest automobile manufacturer, would be substantially expanded this year.

"I am just as confident of selling a million cars this year as if I had them sold right now," Mr. Grant said at a recent dealer meeting.

To achieve this record volume the seven great assembly plants strung acrosss the continent are on peak production schedules in answer to calls from the 45 Chevrolet zone headquarters for ample cars to assure prompt delivery to the public. Another assembly plant, with a production capacity of 350 cars a day, will get into full swing within a few weeks at Atlanta, Ga., to augment the facilities of the other factories now running to capacity.

A measure of how enthusiastically the new car was received by the public is shown by the fact that the January production schedule had to be stepped up on six different occasions to keep the manufacturing volume on an even basis with rapidly piling up orders. The first tentative figure for the month was set on November 17, and called for the building of 72,058 units.

Five hundred more units were added to this figure on December 1, and on January 5, after factory officials saw the measure of enthusiasm the new car was commanding, 10,000 additional units were ordered built. On January 9 this figure was stepped up another thousand units, and since that date two general orders went out to assembly plants to over-run for a total of 8,000 more cars and trucks.

Finished cars are leaving the factories with all possible dispatch that dealers in all quarters of the country may have an ample supply to make prompt delivery on all models. In addition, the seventeen overseas plants operated by General Motors Exports are humming along at a record clip to supply the foreign market with the "Bigger and Better."

EX-GOVERNOR PARKER TO ADDRESS FORESTERS

Hon. John M. Parker, former governor of Louisana, and one of the foremost conservationists in the South, will address the annual meeting of The American Forestry Association, held jointly with the Missouri Forestry Association at St. Louis, Missouri, February 17 and 18. His subject will be "America's Greatest Conservation Problem."

Other prominent Southerners appearing on the program are Miss Martha Berry, founder of the Berry Schools, Georgia; Dr. W. W. Long, of Clemson College, South Carolina; H. M. Wilson, vice president of the Baldwin, Lewis, Pace Company, naval stores operators, Florida; and S. F. Horn, editor of the Southern Lumberman.

When the foresters meet in session at St. Louis, a new light on forestry as a factor in flood control promises to develop. The meeting will also feature the progress of timber growing and public education in forest fire protection during the past year.

The selection of St. Louis for this assemblage of America's most noted foresters and conservationists is significant in the fact that it is centrally located in the area where the reforestation as an aid to flood control is most urgent. From discussions and papers presented at the meeting it is hoped to clarify the place of reforestration in flood control plans and to bring about a more intensive campaign for legislation for its provision. The flood control discussion will be presented by Colonel William B. Greeley, chief of the United States Forest Service, and other prominent authorities.

TEN THOUSAND BOYS TO BE IN 4-H CLUBS THIS YEAR

Auburn, Ala., March 1.—During 1928 ten thousand farm boys are expected to engage in 4-H club work in Alabama. The county demonstration agents and T. A. Sims and J. C. Lowery, state club leaders of Auburn, have set this as their goal; and enrollment to date indicates that they will reach it.

Incomplete reports from the county agents show that South Alabama is the leading section. The largest enrollment is reported in Dale county where G. W. Ray, county agent, succeeded in getting 650 boys into the work. Coffee and Covington Counties are next, they being tied for second place with 500 each, as reported by W. M. Ray, county agent for Coffee County, and W. T. Cheney, county agent, Covington County.

While the leading counties are in south Alabama, J. C. Lowery, who is directing the work in north Alabama, says that large enrollments throughout that section are expected. Some of the counties go as high as 300 while 200 is about the average. Most of the enrollment work will be done by early March and by the first of April clubs will be organized and have their work in progress.

The plan in each county is for the 4-H club boys to work on those crops and livestock of most concern in the county. This means that cotton will be the leading project because cotton is the leading crop in Alabama. Corn and pig clubs will be next on the list with calf clubs, peanut clubs, and crop clubs wherever there is a demand sufficient.

Mr. Sims and Mr. Lowery say that the outlook has never been better than at the present and that many ambitious boys of Alabama will be started on the road to success this year by enrolling in 4-H club work and doing the job as directed by their county agents.

Dreaded Aches, PAINS Disappeared

"My health had been poor for ten years, before I took Cardui," says Mrs. Anna Cronin, of Rockport, Ind. "I was lifeless and 'no account'. I dragged around day after day, every move an effort, and never feeling the joy of being well.

"At times, I had a dreadful ache across my back, and my sides hurt me. I worried along, sometimes hardly able to leave my bed, but the demands of a growing family had to be attended to; so I would get up, do what was absolutely necessary, and then lie down again.

"One day, someone suggested Cardui to me. I took it for several months, and all the time I was growing stronger, and less nervous. My aches and pains finally disappeared.

"That was two years ago. My improvement has been permanent. The good health, which followed the taking of Cardui, is still with me, so I do not hesitate to recommend it to my friends." E-124

BALE-AN-ACRE CROPS

In spite of Weather and Weevil

COTTON YIELD INCREASED 100% . . . Mr. J. H. Gulledge of Verbena, Chilton Co., Ala., says: "Where I used Sea Fowl Fertilizer ('AA QUALITY') the yield was 58 bales of cotton on 81 acres. Under same conditions adjoining lands where other makes were used, only produced one-half as much cotton per acre. My crop was unusually early. Farmers who are using other makes of fertilizers are not getting over one-half as much cotton per acre as I am with 'AA QUALITY' goods."—Nov. 26, 1927.

IN SPITE OF WEATHER AND WEEVIL . . . Mr. G. F. Patton of Pontotoc, Pontotoc Co., Miss., says: "In spite of bad weather and boll weevil infestation I made nearly a bale to the acre where I used your 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizers. 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizers are more finely ground and in better mechanical condition than any I have ever used. I will recommend 'AA QUALITY' goods to any one wanting a high grade, properly balanced fertilizer."—Sept. 6, 1927.

COTTON YIELD INCREASED 33 1/3% . . . Mr. J. Z. Moore of Eclectic, Elmore Co., Ala., says: "I got over one-third more cotton per acre from the use of Sea Fowl Fertilizer ('AA QUALITY') than I did from the same amount of another make of fertilizer. I expect to use only Sea Fowl Fertilizer in the future."—Sept. 6, 1927.

COTTON YIELD INCREASED 100% . . . Mr. A. G. Diseken of Russellville, Franklin Co., Ala., says: "My yield of cotton was doubled. I used 400 lbs. of 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer per acre and will make over a bale per acre. I consider 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizers as good as I can buy."—Sept. 10, 1927.

Cotton growing today is a business. Success in this business is achieved by getting profitable production—often in the face of adverse conditions. In spite of weather and weevil, Mr. H. W. Hattox, of Pontotoc, Pontotoc Co., Miss., got a fine yield of a bale of cotton per acre where he used "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers. He says, "Never has a fertilizer been put to a test like yours was this season."

Mr. Hattox had to plant most of his crop twice on account of wet weather. On September 26, 1927, he wrote:

"I am averaging a bale to the acre where I used 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer and on no acre did I use more than 175 lbs. I think this is a wonderful record for this small amount of fertilizer, considering the poor season we have had. I am sure 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer is far better than any I have ever used and I will recommend it to any one wanting a hundred cents' worth for his dollar."

Thousands of other successful cotton growers have found that "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers produce larger yields and better quality. It's the extra yield per acre that writes the extra entries in the bank book.

"AA QUALITY" Fertilizers are manufactured by the world's largest fertilizer company, with sixty years of proved results back of every bag.

J. B. Atkinson Makes Statement Relative to Affairs of The Town

ing examination, and make a full report thereof in writing, under oath to be submitted to the council at its first meeting after the completion of the report, and the same shall be spread upon the minutes of the council but the same person shall not be appointed or authorized to make such examination twice in succession. For his services said accountant shall be paid such sum as may be agreed upon."

I will state to the people that since my connection with the Town of Clanton, my predecessor, Dr. V. J. Gragg complied with that law, and I did likewise since I have been Mayor of Clanton. I have searched for authority of law to publish the statements made by the auditors, but have been unable to find same, and have been advised by attorneys that there is none, and also I have made inquiry of several other towns to find if they published their reports and found that they do not. The Town has complied with the law and the Judge knows that this has been done. The County did not publish its statement of expenditures until required to do so, and then it might be of interest to the people of the county to know in what paper Chilton County published its semi-annual report for the last half of 1921, and who was treasurer at that time.

Further, with reference to the Town of Clanton, the town has, since I have been connected with it, redeemed over $40,00000 of bonds and it is not up to the debt limit, its tractor has been paid for, as well as its trucks, concrete mixer, two new standard water pumps, eighteen blocks of water mains and fire hydrants, water and sewerage pipes and culverts in the town, and under the cement paving all water and sewerage connections were made so that the pavement would not have to be dug up in the future, and the town assumed and paid around $3,000.00 for storm sewers on Second Avenue and Seventh Street, and new rings and covers have been installed to take the place of most of the old ones on the manholes of the sewerage system, which were off most of the time. The town purchased and paid for a warehouse and lot and has worked its streets and paid its employes. Besides this the town has donated and paid out to the Chilton County High School and the Grammar School, approximately $20,000.00 in the last six years. Also the town paid for the sidewalks in front of the High and Grammar schools, and aided each Church in the town to the extent of $100.00 on their sidewalks. The town has had to replace sewerage manholes which have been torn off by road machines not belonging to the town. Some fifty new street lights have been installed and the town with its limited amount of revenue advanced with its fire fighting equipment, until now we have one of the best equipped towns for fire fighting purposes, as there is in Alabama

The town has not since I have been a member of the council, sought to raise taxes and our rate is just one-half the amount of our nearest neighbor—Thorsby Our license schedule is much lower than in any town of our size in Alabama. I do not take credit for the progress of Clanton, but I do feel proud of the fact that I have had a small part in aiding this progress, and I hope to see our town and county go forward with much more of the same progress that Clanton has made during the past five years. I want to see a real high class Grammar school building constructed for the town. Some time ago, after quite a bit of effort, Mr. M. A. Gore and myself, finally persuaded the school board to appropriate out of the 3-mill District taxes, which the people of Clanton pay $15,000.00, and they did finally issue three warrants to the town in $5,000.00 denominations each, after the town and a number of citizens had made bond for that amount of money, guaranteeing that the funds would be used in a Grammar school building, but the County board never did pay but one of the warrants, and just when the town was getting inshape to retire enough bonds to begin its school building program the county board demanded that the town return the unpaid warrants and the $5,000.00, which was done some thirty days ago. That the people may understand the situation it might inerest them to know that the Town of Clanton collects in real and personal property taxes $4,000.00 to $4,500.00 per year and not over five thousand in licenses and miscellaneous items, making a total of $9,500.00 per annum, and out of this the town pays its police $190.00 per month, clerk $75.00 per month, Alabama Power Company, for street lights $100.00 per month; three street hands: one at $75.00, one at $65.00 and one at $60.00, besides gasoline and oil for trucks and road tractor. Also the expenses of fire-fighting equipment is paid from this fund. For the past six years the town has been paying $1,000.00 a year retiring bonds issued to build the addition on the Grammar School building, together with interest.

The County levies a road tax on all the property in Clanton and has never appropriated one cent to the Town to aid it in building or maintaining its streets, however, the law says this: "6773. Maintenance of streets county matter—The maintenance of streets of municipalities in the State of Alabama is declared to be a county matter."

Is it right for the county to levy a road tax on all the property in Clanton and never return one cent of it to the town or work any of the streets? The people of Clanton pay a gasoline tax which is sent back to the county and never a cent of this is appropriated to the town, in fact, a majority of the gasoline tax, according to the records is paid by residents of cities and towns. The fact is there are many phases of this matter of comparison of the record of the Town of Clanton and Chilton County which is interesting when we analyze the figures. Take for instance the county revenue of 1927 for general funds, road and gas tax was $160,000.-00 and the revenue of the town for that period for general funds, street tax and privilege and automobile tax was $9,500.00.

Besides all this the town is carrying some four thousand dollars in assessments for sidewalks. It will be remembered that after the town had completed its program for laying of sidewalks, Mr. Percy M. Pitts wanted a side walk on his street and the town to accomodate him financed the laying of same on his street, and is carrying the indebtedness so that he and the other property owners on his street may have ten years to pay for it. The town has made substantial progress and I hope that its citizens and our neighbors in the county will continue to boost Clanton for we will soon be a city that we can all be proud of, and a place we can point to with pride and tell our friends and enemies that we are glad we live in Clanton and say "WATCH HER GROW". The people of Clanton have honored me, and I appreciate the honor, and have always tried to be fair, honest and courteous in my official dealings with the public, and have strived to set an example of clean living before the boys and girls of our town, and promise that I will continue to do so.

In the issue of the Union-Banner of last July the Judge made this statement, viz:

"And while on the subject of attorney's fees, it might be stated that Mr. Atkinson, on numerous occasions sued the county, and I can recall several suits where he has recovered a great deal less than he has asked the commissioners court to pay. I will make this statement, that if Chilton County had paid to J. B. Atkinson, for his clients what he has asked the county to pay, then there would be just cause for criticism."

Upon noticing the above, I secured from Hon. J. Z. Mims, Clerk of the Circuit Court, the following certificate, to-wit:

"The State of Alabama—Chilton County

I, J. Z. Mims, as clerk of the Circuit Court of said county in said State, hereby certify that I have this day examined the civil appearance docket of said court and that Mr. J. B. Atkinson appears as an attorney for the plaintiff in but one case in which Chilton County is being sued since March the 16th, 1915. This being the case of the Selig Company, a corporation, vs. Chilton County, and said cause is still pending in said Court and has never been determined. Said record does not show that J. B. Atkinson, has during the said time sued Chilton County as a party plaintiff. Witness my hand this the 14th day of July, 1927—J. Z. Mims."

And the question is: "Who slanders people?"

The Judge makes reference that the News and myself are trying to defeat him for the nomination in the Republican primary. I want to infor mthe gentleman that the Chilton County News and myself are doing nothing of the kind, and I am not concerned about the affairs of the Republican primary, but I am concerned about the affairs of the Democratic party, which party I affiliated with many months before his son was appointed to the position as United States Attorney for the Middle District of Alabama. I want to say to the Democrats of this county that we are in good shape, our voters have qualified by registering and paying poll tax, the meeting of your Committee has been open and above board, no one has picked candidates and every Democrat in the county is welcome to enter the primary as a candidate for any office they may aspire to fill and your executive committee as stated before, desires that each Democrat have nothing to do with the affairs of the Republican party, but on the contrary, help your committee and candidates to get your own party in the best shape possible, for we are going to win the election next November.—J. B. Atkinson.

Lucile Davis, Age 13, Writes Interesting Theme on Forests and Natural Resources

NOTE—The following is a theme "The Value of Our Forests and Natural Resources and Why We Should Protect Them", written by Lucille Davis, daughter of T. W. Davis of Union Grove. This theme was judged first in a class of eleven, in the Sixth grade. The second theme will be published next week.

Nothing in nature can surpass the forests for beautiful scenery to the world. Our forests are useful in many ways first, they are helpful in keeping the rivers from overflowing, which cause great destruction and loss to man and property; by decaying leaves, grass and vegetable matter the water from a heavy rainfall is taken up as a sponge would do, thus yielding the water to the streams and creeks slowly.

Second: our forests contain the most beautiful scenery that a tourist or camper could wish for. We notice that a tourist passing through our fair state, seek the camping spot within the scope of some timber or small wooded section.

Third: To view the many things of nature, the beautiful and lovely flowers, the many kinds of birds that make their homes within the forests, the great number of different varieties of trees, will naturally cause one to admire and praise the beauty of them. The home of the bird is in the forests and what can give greater pleasure than to wander through the woods and hear the sweet sounds of little birds as they almost burst their throats in singing glee.

What a dreary world this would be if we had not the birds to greak the veil of silence by their merry cheery singing. The bird also adds to life by destroying hurtful insects which destroy our crops ond fruit trees.

Fourt: The rivers and creeks are natural. They are also useful in many ways, by furnishing power to light up the towns and cities; to run the street cars and to furnish heat for the cities. The rivers are useful for transportation, an occupation that is very important and must be carried on.

Fifth: Our soil is natural, and one of the main assets to life. Were it not for the soil nothing could live. Everything we possess is directly or indirectly related to the soil.

We may protect our soil as well as our forests by not burning over it. The dead and decaying leaves and grasses is nature's own way of enriching the soil.

Never should we burn our forests, for it will destroy the young and tender herbs and trees which would later grow into large trees. We must not forget that OUR homes are made from material that comes from the forests and if we willfully abuse and destroy them we have to pay the price just as thousands of little children in China are doing today where all the trees have cut and no beautiful forests to visit and play in.

Forests are also the home of many kinds of wild animals, animals that furnish us with furs, meat and great sport in hunting.

Our climate is largely controlled by the forests of our country, and as the climate means much to the growing crops, from which we get our food supply, I send forth this plea to every school boy and girl, to protect the birds, the trees and the animals that we may not suffer their loss in the future.

COTTON MEET ASKS FOR FEWER ACRES

Auburn, Ala., March 1.—In convention at Jackson, Miss., February 20 and 21, five hundred leaders in farming, finance, and public affairs declared by resolution that cotton prices are now about 3 cents per pound below what the statistical position indicates. They attributed this to "other causes than the accurate facts of supply and demand" and urged cotton growers to keep their cotton acreage within reasonable bounds this year to avoid making more than the markets of the world will consume at satisfactory prices.

Alabama was represented at the conference by Gov. Bibb Graves; Judge C. E. Thomas, state superintendent of banking, Allen Northington of the Farm Bureau cotton association; R. H. Cochrane, president of Alabama bankers' association, Tuscaloosa; P. O. Davis, Auburn; J. Spratling, Waverly; W. I. Thompson, Troy; A. B. Bealle of the Birmingham News; J. E. Z. Riley, banker and farmer, Ozark; J. B. Adams, Montgomery; Guy Rice and Will Howard Smith, Prattville.

The governors of the several cotton states were urged to request the bankers through their associations merchants, county agents and others to assemble by counties for discussing the situation before plantings are made. Bankers were told that too much cotton at the expense of other crops and livestock is "speculative farming and an unsafe credit risk."

Congress was urged to enact legislation for the control of surpluses of cotton and other farm commodities "in order to furnish to agriculture M. Moore and F. W. Gist, state department of agriculture; Dr. W. L. instruments of stabilization comparable to the instruments furnished by the national government for the stabilization of manufacturing, railroading, and banking."

A permanent committee was selected to continue the work of the conference. Judge C. E. Thomas of Alabama was made chairman and P. O. Davis, Auburn, secretary of the permanent committee.

Chilton Girls Win In Game With Verbena

Chilton Girls Demonstrate 'Indomitable Chilton Spirit"

Last Thursday afternoon when the local high school girls met the fast Verbena sextette "the indomitable Chilton Spirit," was once more demonstrated. The Chilton girls wen in with a fighting determination to win, thus getting partial revenge as they were defeated by Verbena several weeks ago on the home court.

When the half was over, the outcome was still to be decided as Chilton was only one point in the lead, the score being 6-7. But when the game was called for the second half Chilton came back fighting harder than ever. They were good sports and fought until the end but they could not kill the old Chilton Hi Spirit, and the determination to win, no matter what they did. When the final whistle blew, the local lassies were winners, 15-8.

The same line-up for Chilton was used throughout the game except for one change just before the game was over.

TWO WILDCATS ARE KILLED NEAR MITCHELL DAM

Montgomery, Ala., March 4.—That wild life still exists in Alabama was proven yesterday by Jack Trost, 214 Ponce de Leon Avenue, who shot and killed two large wild cats at Mount Manning, at Mitchell Dam, a few miles from Clanton. The cats were found on the land being developed by Kenneth Underwood, of this city, as tourist playgrounds.

Mr. Trost often visits the spot where he kills wild game with his rifle. Sometimes, however, he uses an ancient weapon—the bow and arrow—and with this too, he is quite a marksman. If Mr. Trost continues to visit Mount Manning the wild cats had better remove their residence.

JOEL WEBB CONVICTED OF USING MAILS TO DEFRAUD

Birmingham, Ala., March 2.—Joel F. Webb, self-styled general counsel for the "Edwards Heirs Corporation," made up of thousands of persons in the United States and Canada, was convicted of using the mails to defraud today and given a suspended sentence of three years in Atlanta federal penitentiary. Webb was accused of fraudently soliciting retainer and geanology fees from alleged heirs to valuable real estate in New York City.

ISABELLA TEAM DEFEATS BIBB COUNTY HIGH TEAM

Isabella defeated the fast Bibb county high school team last Friday by the score of 14 to 8. Several times in the first half the score was tied, or one side one point in the lead, but in the last half Vance, the Isabella center, begin to show the Bibb County High what a center could do and looped five field goals to carry his team to a victory.

The close guarding of Mims was too much for the Bibb County forwards. Isabella closes the season next Wednesday with the Dallas County High, and then spring football practice gets under way.

Hinkle Has No Opposition For Judge In Democratic Primary

Candidate Has Always Boosted Chilton County and Is Familiar With Actual and Potential Resources Of This Entire Section

Dr. P. T. Hinkle, who is the only candidate who qualified for the office of the Probate Judge, in the forthcoming Democratic Primary, when interviewed by a representative of the News stated that he appreciated the honor that the Democrats have conferred upon him and that he would strive to merit the confidence reposed and that he expected to see every voter before the primary, if possible, however, that if he should be unable to see any of the voters that he wanted them to know that he would appreciate their vote in the primary as much as if he had opposition.

He stated that he expects to wage a clean campaign for the office and that with the help of the people in the county he could win the place and render the people a service which he believes they will appreciate and which he would like to have the opportunity of rendering them in building the county road system and aiding and building the schools in the county.

Dr. Hinkle was reared and educated in Montgomery, Ala., where he first attended the public schools and then later entered Starks School, an institution that has educated quite a number of successful business and professional men of Alabama. His father and mother died when he was a small child and after reaching the age of thirteen, he supported and educated himself. Before reaching his majority, Dr. Hinkle married and moved to Chilton County, where he established his residence on a farm near Clanton, where he has since lived, and has made a success in farming.

He has been connected with the Alabama Power Company, for several years in charge of the health and sanitary work of the company, at their several camps and power dams. The latter position he recently resigned, when he became a candidate for the office of Probate Judge.

Dr. Hinkle, is a member of the local Baptist Church, and has been active in religious and civic movements. He is a Shriner, and has his membership in several Masonic bodies at Clanton and Montgomery. He is also a member of the Kiwanis Club of Clanton.

His ancestry may be traced back to the original settlers of the Mississippi territory, and since the organization of the state many of the members of his family have held places of honor and trust both in the state and in the nation. His father was a colonel in the Confederate Army and several of his uncles served with distinction during the Civil War.

Dr. Hinkle has always boosted Chilton County, and is familiar with the actual and potential resources we have and is capable of bringing to the office judicial poise and sound judgment as well as that dignity which the office requires and the News feels that the people of the county will never have cause to regret having elected him to that office.

Udah Curlee Announces For Circuit Clerk

Candidate Is One Of Chilton County's Most Popular Young Men

In the political announcement columns of the Chilton County News will be found the name of Prof. Udah Curlee, who announces his candidacy for the office of Circuit Clerkk of Chilton County, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary to be held in May.

Mr. Curlee is one of Chilton's most popular young men, and is well qualified in every respect to fill the office to which he aspires. He is the son of the late James Curlee, who served as Chief of Police in Clanton for several years. Udah is also a graduate of the Chilton County High School and has been a student of the Jacksonville, Ala., Normal College for some time prior to engaging in the teaching profession. As a student, from his earliest youth up through the grammar and high school grades and the Normal coures, he has always applied himself well, and all his schoolmates readily recognized his ability to accomplish what he sought to attain. All the teachers who taught him are high in their praise for him owing to his high sense of duty and his personal popularity with his fellow students.

Prof. Curlee has been actively engaged in the teaching profession for several years and has been quite successful in the work. He has been a close observer of all the things pertaining to governmental affairs and understands our theory of government well, from that of the small towns through the federal government.

The News is glad to commend Mr. Curlee to the voters of Chilton County.

W. B. GREELEY RESIGNATION INTERESTS SOUTHLAND

Montgomery, Ala., March 7.—The resignation of Col. W. B. Greeley, Chief Forester of the United States, to accept a post with a west coast lumber organization has been noted with the keenest interest by the Alabama State Commission of Forestry, whose work is carried on in cooperation with the United States Government.

Col. Greeley's administration of the affairs of the U. S. Forest Service particularly the cooperative work with the states, has been such that the South has gained very materially in the development of forestry. In most quarters it is felt that during Col. Greeley's incumbency the high water mark of effectiveness of Government assistance to the states, in all forestry matters whose disposition lay wholly with in the Forest Service, was reached.

It is regarded especially fortunate that Col. Greeley's new connection is in a field that will permit his great influence for the advancement of forestry to be continued rather than lessened. Forestry is becoming more and more a matter of actual practice, rather than of mere talk, and in this field Col. Greeley's abilities will undoubtedly be exerted to the ultimate benefit of sound progress.

Major R. Y. Stuart who succeeds Col. Greeley is well known to the staff of the Alabama Commission of Forestry, Major Stuart and Col. Page S. Bunker, Alabama State Forester, having served together in the West. It is anticipated that the cooperative forestry work between the Government and the states will be emphasied during his administration, this being a feature of the branch over which Major Stuart had charge prior to his pomotion to Chief Forester.

DRY CONVENTION IN FROM FROM MARCH 2 TO 7

All prohibition questions, from the possibilities of dry and wet candidates, candidates for the presidency and other offices, to local problems of enforcement will be discussed at the prohibition convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America for the South-eastern States, to be held at St. Petersburg, Florida, from March 4 to 7. Churches and temperance groups in Alabama, Florida Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia will attend.

The attitude of the dry forces of the South on a wet candidate for the presidency will probably be the principal topic before the convention because of the fact that the President of the United States appoints the Secretary of the Treasury who has charge of prohibition enforcement. The Attorney General whose department is responsible for prosecution of violators of the federal laws, the members of the Supreme Court who decide constitutional questions involying prohibition, federal judges, district attorneys and ambassadors to foreign countries with whom we either have or are arranging treaties concerning liquor smuggling.

Anti-Saloon League superintendents from the various states and other dry leaders will present local problems involving enforcement and will make suggestions concerning additional legislation that may be desired in their states.

The new educational program of the Anti-Saloon League will be outlined to the convention with the suggestion that since the South has been dry for a longer time than any other section of the nation, there is a special need for the education of the young folk of the South who are without any personal knowledge of the evils of the legalized liquor traffic. Ernest H. Cherrington, Litt. D., LL. D., director of the Educational Department of the League and general secretary to the World League Against Alcoholism, will speak on this theme. Among other prominent speakers will be F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, the Rev. A. J. Barton, D. D., head of the Social Service Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, Atlanta, Ga., and Bishop J. Cannon, Jr. of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of Washington, D. C.

and this impressive figure represents about the amount planned and authorized for investment during 1923—$750,000,000 spent by the railroads in order to provide improved freight and passenger transportation for the people of the United States. This country already enjoys the finest and lowest cost system of transportation in the world—yet the owners and managers (by expending the above sum in 1927, in addition to the enormous charges for repair and upkeep) are striving constantly and earnestly to make it even better.

During 1927, the L. & N. spent $16,400,000 for improvements necessary to keep pace with modern requirements; and it has authorized and contracted for the sum of $18,000,000 for similar betterments during 1928. The steam railroads of America deserve your patronage. Travel and ship by train.

TO THE PARENTS OF CHILTON COUNTY—

Spring will soon be here and all hands will be needed in the field. It has been customary for some farmers to take their children out of school as soon as spring plowing begins. This, however, cannot be permitted this year because of the new school attendance law passed by the legislature last summer, and which became effective in this county January 1, 1928.

According to this Law:

1. The compulsory term is from the beginning to the end of the school term.
2. The compulsory age is 7 years to 16 years.
3. The parent is held responsible for the child's failure to attend.
4. One written notice is sent to parent requiring attendance within three days. If not complied with, attendance officer has authority to proceed as deemed advisable.
5. Conviction of such misdemeanor on part of parent is punishable by a fine of not more than $100.00 and may also be punishable by a sentence of hard labor for not more than 90 days.

We realize that this notice is not necessary for many parents who are striving for the best for their children, but take this opportunity to tell all the provisions of the new law.—Mrs. C. E. Sapp, Attendance Officer.

Frequent Bilious Attacks

"I suffered with severe bilious attacks which came on me two or three times every month," says Mr. Ollie Miller, of Murray, Ky. "I would become dizzy. My head would ache terribly, feeling as if it would almost burst. It felt exactly like a tight band was being drawn closer and closer around my temples.

"My stomach would be so upset I could not retain any kind of nourishment for hours. I would have to quit work and go to bed.

"My color was awful. I was yellow and my skin was drawn and dry. I did not have any energy—no ambition to work. I was just about half sick most of the time because of these spells.

"One day one of my neighbors, who has used Thedford's Black-Draught for years, said he had noticed how bad my color was and thought it would help me.

"I got some Black-Draught immediately and began to take it regularly until I got my system clear of the poison I had been absorbing. I soon began to feel better and developed a fine appetite. I had no more bad headaches or bilious spells." E-128 by all the rest of the people of the United States.

"Let it be understood that I make no war, and the Democratic party makes no war, upon honest capital, honestly administered.

"What we have always declared for is the protection of capital against dishonest aggression, whether that aggression is by radical and destructive elements, or whther it is by combinations in restraint of honest trade.

"Our theory is that the high seas of commerce and enterprise should be free for all honest vessels, and that pirate ships shall not be permitted to destroy them.

"Our purpose should be to open every avenue to enterprise, to ambition and to genius; to allow it free sway to the energies of the people, interposing only when the power of wealth is employed unjustly or criminally. Especially have we stood through the years against the granting of special advantages and privileges. So we stand today.

"The story of the last eight years is a complete demonstration. On the fourth day of March, 1921, the Republican party came into power. Its candidate for president was selected in a room where a few wealthy men or representatives of wealthy men, consorted with Harry M. Daughtery, then beyond doubt formulating the conspiracy of robbery and theft which has since disgraced the republic. Thus, their candidate was chosen.

"A trumulent and obedient convention merely registered the will of the conspirators.

"Andrew W. Mellon was at once placed at the head of the treasury, and became ex-officia chairman of the federal reserve board. In that double capacity, he has exercised a tremendous, if not a controlling influence upon all the fiscal policies of the nation and upon the credits of the people.

"A federal statute forbade the appointment to the treasury portifolio of any man engaged in trade. Mellon was appointed in the teeth of that statute. He was the director of 68 great banks, railroad trust companies and industrials, embracing almost every line of human endeavor from the control of the aluminum trust to the manufacture of a very excellent brand of whiskey. Mellon was at the time and now is probably the richest man in the United States and by and through his associates represented literally billions of money.

"For eight years they have exercised an almost complete control. Mellon declared that the revenues of the government were so low that a bonus could not be paid to the soldiers. He compelled Mr. Harding to retract his campaign promise to the soldiers that a bonus would be promptly paid. Immediately thereafter he advocated a tax reduction of $90,000,000 per year on the surplus preferred of the millionaire class. He prefered to serve his wealthy associates, even though to do so the soldiers who had fought for their country must be denied the pittance they sorely needed.

"It has been charged (and never denied to my knowledge) that had Mellon's recommendation been adopted by Congress, it would have brought a reduction of $9,000,000 per annum upon the taxes of Mellon and his companies.

"Under Mellon's scheme there was to be no substantial reduction of taxes on moderate incomes. The plan was twice defeated by a coalition of Democrats and insurgent Republicans in the Senate; but it was persisted in until Mellon substantially had his way. In all this Mellon had the backing of the administration and the stand-pat element of the Republican party.

"Out of this encouragement grew the insolent attitude of the foreign nations. All of these countries had signed an obligation to deliver to us their bonds bearing the same rate of interest as the bonds sold by our government to the American people upon which we had obtained the money loaned to foreign countries. The obligations so signed bore interest at the rate of 5 per cent.

"England refused to settle at that figure, and the administration recommended and insisted upon the cancellation of a part of the interest then due and upon granting an extension of 66 years for final payment and the reduction of interest to 3 per cent for the first 10 years and 3 1-2 per cent thereafter For the money so loaned the United States pays 4 1-2 per cent.

"The annual difference in the rate of interest paid by the United States on the moneys it loaned to England and the interest paid by England is $25,747,000 per annum.

"A skilled accountant certified that the difference in interest compounded throughout the 66-year amounts to more than $22,000,000. This unjust settlement was forced through the Congress by the direct action of Mellon and the president, backed by a stand-pat organization efficiently supported by a skilled financial lobby.

"Then came the dictator of Italy demanding a greater reduction. Again the financial interests took sides against their own people, and in favor of the Italian government and similarly in the interest of the bonds privately held by the financial groups. By this transaction the Italian government escaped the payment of $1,612,000,000. That great burden was thus shifted from the shoulders of the people of Italy to the taxpayers of America.

"Mellon and his co-adjutors are offering to settle with France at approximately 50 cents on the dollar. The scheme, if successful, will transfer from the taxpayers of France a burden of over four (4) billions of dollars (interest and principal) and place that load on the shoulders of the American people. The transaction has not been consummated because of opposition in the Senate, and further because the French government (encouraged by the attitude of the American president, plus the advocacy of their cause by Mellon and the financial interests) has refused to agree to pay even 50 per cent.

Added Tax Burden

"If the French transaction is completed, there will by the transactions aforesaid have been placed upon the backs of the American people an aggregate burden of $10,705,000,000, which by every principle of justice ought to be borne by European nations. And this large amount does not include compound interest. It will perhaps be 50 years before we are able to wipe out all of our national debt.

"With the stupendous sum thus lost to America every great public improvement now projected or even dreamed of could be completed. It is useless to argue that the settlements were the best that could be made. The whole attitude of our government has been one of vacillation and cowardice. Indeed, the evidence is convincing that some of our public authorities directly played into the hands of European diplomats.

"An administration guilty of such transactions as I have described ought to be driven from power and buried in the grave of shame.

"No sooner was Harding inaugurated than the protcted interests swarmed upon Washington as the locusts swarmed upon Egypt. They boldly declared, 'We won the election and we are entitled to the rewards.' They asserted that they desired to retain the then high war prices, and that the government should make that possible by a high tariff. In truth, their money and influence had largely brought about the election of Mr. Harding. Their insolent demands, therefore, fell upon receptive ears.

"Although the farmer constantly produces a surplus for export and himself can receive no substantial protection from an import tax, these tariff beneficiaries four years ago hypocritically pretended that they would relieve the farmer by putting a tariff upon farm products.

"Of course, the tariff did not produce the promised results. The farmer had asked for bread, and was given stone. Nevertheless, these same gentlemen continue to pretend they desire to aid the farmer.

"But ask them to reduce the tariff upon those manufactured articles which the farmer and other people must buy—that is, ask them to give the farmer a purchasing market on approximately the same level as his selling market, and you will find how insincere are their protestations of friendsship.

"Ask them to permit organizations of farmers which sell their products abroad to purchase in the market where they sell, goods of equal value and import them free of duty, and you will find every stand-pat Republican in opposition, and leering over his shoulder will be the protected manufacturer insisting that the sacred tariff shall not be touched.

"That tariff they proposed to maintain, although last year they shipped more than $4,000,000,000 of manufactured goods out of the country, sold them in the open markets of the world and at price; from 25 to 50 per cent less than were exacted from the American people.

"It is not the occasion for wonder that as the conspiracy of interested capitalists and crooks had nominated a president they demanded and received the fruits of their toil.

Bribery

"Fall was promptly placed in charge of the Department of the Interior. The president signed an illegal order turning oil lands over to the tender mercies of Albet B. Fall. He (Fall) accepted the bribes of the conspirators, did their bidding and corruptly transferred to certain of them the vast oil reserves of the republic. The scaly hands of the conspirators reached into the Navy Department and corrupted or deceived certain of its high officers.

"The first act of Coolidge was to approve the policies of the Harding administration.

"A senatorial investigation exposed the infamous oil thransactions. In its efforts to ascertain the facts and bring the criminals to book the Senate committee received no assistance from the Coolidge administration.

"Harding appointed and Coolidge continued at the head of the Department of Justice, Harry M. Daughtery. Attorney General Daughtery paralyzed the Department of Justice so that its arm was not stretched forth to apprehend Fall and his fellow conspirators. Indeed, the secret code of the government was used by a White House employe to keep the malefactors advised.

Oil Land Frauds

"Whilst the Senate committee under these adverse conditions was laboring to expose the oil land frauds, Coolidge never lifted a hand. He remained as mum and inactive as a Boston oyster stranded on the beach in the month of August.

"The indignant demand of the Senate that the President should compel the resignations of Daughtery and Denby was contemptiously rejected by the president. He publicly stood in their defense and majestically asserted he would not permit his presidential prerogative to be impaired by a presumptious Senate.

G. O. P. Creed

"It was the Republican national committee that sought in the Harding campaign to raise a fund of from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.

"It was three or four prominent managers of that party who gathered in a room with King, of Conneticut (recently a suicide to escape the bar of justice) and agreed to put up an unconsciable pre-convention fund for Gen. Wood.

"It was one of their burning and shining lights—Lowden, of Illinois, son-in-law of the Pullman Car Company, now "the Farmer's friend and defender of the oppressed," who put up $38,500 to control the Missouri delegation to the national convention.

"It was Mellon who left the president's cabinet to declare publicly in the State of Pennsylvania that the president desired the renomination of George Wharton Pepper to the United States Senate.

"It was Mellon who, with his brother and nephew organized the scheme to raise $2,000,000 to corruptly secure the renomination of Senator Pepper.

"It was Mellon, his brother and his nephew, who had made initial contributions of $75,000 to that fund.

"It was that group of patriots who perfected the organization which collected nearly $400,000 from a single Pennsylvania manufacturer, who testified he expected to "get it all back but did not know just who from" which caused huge sums of money to be toted about the state of Pennsylvania at night in hand-grips and satchels.

"The Interstate Commerce Commission has very recently reversed its decision, granted the demands of the Pennsylvania coal barons and enjoined the carriers from the Kentucky-West Virginia fields from reducing their rates.

"This has been done for no purpose except to give arbitration advantage to the Pennsylvania coal companies, and it has done so against the protest of the railroads. The decision is of sinister import.

"The decision annuls the natural advantages of location Its effect is to increase the price of coal to millions of people.. It is the last word in governmental favortism. It is the high point of bureaucratic misrule, and can only be described as infamous.

"One of the first acts of the Wilson administration was to drive the organized lobby from the capitol;

"The first act of the Harding administration was to welcome its return. There it has ever since in serene confidence held undisturbed possession. Lobbyists maintain their offices in Washington and advertise their influence as merchants display their wares. They exchange information and swap influences; they intrigue, spy, cajole, and flatter; they organize propaganda to deceive members of Congress and to mislead the people.

"They have as little right to hibernate in the capitol of the nation as the money-changers had to crowd the temple.

"And as the money-changers were lashed from the temple so should those who make a trade of lobbying and a profesion of intrigue be driven from the capitol of the nation.

Coolidge Doesn't Choose

"In all the long years of the Coolidge regime, not a single great trust has been dissolved by operation of law—not a single effective blow struck in favor of the libertation of the commerce of the nation from the control of those who have conspired in the teeth of the statutes of the land.

"Mr Coolidge does not 'choose to act.

"I appeal for a return of honesty in government and for the re-establishment of the old Democratic doctrine.

"I speak for the inalienable right of the citizen to liberty of conscience without coercin, criticism or obloquy.

"To the preservation of the right of freedom of the press, peaceable assemblage, trial by jury, and the re-establishment of local self-government and the sovereignty of the states.

"For bringing the federal power within the limits not only of the letter, but of the spirit of the constitution.

"For the abolition of goverment by boards and bureaus.

"For the equalidation of the burdens of taxation; the repeal of all laws creating special privilege; and the dismissal of a vast army of spies, snoopers, sneaks and informers.

"For the liberation of honest business from oppressive interferences by governmental agents.

"The prosecution and punishment of those who by criminal conspiracy in restraint of trade make war on honest business; and

"For the swift and sure punishment of all public plunderers, bribe-givers, election corruptionists and other malefactors.

"These are the great issues. Upon many other problems we may be in division; but here is a field on which the Democratic party can plan its banners; here is the ground where all Democrats may assemble and where Democratic victory may be achieved.

AVERY Chilled Plows

Rightful Leaders
AVERY Chilled Plows are leaders simply because they are really better in many important ways. Avery design is the result of nearly a century of plow-making. Avery plows are built in the finest, most complete and modern plow factory in the world. Scientific accuracy in the selection and testing of materials insures strength, durability, and almost perfect work. Avery repair parts always fit perfectly any Avery Chilled Plow of same size ever made. And because they cannot work loose they seldom break. The Avery "lock that locks"—to be had only on the Avery—holds the plowshare in place no matter how long in use; and relieves strain on bolts. Guarantee tag as shown is attached to every genuine Avery Chilled Plow. This guarantee does not make an Avery Chilled Plow any better, but it is our written pledge of quality to all buyers and users.
Avery Chilled Plows are protected by important patents; therefore all repair parts we sell our customers are always genuine and always covered by the Avery Guarantee. Call on us for all the facts about this famous plow.
There is a full line of famous Avery walking, riding and tractor plows, tillage implements, and Champion harvesting and hay machines.

Resolutions in death of Bro. Geo. W. Fox, Worthy Patron of Clara Sue Chapter, No. 308, of the Order of O. E. S. of Maplesville.

WHEREAS, on the eighteenth of February, 1928, our Heavenly Father saw fit to remove from our midst, our dearly beloved Patron and Brother, G. W. Fox, and took him to be with others of the redeemed in that home prepared for all of God's children.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED:

FIRST, that in the going of this loyal and faithful Patron and brother, our Chapter has lost one of its most beloved and consecrated members,

SECOND, he was ever-zealous of the work, which was shown in the many acts of helpfulness and service, so joyfully rendered to his fellowmen. Many of the good deeds he did by helping others will never be known. He gave unselfishly of his time and money for the support and advancement of the order,

THIRD, that we extend to his widow and other loved ones, our sincere sympathy and pray that the blessings of our Heavenly Father may be with each one throughout this life and prepare them all to enjoy a sweet reunion with him in a heavenly home.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a copy of these resolutions be placed on the minutes, one sent to the family, and one for publication.

Respectfully submitted,

MISS MABLE HOWARD ATTENDS DEMONSTRATION

Miss Mable Howard, who opened the beauty parlor here known as "De-Mables" less than a year ago, has established a wonderful trade and is enjoying splendid success. Miss Howard is keeping right up to date in her work. Recently she has been to several demonstrations in Birmingham at the Bankhead and Tutwiler Hotels on Eugene Permanent Waving, where several speakers from New York lectured on the latest styles in hair dressing, and bobbing. Motion pictures illustrate were given and demonstration on living models also. Miss Howard also gets several Beauty Culture magazines each month, in order to keep right up to date in all branches of beauty culture. The following is a clipping taken from a recent article in the American Hairdresser, one of her monthly magazines, which will be of interest to the ladies of Clanton and vicinity:

Is Long Hair Really Coming In?

Perhaps long hair will become poptular for some of the sub-debs or young girls who want to be "different", but long hair will never become universal because it takes years off the mature woman and saves hours of the time of busines women and girls who value that, to bob. And again, because bobbed hair is hygienic and comfortable. So the brief for long hair will be short.

Any question pertaining to the styles and care of the hands, face, or hands will be gladly answered for you by Miss Howard. Visit her modern shop, located upstairs in the new Mullins building and let her tell you about the new styles and explain her gentuine Eugene Permanent Waving.

OUR OPPORTUNITIES FOR AN EDUCATION

By Clara Chandler

An education should be the foremost thought in every boy and girl's mind of the present age. Without an education it is extremely difficult to secure a good position and command reasonable wages.

The educated person of today has every advantage over the uneducated person, because the world is calling for trained men and women to carry on the work therein.

Employment can be obtained much quicker if a person is trained and educated to the facts and principles regarding work. Any person, no matter what course of labor they may follow cannot expect to attain the highest rate of success unlesss they are qualified, and no person can fully qualify unless they have the secure foundation of an education.

Your education should help you in ted for; and second, it should help you find the work which you are best fitted for; and second; it should help you to become better qualified to do that work well.

Your education should help you to use your leisure time wisely and profitably. It also helps you in forming the good habits of living; and to associate with the better class of people.

All the time boys and girls are in school they are developing and training their muscles and minds to render a life of service and usefulnes to mankind. The training they get and the kind. The training, with the habits they form while in school are the things that will go through life with them. Thus; we see that to be efficient in our work we must have the every essential of at least a high school education.

My youthful advice to every young person is to attend school as long as possible, regardless of cost. It pays in the end. We are more fortunate than our own fathers and mothers were, because we have comfortably heated buildings, better desks, better blackboards, better boks, charts, globes and numerous other equipment that was not known to the ordinary school of forty years ago.

Attending school just to avoid work at home will not profit any boy or girl, but they must apply themselves diligently and faithfully to their school work. Study in real earnestness and not allow a single problem to go unsolved. Good attendance helps, but there, the work is only partially complete; it takes hard, close study to reach the 100 per cent goal.

Find the work that you are best adapted for and train yourselves to that one thing. All your school work is for the purpose of fitting you for the richer life, the better life, the fuller life and the cleaner life.

To enumerate the benefits derived from an education is nigh beyond human power. The modern age in which we live demands not only well, healthy persons with trained muscles, but their minds must be trained also. Today there are great scores of people in this vast country of ours who must labor through life at routine work, when if they were educated a place of greater service, a more complete life and a more comfortable and pleasing life would be their reward.

I am going to school to prepare myself to serve in the best possible my portion of the world's work. It is the birthright of every boy and girl to have the privilege of getting an education in order that they may serve in their capacity of work in the greatest and most efficient and capable way. Thus I say: 'MORE AND BETTER TRAINING FOR YOUNG AMERICA.'

DUNCAN OF A. P. I., AUBURN REPORTS EXTENSION WORK

Auburn, Ala., March 7.—A report of extension work in agriculture and home economics, being the extension division of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, in 1927 has been prepared by Prof. L. N. Duncan, director, copies of which have been published for distribution.

The work throughout the state is covered in the report, including the work with men, women, boys and girls. During the year the county agents and other extension workers worked with oganized farmers numbting 12,000; farm women, 6,618; 4-H club girls, 8,499; and 4-H club boys, 5,401. In addition small organized groups had the assistance of the county agents and specialists; and many others were reached indirectly. An estimate is that extension workers erved more than 100,000 people in Alabama last year.

The personnel of the service includes the county farm and home demonstration agents, the district agents, and the specialists, each of whom works under the general direction of the director, who is responsible to the administration of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute as well as to the federal government. County, state and federal funds support the work.

Prof. Duncan said that the average county agent had 14 communities with organized work. They had an average of 22 junior club leaders and 43 adult leaders each.

There was an increase in telephone calls and office calls over 1926. The average agent spent more than two-thirds of his time out in his county, the remained being spent the the office.

TWO BROTHERS MAKE GOOD IN CLUB WORK

Auburn, Ala., March 7.—A story of how two farm boys of Shelby County, Alabama, learned a lot about farming and also cleared $641.17 on their operations during 1927 is told by T. A. Sims and J. C. Lowery, state club leaders, in their report of 4-H club work in Alabama last year.

J. W. and Benton Letson, ages 16 and 13, are the heroes of the story; and they are genuine heroes in club work. They did the unusual and made a success of it. They were the first two 4-H club boys in Alabama to feed and market a carload of hogs.

These boys were in school at Columbiana. Long before the end of the session they were looking forward to something to do during the vacation. They explained to A. A. Lauderdale, county agent, their ambitions and he advised them to get into 4-H club work.

They decided to try feeding a carload of hogs at his suggestion. They planted two fields of corn and soybeans a 10---acre field first and a 15-acre field later. They planned to hog them down. During May and June they bought 83 pigs for $5 each. They bought corn and tankage to feed them until their corn and soybeans were ready.

On July 29 the hogs were turned on the 10-acre field and allowed to eat at will. When they finished this field the 15-acre field was ready; and it finished most of them for market. In October 66 of them were shipped to the Birmingham market and sold for $1090.40. Pigs, feed, fertilizer for the corn and soybeans had cost $848.50, leaving a profit of $241.50, not counting land rents. In addition they had left 17 hogs valued at $236.67, making a total profit of $505.17 on the hogs.

They also had an acre of watermelons and an acre of peanuts. The watermelons made a labo income of $48 and the peanuts $94 ,making their total profits $647.17. They did the work on Saturdays and vacation.

MARKETING WORK IN ALABAMA WAS BIG IN 1927

Auburn, Ala., March 7.—In marketing farm products Alabama county agents and extension specialists of Auburn rendered assistance in making sales amounting to $1,148,797.75 in 1927. This does not include cotton, of which cooperative sales through the Farm Bureau amounted to $7,500,000. In addition, J. L. Liles, county agent for Jefferson County, cooperated with the truck growers association in doing a business exceeding a million dollars.

Other than cotton, hogs topped the list in value, cooperative hog sales amounting to $496,668.27. Curb markets were next with $313,903.22. Eighteen of these curb markets were in operation and they marketed a multitude of products. Home demonstration agents gave special attention to these markets.

Turkey sales brought the growers $125,000.00; hay $71,093.65; wool, $70,800.00; seed $43,947.45. Other products brought the total to the amount named.

These figures are contained in the annual report of extension work in agriculture and home economics in Alabama last year. The report is that of Prof. L. N. Duncan, director, extension service, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, covering the work as a whole. Cooperative marketing was only one of the many lines of work conducted by the county and home agents with the help of the district agents and specialists of Auburn.

In marketing miscellaneous products it is pointed out that extension workers are providing additional sources of cash income and also encouraging diversification in production. Much of the success of the year is due to the cooperation of business men in Birmingham especially the Tennessee, Coal, Iron and Railroad Company. Luncheon clubs and other organizations assisted in the work. Most of the business was cleared through the state Farm Bureau in Montgomery.

NEWS IN BRIEF

County agents report that Alabama farmers bought 247 purebred dairy bulls in 1927 as compared with 239 in 1926. They bought 437 purebred boars as compared with 296 in 1926.

For the third consecutive year Alabama farmers will engage in hog production on the ton-litter basis in 1928, according to F. W. Burns, Auburn. County agents will be in charge and farmers are now enrolling.

Prices for all livestock produced in Alabama are either good at present or promising fo the near future; and this condition should encourage farmers to give more attention to livestock and less to cotton.

The annual per capita consumption of cotton cloth has increased from 57 square yards in the last 25 years, to 64 square yards, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has found. It was made despite the decrease in the amount of material required and the increase in jute, rayon silk and other textiles. The automobile was a big factor.

In Monroe County last year County Agent L. G. Pearson said that 350 pounds of home-mixed fertilizer produced an average of 928 pounds of seed cotton as compared with 628 pounds of seed cotton for 300 pounds of ready-mixed; and the 300 pounds of ready mixed fertilizer cost a little more than the 350 pounds of home-mixed.

FARM AND HOME FACTS

Alabama county agents cooperated with farmers in selling wool for $70,800 in 1927.

It is said that there is a distinct and clear-cut correlation between early feathering and high vitality of chicks.

Three cow testing associations are in operation in Alabama with 109 members owning 2,545 cows.

The farmer who increases his livestock should increase his feed crop also because feed production is essential to profitable livestock farming.

One-half of the counties of Alabama held county fairs last fall, and state or district fairs were held in Birmingham Montgomery and Mobile.

Pig club boys in Coffee County, Alabama, have succeeded in selling thousands of dollars worth of hogs because they took care of their hogs and fed them properly.

The modern farmer realizes that he must have a satisfactory market for what he produces if he succeeds in selling at prices that will give him a fair return.

In Cuba sugar plantings are limited by law, but a press dispatch says that many share the view that such regulation is ruinous to the country and will not increase the sugar prices.

Power In Alabama Shown To Be Cheap

Figures Given Congress Show Rate of 1.24c K. W. Hour

Washington, March 10.—Light and power rates of the Alabama Power Company average less than those of six outstanding municipally operated utility properties of the country and only slightly more than those of Tacoma, Wash., according to a communication from that corporation to Senator Tom Heflin, placed in the Congressional Record by him, in response to figures of Kenneth G. Harlan, public utility expert of Tacoma, comparing rates in Tacoma and in Alabama which were inserted in the Record of Feb. 15 by Senator Walsh, of Montana.

The municipal properties whose average gross rates exceed that of the Alabama Power Company are stated as Seattle, 2.17 cents per kilowatt hour; Cleveland, 2.32 cents; Los Angeles, 2.39 Jamestown, N. Y., 2.29 cents; Springfield, Ill., 2.80 cents; and Jacksonville, Fla., 4 cents. This is an average for the six cities of 2.39 cents per kilowatt hour, and if Tacoma were included the average would be reduced to 2.18 cents, which compares with an average for the Alabama Power Company of 1.24 cents, and 1.04 cents for Tacoma.

Taxes Cited

Taxes to federal, state, county and municipal governments, and higher operating costs due to serving many scattered communities throughout practically the entire state of Alabama, are cited by the Alabama Power Company in explanation of the lower rate for the Tacoma municipal plant, which pays no taxes and serves only a single large city.

Lighting rates in 23 communities, whose municipally owned plants were sold to the Alabama Power Company by vote of the people, have been reduced from 20 to 64 per cent. the statement points out, the maximum lighting rate in Alabama, except in a few isolated cases, being 9 cent per kilowatt hour for the initial block, with a sliding scale downward to 5 cents. Where electricity for cooking, heating and other household uses is combined with lighting, the rate scales down to 1-2 cents, the statement shows.

ARM SEVERED, LAD JOURNEYS ALONE TO CALERA DOCTOR

Calera, Ala., March 7.—J. C. Hicks, 15-year old Jemison lad, may never have read about the stoicism of the ancient Spartans, but he displayed a similar brand of fortitude here Wednesday in an accident in which his right arm was lost.

Young Hicks had been iding freight trains between Jemison and Calera recently, and only Wednesday was warned by Deputy Sheriff J. L. Long, of Calera.

Not 20 minutes after Longs warning, Hicks caught a ride on a freight to return to his home in Jemison. A quarter of a mile out of Calera another freight met the one on which he was riding, and the lad, who was clinging to the side, was brushed off.

He was swept under the wheels and his right arm was severed. Leaving the arm between the rails, Hicks walked the distance back to Calera, unaided, he ascended a flight of steps to the office of Dr. C. O. Lawrence.

He refused assistance and climbed on the operating table alone. The lad was taken to the Central Alabama Hospital at Clanton, where it was said his condition was satisfactory.

Highway Officer Visits Chilton Co.

All Vehicles—Wagons, Cars And Buggies Must Have Light

Clanton was visited by State Traffic Officers Berto H. Johnson, and J. M. McLeod Monday, and while here, they informed a representative of the News that they were merely on an inspection tour, but that the new highway traffic laws would be enforced after April 1st.

The highway laws passed by the last Legislature among other things require that all vehicles, buggies, wagons, trucks, motorcycles and bicycles and the like,be equipped with certain kinds of lights during certain hours. Section 93 governing lights for vehicles is as follows:

SECTION 93. REQUIREMENTS AS TO HEAD LAMPS AND AUXILIARY DRIVING LAMPS:

(a) The head lamps on motor vehicles shall be so constructed, arranged and adjusted that, they will at all times mentioned in section 91 and under normal atmospheric conditions and on a level road produce a driving light sufficient to render clearly discernible a person two hundred feet ahead, but shall not project a glaring or dazzling light to persons in front of such headlamps.

(b) Head lamps shall be deemed to comply with the foregoing provisions prohibiting glaring and dazzling lights if none of the bright portion of the head lamp beams rise above a horizontal plane passing through the lamp centers parallel to the level road upon which the loaded vehicle stands and in no case higher than forty-two inches, seventy-five feet ahead of the vehicle

(c) Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished as provided in section 103 of this article.

And in Section 91—(A) the following will be found in regard to vehicles:

Section 91. REQUIRED LIGHTING EQUIPMENT OF VEHICLES.

(a) When vehicles must be equipped.

Every vehicle upon a highway within this State during the period from a half hour after sunset to a half hour bfore sunrise and at any other time when there is not sufficient light to render clearly discernible any person on the highway at a distance of two hundred feet ahead, shall be equipped with lighted front and rear lamps as in this section respectively required for different classes of vehicles and subject to exemption with reference to lights on parked vehicles as declared in section 97.

The new law is already being enforced in some sections and 250 arrests were made in Mobile one Sunday recently. The penalty for violation of the new highway laws is heavy and everyone should acquaint himself with the new laws and comply with the requirements in order to avoid possible arrest.

Writer Tells Story Of Death Swept Bridge In France

How Hon. Lamar Jeffers of Alabama Won D. S. C. 10 Years ago in France

On an October morning in 1918, a young officer who was later to come to Washington as a Congressman led his infantry company single-file across a little river in France, over a wrecked bridge mended with rough planks tied together.

An unseen enemy riddled the company with machine-gun fire. It was annihilated almost to a man. The young officer was given the distinguished Service Cross for his part in that early morning attack and the preparation leading up to it.

During the Meuse-Argonne Drive

"There should have been 250 crosses instead of one," says Rep. Lamar Jerrers of Alabama, part-time Washingtonian. "The magnificent work of the men of my company, not myself, won the decoration."

Jeffers commanded Co. G, 326th Infantry, 82nd. Division. The Meuse-Argonne drive was on. The Germans had been pushed thru the Argonne Forest, across the little River Aire, in the sector covered by the 82nd. They had blown up the bridge leading across the Aire to the town of St. Juvin.

At dusk on Oct. 10 the 2nd Battalion 32nd Division, arrived at the wrecked bridge with orders to cross and take St. Juvin.

The 82nd had been advancing so rapidly thru the Argonne that its infantry and machine guns had pushed far ahead of the artillery, which had been slowed up by muddy roads. There was no artillery support for the passage across the Aire. It was a black night, the bridge was down, the river and surrounding country was unknown to the Americans. They reconnoitered up and down the stream and could find no place shallow enough for a ford.

Timbers Fastened With Gun Slings

A platoon of engineers was ordered forward to repair the broken bridge. They tore down planks from shell-wrecked buildings and strapped the timbers together with their gun slings.

The sound of the bridge repairing warned the Germans that infantry would attempt to cross at dawn.

At 5:45 the next morning, when the attack began, a heavy fog lay over the river. Co. G led the way marching single file over the narrow and uncertain passage. There was no sound from the enemy. The marching Americans moved quietly. It was hoped the fog would hold till they were across.

But suddenly the sun burst thru the clouds and the fog was gone.

Bridge Raked From German Pillboxes

Only about half of Co. G had reached the other side when machine gun bullets raked the bridge and the road beyond. The rest of the company tunred to the right, into the water, and waded across. The remaining companies in the battalion, E, H and F, also crossed thru the water. On the other side, facing an enemy hidden in cement machine gun emplacements and in eaves of houses in the little town, the men tried to form for attack.

But the machine gun fire had increased to the intensity of a barrage. Co. G was virtually annihilated. Five out of eight officers in the battalion were killed or wounded. The companies divided and sought shelter under the river bank and beside the road. Only now and then a German was visible. The Americans fired at doorways and windows.

Falls With Bullet Thru His Jaw

Jeffers was wounded twice. Said the citation:

"He led the leading company of the battalion over the mended bridge, and across the open and level terrain, where all his officers and almost two-thirds of his men became casualties and he himself was seriously wounded. He continued to lead his company forward, however, until he fell, shot thru the jaw with a machine-gun bullet."

The wounded captain, who had already been struck by a machine gun bulle't thru his right knee, crawled back across the river to a first aid station. The surviving Americans made their way to the shelter of the river bank and stayed there until evening came and they could get back to safety to the other side.

But three days later, when the American artillery came up, the 82nd took St. Juvin.—Written by Martha Strayer in the Washington Daily News. Saturday, March 3.

CHILTON-LANIER GIRL'S GAME POSTPONED INDEFINITELY

The Chilton Hi girls were very much disappointed last Friday, when they found it would be impossible for them to play Lanier.

By rules, basketball season automatically closes after the tournament. This was an oversight by both of the teams when the game was scheduled. When the manager of the Athletic Association learned that the game was to be played, he informed the teams that if the game was played it would put both Chilton and Lanier out of the Athletic Association for one year as it would be a post-season game and would be breaking the rules. Therefore, the game had to be postponed but the teams hope to meet sometime in the future.

Jack Hayes Makes Good Impression

Headlines In Washington Papers Praise Work Of Local Boy

The many friends of Jack Hayes, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Hayes, will be interested in the clippings taken from Washington papers, regarding his progress with the Washington Senators. He has been rapidly rising in the eyes of the sport writers since he entered professional baseball and their comments are always read with much interest by the sport fans in Chilton County. The following notes are taken from the Washington papers:

"Infielder Jack Hayes, 10 pounds heavier than in 1927, is using his added poundage to advantage, much stronger and equally as active as ever the gifted youngster is soaking them out and covering various infield positions like a blanket."

"Hayes, the youngest of the lot, also is the best handler of a bounding ball and heaves nothing but strikes to 1st base and possesses the nerve of a burglar.

"Believe me," Griffith volunteered while puffing his black cigar, "that kid Jack Hayes looks good. He's a young dare-devil, a natural batter and keen fielder. Did some fine work for us last year."

Buck Harris said "Hayes kid looks like a sure fire to me."

The Washington Times sport writer says about last week's game, "Jack Hayes, relieving Bluege in the sixth, looks great. He got a hit and a pass in two tries and showed himself a smart fellow in the field. He is today very much in the running for a regular berth at third base.

The Washington Post has headlines to this effect, "Hayes making bid to oust Reeves and Gillis at Tampa."

Manager Harris hinted after the game on March 8, at Avon Park, Fla., that the old German saying that "While two dogs fight, the third gets the bone' might prove the case in connection with Reeves, Gillis and Hayes, and the National shortstop position. During the early days of training, Bucky harped on Bob Reeves and Grant Gillis for the important berth, but Hayes by his showing in practice, has forced himself into the race. He has shown himself to be a fine reliable fielder who can cover wide territory, has a good arm and seems able to handle double play balls.'

So Jack is into the race again. Go to it Jack, we wish for you many such write-ups like these every day.

Big Feature Picture Coming To Clanton

Mrs. Wallace Reid's Social Drama Will Be Shown at Wadesonian

"The Red Kimono". Mrs. Wallace Reid's amazing picture concerning the traffic in girls, will be the attraction at the Wadesonion Theatre, in Clanton on Tuesday, March 27, for one night only.

This is the second picture in which Mrs. Reid boldly turns the spotlight of truth upon what she describes as "the terrible traffic which annually takes its toll of American girlhood." Her purpose in making this picture was to impress forcibly upon parents, especially mothers, some of the dangers that confront their growing daughters. It is a production that every mother should see and that her daughter should see with her.

A superlative cast is said to interpret the various roles in "The Red Kimono." Priscilla Bonner plays the storm-tossed heroine, with Theodor von Eltz opposite her, while Virginia Pearson, Emily Fitzroy, Tyrone Power and Mary Carr are cast in highly impotant roles.

Dr. L. Lee Krauss founder of the Bureau of Moral and Hygienic Education, Inc., will lecture at the performance in connection with the picture.

The following clipping from the Birmingham News, published while the picture was showing at the Jefferson in said city, will be of interest:

"Stressing the need and importance of mothers and fathers telling the youth of the land of certain vital facts necessary to the young boy's or girl's social welfare, Dr. L. Lee Krauss, president of the Bureau of Moral and Hygienic Education, gave a straight-forward, uncamouflaged talk against the white slavery vice, at the Jefferson Theater Monday night, following the showing of Mrs. Wallace Reid's realistic picture. 15,117 WOMEN AND GIRLS IN 4-H WORK

Auburn, Ala., March 12.—Last year 15,117 Alabama farm women and girls were active members of 4-H clubs. Of this number 8,499 were girls and 6,618 were women. In addition, many others attended meetings and demonstrations or were reached indirectly by letters and newspapers, according to a summary of extension work in home economics last year prepared by Miss Helen Johnston, state chairman at Auburn.

During the year the 38 home agents made 10,298 home visits, visiting 6,116 homes. They received 16,221 office calls and 10,791 telephone calls. They wrote 34,500 letters and 468 news articles for papers. Fair exhibits were shown at 58 community fairs, 22 county fair, and two state fairs.

A total of 5,975 method and result demonstration meeting were held with an attendance of 153,879; and 172 meetings were held for training local leaders, with attendance of 2,427. Twenty-seven extension schools and short courses were held with an attendance of 2,989.

Thirty-one camps for girls were conducted and 1,702 4-H club girls attended. Others present brought the total attendance to 3,193. Eighteen camps for women were held with attendance of 1,013 club women present, others present bringing the total to 2,336. Other extension meetings numbered 1,404, with an attendance of 70,495.

These statistics tell only a part of the story. The object of extension work in home economics as well as in agriculture is to serve and improve the person taking part in it. As a result of the work in Alabama many practices have been revolutionized, and the effects of it will increase because it is educational.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Using commercial fertilizer blindly is one way to waste money.

The Auburn maximum (650 lbs.) of home-mixed fertilizer for cotton in Randolph County last year produced an avrage of 1,317 pounds of seed cotton per acre. The same money value in ready mixed fertilizer produced 1,050 pounds—a difference of 267 pounds, equivalent to $16.02 per acre at 6 cents per pound.

The moleskin business varies from year to year due to production. Some years it amounts to two million dollars or more.

The New York Times says "It is estimated that there are about 12,000,000 children in strictly rural schools." About 40 per cent of them are in one-teacher schools of which there are 150,000. The average enrollment per one-teacher school is 33.

Alabama boys and girls now have an opportunity to win valuable prizes by writing essays. The county farm and home agents are in charge; and boys and girls in towns and cities as well as those on farms may take part.

During the month of January the average of 104 demonstration flocks of Alabama was $52.23 above the cost of feed on the sale of eggs. Average feed cost was $57.01 which was deducted from egg sales amounting to $109.24. The average number of hens per farm was 295.

Secretary Davis of the Department of Labor thinks that by reducing farm labor requirements improved machinery has been conducive to the present amount of unemployment. He suggests that genius direct itself to the discovery of new human needs and to the development of new industries to supply them.

MONEY IS LOST BY BURNING STALKS

Auburn, Ala., March 12.—Three reasons why it is a mistake for farmers to burn stalks of cotton and corn are named by Prof. G. D. Sturkie of the Experiment Station, Auburn, in a recent statement. They are: (1) The loss of plant food; (2) loss of organic matter; and (3) waste of labor.

"The amount of fertilizer in stalks," said Prof. Sturkie, is more than is commonly thought. An acre of cotton making 300 pounds of lint per acre has left in the stalks and burs 8.2 pounds of nitrogen per acre or a little more than 50 pounds of soda. They have 2.7 pounds of phosphate or a little less than 20 pounds of acid phosphate. They have 18.2 pounds of potash or more than is in 150 pounds of kainit.

"To supply what is lost by burning these stalks would take 170 pounds of good fertilizer. At present prices this is worth $2.60. These same stalks have 1,000 pounds of organic matter in them or about as much as is in a crop of average cowpeas. The value of organic matter cannot be figured. It is called 'the life of the soil' by some. It aids in preventing washing, and does many other valuable things.

"A crop of corn making 50 bushels per acre has in the stalks 24 pounds of nitrogen or an amount equivalent to that in 150 pounds of soda. They have 14 pounds of phosphorus or equivalent to 80 pounds of acid phosphate and 40 pounds of potash or equivalent to 330 pounds of kainit; or a total of 520 pounds of fertilizer, worth $7.50. They also have over a ton of organic matter in them."

Although stalks may be slightly in the way in preparing land and in cultivating, this is of minor importance as compared with the value of the stalks, Prof. Sturkie declared.

FARM AND HOME FACTS

"More and better fertilizer," seems to have been the slogan of farmers in Alabama this year.

W. A. Ruffin, extension entomologist, Auburn, has pictured an optimistic outlook for Alabama beekeepers in 1928.

Up to March 3 cooperative sales of Alabama poultry this season had amounted to $16,000, according to J. B. Sylvest, Auburn.

Oatmeal cookies, or dried fruits, such as prunes, figs, dates and raisins, contain iron and are good sweets for children of four and five.

Sooner or later banks will quit lending money to insolvent farmers just as they refuse to lend to insolvent business men. This will prove highly beneficial to agriculture.

Butter for making sandwiches may be softened for easy spreading by adding a few drops of hot water and wroking the water in until the butter is soft.

Atmore, Brewton, Greenville, Florence, and Tuscumbia expect to have curb markets started this year. Eighteen other Alabama cities and towns already have curb markets.

Good grafting wax may be made by heating together six pounds of resin, one pound of bees wax, and one pint of raw linseed oil. This makes what is called a hard wax; the ingredients should be heated together over a slow fire; the wax should be applied hot with a brush or paddle.

FARM FACTS

Calf club work will be conducted this year in Lawrence, Marion, Tuscaloosa, Jefferson, Calhoun, and Pickens Countis, according to J. C. Lowery and T. A. Sims, state club leaders at Auburn.

It is not too late to make plantings of trees and shrubs for improving the landscape.

Fruit trees which were not sprayed during the winter are not likely to produce good fruit this year.

A variety of products produced in large quantities at a low cost per unit and sold well make a prosperous farmer.

If candles are placed in a refrigerator or a cold closet for a day or two before they are used, they will last longer.

Those who buy baby chicks in Alabama are urged to place their orders with accredited flocks. Prof. John E. Ivey, Auburn, has prepared a list of accredited flocks in the state.

Honey, maple sugar, sirup, nuts, mushrooms, milk, cream, butter, meats, eggs, chickens, vegetables, and fruits are a few of the things being marketed these days by parcel post.

There are in the United States 7,000 or 8,000 commercial hatcheries and they are producing several hundred million chicks annually. The baby chick business started a few years ago.

CHEVROLET BREAKS RECORDS

Announcement was made today by Polk Bros. Motor Co., Inc., Chevrolet dealers in Clanton, Alabama that all past sales records for any new model of any car have been broken by Chevrolet with the sale and delivery of 250,000 cars since January 1st.

According to word received here from the Company's Headquarters in Detroit the event is to be celebrated on Monday evening, March 19, with a big radio party, broadcast over thirty-two stations extending from Boston to San Antonio and including the territory as far south as Jacksonville, Florida, and as far west as Omaha, Nebraska. The Chevrolet divisions will thus be host, not only to the General Motors "Family" but to several million listeners.

A radio program of unusual distinction is announced for the party. It will be a "Romberg Hour," similar to the "Friml Hour" which was presented by the same sponsors a month ago and enthusiastically received by the radio audience. Sigmund Romberg, composer of the "Student Prince," "Desert Song," "Blossom Time," and other popular light operas, will be heard on the air for the first time, playing his own, best known selections with orchestral accompaniment.

For the vocal presentation of Romberg songs, noted for their melodious beauty, Martha Attwood, the dashnig young metropolitan Star, a quartet and a mixed chorus have been secured. Instrumental music as a background for the program will be furnished by a special symphony orchestra and a full band.

Born in Hungary, Romberg was educated to become a construction engineer. He never attended a musical school but took lessons casually from individual teachers, discovering his talent for composition almost by accident and becoming a professional only after he came to America about twenty years ago.

Miss Attwood is a product of New England. Born in Dorchester, Mass., she studied in Boston, sang with the Boston Symphony, was "discovered" while pursuing her musical training in Italy and returned to the United States, where for the past two years she has been one of the most popular artists of the Metropolitan.

The Chevrolet Hour on the 19th will come from the new studios of the National Broadcasting Company in New York and will be heard from the following stations:

"ARBOR DAY" FIRST FRIDAY IN MARCH, IS OBSERVED

Montgomery, Ala., March 7.—Arbor Day, the first Friday in March, was extensively observed by the schools of the state, according to reports received by the Alabama Commission of Forestry. This is particularly significant in view of the drought conditions affecting timber growth throughout the state during the past year.

It is not only commercial timber production that is taken into account by Arbor Day, but the other uses of trees are also given substantial recognition in its observance. This is especially true of shade and ornamental planting. In fact, such projects probably rank equally with general forestry in connection with Arbor Day programs. It is the geneal stiuation with reference to the growing and use of trees that is the main scope of such observances.

The younger generation is apparently started in the right direction as to appreciation of the place of trees and forests in the life and prosperity of communities. School pupils, of course, are under the tutelage of competent instructors, while older folks have to learn things out for themselves. Most of the adult population of the state, however, has adopted a constructive attitude toward trees and forests. On the other hand, one or two careless individuals in each community can easily thwart progress and create enormous damage and retard local prosperity. In the long run, however, public sentiment wil lgradually overcome these obstacles with the result that the people will be able to more fully avail themselves of the munificent gifts of Providence.

Following is the proclamation by Gov. Bibb Graves, setting aside the first Frday in March for Arbor Day:

A PROCLAMATION
(By The Governor)

WHEREAS, approximately twenty-five billion cubic feet of wood is removed annually from the forests of the United States, while only six billion cubic feet of new growth is added each year, the annual utilization of timber thus far exceeding the increment, and reforestation is advancing less rapidly than the use of wood products, and

WHEREAS, failure to perpetuate forest growth on non-agricultural land results in conditions similar to those existing in China, and other devasted regions now grievously afflicted with erosion, floods and loss of soil fertility; and

WHEREAS, Alabama's prosperity depends to a material degree upon her forests, which yield substantial returns from lumbering operations, naval stores industries and other wood using enterprises; and

WHEREAS, twenty per cent of the wage earners of Alabama are employed in the forest industries and the remanufactdre of forest products; and

WHEREAS, a prolonged drought lasting with but brief intermissions through almost the entire year of 1927 resulted in great retardation of growth as well as nearly one and a half million dollars loss of timber through fire, thus lessening the ratio of the supply to the demand; and

WHEREAS, it has been demonstrated in the countries of Europe and in various sections of the United States that by giving proper thought and care to the management of woodlands reforestation is strictly practicable; and

WHEREAS, trees and forests contribute to the beauty of the landscape, to the uniformity of waterflow, to the fertility of the land and to recreational facilities, as well as to the comfort and health of the people,

THEREFORE, I, Bibb Graves, Governor of the State of Alabama, do designate and set apart the day of Friday, March 2, 1928, as Arbor Day. I urge upon citizens, associations and patriotic and civic organizations, and upon the schools of the State, the observance of this day by the planting of trees on appropriate sites and by such other exercises as may further recognition of the benefits derived through the culture and best use of trees and forests.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery, on this 31st day of January in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-Eight.

(Seal) BIBB GRAVES, Governor.
By the Governor:
John Brandon, Sect'y of State.

Deciding that it was wasteful to let leap year go by without taking advantage of it, Mrs. Vest Doan, 74, of Centreville, Iowa proposed to Joseph Curl, 62, an old sweetheart.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Williams of Davenport, Iowa,, danced for 52 hours 53 minutes, 15 seconds to claim the world record for continuous marathon dancing.

Red Kimono," which opened a nine-day run.

Within the last year, records of welfare workers and from various police records, show that the white slave evil has increased 31 per cent, Dr. Krauss stated. This increase is due to lack of explanation of sex truths to youths by their parents, Dr. Krauss maintained. To substantiate this belief he explained the laxity of parents in exercising vigorous inquiry and investigations into the character of the young men friends of their daughters.

Many girls of 15 years of age, trusting and innocent, have been sold into uncompromising slavery from which there is no returning, for the menial sum of $50, Dr. Krauss declared authentic records show. Glimpses of other deplorable cases also were given and a plea was made by Dr. Krauss that all young people think seriously and sanely before marrying.

Dr. Krauss, as one of the foremost lecturers and fearless crusaders against the white slavery vice, speaks from a close personal contact and knowledge, having studied the existing conditions in all parts of the world. For the last year, he stated, he has been endeavoring to educate the people along this particular vice question that they may be helped.

Preceding the feature picture, an educational short reel on important physiological facts was illustrated and explained by Dr. Krauss. The power of heredity as against environment was stressed in the talk.

Presenting concrete example of the existence of white slavery trade in girls, "The Red Kimono", written by Adele Rogers St. John, and taken almost directly from court records of California, gives a realistic story of a girls fighting against heavy odds.

Priscilla Bonner plays the leading role of the girl, Gabrielle, who loves too well and is forced to pay the price. Gabrielle as a girl had an uncongenial home and was glad to take refuge in the insincere protection offered by her lover a well dressed man-about-town type. Going to New Orleans from her home in California she finds herself deserted and in desperation kills the lover.

At the trial she meets many hard obstacles, is forced to accept the friendship of a publicity seeking society leader where she goes to live. Her lonliness is relieved by the one friendly contact with the rich society leader's chauffeur. Soon her past sensational trial follows her on gossipy tongues, Gabrielle is forced to make her way alone. Being shunned as a "scarlet woman" in despair, she seeks refuge in the county jail under the protection of a kindly matron. Not finding the matron she returns to New Orleans, where she works out her redemption in service as a trained nurse and is rescued and won by the chauffeur who loves her.

Theodore Von Eltz plays oppdsite Miss Bonner, and other important roles are played by Mary Carr, as matron, Virginia Pearson, Nelly Bly. Baker, Carl Miller, Tyrone Power and others. Mrs. Wallace Reid appears in short prolegue, and in "The Red Kimono," scores another triumph in educational moral pictures—MARY CHAMBLEE.

Mrs. J. H. Ball of Yonkers, N. Y., alleged in her divorce petition that her husband had bought her no new clothes in five years and refused to provide her with a set of false teeth.

Discovering a burglar in a fruit store, Mrs. Maria Cuglia of Chicago pointed a banana at him and he fled.

Was In Misery All Over

"I was in a dreadfully run-down condition," says Mrs. Chas. L. Lacroix, of Montgomery, La. "I suffered a great deal of pain. I was in misery all over. I could not sit up and I could not lie down. I couldn't sleep and at times I would have dreadful vomiting spells. The aches and pains seemed to cover my whole body.

"One night my husband brought me home six bottles of Cardui and I began to take it. I could tell that I was improving from the first bottle, but I kept on taking the medicine, for I knew that I needed a tonic that would build me up and strengthen me where I was weak and run-down. That is exactly what Cardui did for me. After I had finished the six bottles I felt fine.

"I feel truly thankful for what Cardui has done for me, for I could not have gone on living in the desperate condition I was in."

JOHN M. WYATT DIED LAST SATURDAY

John M. Wyatt, age 76, died last Saturday at the home of his son, Emmett Wyatt, near Jemison. His death came as a resub of a long period of illness and failing health.

The body was prepared for funeral by Martin, who carried it to Providence in Coosa County for interment Sunday. The funeral was preached by Rev. W. S. Cox. The last resting place of the deceased is beside the grave of his wife who died last May. Providence is the old home of the Wyatts where they lived for many years before coming to Chilton County.

Mr. Wyatt is survived by the following children: Thos. E. Wyatt, policeman, of Clanton, Charley and Cleve Wyatt of Clanton, Emmett Wyatt of Jemison, W. A. Wyatt of Myrtlewood, L. C. Wyatt of Toledo, Ohio; W. B. Wyatt of Clanton, and Mrs. Eula Hull of Coosa County.

The deceased was one of nine children and was the last one of the nine to die. W. M. Wyatt, Mrs. Ann Cargle, Mrs. Jane Woodson, Mrs. Sarah Lawrence, all four died in Johnson City, Texas; Tom W. Wyatt in Coosa County; Mrs. Elizabeth Williams i Troop County, Ga.; and Mrs. Louisa Gulledge died in Clanton only a few weeks ago.

Among the relatives attending the funeral were three nieces: Mrs. Kate Varner of Phoenix, Ala., Mrs. Emma Giles of Columbus, Ga., and Mrs. Nora Stroud of Union Springs.

John Monroe Wyatt was the son of Thomas M. and Francis M. (Aaron) Wyatt, being born in Troop County, Ga., in 1852. The family moved to Talledga County in 1859, and to Coosa County in 1866, where both the father and mother died. He was married to Ella Varner in December, 1871. They moved from Coosa County to Chilton in 1922. Mrs. Wyatt died in May of last year.

John M. Wyatt became a member of the Providence Baptist church at an early age, and continued to be a faithful member until his death.

COTTON MEET ASKS FOR FEWER ACRES

Auburn, Ala., March 1.—In convention at Jackson, Miss., February 20 and 21, five hundred leaders in farming, finance, and public affairs declared by resolution that cotton prices are now about 3 cents per pound below what the statistical position indicates. They attributed this to "other causes than the accurate facts of supply and demand" and urged cotton growers to keep their cotton acreage within reasonable bounds this year to avoid making more than the markets of the world will consume at satisfactory prices.

Alabama was represented at the conference by Gov. Bibb Graves; Judge C. E. Thomas, state superintendent of banking, Allen Northington of the Farm Bureau cotton association; R. H. Cochrane, president of Alabama bankers' association, Tuscaloosa; P. O. Davis, Auburn; J. Spratling, Waverly; W. I. Thompson, Troy; A. B. Beallie of the Birmingham News; J. E. Z. Riley, banker and farmer, Ozark; J. B. Adams, Montgomery; Guy Rice and Will Howard Smith, Prattville.

The governors of the several cotton states were urged to request the bankers through their associations merchants, county agents and others to assemble by counties for discussing the situation before plantings are made. Bankers were told that too much cotton at the expense of other crops and livestock is "speculative farming and an unsafe credit risk."

Congress was urged to enact legislation for the control of surpluses of cotton and other farm commodities "in order to furnish to agriculture M. Moore and F. W. Gist, state department of agriculture; Dr. W. L. instruments of stabilization comparable to the instruments furnished by the national government for the stabilization of manufacturing, railroading, and banking."

MAPLE SPRINGS

On Sunday Rev. W. M. Parrish delivered a wonderful sermon. We are glad to have such good old-time preachers as he. The attendance was good and the service was fine. After the service the people went to their homes for dinner and at two o'clock the Maple Spring and Poplar Spring Singing Society met and was opened by Prof. O. L. DeVaughn, chairman, who was followed by a lot of good directors. The committee not being present, Prof. DeVaughan proceeded with the service by calling out the directors. The first was L. F. Grant, followed by E. L. Glasscock, Hubert Lowery, W. M. DeVaughan, J. E. Wyatt, N. A. Smith, W. G. Culp, Jessie Jones. While the class rested we had a good quartet. The quartet was composed of O. L. and W. M. DeVaughan, L. F. Grant and N. A. Smith. Then we had some more good singing by Mr. J. Z. Mims, J. R. Robinson, S. M. Ywates, W. F. Gilliand.

We had a lot of visitors from other places among whom were some of the United Singing Society of Thorsby, and a part of the Clanton quartet. We are always glad to have these visitors and ask them to come gain.

Rev. Hughes was with us and seemed to enjoy the singing very much. He said that it was the best he had attended in quite awhile.

The Society meets again on the 4th. Sunday at two o'colck at Poplar Spring Everyone is invited to meet with us.—O. L. DeVaughn, chairman; W. F. Gilliand, Secretary .

the rate schedules in effect in that region and that its growth has been stimulated by a power supply in keeping with the demands of the section is indicated by the statement that manufacturing in the Southeast increased in greater proportion from 1914 through 1925 than in the country as a whole.

Percentage Increase

The percentage of increase in the value of manufactured products in the Southeast is given as 203 as compared with 169 per cent for the entire country In the period from 1923 to 1927, the statement shows, power output in the six Southern states of North Carolina, S. Carolina, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia, increased 78.6 per cent for the nation, and in 1917 the South showed an increase in power output over 1926 of more than 18 per cent as contarsted with 8 per cent for all states.

The statement of the company also points out that while the Alabama Power Company purchases a portion of its power requirements from the United States at Muscle Shoals at from 2 to 4 mills per kilowatt hour, the difference between that and the average gross rate does not represent profit, as out of it must be paid all interest, taxes depreciation and operating expenses, including transmission losses.

The power company's average rate of only 1.24 cents, which includes energy from Muscle Shoals, is a refutation the charge that it is earning a huge profit from the government's property.

The temporary nature of the arrangement by which power is purchased at Muscle Shoals, is indicated in the statement as the greatest factor in the comparatively low rate and reduced revenue now being received by the government from these properties.

In 1927, the Alabama Power Com-Company paid taxes in the amount of $1,327,399, as against the company's revenue of $13,079,600.—Birmingham News.

FARM AND HOME FACTS

The woman who wears glasses should generally wear a hat with a brim.

Cultivating implements may be put in order during rainy days of the early spring.

The principles of high yields per acre applied to a large number of acres per man equals successful farming.

It pays to buy shoes that fit well, for they look better and last longer than those of poor quality beside being more comfortable.

All the jobs which can be done now should be put ahead as soon as possible to lessen the burden of the annual spring rush.

When the children of Israel entered the land of Canaan they took a census of the male population and parceled out the land among them.

Five hundred leaders in farming, finance, and public affairs assembled at Jackson, Miss., February 20 and 21, and asked the cotton growers to reduce their acres this year ten per cent as compared with 1927.

A feature of the evening not to be overlooked was the rendition of a number of orchestra selections by the Midnight Ramblers Orchesta of Selma, who were brought to Clanton by the Selma club, and the violin solos rendered by Misses Gladys and Joyce Lyon, the latter two accompaning the Birmingham delegation.

Thad Holt introduced Jim Anderson the district governor, who delivered the charter with a short but very appropriate remarks. C. E. Stapp, accepting the charter, resonded in avery able manner.

At this juncture of the meeting, W. M. Wyatt, secretary of the Clanton club read several telegrams of congratulations sent by clubs who could not send representatives to the meeting

Earlier in the evening a beautiful silver mesh bag had been drawn by Mrs. J. Hance Alred, this being a present from the Selma club. The Selma club also presented Mrs. Stapp with a beautiful bouquet of American Beauty roses.

RALPH WIALDER IS NEW MANAGER OF LOCAL STORE

Mrs. W. C. Robinson, proprietor of the Robinson Department Store announced this week that she had employed Mr. Ralph Wialder, formerly of New York, but now of Birmingham, as manager of her store.

Mr. Wialder has had a number of years experience in department stores over the country, and was formely engaged in this line of business in New York City. He will assume his duties in the near future. He is an experienced window decorator and in fact, an all-round man.

While Mr. Wialder will be in charge of the entire store, he will devote a geate part of his time to the shoe and gents department and general advertising.

The addition of this member to the already large force of the Robinson Department Store was necessary owing to the fast strides that has been made by this establishment during the past few months, the business having grown to such an extent that it was no longer possible for Mrs. Robinson to handle the business without the assistance of an experienced manager.

Is Civilization Declining?

People who feel civilization is on the decline and that decay has set in should be reminded that the deeds of the few which are reprehensible do not represent the lives of the vast majority of the people. Most of us are apt to reach hasty conclusions based on insufficient evidence, in any discussions on the trend of the times.

One grievous error commonly made is to forget that New York City is not the entire United States; neither is Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco or any other large center of population in the country. Folks who live in urban environment are apt to make the mistake of concluding that the large cities are representative of the whole land, and their views influence to some extent those living in the rural districts.

If there is any sign of decay in our cities, as many believe, it should not be taken too seriously, for it is not general decline so much as prominent sore spots. Too often people are undernourished by the poor feeding of the writers and the artists, and today perhaps we are suffering from malpractice in literature and art. The moving picture has given opportunity for such malpractice, but that is no argument for abandonment or curtailing of literature, art or the moving picture.

When men of the present generation were boys, the dime novel was blamed for the ruination of the young, but judging from the achievements of the last quarter of a century, some of them came through in very good shape.

The crime wave or the manifestations of immorality are not nearly so serious as the lack of interest shown in the affairs of government. There seems to be a most decided determination on the part of the voters not to cast their votes for one who is eminently qualified, if he is not what is generally known as a good mixer.

When the competency of a man to fill office is made secondary to his good fellowship, we are treading on dangerous ground; when the best vote getter is the best fellow and an habitual joiner, we need not expect more than we have been receiving in the matter of responsibility to the people in public office holders.

This looks like the republican spirit carried to the extreme and it means that we are in for many more political blunders if the voters do not awaken to their responsibilities and come to a realization that honesty, integrity and ability should be the yard stick by which to measure a candidate for public office.

Rev. J. T. Williams Writes From China to Young People of County

To the young people of Chilton County:

Can you imagine the thrill that came to my heart three or four years ago one day when I picked up The Union-Banner and saw that the Baptist young people of the county were paying my salary for that year? Just to think that the Baptist young people in my own home county were so interested in missions and in a missionary from among them was enough to bring joy to one's heart. A long time ago I had it in mind to write and publicly thank you young people for this interest and help in the work your missionary is doing in China. I may have written, so long ago that I have forgotten about it, but if I did it will not hurt to write again. Let me thank you, one and all.

Out here in China we meet many dangers and things that make our hearts sick, but in the midst of it all we are cheered when we know the people back home are thinking of us and praying for us. No one but God in heaven knows just how much the prayers of the people at home help the missionaries to stick to their tasks of giving the gospel of Jesus to the people of China, even in the face of dangers and discouragements.

It has been my privilege to do something for the young pople's work in China during the last three years. I have prepared some Study Books and have been getting out the B. Y. P. U. Quarterly in Chinese. A missionary must be ready to do whatever comes along that needs to be donc. At present I am not only looking after the B. Y. P. U. quarterly, but also the Sunday School Literature. Of course, I do not write it all myself, that is impossible, but have to see to it that it is written and printed so as to reach the people in time each quarter.

After we work out here for about seven years we begin to look forward to making a trip to the homeland again. With my family I am planning to go back to America this coming summer. Perhaps there will be an opportunity to see many of you and tell you somehting of the work that is being done in China for the spread of the gospel of Christ, and especially what the Baptist young people of China are doing. I shall bring some quarterlies, pictures and other books to show you.

While at home I hope to be able to speak in every Baptist churer in the county, or at least in every section of the county so that all who would like to know something of the Lord's work on this side of the world may have an opportunity to hear something from one of your own people who has been in China for fourteen years. I say Baptist churches because I am a Baptist, but years ago I had lots of friends in the county who were Methodists and other denominations. I shall be glad to see and speak to all.

When I think of being home again and going to the churches all over the county, this thought comes into my mind and will not easily get out. Is it too much for a foreign missionary to hope to have a car while at home so he can easily go to all the churches where the people want him to speak. In the old days a motor car was considered a luxury, but now they have become so common it seems that even a missionary who has given his all to the work of the Lord in a foreign land, might hope to have one to use while at home for a year going in and out among his friends and the churches. If some way should turn up for us to get an old Ford, would you consider it too much of a luxury for a missionary and his family to enjoy? We may thank God for the motor car, if it is used in the right way. Roads are beginning to be made in China so that within a few years missionaries may go rapidly over the country to preach the message of the love of Christ.

In these days when the eyes of the world are turned on China I am taking it for granted that many of the people of " my own, my native land" will want to hear something of China

Auburn Board Names Knapp; Scores Board

Action of State Board In Distribution Training Fund Attacked

Montgomery, Ala., March 16.—Following official selection of Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College, as the new head of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, the Auburn board of trustees Friday attacked the action of the State Board of Education in awarding the University of Alabama $70,000 for teacher training and giving Auburn only $25,000.

Dr. Knapp was unanimously selected by the board of trustees, every member being present and voting.

The distribution of the training fund was scored as unequal and indicative of an attempt to build up the university at the expense of Auburn, as against the stand of the recent Legislature that both colleges are equal.

Dr. Knapp was selected by the trustees to suceed Dr. Spright Dowell, who resigned. Dr. Dowell is to become president of Mercer University at Macon, Ga., the transfer for Dr. Dowell to be effective on June 1 and Dr. Knapp July 1.

Selection of Dr. Knapp was made after a subcommittee had recommended the Oklahoma educator for the post. The committee was composed of R. E. Tidwell, W. H. Oates, C. W. Ashcraft, Charles S. McDowell and Victor H. Hanson.

The board of trustees set Dr. Knapp's salary at $12,000 a year.

It was also voted to pay Dr. Dowell an extra $2,500 for the present school year as a token of the school's appreciation of his devotion to the institution.

Following selection of Dr. Knapp, Victor H, Hanson. member of the board, at the suggestion of Gov. Bibb Graves, called the new president at Stillwater, Okla., over long distance telephone. In the conversation. Dr. Knapp gave assurance of his acceptance.

It was understood that Dr. Knapp would remain at his present post until June 30, the end of the school year. In the meantime, Dr. Knapp will make at least two visits of a week each to Alabama to study the situation and map out his future work.

Dr. Knapp has had a long educational career. A native of Ohio, he was graduated from Vanderbilt University in f892 with a decree of bachelor of science. He also was a member of Vanderbilt's first football team.

After completing a law course at the University of Michigan in 1896 he served as assistant treasurer of the Iowa State College for three years, later aiding his father in farm demonstration work under the United States Department of Agriculture.

He resigned from the Department of Agriculture in 1920 to become dean of agriculture and director of stations and extension at the Univesity of Arkansas. In 1923, he was elected president of the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College.

HOW A MOTORIST CAN SAVE ON OIL EXPENSE AND REPAIR

Detroit, Mich., March 21.—How the motorist can save on oil expense and repair bills through proper attention to the oil filter on his car was stressed in a statement released here today by O. E. Hunt, chief engineer of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

His announcement followed experiments conducted by research engineers of the AC Spark Plug Company, makers of Chevrolet oil filters, showing that a full pint of abrasive matter accumulated in the filteraftер every 10,000 miles of driving.

This residus possessed such high abrasive qualities that it could have been used effectively for sharpening knives or grinding valves.

"If this abrasive matter had not been trapped in the oil filter," Mr. Hunt said, "it would have done severe damage to cylinders, pistons, and other internal working parts of the engine. Excessive repair bills might have been the result.

"The AC oil filter, with which all Chevrolet cars are equipped, removes these impurities and allows only clean oil to reach the engine. This means prolonged life for the engine and fewer oil changes.

"After the filter has seen 10,000 miles of service, however, the filtering unit becomes clogged with grit and other foreign matter taken from the oil, and ceases to function properly. The filtration unit then should be replaced. This may be done at any authoorized Chevrolet service station at nominal cost representing but a small fraction of the saving in oil bills alone.

"The oil filter is one of many features conrtibuting to Chevrolet's long life and economy of operation."

S. L. Broadhead of Baker Jr. High School Writes Theme on "Birds"

NOTE: The following is a theme on birds and why we should not kill them Sent in by S. L. Broadhead, Jr., Baker Jr. High School, 7th grade, 12 years of age.

Why We Should Not Kill the Birds

Long, long ago little was thought about the relation between bird life and human life.

It is now known that if the birds were destroyed it would be only about seven years that all human life would perish.

If it were not for the birds, there would be such a deluge of ceeping, crawling, flying, buzzing, hopping wriggling insects that the forest would be stripped of leaves and die. The trunks of the trees would be bored into and consumed by wood-cuting insects, and the trees would be killed. Not a blade of grass would be left, not a stalk of corn, wheat or any other food crop.

The sun would beat down upon and bake a bare. bleak and sterile earth. Howling gales would sweep its surface, carrying clouds of dust and of sand. Without forests to regulate the flow of water, surging torrents unchecked, would cut the earth into great gullies. The intense heat of the sun would bake and dry the soil, which would be swept by the winds as dust and sand. The insects would be the last survivors. The surface would be alive with these creatures, which having eaten everything except man, would eat him, then eating each other. Anyone who has seen ants eating a crippled grasshopper would know that they would eat us too. The birls only stand between us and that end.

People who are not giving much thought to birds, kill them. How could people kill them when they know that the Creator put them here to help the people. The increasing ravages of insect pests in the country have brought sharply to mind the fact that the balance as designed by the Creator has been changed.

It is highly necessary that every effort possible be made to protect the bird life.

Not only has the destruction of birds been due to trapping, or shooting, but there are other causes. The clearing of land, leaving no trees, or nesting places is one of the causes. The other is caused from cleaning out miles and miles of fences, leaving no nesting places.

Cats are the birds most and worst destructive enemy, which destroy more birds than anything else. It is estimated that cats destroy 100,000,000 each year and these are mainly young or helpless ones.

Roving cats are very destructive to birds. Cats are very good at climbing and will go to a great height to dive on a nestfull of young birds.

Many owners of homes wonder why they have no birds about. Let them get rid of the cats and note the difference.

Most birds look over a situation before they decide to build a nest. The arrangement may be suitable, but if they see a cat, they go to some other place. Sometimes a pair of birds will get their nest built and be housekeeping and see a cat and they will leave it and go to another spot. Sometimes however, they stay, but feel nervous all the year. They will not go there the next season.

It is a question on the farm, which to prefer cats or birds. I prefer birds. The mocking bird, the red bird, thrushes, oreoles, wrens, bluebirds thrashers, quail are easy to make gentle and friendly. The average house cat is an economic fraud. Cats have been known to kill birds and leave them and not eat them. Boys have been known to shoot them just to know if they could hit them.

A few mouse traps set about the house will do more to rid the house of rats than cats will.

It is entirely within the power of man to restore the bird population and to reduce the damage done by insects to the crops. The main things to do are to stop killing useful birds, stop harboring cats, stop children from getting eggs, and to kill English Sparrows, one of the harmful birds.—S. L. Broadhead.

PRICES OF LOCAL COTTON ARE HIGHEST OF SEASON

Local cotton soared to the highest point of the season yesterday when middling sold for 19.10 in Montgomery.

This followed a government report showing a decrease of approximately 5,000,000 bales during 1927 from the production of the preceding year.

Since Feb. 4, middling has ascended two and one-half cents per pound or $12.50 on the bale. Many farmers in the state are still reported to be holding a considerable portion of their 1927 crop.

FEBRUARY SALES AND PRODUCTION OF CHEV. MOTOR CO.

Responding to a demand unprecedented in i'ts history, and with its factory and sales organizations operating at peak efficiency, the Chevrolet Motor Company in February set a new high monthly production record, while retail domestic deliveries were more than 20,-000 units above February 1927.

Production for the month just ended was 116,943 cars and trucks. The best previous Chevrolet month was May, 1927, with an outlet of 115,623 units. Production this February shows a 36 percent gain over the 85,817 cars and trucks built last February, and is more than four times the 28,081 units built in February, 1925.

Domestic retail deliveries for this period are estimated at 80,000 units as against 58,233 in February, 1927.

Since introduction of the Bigger and Better Chevrolet on January 1, previous records have been consistently shattered before the buying enthusiasm displayed throughout the world. A large number of cars now being built are going into the export market to meet the demand for the new Chevrolet evident on every country on the globe.

The fourteen domestic Chevrolet plants are operating on full time to keep production on an even keel with orders piling up. Day and night shipments are going out from the seven assembly plants in the United States to keep dealers everywhere stocked with an ample number to assure prompt delivery.

March promises to out-do even the high figures set during February.

As February volume set new records so January production and sales exceeded by a wide margin any similar performance for the month in the history of the company.

January retail deliveries in the United States totaled 61.007 cars, against 42,680 in January 1927, and 27,487 in January 1926. Production was 91,584 cars and trucks against 73,-676 the previous January.

Up to March 1, the total number of Bigger and Better Chevrolets biult was 241,300 units, 32,773 having been manufactured in December aand shipped to dealers so that they might have cars for display purposes when the car was publicly announced on January 1. The achievement of building nearly a quarter-million new cars in so short a space of time has never been duplicated in the history of the industry.

As a result of the reception the new car is receiving, which made possible the new records so far established in 1928, unbounded enthusiasm existed throughout the Chevrolet organization. Factory officials are more than ever confident that 1928 volume will be consdeiably above last year's figure, when a million units were built by the Chevrolet Motor Company.

AUTOMOBILE IS RAILROAD'S BEST FREIGHT CUSTOMER

Detroit Mich.—That the automobil. is one of the railroad's best customers was revealed here today with the announcement that the freight bill of the Chevrolet Motor Company for 1927 representing inbound and outbound shipments to the fourteen domestic Chevrolet plants was $31,875,556.00.

In releasing this figure, C. R. Schaff, general traffic director of the Chevrolet Motor Company stated that it covered the movement of 289,575 carloads of freight totaling 5,950 263,608 pounds, as 208 152,247 pounds of less-than-carload freight.

"Of our total freight movement, 153,-496 carloads represented inbound shipments—materials and parts for building cars which were received from sources of supply only. This figure does not include the enormous amount of freight cars required to move this tonnage, in its raw state, into the various points where it was manufactured before being shipped to the Chevrolet Motor Company.

"Outbound shipments—finished automobiles and 237,990,146 pounds of export traffic—totaled 136,079 carloads weighing 1,972,962 117 pounds These figures are exclusive of 262,-551 drive-away which would have approximated 65 638 additional carloads, and of outbound shipments from parts and service depots

"This tremendous freight movemtnt was accomplished through the splendid service and co-operation extended by the railroads. While no figures are available yet to show the carload movement of the entire automobile industry for 1927, it is estimated to be approximately 900 000 carloads of automobiles and parts; while the total number of crloads shipped last year which can be directly credited to the automobile industry is estimated at 3,-125,000. Considering this huge volume it is obvious that the automobile is one of the railroad's chief benefactors.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS YOUNG

On March 15th, the Montgomery Advertiser celebrated its One-hundredth anniversary with a special edition in its history, 128 pages, including the regular daily news section, and in that edition was found the most elaborate portrayals of Alabama's greatness ever assembled in any newspaper in the state.

We do not hesititate in extending our heartiest felicitations to the management of "Grandma Advertiser" for presenting this bit of journalism in such an alluring costume for the Advertiser's birthday costume.

ROADS IN BAD SHAPE

A ride over the secondary and rural highways in the county will easily convince anyone that they are in a deplorable state. We do not have reference to the paved road, which is maintained by the state highway department, but to the secondary roads.

Autoists who have occasion to drive the highways around Clanton have no difficulty in realizing the value of preparing in the fall against the worst enemy of any kind of road—winter weather. Road repair work should be kept up at every season of the year, of course. But experience in every part of country has shown that where needed repairs were made in the fall months far less work and expense was necessary in the spring. The elements damage roads more than the travel over them. But once out of repair, it is natural that travel is going to run them down a good deal faster. But there is no longer any excuse for letting them get in bad shape. Every community has thousands of dollars invested in automobiles, and this money is lost if highways are unfit for their operation.

Not only that, but the auto has eliminated distance to such an extent that towns 25 to 50 miles from each other may be said to be business competitors. The one reached over good roads is going to get the bulk of the trade. Again, repairs on autos form an item always to be considered. Taxpayers who are content to travel over bad roads are forced to buy more repairs and more tores than those who insist upon impoved highways. So permitting roads to become run down and worn out is a losing proposition for any community. Let us hope road officials will profit by experience and begin putting their best efforts on our highways in the fall, the most logical season of the year for such work.

CAUSE OF ACCIDENTS

We have taken occasion to question several Clanton auto owners recently with a view to learning, if possible, just what causes the greatest number of accidents. While some attribute them to a lack of courtesy on the part of a certain type of driver, and others believe it is the willingness of still another type to "take a chance," a majority seem to be of the opinion that defective headlights are responsible for the greatest number of mishaps.

One sees all sorts and varieties of headlights in the course of a night ride, even though the ride be of short duration. There are blazing one-eyed lights, burning so that the approaching drivers cannot tell whether it is the right or left light that is going. There are the extreme high-powered bulbs, and the spot light so placed that it reflects directly into the eyes of an approaching driver. And the general plan of "dimming" for an oncoming machine seems to be going out of style.

For country driving bright lights are necessary, but it is not necessary to direct the beams into the faces of other drivers or to use illegal lights or lenses. Motorists who do these things deserve to be hailed into court to explain their actions. There is no desire on anyone's part to make trouble for their fellow-motorists. But when so many agree that inattention to headlights, and refusal to use them properly is the cause of most mishaps, then such strenuous methods as stiff fines and an occasional jail sentence would seem necessary.

Another cause of accidents is caused by people walking along a highway, where there is no sidewalk walking on the right side of the road, when they should walk on the left. By doing this those walking would always meet the traffic,and be prepared to avoid the possibility of being struck.

A man in Vermont got a life sentence and stopped eating. That's one way to shorten a sentence.

The demand is growing that hell be put on the map as a parking place for hit and run drivers.

More than one Clanton man is credited with being hard-headed when the fact of the business is he is only hard-hearted.

The year 1928 promises to be another hard one for those people around Clanton who think they can get something for nothing.

Education is great stuff, but it often happens that the boy who never passed the eighth grade has to help a brother who went through college.

Any time a Clanton man asks you for an honest opinion of himself, he means he wants a mess of salve.

In a bungalowette with a dinette and a kitchenette, we suppose the bride would be called the housekeeperette.

A manufacturer says that 85 percent of the American people can drive cars. He means that number can sit behind a steering wheel and trust to luck.

No Clanton man really reaches the age of discretion until he commences to find out that all of the darned fools are not in one political party.

Some wealthy women spend their time doing things for the poor while their husbands spend their time doing things to the poor.

Family quarrels over money occur because father has it and mother wants it, or mother has it and father wants it, or because neither one of them has it.

The old home town is the one that observes your success in the city and wonder how you keep folks fooled.

There's a time in the life of every Clanton man when he wonders how some fellows manage to accumulate money and friends at the same time.

We read in a magazine that 30 is the proper age for a woman. If she isn't proper by that time she never will be.

In the U. S. every child has a chance to become President. In Mexico the same opportunity is open to every bandit.

One reason why some Clanton boys never get very far on the road to success is because it looks so rough they're afraid to start on it.

A woman's handerchief and her umbrella always strikes us as two things that never are big enough for their jobs.

His socks may have holes in them, but father never gets a chance to have any holes burned in his pockets from carrying money in them.

If Clanton women made patch-work quilts these days, they could take a whole skirt and wouldn't have to waste time cutting it up.

The first thing every June groom is going to learn is that it's a lot easier to make a woman mad than it is to make her happy.

Dentists say that our teeth "need exercise". How can we exercise them when dentist won't let us keep them.

The world would be a much better place to live in if a lot of people at would learn to give in.

How many Clanton women can remember when the young people at the courting age were acquainted with the language of the flowers?

When you find a man who is a wild animal at home, you will generally find that he is married to ta tame kitten.

It is pretty hard to make a woman understand that it is easier to drive a man than an automobile.

Maybe more young men aroud Clanton would mary if they could get their wives like they do their flivvers—on the installment plan.

HUNT EXPLAINS THE "INVAR STRUT PISTON" ON NEW CHEV

Detroit, Moich., March 7.—Nearly 10,000 automobile showrooms throughout the country have echoed the question, "What is an invar strut piston?"—the new type introduced in the Bigger and Better Chevrolet on January 1. O. E. Hunt, chief engineer of the Chevrolet Motor Company, attempted here today to answer this question for the thousands of people who have seen the new car and asked about this outstanding feature.

Invar, acording to Mr. Hunt, is a contraction of the word invariable. It is the name coined to desribe the metal used in making the piston "strut", which is cast as an integral part of the piston just above the pin hole and has its ends firmly embedded in the metal forming the piston face.

"Invar" Mr. Hunt expalined, "is less responsive to heat or cold than any other metal known. It is a special nickel steel alloy of extreme toughness and rigidity and is practically the same metal as that used by the United States Bureau of Standards to construct its guages, and in the manufacture of precision instruments.

"A light alloy piston expands when heated, which means that unless this expansion is properly controlled, excessive clearance must be allowed between the piston and cylinder walls to prevent sticking and scoring, resulting in piston "slaps" and oil "pumping". This control is effected in the Chevrolet piston by use of the strut, which permits a clearance of only .0025 inches between the piston and the cylinder wall as compared to .004 and .005 in clearance with a piston that has no controlled expansion.

A practical demonstration of the controlling properties of invar strut pistons was held recently. All the water was drained from the radiator of a test car, a blanket was thrown over the hood, and the engine was run at high speed for an extended period without a single piston scoring or seizing the wall of the cylinder block.

"Invar strut pistons have been used for a long time on some of America's costliest cars. They have been thoroughly tested and proven entirely satisfactory.

"Inclusion of them on the 1928 Chevrolet involves a considerable outlay. They cost three times as much as the ordinary piston. The Chevrolet Motor Company will spend $3,500 additional this year on this one feature alone in order to maintain its standard of quality in the low priced field."

FARM AND HOME FACTS

A top dressing of nitrate of soda to oats planted in the spring pays. It should be applied soon after the oats come up.

Aftre all there is no good excuse for anyone planting inferior seed of unknown varieties because good seed are now available.

A healthly crop of plants is secured when the seed sweet potatoes are treated with the bichloride of mercury solution before the roots are bedded.

Curdled soft custard may be made smooth by placing the upper part of a double boiler holding the custard in a pan of cold water and then beating the custard at once with a dover egg beater.

Birmingham business men are calling for farm products from Alabama farms and Dr. M. F. Jackson of the T. C. I. Company is serving as a connecting link between the Birmingham buyers and the agricultural workers of the state.

As yet only a small per cent of the bulls kept on Alabama farms are purebred. F. W. Gist, of Auburn says that very few Alabama farmers are really able to keep a scrub bull because a purebred is much cheaper, all facts considered.

The twenty-second annual National Dairy Exposition will be held in Memphis, Tenn., in combination with the Tri-State Fair, on the plan that proved so successful last year. The dates are October 13th to 20th, inclusive.

NEWS IN BRIEF

During the last 14 years the value of stock in the General Motors Coruoration has increased more than nine thousand per-cent, acording to recent press dispatches.

Early in March, Baldwin County poultrymen sold a carload of eggs on the cooperative plan. The sale was arranged by county agent S. H. Gibbons and J. B. Sylvest, marketing specialist of Auburn. The car netted the growers $1,872.

The Wall Street Journal has observed that the net movement from farms in 1927 was one-fifth of one per cent of the farm population. On January 1, 1927, the farm population was 27,892,000 and in 1928 it was 27,699,000.

Roger Babson says that the American people are now spending about two billion dollars a year on public school education. One-quarter of state and local taxes go for schools. This expenditure of two billion dollars compares with $426,000,000 in 1910. This is an increase of 370 per cent in 17 years.

Secretary Jas. J. Davis of the Department of Labor, says that in 1850 the average production in the pig iron industry was 25 tons using the old hand methods. In 1904 improved methods had carried it to 470 tons; in 1909 to 671 tons; and today it is 1,179 tons. Fewer hands to produce a ton of pig iron released hands for making automobiles, radios, and other things.

Arthur R. Marsh former president of the New York Cotton Exchange, charged recently that two large cotton brokerage firms have formed a combination to manipulate the cotton market for their own advantage. Similar charges were wade by a Mississippi congressman.

TREE CROP MEANS MORE TO FARMERS

Auburn, Ala., March 21.—The production of lumber in Alabama is far in excess of consumption within the state. Otto Brown, extension forester, Auburn, says that in 1925 Alabama sawmills produced 2,235,000,000 board feet of lumber whereas the year before, (1924) Alabama's consumption was half a billion board feet. Consumption figures for 1925 are not available.

Mr. Brown found that lumber is being shipped annually from Alabama to other states and foreign countries at the rate of practically two billion board feet per year. Based upon average prices he estimates that Alabama forests are bringing into the state annually $45,000,000. This does not include turpentine, rosin, and forest products other than lumber.

Comparing figures now with 20 years ago, Mr. Brown found that the annual income from forests is now four times that of 20 years ago. Most of the timber cut then was from virgin forests and higher in quality.

Seeing this situation, Mr. Brown says that far-sighted farmers are taking advantage of it and using rough lands for growing tree-making crops, the same as cotton and corn. He says that in most instances nature plants the trees at no expense to the farmer, and that about all he has to do is to keep fire out.

By exercising good judgment in cutting wood for fuel and other purposes forests are thinned and undesirable trees removed, thereby accomplishing the desirde goal and at the same time improving the forest by thinning out nu desirable trees.

MORE EFFICIENCY IS FARMER'S GOAL

Auburn, Ala., March 21.—The trend of farming in Alabama is toward efficiency or greater production per man. In the early days of farming efficiency was given little attention but now that agriculture has changed from a domestic to a commercial business, efficiency in farming is as essential as efficiency in manufacturing, banking, transportation or commerce.

And indications point to further achievements in the direction of efficiency on Alabama farms in 1928. Under modern conditions county agents are emphasizing efficiency and farmers are increasing their efficiency in many ways.

They are increasing the use of labor-saving machinery and thereby increasing production per man because one made does more work. Improvement in the engineering side of farming is considered one of the most promising developments in agriculture.

Along with engineering, improvements are being made in the use of commercial fertilizers by using moreand better fertilizer per acre; and the net result here is increased production per man.

The same is true also of improved varieties of seed and also fertilizer methods, in the preparation of land, and in cultivating crops, as well as in insect control.

County agents are insisting that a man who makes money farming must produce enough to provide a large income. Of course he does not have to produce all of one crop or product but as many products as his farm and his conditions make it wise for him to produce. The goal is not necessarily large production of one crop but of many crops just as conditions warrant, county agents point out.

TIMELY FARM FACTS

Every year should be a year of economy for farmers with the emphasis on economy in production.

In watching one man plow a small mule thinking people are impressed with how inefficient he is.

It is well to have a spring garden but a summer garden can be had by planting, fertilizing, and working every week or oftener.

Beef production in the United States dropped off 626,000,000 pounds in 1927 as compared with 11926 and the per capita consumption was down 5 1-2 pounds.

The yolk of an egg will last in the stomach of a newly hatched chick three days, so that the young bird should receive its first light feed on the fourth day.

From 1897 to 1925 the population of the United States increased 54 per cent while the farm population remained about constant. However, farm production increased 45 per cent.

The farmer who has repaired his gates and fences, provided a supply of wood, and attended to other odd jobs around the house will find it easier to do his farm work between now and summer.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture and also animal husbandmen at Auburn say that those who buy alfalfa, Johnson grass and hays for which federal grades have been established should buy by these grades for their own protection.

REV. WILLIAMS WRITES FROM CHINA TO YOUNG PEOPLE and the work that is being done to lead tre people to Christ and to better living. But of course, it would not be my desire to go any place where the people do not care to hear. I cannot tell now just when I shall be in Chilton County, but hope to be there some time in the summer and fall.

In the meantime, as I look forward to seeing you, and as I hope to be of service to you, will you pray for my family and myself that we may not leave undone in China anything that should be done before we sail from Shanghai on May 12th of this year? Also will remember at the throne of Grace the Christian young people of China and the millions who do not yet know Crrist Jesus as their Savior.

500 Pounds More Seed Cotton per Acre

"AA QUALITY" Fertilizers Increase Yield 33⅓%

BALE AN ACRE DESPITE WEATHER AND WEEVIL . . . Mr. H. W. Hattox of Pontotoc, Pontotoc Co., Miss., says: "I am averaging a bale to the acre where I used 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer, and on no acre did I use more than 175 lbs. I think this is a wonderful record for this small amount of fertilizer, considering the bad season. I am sure 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer is better than any I have ever used and I will recommend it to anyone wanting a hundred cents' worth for his dollar."—Sept. 26, 1927.

OVER 50 BUSHELS OF CORN PER ACRE . . . Mr. A. C. Davis of Fort Payne, DeKalb Co., Ala., says: "I have used Sea Fowl Fertilizer ('AA QUALITY') for several years and I believe it to be the best fertilizer I have ever used. I have this year a 20-acre field of corn on which I used about 200 lbs. to the acre, and believe I will make 50 to 60 bushels of corn per acre. Corn has three to four big ears to the stalk." Sept. 15, 1927.

SAYS "AA QUALITY" FERTILIZERS BEST . . . Mr. M. B. Gillett of Louisville, Winston Co., Miss., says: "In 40 years' farming experience I have used many kinds of fertilizers, but I can sincerely say that 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizers are the best. I used them this year and in spite of the bad season and the boll weevil I am making a fine crop. My cotton opened at least two weeks earlier. For anyone wanting to get the biggest returns for his efforts I will gladly recommend 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizers."—Sept. 28, 1927.

FINE CROPS OF COTTON, POTATOES AND CORN . . . Mr. Ed Ashwander of Hanceville, Cullman Co., Ala., says: "I have used 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizers on corn and potatoes, in addition to cotton, and have had a fine crop of each."—Sept. 8, 1927.

Last season Mr. G. W. Riddle, of Alabama City, Ala., compared the results made with 400 lbs. of "AA QUALITY" Fertilizer on one acre and the same amount of another make on another acre. On September 16, 1927, he wrote:

"I planted one acre to cotton, using 400 lbs. of your 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer, and on another acre used the same amount of another make. I am quite sure that the acre where the 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer was used will yield at least one-third more cotton."

Later on, Nov. 26, 1927, Mr. Riddle reported that "AA QUALITY" Fertilizer produced 1,500 lbs. of seed cotton per acre and the other fertilizer only 1,000 lbs.

Read the statements above. Careful selection of the right fertilizer now means dollars in your pocket later on.

These growers found that "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers produced a greater yield and a greater profit.

Use "AA QUALITY" Fertilizer for your 1928 cotton crop. You can get a bigger yield of cotton per acre—and a greater yield in dollars per acre.

CHILD RUN OVER BY TRAIN IS NOT INJURED

DOTHAN, March 26.—Though he has had the experience of being run over by a train, Ovey Wright, 3, is none the worse from it. The lad strayed from his home near Newville Friday afternoon to the railroad tracks about 200 yards away, lay down and fell asleep on the tracks.

Engineer C. Oliver, on his run, saw an object on the tracks. Thinking it a bundle, he made no effort to stop before reaching it. As his train came colser, he saw that it was a child. He applied the brakes but the train could not be halted until its entire length had passed over the child.

Alighting, Oliver walked back expecting to find the mangled body. Instead, he found the child sitting up in the middle of the tracks, crying but unhurt.

Last Monday night, Sheriff Collins and Deputy Murah raided the home of Albert Rucker, colored, who is salid to be a resident of "Frog Level". After the raid Rucker was arrested and handcuffed, and in some manner he got hold of a bottle said to contain prohibited liquor, and threw it out of a window. While the officers went to search for the "evidence" the negro made his escape. However, Rucker came in town Tuesday morning and surrendered to the officers, and the handcuffs were still on his wrists.

COMPULSORY SCHOOL ATTENDANCE EXPLAINED

Owing to the difference in taxation, some schools have longer terms than others. Several schools in the county closed Friday, some will close April 8, some April 20, and some later. This however, does not mean that this is the end of the compulsory school attendance period for the county.

The compulsory period is for the entire length of the school term—this is, from the beginning to the closing of each school. Every parent is held responsible and accountable for the child's failure to attend school until the close. The teacher is required to report each child when absent for only one day unless that child has been satisfactorily excused.

This new attendance law was passed by the last legislature and is a Statewide law. On account of the lack of knowledge of this law, it has not been enforced as rigidly in the past as it will be during the next school term.

Mrs. C. E. Stapp, Attendance Officer

High School to Present Play "Am I Intruding"

"Am I Intruding?" is a thoroughly modern comedy causing laughter galore, based on a mystery plot that holds the attention from start to finish and comes out quite differently from what anyone in the audience is expecting. There is really no big star part, all the people in the cast having an unusual opportunity to shine as individuals.

The action hinges around the efforts of Horace Vare, a wealthy business man, to keep from being frozen out of the Blue Bird Motors Corporation, in which he is a heavy stockholder. Blair Hoover, an adventurer, acquires some notes of Vare's when the latter is short of cash and threatens to ruin him unless he will sell his Blue Bird stock at a low figure.

Vare has been forced into a tight corner financially when Jerry, eccentric son of his comrade of years ago, appears on the scene. Jerry is a regular rustic tornado, and sets out not only to save the stock for Vare, but to win Vare's daughter for himself. Jerry arrives fresh from Sage Creek, by heck, and is about as much at home in the palatial Vare household as a bull in a china shop.

Besides his whirl-wind courtship of Margie, Jerry furnishes much amusement for Margie's slangy younger sister, Vi, and the latter's bosom friend, Dora, who is "tho' dithcouraged over her love affairth." And he upsets the stately demeanor of Vare's studious niece, Jane, and her serious minded secretary, Earnest. Meanwhile he wins the admiration of Dickie Waldron, who is busy raising a mustache, and of Peter, Vi's schoolboy sweetheart. He flees from the winning wiles of Mona, the pert little French maid, and keeps his eagle eye on Mrs. Hastings, the mysterious woman in black.

Throughout the three acts of "Am I Intruding?" the rapid action brings about one situation after another in which are mingled thrills and laughs. The comedy is natural, not forced, the characters have little mannerisms which we see about us in every day life, and the interest is well sustained until the final curtain. Every character in the play is worthy of star actor.

"Am I Intruding?" brings a new and distinctive type of play into the amateur theatrical field.

This play will be given at the Chilton County High School Friday night, April 6th.

Fred Hancock, 33, 315 Montgomery Street, Montgomery, switchman for the L. & N. Railway, was almost instantly killed and three companions all of Montgomery were injured when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a truck, on the Montgomery-Birmingham highway, four miles south of here Monday night at 8:15 o'clock.

Klinge and Bickerstaff were carried to Montgomery after receiving first aid treatment at the Central Alabama hospital. Klinge, who is said to have been driving the car, a light roadster, escaped with only slight scratches and bruises.

The wreck occurred in front of the residence of Eugene Scarborough, near the old Cordy Mill Place. The party left Montgomery about 1 o'clock Monday afternoon and had visited Lock 12 where they had planned to build a summer cottage. They were returning to Montgomery when the light roadster they were driving crashed into the rear of a light truck, loaded with furniture and household goods, alleged to have been parked on the right hand side of the road and was unlighted.

The truck is said to have been driven by T. A. Hill of Birmingham, who with his three sons were enroute to Florida.

J. Mell Martin's ambulance was summoned and the wreck victims immediately rushed to the Central Alabama hospital here, but Mr. Hancock died before medical aid could be administered.

The light car was almost demolished while the truck was slightly damaged. Neither car was overturned.

TESTS SHOW BEST COTTON TO PLANT

Auburn, Ala., March 26.—A report of cotton variety tests in Alabama has been made by J. T. Williamson, H. B. Tisdale, and R. Y. Bailey, of the agricultural experiment station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. It shows the leading varieties in the different sections of the state.

In north Alabama an average of 14 tests conducted from 1922 to 1927, inclusive, found Cook 10-10, Cleveland (Piedmont), Bottoms, Cook 588, and Dixie Triumph the leading five of the 14 varieties included in all tests. In more recent years (1925-1927) Cook 1010, D. P. L. 4, Cook 1627, Cook 1616, and Cleveland (Piedmont) were the leading five varieties in an average of 10 tests.

An average of 8 tests (1922-1927) on sandy soils in central Alabama, at Auburn and Prattville, showed that Cook 1627, Cook 1616, Cook 588, Dixie Triumph, and Bottoms were the leading five varieties.

On the prarie soil of the Canebrake Station at Uniontown in central or west Alabama the leading five varieties in the 5-year average were Cleveland (Piedmont), Cook 1010, Dixie Triumph, Cook 588, and Bottoms. During the last three years the leading five varieties were Cleveland (Piedmont) D. P. L. 4., Dixie Triumph, Cook 307 (Rhyne), and Cook 588.

In the wilt infected area tests were conducted in Lee, Autauga, Escambia, Covington, and Houston Counties. Twenty-six of these tests, conducted from 1923 to 1927, found Cook 307 (Rhyne), Dixie triumph, Toole (Petty), Cook 307 (Bridges), Toole-Council, Lewis 63, and Toole-Wilkerson, to be best. The leader had an average of 375 pounds compared with 335 for the seventh.

CROP ACREAGE INCREASES; ALSO SALE OF FERTILIZER

Alabama farmers are planning to make 1928 a good crop year, according to F. W. Gist, statistician for the federal and state departments of the leading varieties in the different agriculture, who has recently completed a statewide survey of all crops excepting cotton. This spring estimate is known as "intentions to plant" and refers to what Alabama farmers said on March 1st that they are going to do, when asked by some 1,600 special agents throughout the State. Figures as given by the statistician are as follows:

The indicated acreage for corn is 3,085,000 acres, an increase of 4 per cent over 1927.

Oats show a decrease of five per cent and the acreage this year is only 96,000 compared with 101,000 acres cut or threshed in the bundle last year. The increase in hay is negligible, amounting to but one per cent and indicating 621,000 acres.

Peanuts will increase ten per cent and a total of 240,000 acres is expected to be planted. Sweet potatoes also showed a ten per cent increase, or an expected acreage of 82,000 acres.

Irish potatoes show an increase of one acre in five over last year, or twenty per cent, and 40,000 acres are expected to be harvested.

WHY —One out of every four, in fact!

SO MANY SMOKERS HAVE CHANGED TO CHESTERFIELD

WE STATE it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price.

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

...and what's more—, THEY'RE MILD and yet THEY SATISFY!

POPULARITY OF CHESTERFIELD CIGARETTE GROWS

From seven billion smoked in 1922 to twenty-eight billion smoked in 1927—sales doubled and redoubled all within five years. These are the startling figures announced by the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company for their ever-popular Chesterfield Cigarette.

This amazing growth, representing a gain of 300 percent, signalizes not only the universal preference for the cigarette as the smoker's choice, but the acceptance of this one particular brand as the popular choice.

It is conservatively estimated that Chesterfield has acquired at least a million new users in a little over a year—certainly convincing proof that finer quality and better taste is substantially recognized by the cigarette smoking public.

This genuine testimonial for good tobaccos and good blending is based largely on Chesterfield's particularly pleasing flavor and taste. As it is stated in the advertisements, Chesterfield's are "mild and yet they satisfy"; in other words, the flavor has been so skillfully balanced as to eliminate any suggestion of harshness or bite, and yet leave enough richness and body to "let a smoker know he's smoking."

Nor is Chesterfield's rapid growth limited to the boundaries of the United States. Sales reports have revealed that this brand is world-wide in its acceptance, as shown by the fact that in practically all the principal cities of the world it is found to be among the leading sellers.

In fact, Chesterfield's world-wide recognition has given rise to another new advertising slogan which truthfully asserts that "the sun never sets on Chesterfield's popularity"—with the added distinction that "Such popularity must be deserved" because of a taste and quality which won smokers the world over and will continue to win them because it is what they want.

In current advertising, Liggett & Myers is making strong use of their oft-repeated "platform", in which they declare over their signature that it is their honest belief "that tobaccos used in Chesterfield Cigarettes are of the finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price."

TO SURPASS ALL PAST MANUFACTURING ACHIEVEMENTS

Surpassing all its former manufacturing achievements, the Chevrolet Motor Company, in the first three months of the year will build more than 340,000 cars and trucks, exceeding by many thousand the best previous quarterly performance in the long history of the organization.

This is the statement of Geo. C. Polk, local Chevrolet dealer, who recently returned from Birmingham, where he attended the Alabama and Western Florida Chevrolet Dealer Meeting at the Jefferson Theatre. The Birmingham meeting was the last of a series of 35 similar sessions held over the entire United States.

More than 400 Chevrolet dealers heard M. D. Douglas, Assistant General Sales Manager, and other executives from the Detroit office outline the sales program for the year, calling for the sale of another million cars in 1928.

The day's program comprised a sales meeting in the afternoon and a banquet in the Tutwiler Hotel in the evening. Addresses at the afternoon meeting were illustrated in the form of playlets, graphically depicting the proper procedure to be followed in the successful operation of a retail automobile business.

Assisting Mr. Douglas in the conducting of the day's program were P. Sever, Birmingham Zone Sales Manager; R. K. White, Sales Promotion Manager; Wm. A. Blees, Dealer Accounting Manager, and the following officials from the Central Office: L. S. Costley, Regional Sales Manager; D. U. Bathrick; D. G. Frazier... J. E. Rogers and Gustaf Ek.

LAW ENFORCEMENT, NOT MORE LAWS, IS THE THING

In considering a remedy for crime, the following statement constitutes the key-note of the report made by the subcommittee of the National Crime Commission: "There is now a tendency to insist upon hasheo punishment as cureall for all crime, whereas of far more importance, it will be found, is the building up on police and court management capable of catching and convincing a far larger percentage of the individuals who commit crime."

Law enforcement is the real answer to crime prevention. Arrests for robbery in England, Wales and Canada average 84 per cent. In the United States, Cleveland and Baltimore top the list with 49 per cent and 47 per cent respectively, while other cities dwindle down to as low as three per cent. The ratio of convictions to known crimes of robbery and the ratio of convictions to the number of arrests made, run as strongly in favor of England and Canada as do the first figures mentioned, and make as unfavorable a showing for the United States.

Such figures tell a striking story and show that there must be, first, efficient police and, second, elimination of loopholes in legal procedure to promote the escape of the malefactor.

Commenting on the situation, the Portland Oregonian says the crime situation has reached a point in many of our cities where the luckless lawbreaker who is occasionally caught and convicted actually attributes his misfortune to an act of God, as he would in case of a disastrous storm, shipwreck or earthquake.

As a crime remedy, the public is generally offered a law prohibiting the sale of small arms to law-abiding citizens. The trouble with such laws is that they are contrary to the second amendment of the United States Constitution, and the criminal pays no attention to them. The honest citizen is, however, harrassed, with another prohibitive measure.

Students of the crime situation feel certain that prohibiting sale and ownership of small arms to law-abiding citizens would in no way check the crime wave, but would make more lawbreakers out of honest persons who they had a right to own a gun, and leave the criminal more free than ever to carry on his depredations without fear of occasional injury by home owners or persons protecting their property from unlawful attack.

TEACH FIRE PREVENTION

Teaching fire prevention in schools along with fire drills, is to be highly commended. If our citizens of the future are grounded in the facts of the case, and understand the usefulness of fire, we can look forward to a time when fire will be reduced to a minimum.

The average citizen seems to forget that destructive fires are a great enemy of economy and progress. Eighty per cent of all conflagrations are preventable, and the result of carelessness, ignorance or incompetence. Very few fires may be classed as unpreventable.

Educational organizations are laboring to teach us practical fire prevention. Yet every year the great fire waste continues.

It is hoped that 1928 will see a decrease in the waste of money, property, lives, time and damage to industry. The movement to teach prevention in schools will bear results in the future, and its sponsors are rendering a valuable public service.

Because he repeated "welcoming him in" as "welcome him in", Thomas Cort of Philladelphia, was found guilty of intoxication and fined.

WHEN PROMOTERS USE "CHARITY" TO DECOY TRUSTFUL CONTRIBUTORS

Investigations of Various Schemes for Defrauding Public Out of Money Disclosed by Bankers Association—Many Kinds of Fake Industrial Promotions Used as Bait.

By W. R. MOREHOUSE
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

MILLIONS of dollars raised under the disguise of charity go to line the pockets of promoters. Ticket sales on raffles are commonly used, and while the loss to any one person who buys a ticket is small the aggregate loss for the United States runs into millions of dollars. Usually the promoters of these schemes first make a contract with some charitable institution to conduct a campaign for funds on behalf of the institution. They are to run the campaign in the name of the institution and share the proceeds. The whole scheme is often one of deception. To those who have been led to believe that their contributions go practically 100 per cent to charity, the following case we investigated should prove illuminating.

W. R. MOREHOUSE

A number of promoters recently contracted with a charitable institution to put on a campaign to raise funds by the raffle of a new automobile. So far as the public could tell from the banners used in displaying the automobile, the full amount of the sale price of the tickets went to the institution. There was nothing to convey any other impression. Apparently it was open and above board and was being conducted by men who were contributing their time gratuitously.

For several days a new automobile, mounted on a truck, was driven up and down the streets, with banners telling about the drive for funds for the charitable institution. One day the truck would go by displaying one of the popular makes of automobiles. A few days later it would parade by displaying some other popular make. Periodically the truck would pull into the curb where it would park for several hours while the promoters pleaded with passers-by to take tickets on the raffle and thereby help a deserving charitable institution to meet its bills.

Thousands "Touched"

Thousands of people, touched by the appeal for help, bought tickets, the total sale running into the thousands of dollars. Contrary to the belief of the ticket buyers their contributions did not go 100 per cent to charity. Instead the charitable institution received but 26 cents on the dollar, the promoters getting 52 cents on the dollar as their net profit, or twice the amount received by charity, while the remainder of 22 cents on each dollar represented the amount charged against gross sales by the promoters as expenses.

In other words, every person who bought a 50 cent ticket for the sake of charity, contributed but 13 cents to charity and 37 cents to those promoting the scheme. Whether you give to charity or make an investment it will pay you to get the facts!

Unfortunately there is a general impression abroad that wildcat promotions are confined to oil, mining and new inventions. The truth is, many stock selling promotions are operated under the name of other industries.

False Claims

A certain group of promoters investigated offered for sale stock in a proposed woolen mill. In order to sell the stock they resorted to the use of misrepresentation and false claims. After renting space on the ground floor of an office building fronting on a busy street they began their campaign. Orally and by printed advertisements extravagant claims were made for the proposed corporation which were grossly false.

It was claimed that the promotion had the support of the Chamber of Commerce, but it did not have any such an endorsement. It was claimed that the corporation had a signed contract for the sale of millions of dollars' worth of its products—orders enough to keep the mills running day and night for many years and accordingly insure its success, but all that it had was a valueless fake agreement.

It was claimed by two of the principal promoters that they had had many years of experience in the manufacture of woolens,—in fact had organized and financed a woolen mill which is the largest in the United States. The facts were these two promoters had not been connected with any mills for over twenty years and they had attempted at different times to promote mills, all of which had failed. One of the promoters represented that formerly he was president and general manager of one of the largest woolen mills in Canada. The fact was the mill referred to had gone into bankruptcy and he had been caretaker of the plant.

The "Charity" Drive

This story of misrepresentation can be duplicated in practically the whole industrial field, and because our industries are being exploited with intent to defraud, it behooves every investor to investigate carefully. He should consult his banker before drawing his savings out and losing them on some wildcat investment.

WASHKOWSKY'S OLD SHOE

We call the attention of the American Bankers Association to the case of Mr. Washkowsky of Brooklyn. Mr Washkowsky is hard working and thrifty, but like so many of us his education is defective; who is to blame for that we don't know. Mr. Washkowsky has been saving a part of his weekly wages for a long time, but hadn't told Mrs. Washkowsky where he was depositing his nest egg. That was a mistake, probably, but an inquiry into it belongs to another branch of education with which it is probable the bankers association cannot be held to have any concern.

But with Mr. Washkowsky's depository it has. He chose for that purpose an old shoe. He kept the shoe and its mate in his closet, and up to the other day had tucked away in one of them savings amounting to $350. On that same other day Mrs. Washkowsky, rummaging Mr. Washkowsky's closet like a good housewife, seeking what she could throw away or transfer to another place where Mr. Washkowsky couldn't find it, as is the habit of good housewives, found this same pair of old shoes. We suppose she said to herself, Mr. Washkowsky not being present to have it said to him, "Isn't that just like a man?" and acting thereupon just like a woman she sent the shoes to the cobbler to be repaired. It was either that or the ash barrel for them, and being frugal and Mr. Washkowsky paying the cobbler bills anyway, she sent them to the cobbler.

A distraught man was Mr. Washkowsky when he next went to make a deposit in his old shoe. "What new place," he asked in that martyr tone affected by husbands on similar occasions, "have you found for my old shoes?" Mrs. Washkowsky told him, expecting to be praised for her thoughtfulness. Women—but that's another branch of education.

Mr. Washkowsky went to the cobbler and found his shoes, but not the money, which we cannot but feel is not remarkable. We hope he will find it, but he hasn't yet, which again should cause no astonishment.

But what we would like to hear from the American Bankers Association is what steps it is taking to discourage people of magpie habits from keeping their money in stoves, shoes, mantle clocks, behind wall pictures, under floor boards and similar places. We have made no exact calculation, but from casual evidence we are inclined to believe there are enough funds hidden away in such places in this enlightened and progressive country to pay off the national debt. Not that we advise paying it off, because that would leave congress nothing to fuss with Mr. Mellon about; but if deposited in banks our banker might have some to lend when we need it, which he now never has; he says money is very scarce. We hold it is not; it is merely in Mr. Washkowsky's shoe.

Seeing that we have been pursuing education, or something called that, for several centuries, we cannot but feel this is a bad showing and that the bankers association is somehow responsible. It hasn't sufficiently impressed on the people that it has banks and what they are for. Washkowsky hasn't heard. There are a lot of him in this Kansas City Star.

EASTER TOYS

With Easter almost up on us, it is time and to spare that we give some thoughts to the season,s retinue of bunnies and chicks and ducks that is annually called into service for the adornment of millions of small Easter baskets.

Cocky little ducks in high hats, striped waistcoats, purple checked breech and green coats are bound to appeal to the child's love of the ridiculous while a mild white bunny bursting thru the smal lend of a large purple eggthat is really a roly-poly is a plaything that will fill many childish hours with delight. Hand-boiled eggs, messing upplaces like the White House law get reinforcements from the chemists who make so many industrial necessities and luxuries including playthings.

Brilliant coloring has a strong appeal for the child. The bright colors that characterize modern Viscoloid blown toys are dissolved in solvents that Viscoloid itself and are therefore, empedlod homogeneously into the material. They are absolutely safe.

This year,s colorful array of blown toys, boasting green and red and yellow parrots, mattily attired little ladies, all sorts af small domestic animals, clad both "au naturelle" and in such costumes as might astonish the most aspiring of pets should he find himself so adorned, and many other toys designed particularly for the Easter season, offers an endless source of delight to the generous spirit of the Easter Bunny," and his millions of eager little clients.

Important Announcement

to every owner of a Model T Ford

ON MAY 25, 1927, when Henry Ford first announced his plans for making a new car, he announced also that he would continue to make parts for the Model T Ford. He said:

"The Model T Ford car was a pioneer. It blazed the way for the motor industry and started the movement for good roads everywhere. It broke down the barriers of distance in rural sections, brought people in these sections closer together, and placed education within the reach of everyone. We are still proud of the Model T Ford. If we were not, we would not have continued to make it so long."

For twenty years, the Model T Ford led the automobile industry and it still serves more people than any other automobile. Over one-third of all the automobiles in use today are Model T Fords — an indication of the sturdy worth of the car and its value to people in all walks of life the world over.

The Ford Motor Company will continue to make replacement parts for these cars "until the last Model T is off the road." That is a part of Ford service. That is what Henry Ford meant when he said: "We believe that when a man buys one of our cars we should keep it running for him as long as we can and at the lowest up-keep cost."

Because of this policy a considerable part of the Ford manufacturing plants is given over to the making of parts for the Model T Ford. These replacement parts are made of the same material and in the same way as those from which your car was originally assembled.

Make it a point, therefore, to see the nearest Ford dealer and have him look over your Model T Ford. You may find that a very small expenditure will enable you to get thousands of miles of additional service, and at the same time protect the money you have invested in your car.

DAVID BEARDEN KILLED IN MIAMI, FLORIDA

David Bearden son of Jim Bearden, of Stanton, died in Miami, Florida Monday of last week, the result of a gun battle with two bandits. The incidents leading up to the death of Bearden, who was a member of the police force of Miami Beach, was one of the most colorful tragedies that has ever been recorded. Although his life was lost in the transaction, yet the part played by Mr. Bearden in performing his duty as an officer, marks him as an outstanding hero, whose steel nerve and unwavering courage to the end brought down the two men who had eluded the whole police force of the city.

The story which was brought back by his Chief who accompanied the body home for burial is about as follows:

Sunday a week ago two bandits stole a Ford coupe at Miami and drove to Fort Lauderdale. There they left the Ford Sunday night and stole a new Oldsmobile sedan, ransacked a cash register and added an extra gun to their artillery equipment, headed the new car back to Miami Beach.

Officers of the latter city were notified, and when the bandits reached the city they were given chase by a number of policemen. A running gun battle ensued in which one of the bandits was hit by a bullet in the left shoulder.

The car gave out of oil, and with bearings burned out the bandits abandoned the machine and made a quick get away. Thus the force of officers were cheated of their chance to overhaul the two thieves. All police officers of the city were notified of the case and ordered out to be on the watch.

At an early hour Monday morning officer David Bearden, as he was coming on duty came in contact with two suspicious looking men at 22 Street and Collins Avenue, Miami Beach. Hailing them to inquire as to their purposes in being there at such an unusual hour, the men told Bearden they were just out for a walk. Not satisfied with this explanation Bearden sought further inquiry of them. As he alighted from his car one of the men fired at him with a pistol which he had concealed with his cap in his hand. The bullet struck Bearden in the breast and he fell to the pavement.

Although mortally wounded the officer refused to give up the fight. He managed some way to draw his gun, and when he had done so he let go a bullet that ploughed through the stomach of the man who had shot him. The other bandit then went around behind the officer's car and continued firing at Bearden who was prostrate on the ground.

Finally Bearden managed to get in position to observe his man and fired one shot at him as he saw him thru the windshield of the car. The bullet struck the man on the nose and lodged in the base of his brain.

The three men severly wounded the battle ceased. Bearden tried to crawl to a police call box close by. Finally he reached the box but was unable to pull himself up to the telephone to summon other officers. Meanwhile the two bandits managed to get into Bearden's car and drove away.

A young man came along and found officer Bearden mortally wounded. The officer related the circumstances and the young man called other officers from police headquarters. Bearden was carried to the hospital and died 24 hours later.

Soon after police headquarters was notified of the desperate battle Bearden had gone through with. Chief Wood was informed that two men in an automobile were in a serious condition on a vacant lot near where the battle was staged. The officers went and found the two, one in a dying condition. The other who was not wouded so badly was questioned by the officer. He refused to give the names of himself and his companion who was dead by this time. The man was taken to a hospital where it was announced that he had little chance to survive. The two men proved to be the same men who had engaged officer Bearden in battle, and the same men who had stolen the cars.

Accompanied by Chief Wood, who is an ex-sheriff of Bibb County, Alabama, the body of Bearden was brought to his home at Stanton and buried last Friday at Pleasant Grove (Shoults). The people of Miami Beach sent many beautiful flowers with the body.

David Bearden was 24 years old, unmarried, son of Jim F. Bearden of Stanton. He is survived by his father and mother. His brothers and sisters are as follows: Mrs. J. A. Lawrence, Mrs. Alice Rhodes, and C. M. Bearden of Selma; Miss Sallie Lee Bearden of Tuscaloosa; Lum Bearden, Tula Mae Bearden and Bertha Bearden of Stanton.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. Buford Lawrence Rev. Grady Williams, and Rev. W. J. Ruddick.

Telephone Expansion Reflects the Progress of the South

THE commercial progress and growing financial strength of the South are so closely related to the continued expansion of the telephone service that the past year's achievements of the Southern Bell Telephone System are of more than ordinary interest.

¶To meet the growth of the nine Southeastern states last year, the telephone workers installed 186,436 new telephones and removed 139,583, making a net gain of 45,853 new telephones and involving an expenditure of $25,275,301, not including operating properties purchased.

¶Practically all of this huge sum was new money secured from investors or borrowed from people who have faith in the future of the South and confidence in the permanency of the telephone business.

¶At the end of the year the company was serving 1,293,367 telephones in the nine southeastern states. Of these 900,441 were Bell owned, 354,890 were owned by other companies, but connected with the Bell System, and 38,036 were located in farm homes.

¶The investment in service reached a total of $183,814,300 on December 31, 1927, not including $1,334,788 of construction work in progress. This investment includes such permanent property as 891 central offices with switchboards and other associated equipment; 3,324,062 miles of wire (3.7 per telephone); 38,476 miles of pole line, and 3,252 miles of underground duct.

¶To build, operate and manage this great telephone system requires an army of skilled men and women whose annual payroll amounts to $24,535,301.

¶The tax bill for the year 1927 was the largest in the history of the company, amounting to $5,094,200. This was an increase of 422 per cent over the tax bill of 1916.

¶There was an outstanding improvement in the speed and scope of the long distance service and in the efficiency of the local service last year. The number of calls was greater than ever, and the improved speed and accuracy of the service won commendation from our customers.

¶The continued friendly attitude of our customers and of the public, and their confidence in the stability of the telephone industry was substantially indicated by their investments in telephone securities. There are now 16,123 stockholders in the Bell System in this section who own 288,186 shares of stock.

¶In presenting the detailed results of last year's operations, we continue the policy of taking our customers and the public fully into our confidence. It also affords us an opportunity to again express the appreciation of the telephone workers for your friendly interest and co-operation.

Just Tottering, So Weak

"I was in a bad state of health and was going through a critical time of my life," says Mrs. Ella Scarborough, R. F. D. 5, Dothan, Ala. "Several different things were recommended to me, but I did not get any real relief until I began to take Cardui.

"I was just as weak as could be. My legs were shaky, and often I would just totter around the house. I finally got so bad that I was in bed several weeks.

"It was then that I began to take Cardui. I kept it up for quite a while, and at last I regained my health. Cardui was certainly a friend to me in time of need.

"My health is splendid now, and I seldom have to use medicine, but I gladly say a word about Cardui whenever I find a friend going through the same suffering which I endured."

There's Varnish and VARNISH

There are about as many grades of varnish as a cat has lives—probably more. Unless you are a varnish expert what chance have you of judging varnish correctly?

PEE GEE
Floor Varnish

When you buy floor varnish you expect it to have the following qualities—toughness to withstand hard usage and at the same time a flintlike surface to withstand the usual wear and tear that a floor is subjected to—it must not crack, check or mar easily and it must not turn milky in color if water, hot or cold, is spilled on it.

These things and more you will find in Pee Gee Floor Varnish—and it's cheaper to use than the so-called cheap varnish.

Come in and let's talk about it.

COTTON MILL CONTRACTS AWARDED

Active Construction To Begin at Early Date

Contracts Awarded For All Ten Mills to Batson-Cooke Company

Announcement has been made in Clanton by Roberts & Company, architects and designers, of Atlanta, Ga., that the contract for the construction of the ten mills in Alabama, to be erected by the Alabama Mills Company, has been let to Batson-Cook Company, of Westpoint, Ga., and that activities will begin at an early date. In fact, W. A. McCoy, resident engineer, is here this week working out the minor details, and a large crew of workmen is expected to begin work immediately and rush as rapidly as possible the construction of the buildings. The contract was let in Birmingham on March 20th, and includes the construction of cottages as well as the plant and warehouse.

The Clanton mill will be a main building of two story height, 234 feet long, with stairways and elevators conveniently arranged. The mill will be of 10,000 spindles capacity, and according to information given us, will be located on what is known as the Morgan property about one mile northwest of court house on the west side of the L. & N. Railroad.

At present the plans call for 41 apartments to be erected in the residential section of the site selected. Some of these buildings will be single and some double apartments. While no sewerage or waterworks is at present available at the site, steps have already been taken by city officials to extend the water mains into the property.

The securing of one of the units of the Alabama Cotton Mills for Clanton was started last fall, when representatives of the company came here and presented their proposal. Citizens of the entire section responded to the cause and within a very short time subscribed and paid for the amount of stock the promoters of the project demanded, and too, the Alabama Power Company gave substantial aid, and co-operated in many other ways.

In addition to contracts mentioned above, contracts have been awarded covering sprinkler system, tanks, towers, steel reservoirs, fire pumps, humidifying systems, boilers, heating systems, etc.

Batson-Cook Co. is one of the largest contracting concerns in the South, and has done millions of dollars worth of such work, and made quite a record for themselves. They have mill for Goodrich Tire and Rubber mill for oodrGich Tire and Rubber Co., at Thomaston, Ga., and a similar plant at Montgomery. The firm is well known in Alabama.

Roberts & Co., suggests that local mills and warehouses who might be able to furnish any material in the construction of the plant, warehouse or cottages, be notified, and suggest that they notify Batson-Cook Co., at West Point, Ga., what material they can furnish and how much and at what price. They will be given consideration in the purchase of this material.

A large number of competent workmen will be needed, too, and men in that trade should be ready to get in the job when it is open. The company will want the plant ready for operation this fall, and will need a large number of workmen to hurry it along. Some parts of the work will likely be let out to sub-contractors, and local contractors would do well in getting in touch with the Batson-Cook Company and find out just what contracts will be let.

The people of Clanton and the whole of Chilton County, are very enthusiastic over the prospects of future development and the general opinion is, that the securing of this industry will mean the coming of many other industries within a short while.

Other articles pretaining to the cotton mill will be found elsewhere in this issue of the News.

4-H Club Boys Have Big Rally Here Mar. 29

300 Out of the 335 Boys Enrolled In Club Work In County Attend Rally

Out of 335 boys enrolled in 4-H club work in Chilton County, about 300 attended the rally which was scheduled for them in Clanton last Thursday. With the boys were also about 25 of the fathers.

The program of entertainment was in charge of County Agent C. E. Stapp, assisted by other citizens interested in the progress of the work among the boys. Exercises began Thursday morning at the County High School auditorium by singing "America". Invocation by W. T. White of Isabella.

Welcome addresses were made to the club boys by Mayor J. B. Atkinson, and by J. Renfroe Mullins on behalf of Kiwanis Club of Clanton. Mr. Mullins is chairman of Kiwanis Committee on agriculture. In this capacity he very fittingly mxed with the visiting lads and showed a sincere interest in their work.

The boys also heard short talks by Mr. Joseph Dennis, president of the Chilton County Farm Bureau, H. G. Boyd, president of the Peoples Savings Bank, and L. H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate of Chilton County.

Mr. J. C. Lowery of Auburn, State Club Agent, discussed the boys work and what the four H's stand for—a trained head, a trained hand, a trained heart and trained health.

From the high school the boys marched through town, stopping at Alred's, Upchurch's, and Farley's, where they

FOR CLANTON AND CHILTON COUNTY

Experience, everywhere, proves that communities, no less than corporations and individual business concerns receive direct and valuable benefits from the right kind of advertising.

Towns and cities acquire reputation, character and personality which stands out as clearly in the public view as we do the same characteristics in the widely known statesman or politician.

Recognition at home and abroad of those community attributes that make for popularity, respect and good will can be brought about and accentuated by well planned and truthfully told advertising literature, widely distributed through the press and by other recognized publicity channels.

With these general facts and conclusions in mind, the Chilton County News is preparing a "KNOW CLANTON AND CHILTON COUNTY" number for early distribution, and it is our aim and purpose to make the edition as nearly a true and complete inventory of county and community assets in the shape of good people, progressive spirit, opportunities for industry, agricultural production in various fields; raw materials and adaptable labor for manufacturers and those educational, religious and social conditions that make for progress and widely distributed prosperity.

The measure of the success of this effort will be largely determined by the kind of co-operation received from the people of the town and county.

The week that this special issue is to be published, a copy will be sent to every qualified voter of Chilton County, as well as to the many service clubs throughout the state, which assures a distribution of between six and seven thousand copies.

Campaign For No-Glare Lenses Nipped In Bud

Graves Rules Code Goes Into Effect On Thursday, August 23rd.

Montgomery, Ala., April 1.—The state-wide campaign to enforce the new traffic law today which requires installation of certain no-glare lenses on cars at a cost of $1.50 to $25 was abruptly nipped in the bud yesterday when Gov. Graves ruled that this section of the code does not become effective until August 23, 1928.

Gov. Graves also issued a statement in which he declared that so long as he was governor "the maintenance division of the State Highway Department nor any other department shall not force the public to buy any particular device for an automobile."

The governor summoned Mr. Johnson to the executive office.

"Where did you get the authority for sending out the report?" the governor asked.

Mr. Johnson explained that he and Mr. Turner had construed the law to mean that it was in effect concurently with other sections of the traffic code.

Gov. Graves then summoned Lawrence Lee, his legal advisor and requested that the section of the law be read to him. Following the reading Mr. Lee advised that the law did not become effective until August 23.

All of every denomination who are interested in having better Sunday Schools are cordially invited to take this course. It is a study in school purposes and methods, and is not denominational.

The other course is on the spiritual interpretation of Methodism, using Dr. George R. Stuart's "What Every Methodist Should Know". This course is to be taught by Mr. Green and the emphasis will be on the catholic, as opposed to the sectarian, spirit.

Anyone interested in either of the courses will find a hearty welcome. Mr. Tate's course appeals to all Sunday School workers, regardless of church affiliation. If you wish to enroll or to secure a book, please advise Mr. Elmore, Mr. Stapp, Mrs. Jno. Armstrong, Mrs. J. C. Jones or Mr. Green at once, so a book will be ordered for you.

The class periods will be 3:00 to 4:30 P. M. on Sunday, the 22nd, and 7:30 to 9:00 o'clock on each evening from Monday to Friday following.

MANY FORESTRY AGENTS FURLOUGHED FOR SEASON

Montgomery, Ala., April 3.—Most of the local agents of the State Commission of Forestry have been placed on furlough effective at the close of March or early in this month. Since the season of tree planting, the peak of the fire hazard and the time for most of the active field work in forestry lapse about this period of the year, it usually is practicable for the remaining state work in forestry to be handled by agents from the office of the Commission of Forestry at Montgomery.

The annual length of service of the forestry agents, whose work is chiefly of an educational and cooperative character, is not fixed, but varies according to circumstances. In 1925 the average time of service was about five and one-half months, in 1926 approximately four and one-half months and in 1927 about five months.

City Water Mains To Be Extended To Mill Site

STEPS ALREADY TAKEN TO ASSURE ABUNDANT SUPPLY

In order to meet the requirements of the Alabama Mills Company, City officials have already taken steps preparatory to the laying of approximately 2,000 feet of water mains, and actual work will begin as soon as the construction work begins on the properties of the cotton mill.

City officials have already taken necessary steps to assure a sufficient supply of water adaptable to both commercial and domestic use, and to meet the demands caused by the continued growth of Clanton.

Adequate fire plugs will be erected on the properties of the new mill, and too, additional water mains will be laid in other parts of the residential section of Clanton. No surface toilets or other unsanitary conditions will be permitted on the properties of the Alabama Mills, and steps have also been made to eliminate all surface toilets within the corporate limits of the town of Clanton.

While the new mill will be equipped with the sprinkler system, Clanton's fire-fighting apparatus recently purchased is figured in as a big factor in the way of fire protection for the new industry.

And right here we wish to inform the readers of the News that they may expect to see many other industries and indications of progressiveness in evidence in Clanton within a very short time. Nope, we promised not to tell just what these would be at present.

A. McDowell Convicted in Flogging Case

ing out of a flogging administered to J. L. (Lem) Jones, as contended by the State and Jones, last January, near Coopers, when it is said that McDowell and another man went to the home of Jones, late at night and under pretense of getting Jones to aid them in fixing their car which they claimed was out of order, lured Jones from his home, and after considerable chase finally overpowered him and with a pistol pressed against Jone's temple, one of the alleged men administered a severe whipping to him.

According to the version of Jones, he was at his home with four of his small children, and had retired for the night, when some one hollowed and upon making inquiry as to who it was, he was informed that Mr. Smith, of Tuscaloosa, wanted him to render assistance as his automobile had broken down and was frozen. He then got up and made a fire and invited the man into his home, and the stranger came in and warmed while he, Jones, dressed and secured some lightwood with which to build a fire at the supposed frozen car, and that while the man was in the house he displayed a pistol. The two left the house and upon reaching the front yard Jones stated that he discovered a man in hiding beside the door steps, and he inquired of the man who he was, and if he was a buddy to the other man, whereupon the two strangers started toward him. He threw down the wood and began running down the road, yelling for help. After continuing down the road for some distance, he attempted to return to his home by way of the rear of the same. He was met by the two men and was told: "I will shoot your brains out if you don't stop", and that he obeyed the command and was praying.

He was told to shut up and was then taken by the men to a lonely spot some distance from his home in the woods, where he was caused to lie down on the ground, and the men administered to him a severe whipping and that while he was being whipped one of the men held a pistol against his temple and told not to even grunt.

After the flogging he was told to get his wife and treat her right. On the day following, Jones began an investigation to ascertain, if possible, the identity of his assailants, which resulted in the arrest of Alex McDowell, who resides in Bessemer, Ala., and the alleged man whom he states was with McDowell, also resides out of Chilton County, but is said to have formerly resided here.

McDowell was represented by Messrs. Lipscomb & Lipscomb, attorneys of Bessemer and Hon. O. L. Reynolds, of Clanton. The prosecution was handled by Hon. Winston Huddleston and A. C. Smith, solicitor and deputy solicitor, respectively. The case was hard fought from start to finish, and after an able charge from Judge Smoot the Jury retired and late Tuesday evening returned a verdict of guilty and assessed a fine of $400.00 against the defendant.

The defendant contended that he, Mr. Virgil Wilson and Preston Grant, were not present at the home of Jones on the night of the flogging and that he was not guilty as charged in the complaint.

Railroads Not Earning Adequate Return

In 1920 the Transportation Act governing the operation of the U. S. railroads became a law. This Act provides that the railroads are entitled to earn a net return of 5¾% on the value of their property. Yet because of serious losses in revenue due to automobile competition, constant reduction in freight rates, and heavier taxation, the railroads, during the seven years of this law's operation, even under vastly more efficient management, have earned an average net return of only 4½%, or approximately $2,500,000,000 less than the amount permitted by the Transportation Law. Notwithstanding this shortage, the railroad owners have invested in these seven years nearly $6,000,000,000 in improving their transportation plants and bettering their service.

Every investor is entitled to a fair return. In the case of the railroads of this country—whose securities are so largely held by colleges, religious and benevolent institutions, corporations, employes and individuals—the fair return under the law must be earned if the roads are to be able to keep step with the progress and development of the country—and, in fact, if the country itself is to prosper.

CAPE-TO-LONDON RUN SPONSORED BY GENERAL MOTORS

There is a motoring tour now under way which, it is safe to predict, will out-do in thrills and drama any of the experiences of some 40,000,000 Americans who will take to the highways this season.

It is a tour through jungle trails, over desert wastes, across rivers unbridged except by make-shift pontoons, through mud and swamps and infested marshes. Four men are attempting the journey, a trail-blazing route 10,000 miles long, from Cape Town, in the Southern most part of Africa, to Cairo and thence on a swing through Europe to London.

A good share of the trip is over unchartered lands never before traversed by a stock car, amid jungle life, where a tropical sun burns down by day, and where the wilderness echoes with the threat of savage life at night.

The transportation selected by the adventurers consists of a stock Chevrolet sedan trailed by a Chevrolet truck on which is carried equipment necessary to hew a path through wilderness tangles. Included in the equipment is a complete wireless outfit with which the men will maintain contact with the outside world, and a medical chest containing anti-venom serum and surgical and first aid supplies. Each member has been inoculated against jungle fever.

The run was officially started by radio from New York City by J. D. Mooney, president of General Motors who expects to sail from New York in time to greet the travelers in Europe. The first leg of the run, Cape Town to Cairo, is scheduled for completion in 40 days.

Heading the party is the famous African adventurer, Captain Lacey. Others are a wireless operator, a newspaper man, and a motion picture photographer. Selection of a Chevrolet to carry the party was logical, following a demonstration of the rugged qualities of the car conducted recently by Lacey, in which he bested by nine hours the time of the express mail train over the 2,000 mile route between Elizabethville and Johannesburg, in South Africa.

The Capt-to-London run, sponsored by General Motors (South Africa) Ltd. was planned originally to end at Cairo but interest aroused by the project became so keen that the route was extended to include visits to General Motors plants at Alexandria, Berlin, Antwerp, London and Stockholm.

Loblolly, slash, short-leaf, and long leaf pines are found in Alabama.

Bright, figured materials make attractive curtains for a room with plain floors and walls.

A combination of corn and soybeans is a splendid hog ration; and it is "labor of love" for hogs to do the harvesting.

Rotating the hog lots and pastures so as to keep free from disease and hog parasites will help swine growers to get the best and cheapest growth and gains.

Secretary J. J. Davis of the Department of Labor says that on January 1 the number of unemployed people in the United States was 1,870,000.

The velvet bean is a good feed for cattle and farmers in south Alabama can let the cattle do the gathering if they can harvest the beans and feed them along with other feeds to make a balanced ration.

Sales on the curb markets of Alabama since they were started, are reported by Miss Isadore Williams, A burn, to be in excess of half a million dollars. She thinks that 1928 will be a better year for curb markets.

Assurance of Cotton Mill Stimulates Business Here

FARMERS WILL LIKELY DIVERSIFY THEIR CROPS

As soon as it was definitely known that Clanton would get a cotton mill, a unit of the Alabama Mills Company, business in general seemed to take on new life, and people you meet on the streets and elsewhere are all very enthusiastic over the matter.

Farmers residing within a radius of 5 miles of Clanton are preparing to reduce their cotton acreage and convert their lands into other comodities, as it is known facts that the largenumber of people who will be brought to Clanton to be employed by the new industry will consume no small amount of truck, eggs, poultry, milk and other produce originating on the farm.

Then too, there will be employment for surplus labor in the several departments. Local people will be given first preference. Local merchants and business concerns are assured of the company's co-operation in every way possible.

The machinery and equipment for the plant has already been selected, a large crew of engineers having been sent to New England some time ago, to make final tabulations, and only first class machinery was selected from that which the company had options on, so we were informed. All machinery and equipment will be shipped and ready for erecting by the time the buildings are completed.

The cotton mill to be erected and operated at Clanton was jointly financed by Caldwell and Company of Nashville, Tenn., and citizens of Clanton and vicinity and the aid and co-operation of the Alabama Power Company.

GARDEN INSECT CONTROL STATED BY W. A. RUFFIN

Auburn, Ala., April 3.—With the advent of warm weather garden insects are active; and W. A. Ruffin, extension entomologist at Auburn, says that there are three groups of insects which play havoc with gardens and truck crops unless they are controlled.

First, he names cutworms which attack cabbage, tomatoes, beans, Irish potatoes, and other vegetables. A good control is to chop a gallon of green vegetables or clover and add to it one teaspoonful of Paris green or one tablespoon of arsenate of lead. Mix thoroughly and scatter around plants late in the afternoon because cutworms feed at night.

He named next the diabrotica group of insects which attack numerous plants but are best known for their destruction of young melon plants—especially cantalopues and cucumbers. There are three black stripes on its wings; another yellow with twelve black spots; and another yellow with three green bands across it.

They begin attacking melon plants immediately after they emerge from the ground. Control is effected by dusting with a mixture of one part of arsenate of lead to nine parts of lime, beginning as plants emerge from the ground and repeating every week or oftener as long as necessary for control.

Mr. Ruffin also named the well-known cabbage worm which can be controlled by dusting with a mixture of one part of arsenate of lead with nine parts of lime. This same mixture controls the well-known potato beetle. The poison can be applied by hand or with a small hand dust gun, which is better.

Boll Worm Is Worse Menace Than Weevil

Southern Agricultural Heads Hear Address On New Pest By Louisianan

Memphis, Tenn., March 30.—The pink boll worm is potentially a greater menace to the cotton crop than the boll weevil, in the opinion of Harry D. Wilson, commissioner . Wilson presided today at a meeting of southern commissioners of agriculture and entomologists to consider means of combatting the spread of the new cotton pest.

"The boll weevil can be controlled," Mr. Wilson said, "but there is no means of controlling the activities of the pink boll worm. Eradication is the only salvation from this pest, and this can be accomplished only by enforced non-cotton zones and strict regulation of importation of cotton seed from infested areas.

"The pink boll worm recently has appeared in Texas on the extreme western edge of the cotton belt. If it should sweep eastward as the boll weevil did, it would threaten the destruction of the cotton producing industry of the United States, as it has virtually destroyed the crop in Hawaii, Brazil, Egypt and other countries.

CURIOUS LEGAL QUESTION HAS ARISEN AT CLANTON

A curious legal question has arisen at Clanton, where the citizens have learned thoroughly to enjoy the lakes where rivers used to be and gorges between hills where creeks flowed before the power dams and backwater came to the Coosa River country. The question runneth thus: If it is not illegal to cast for trout on Sunday in Chilton County and is against the law to fish on that day in Coosa County, just accross th "thread o' the stream," would it be a violation of the law to stand on the Chilton County side of the line on a bright Spring morning while the dogwood is in bloom and cast a phantom minnow into the waters on the Coosa County side?

Since the Speigner dam went out, many Montgomery fishermen are casting about to find good fishing waters close to the capital, and the legality of luring bass from Coosa County's virtuous waters and landing them on the more liberal shores of Chilton may become a burning issue.

On the banks of the backwater lakes and streams on the west side of the river many fishing camps have appeared or are being planned and constructed. Most of the available sites have been cut up into lots of varying sizes and fishermen will be there in schools by the time the good fishing gets ripe.

That is, they call it fishing, but to a man who has fought bull reds, cavalla, king mackerel and sharks from Point Cadet to Bear Point, it looks more like piscatorial ping pong."—Passing Throng Column—Montgomery Advertiser.

WASTING ROAD MONEY

At a conference of road builders in Chicago facts of general interest and suggestions of great value to every community were brought out. Space forbids going into detail but we do want to call attention to the statement one expert present at the meeting, because we feel it applies especially to our own territory.

This gentleman said, and we believe Clanton citizens are in position to agree with him, that the greatest mistake we are making in building roads today is in sticking to original routes. He pointed out that in the day of horse drawn vehicles roads were laid out to satisfy as many people as possible; they followed any path or trail, regardless of crooks and curves, just so it passed as many houses as possible and still wound up where it was trying to get to. Today we are wasting millions of dollars in this country by building good roads, for auto travel, along the same crooked, winding trails. Millions could be saved by straightening them out, because many miles could thus be cut from the original routes. Highways, says the expert, should be surveyed as near on an airline as are our railroads.

Here is a tip for local citizens interested in better roads. They can do much in the way of saving our road money by insisting that those who build our highways build them to meet modern conditions, nstead of sticking to the wobbly and winding ones as they were originally laid out.

GETTING THE HABIT OF CLEANLINESS

What will people think?" is one of the strongest forces affection human conduct, whether that applies to paying one's debts or to such matters of daily routing as taking a bath.

Boys and girls are particularly susceptible to the opinion of the group to which they belong. This probably is one reason for the great success of realizatione like the Boy Scouts, Girls Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and others in moulding the habits of children.

Mrs. Jane Deeter Rippin, National Director of the Girl Scouts, in a recent statement reveals secrets of child guidance that should provide many parents with food for thought. She tells of a twelve- year-old Girl Scout who decided to work for the health badge and foundout that threemonths she would have to follow certain regulations with regardto rest exercise food and cleanliness.

Three months" she exclaimed gloomily, aware that bathing and tooth brushing had never been her favorite pastimes. By that time I suppose I'll have the habit."

The child knew that the public opinion of her troop would count ehavily in inducing her to follow these rules and that before long the habits would become so well established that she might actually enjoy them. For this is how the wise parent, or teacher, or leader of children, helps to guide them in the ways of wholesome living.

Give a girl a feeling of partnership in the humble duties, Mrs. Rippin advices, such as washing the dishes, or gathering wood at camp. As long as she feels she is doing it with a proud sense of accomplishment. And before long the disire for cleanliness, for neatness of person and surroundings, has become second nature.

Fortunate is the boy or girl whose associates call for good habits rather than bad, for in these formative years it is easy to establish either. Once cleanliness of body and mind becomes accepted as the standard, an inner fastidiousness grows up as a defense against any lowering of that standard. The day of outward discipline passes, and youth learns to became its own taskmaster.

FOREST FIRE REPORT ISSUED BY COMMISSION

Montgomery, Ala., March 27.—Forest fires burned approximately six and one-half per cent of the twenty-two million acres of forest land in Alabama during the year 1927, according to the compilations of the State Commission of Forestry just completed. The fire hazard during the year was several times greater than the normal, although the losses by no means increased in proportion.

The total number of fires amounted to 25,030. The total area of forest land burned over was about 1,448,052 acres. Lightning caused 24 fires, railroads 1,125, lumbering 2,012, brush burning 10,431, camp fires 785, smokers 3,034, incendiaries 3,383, while 3,836 fires were of miscellaneous origin.

Fires covering less than 1-4 acre numbered 453, those between 1-4 and 10 acres in extent 9,978, between 11 and 100 acres 10,658, between 101 and 500 acres 3,701, while 240 were over 500 acres in extent.

The proportion of forest land burned in the organized forestry districts, comprising the portions of the state carrying the higher hazard, was about 6 per cent, while in the unorganized territory it was approximately 7 per cent.

In terms of one person per fire, it is estimated that 19,084 persons engaged in fighting fires, without compensation from the state. Of these 13,547 were farmers and stockmen, 756 were railroad employees, 3,188 were lumbermen's employees, and other voluteers numbered 1,584. Private equipment was used in fire suppression to a hire value of $654.43. The total money value of private fire fighting efforts on the part of landowners and others is estimated at $18,052.87. Unquestionably it was this energetic action that prevented losses approximately those of 1924, the only other fire year paralleling 1927 in severity.

Forest fires occurring in Alabama during 1927 resulted in money damage amounting to $1,448,012. Of this amount $207,878 comprised damage to merchantable timber, $1,051,659 injury to young growth, $44,621 damage to wood products, $5,584 loss to other forest products, $63,600 damage to buildings, fences and other improvements and $74,670 damage to range and pasturecage. These figures pertain only to direct losses. Indirect losses sometimes exceed the total of the direct, but ordinarily are not practically ascertainable.

SALE OF FERTILIZER THIS YEAR SHOWS BIG GAIN

According to figures released yesterday by W. B. Griffin, chief clerk of the State Department of Agriculture and Industries, the sale of tags for fertilizer to date of March 30, amounted to a total of 585,600 tons. The same figures for last year at this date were 337,150 tons. During the record year of 1926, when the largest tonnage of fertilizer ever used was applied, a total of 603,444 tons was used during the entire season.

Mr. Griffin emphasized that the present record was 17,844 tons under the total tonnage for 1926. He was of the opinion that this year's tonnage would exceed any previous year.

According to state and Federal Statistician F. W. Gist, three per cent more of food and feed crops will likely be planted this year. No estimate can be made of intentions to plant cotton, as to do so would be in defiance of law.

According to present statistics more fertilizer than ever will be used on the present crops.

Commissioner S. M. Dunwoody issued a public statement, in which he stated that the law requiring egg licenses had been repealed. Formerly a license of $1 was required from all egg dealers. Many dealers have already sent in the required fee and it has been found quite a burden to return all the remittances. No more funds should be sent to the department for egg licenses.—Montgomery Adevrtiser, April 1.

MOTOR TRAVEL IN SOUTH AND SOUTHEAST DUE FOR BOOM

San Antonio, Texas, April 3.—Motor travel in the south and southwest is due for a marked boom this season from the national convention of the American Legion and five other great national conventions to be held in this section of the country this summer and fall.

With the large amount of new construction completed the 100,000 Legionaires and the 200,000 members of the other organizations attending the conventions will find splendid highways for motor tours in the most romantic region in the United States with a history dating back to beyond the American Revolution.

The Legion meets at San Antonio October 8-12 and already inquiries on roads are coming in, according to Philip B. Stapp, Legion convention director. The other gatherings are: National Junior Chamber of Commerce, San Antonio, May; General Federation Women's Clubs, San Antonio, May; Shrine, Miami, May; Democrats, Houston, June; Elks, Miami, July.

Automobile clubs, newspaper information bureaus and tourist bureaus are sending in highway inquiries daily to the Legion convention bureau and the Old Spanish Trail Association and other information centers here. The volume of inquiries is much larger than normal, due, according to Harral Ayres, managing director of the Old Spanish Trail Association, to the Legion and the other conventions.

Twenty million dolars worth of new construction has recently been opened on the Old Spanish Trail alone, making a total of $70,000,000 recently completed on this one main artery, which is now an all-weather highway from St. Augustine, to San Diego, with the exception of one small stretch in Baldwin County, Alabama, which is good except in very bad weather.

Travelogs and information may be obtained by writing the American Legion Convention Bureau or the Old Spanish Trail Association, Gunter, Hotel, San Antonio, Texas.

MIGHTY LITTLE BEING DONE FOR BACK SEAT DRIVER RELIEF

Much is being said about back-seat drivers, but mighty little has been done for their relief," said David Holt, perennial booster for Mobile. "A young genius out my way became weary of being told while driving, 'Johnny, blow your horn,' or words to that effect, so he rigged up an extension from the tooter in such a manner that the back-seat driver could sound off whenever, in her opinion, the occasion required. The scheme works fine, he says, and utilizes about 52 per cent of the surplus nervous energy of persons who habitually drive a car from the caboose end.

"Now Johnny has a plan for working off some more of that excess nerve power. He has invented an accelerator and foot brake that has no connection with the machinery of the car, but gives the poop-deck navigator some thing with which to exercise his or her feet. This device will work with springs and is expected to relieve the floor boards from excessive pressure.

"With something to occupy the hands and feet of the habitual rear position operator of motor vehicles, the life of the driver out in front will be made more happy and the only thing that remains to be added for his safety and comfort is some kind of a sound absorber to take up the free verbal advice that usually travels from rear to front in family automobiles. This device, or combination of devices, will promote peace. Johnny's other name will be furished to the Peace Prize Commission upon request. He is hereby entered as Mobile's candidate for that award."—Passing Throng Column—Montgomery Advertiser.

CALLS UPON WOMEN TO HELP HOSPITALS

Mrs. C. R. Bricken, Wife Of Prominent Alabama Jurist, Issues Stirring State-Wide Appeal

MONTGOMERY (Special).—Mrs. C. R. Bricken, wife of Presiding Judge Bricken of the Alabama Court of Appeals and chairman of the women's division in the Alabama and West Florida Memorial Hospitals Campaign for $1,000,000, has issued a stirring appeal to the women of this region for their earnest co-operation in this great humanitarian movement.

"Far more than the men," she says, "do we women appreciate the value and necessity of adequate hospital facilities.

"It is the women who bear the brunt of the heart-ache and on whom falls the burden of care and work when illness visits a household. They know what it means to be relieved of the depression and drudgery that come with tending to a bed-ridden loved one, secure in the knowledge that in the hospital he or she is receiving the best possible treatment toward recovery, much better than could be given under home conditions.

"Motherhood is woman's most sacred, most glorious earthly mission, and every woman embarking on it is entitled to the tenderest care and consideration. Maternity has found in the modern hospital untold relief from the physical agony and the dangers to life and health that formerly attended its consummation. Countless mothers and babies owe their health and their lives to our hospital maternity wards.

Give Babies a Fair Start

"To give a baby a fair start in life, it should be born in a hospital,' Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller Foundation, truly says, and the mother who nowadays does not want to give her child that fair start is an exception.

"Unfortunately, we are very short of hospitals in Alabama and West Florida. I am reliably told that we should have two and one-half times as many general hospital beds as we have, to equal the national average.

"These are some of the reasons why I, as a woman and a mother, urge every woman in Alabama and West Florida to do her utmost toward making possible these two splendid institutions of healing and mercy—one situated in Montgomery, to serve all the people of South Alabama and West Florida, and one to be built in Birmingham for all the people of North Alabama."

SAY MAN WILL LIVE PAST CENTURY MARK

Scientists Place Future Average Life Span Between 80 And 140 —Hospitals To Play Part

The average human life span may reach 100 years, said Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, of the Life Extension Institute, New York City, at the recent Race Betterment Conference in Battle Creek.

Dr. Irving Fisher, noted Yale economist, thinks that by the end of the present century, the average American will live to the ripe age of 80, as against the present-day life expectancy of 58 years.

No less an authority than Dr. Serge Voronoff, of Paris, the great gland specialist, asserts that "each of us who are alive should live to be 140 years old. It is the span of life nature intended us to enjoy"—five times the age at which man reaches maturity. This rule, Dr. Voronoff says, holds true among animals and should hold good for man.

Modern Hospitals Necessary

Commenting on these predictions, Dr. B. J. Baldwin, of Montgomery, general chairman of the Alabama and West Florida Memorial Hospitals Campaign, said:

"There is no doubt of the fact that modern medical science is prolonging the average life span, but as Dr. Fisk points out, 'the possibilities for longer life depend upon man's intelligence and determination.'

"The hospital is the arsenal, laboratory and proving ground of the medical profession in its unrelenting battle against disease and physical deterioration. Without the modern hospital, medical science could not make its wonderful life-prolonging advances.

"It remains to be seen whether the people of this country will have the good sense and foresight to provide their doctors and nurses with such thoroughly up-to-date and useful institutions as the two great memorial hospitals — geographically situated in Montgomery and Birmingham—which will serve all the people of Alabama and West Florida when our present campaign for funds in their behalf is successfully concluded.

"If they do, the biblical age limit of three score years and ten will be far exceeded."

4-H CLUB BOYS HAVE BIG RALLY HERE LAST THURSDAY

were served 25 gallons of ice cream. Fifteen gallons of this was a gift to the boys from Belle Meade Butter Company, of Montgomery. Ten gallons was donated by Southern Dairies of Birmingham.

The boys and their fathers were assembled in a group in front of the banks, where a picture was taken of them by Mr. David Holt.

From there the boys went to the fruit houses of Evan Parrish and Ben Goltsman, where they were given a feast of bananas, through courtesy of the managers, Messrs. Parrish and Goltsman.

A free show was given them at the Wadesonian Theatre.

From the show they went back to the banks where the very interesting pig drawing contest was held. The pair of pure-bred Poland China pigs were drawn by U. L. Baker. A five-dollar gold piece given by the Peoples Savings Bank was drawn by James Parrish A sack of 15-5-5 fertilizer given by Mr. J. N. Dennis was drawn by one of the boys whose name we were not able to secure.

This rally day served to revive the interest of the boys in club work, giving them a keener vision of their possibilities. It also brought to the fathers of the boys a very valuable impression of the great value that lies in 4-H club work for the youth of our farms. One man, when asked how much he thought the rally was worth to the boys said: "Of course we have no way of telling how much the value will be or how far the influence of the day will extend in the lives of the boys. But I would say at least we might estimate that each boy got $10 worth of inspiration out of coming here that day. This would make a total value of $3,000 to the entire group."

Mr. Lowery, of Auburn, who was with the boys, also was a visitor of Kiwanis luncheon, and made a very interesting talk relative to 4-H club work.

"Successful poultrymen replace 50 to 75 per cent. of the flock with pullets each year."—G. A. Trollope, Auburn.

World wheat production in 1927 was 3,438,000,000 bushels as compared with 3,317,000,000 bushels in 1926.

A major portion of the income from the poultry business in Alabama is from eggs, and egg prices are highest during fall and early winter.

The Census Bureau estimates the population if the United States as of January 1, 1928, at 120,300,000, an increase of 14 per cent. over the actual count on January 1, 1920.

Leghorn and similar breeds of chickens require about six months to mature for egg production. The heavier breeds should begin laying when about seven months old.

A recent issue of the Manufacturers Record says that farmers in Columbus and Brunswick Counties, North Carolina, have money to lend; and that they are lending it at an interest rate of 6 per cent.

About one-fourth of the import trade of Australia and New Zealand is done with the United States. These countries do business annually in the United States amounting to over $200,000,000.

Dull Headache and Sluggish Feeling

"We are a healthy family and haven't had to use much medicine," says Mr. J. H. Adams, of Bishop, Ga. "But I have found it necessary to take some medicine.

"I had headaches. My head felt dull, and like I couldn't hold it up.

"I had a bad taste in my mouth; felt sluggish and tired.

"I brought home some Black-Draught and took a few doses, and I got good results. I felt so much better. My head cleared up. I was hungry and wanted to get out and work.

"Black-Draught has proved satisfactory and we have used it ever since."

FARM AND HOME FACTS

A hen consumes about twice as much dry mash as a dairy cow in proportion to her weight.

Chicken fat is particularly good for making cakes that have a decided flavor such as chocolate spice or caramel cakes.

It pays to put the woolens away clean, because moths are always attracted first to the soiled spot in the garment.

"The use of incubators for hatching chicks permits early hatchings and larger broods of uniform age."—G. A. Trollope, Auburn.

During 1927 farm wages were 170, as compared with 100 for the prewar level. This compares with 171 during 1926 and 239 during 1920—the highest recorded.

The total acreage of the above crops is 4,166,000 as compared with 4,010,000 in 1927. This is an increase of 3 per cent and shows that moderately expand theiri bgm bgb Alabama farmers are inclined to moderately expand their acreage of food and feed crops.

The law forbids any expression of intention regarding planting of cotton. It is favorable to friends of diversification to realize that figures for 1927 show that Alabama produced more acres of food and feed crops than of cotton. Last year Alabama grew 3,225,000 acres of cotton and 4,100,000 acres of food and feed crops. Ths is about 4 acres of crops for every 3 acres of cotton.

The amount of fertilizer sold to date is far in excess of last year and more than for 1926, which was the biggest year of fertilizer sales and liekwise sawthe largest cotton crop ever grown in Alabama.

1926-1927, 281,600 tons;
1927-1928, 505,150 tons.

The sale of fertilizer tags by the state department of agriculture, as reparted by W. B. Griffin, shows that the tonnage to date is 8,800 tons more than in 1926 and the present sale is very active. Farmers are preparing to use a very large amount of fertilizer in 1928.

VARIETY TESTS SHOW THE BEST COTTON TO PLANT

Auburn, Ala., March 27.—A report of cotton variety tests in Alabama has been made by J. T. Williamson, H. B. Tisdale, and R. Y. Bailey, of the agricultural experiment station of the Aalbama Polytechnic Institute. It shows tests conducted from 1922 to 1927, inclusive, found Cook 1010, Cleveland (Piedmont), Bottoms, Cook 588, and Dixie-Triumph the leading five of the 14 varieties included in all tests. In more recent years (1925-1927) Cook 1010, D. P. L. 4, Cook 1616, and Cleveland (Piedmont) were the leading five varieties in an average of 10 tests.

An average of 8 tests (1922-1927) on sandy soils in central Alabama—at Auburn and Prattville—showed that Cook 1627, Cook 1616, Cook 588, Dixie-Triumph and Bottoms were the leading five varieties.

On the prairie soil of the Canebrake Station at Uniontown in central or west Alabama the leading five varieties in the 5-year average were Cleveland (Piedmont), Cook 1010, Dixie-Triumph, Cook 307 (Rhyne), and Cook 588.

In the wilt-infected area tests were conducted in Lee, Autauga, Escambia, Covington and Houston Counties. 26 of these tests, conducted from 1923 to 1927 found Cook 307 (Rhyne), Dixie Triumph, Toole (Petty), Cook 307 (Bridges), Toole-Council, Lewis 63, and Toole-Wilkerson to be best. The leader had an average of 375 pounds compared with 355 for the seventh.

THE NEW CAFE UNDERGOES MANY REPAIRS

The New Cafe, located just across from the post office, has just been remodelled and the front portion repainted.

This popular eating place is owned and operated by Leonard Easterling and during the past few weeks business has increased to such an extent that it has been necessary for additional help to be placed on the pay roll, both in the front andinthecooking department.

CHESTERFIELDS ARE GOING FAST IN THIS TERRITORY

Many cigarette smokers report that they found it necessary to walk more than a mile to find a package of their preferred Chesterfield Cigarettes around Clanton last week-end.

During the month of March last year, Liggett & Myers, manufacturers of the Chesterfield Cigarettes began an advertising campaign in the NEWS, and about two weeks later there was a scarcity of Chesterfield cigarettes on the local market. So we naturally believe that the advertising campaign started in the News by this company during the latter part of March of this year, has had something to do with the shortage of this popular brand of cigarettes with both the retailers and wholesale houses of this immediate section.

Some retailers saw the situation in time to lay in a supply before the shortage became so noticeable, while others have had to send away to other cities and even Monday afternoon, one of the wholesale houses reported that they had orders for Chesterfield's, but had none in stock. However, the local wholesale dealers state they are now prepared to fill all orders, and the general opinion is that it will not be necessary to walk so far to find Chesterfields in Clanton this week end, even though there should be a much larger consumption for the dealers have learned that quality merchandise properly advertised moves fast, and naturally they will stock up on the fast sellers.

BIG BUILDING BOOM NOW ON IN CLANTON

New Homes and Buildings Evidence Of Much Prosperity In Section

During the past few months, Clanton has undergone quite a change in the way of a building program. Several modern homes have been erected and many others are to be erected in the near future. We give below some of the houses and buildings that have recently been completed, or are under construction at this time:

The Mullins home on Second Ave. has just recently been completed and is now occupied by Mr. Renfro Mullins and family. This home is of the English style, stucco finished, two stories, containing twelve rooms. It has many attractive features and is built according to the most modern and up-to-date plans. The walls inside and out are painted stucco. The garage and servant house are in accordance with the residence. Okel & Cooper, architects of Montgomery, furnished the plans for this modern two-story home.

The home belonging to Dr. Arthur Johnson which is also on Second Ave. on the east side of town, has recently been completed and occupied by Dr. Johnson. This is a modern ten room house with a large basement, and is constructed in the Semi-English style. It is of brick veneer with front and side entrance. The walls inside are of textone finish and stippled. The home is among the most modern and most conventiently arranged to be found. One of the attractive features of this home is the built-in features throughout the inside. The plans were laid out by Mrs. Arthur Johnson with the aid of Mr. Thomsen of Thorsby. This home ranks with the best.

Another modern home under construction is the home of Mr. John T. Ellis, located on the north side of Clanton on the extreme end of Seventh Street. The house is being built on an ideal site for a home. Thi ss a modern eight room house, constructed of hollow tile covered with stucco, and is most conveniently laid out. The front of the house faces West on Seventh Street, on the Birmingham-Montgomery highway. The house, according to Mr. Ellis will be completed in

HERBERT HOOVER TARGET OF GEORGE N. PEEK FIRE

Washington, April 5.—Herbert Hoover was described as "the arch enemy of a square deal for agriculture" in a criticism of his presidential candidacy by George N. Peek chairman of the executive committee of 22 of the North Central States agricultural conference, which was inserted in the congressional record today by Senator Norbeck Republican of South Dakota.

Peek informed the South Dakotan that the memorandum had been prepared at the request of the late Senator Willis, with whom the conference secretary had contested for Ohio delegates to the Republican convention.

Calling attention to two campaign booklets that "are being widely distributed in the political interest of Herbert Hoover, Peek said "the purpose of the documents obviously is to gain Hoover support from the farmers in the pending presidential campaign."

"It is utterly impossible, however," he continued, "for any propaganda to conceal or disguise the all-important fact that:

"First, as food administrator and later as the agricultural adviser of the last two administrations he has been more directly and personally responsible for the present plight of the American farmer than any other man in the nation."

NEW MANAGER HERE FOR BELL TELEPHONE CO.

Former Manager A. H. Stong Will Go To Eufaula As Manager There

Mr. A. C. Dowling, who has been for some time connected with the Southern Bell Telephone Company and located in the state of Florida, has recently been transferred to Clanton and will in the future be manager for said company here and in the surrounding territory. He takes the place of Mr. A. H. Stong, who has been located in Clanton as manager for some time. Mr. Stong goes to Eufaula, Ala., as manager for the company at that place.

Mr. Dowling was reared in Ozark, Alabama, and comes from one of the prominent families of that city. he is a married man with a family and they come to Clanton highly recommended. He s a Mason and a member of the Methodist Church, while his good wife is a Baptist and both interested church workers. The News, together with the other citizens of Clanton extend to Mr. and Mrs. Dowling a hearty welcome to our midst, and while we regret to see Mr. Stong leave, yet, we are glad for him as he is going to a more lucrative position and receiving a deserved promotion in his profession.

During the past several years the Southern Bell Telephone Co., has kept abreast with the progressive movements of Clanton and her people and have spent a considerable sum of money to keep their plant up to the standard that a town of our size demands.

The policy of this company is very commendable for it has never allowed its equipment and operating corps to be inadequate for the demands of the public service.

The service of this company to the people of Clanton has been excellent. The operators and employees are courteous and always evidence a desire to serve the public in a way and manner that is pleasing and helpful and at the same time making those who are strangers feel that Clanton is the best town in the South.

The growth of this company at Clanton will, no doubt call for considerable expansion of the plant and facilities in the near future as arrangements have been made by them which are very attractive to the farmers to secure the efficient service offered by this company at a nominal cost, and at the same time receive the advantages of

High School Play Goes Over Great

To Be Presented Here Again On Thursday Night, Apr. 12, This Week

The play, "Am I Intruding" presented by a picked cast from the student body of the Chilton County High School, was a success beyond all expectations, and though the weather was anything but ideal, a fairly large crowd was present when the curtain rose for the first act.

And so well pleased were those who witnessed the presentation of the play last Friday night, and because of so many requests has been received by those in charge of the play that the management has decided to present the same play here again on Thursday night of this week.

During the past several years, many plays have been presented at the high school by local talent but "regular patrons" state that the one presented last Friday night was by far the best ever seen. The cast, while all of the players are amateurs, carried the parts to perfection, and many hearty laughs enjoyed during the evening.

"Am I Intruding" carries many interesting and comical situations, and the way the cast presents the play makes it far above the average play presented by hibh school students.

Miss Louise Beall, in charge of the music department at the high school, entertanied between the acts with many enjoyable numbers.

The following students took part in the play, and will appear in its presentation next Thursday night, April 12. Don't fail to attend. Admission 15 and 25 cents.

The students are as follows: Miss Carrie Foshee, Newton Popwell, Dick Kemp, Velma Spencer, Leon Sanford, Mary Lee Pyron, Alfonza Sanders, Mildred Danforth, Arthur Burnette, Gaston Robinson, Kathryn Johnson, and Gertie Fiquette.

Girl Killed When Train Hits School Bus

Accident Occurred At Crossing At Mountain Creek About 4 P. M.

Genevia McCord, daughter of J. A. McCord was not taken to Birmingham, but went to her home near White City. However, it was later found that her injuries wer emore serious than at first thought, and later in the evening medical aid for her was being sought, so we were informed by a resident of that neighborhood.

Did Not See Train

"I did not see the train at all," Rodgers said from his cot at St. Vincent's Hospital. "The bus was more than half way across the tracks when the children in the rear of the bus began screaming.

"I shoved the accelerator all the way in but it was too late. The next thing I knew there was a terrible crash and the next, everyone crying; the children were scattered all along the track and some of them were thrown up along the station platform."

Dr. N. S. Johnson of Clanton, immediately upon being notified of the crash by the station telegraph operator, left Clanton in his automobile for the scene and drove the 13 miles in less than 15 minutes with Miss Dewey Branch, his special nurse.

"When I got to the scene of the tragedy," Dr. Johnson said, " some of the victims of the accident had not yet been picked up from the right-of-way.

"It was a scene of wild confusion but we could attend to only one at a time as there was only myself and Miss Branch and there were urgent cases all around us.

"After placing the injured on the passenger train, I remained at the side of the more seriously injured while Miss Branch administered to wants of others in the rear coaches. A number of hypodermics were given those suffering most from shock of the crash during the trip to the hospital."

According to Professor Fike of the school, the bus was approaching the crossing and the driver, Edward Rodgers was unable to see the approaching train because his view was obstructed by a string of freight cars on the blind siding at the crossing.

The injured school children were scattered along the railroad right-of-way for several feet as the result of the crash, witnesses said, while others were thrown up against the station platform. The train was quickly brought to a stop, and Miss McCord, evidently the worst injured was placed in J. Mell Martin's ambulance and started for Clanton, but she died just as the ambulance pulled into Clanton. Dr. Strock was in charge of the patient. The dead girl was taken to Martin's funeral parlors, where she was prepared for burial, later being taken to the family home near Marbury.

Some of the parents were not aware of the accident and that their children had figured in same, and the injured children were taken on the train before some of the parents could be reached. The following parents went to Birmingham on train No. 4, which followed about three hours after the crash: Mrs. Adams, mother of Ethel Adams; D. P. McCord, father of Jessie McCord; H. H. Williams, brother-in-law of Miss Hackman. Others who did not get to the train bearing the injured left by automobile.

Engineer Makes Statement

According to a news item in Wednesday's Age Herald, W. A. Giger, engineer of the passenger train, told the following story of the accident:

"I had just whisteled for the board, four short blasts, at about the distance from the crossing that we always whistle when a road crosses the tracks.

"They lifted the board and I came on, slowing down so that I could stop at the station about 60 feet beyond where we struck the bus.

"When the board dropped, I answered with two short blasts of the whistle and ringing the bell, pulled ahead.

"Just as I was within 30 or 40 feet of the crossing the bus pulled across directly in front of the engine. We didn't strike it squarely. We struck about at the rear wheel, turing the bus around and around. I stopped the train within three car lenghts.

Box Car On Siding

"There was a box car on the siding which obstructed my view of the road on that side. The car may have hidden the approaching train from the view of the bus driver.

"At the time we struck them the train was not moving more than 18 or 20 miles an hour as we entended to stop at the station just a few feet beyond. We were pulling three baggage cars and two passenger cars."

WHAT FARM ACCOUNTING MEANT IN THE MANAGEMENT OF A FARM

Successful Farmer Tells How Pencil Helped Guide His Operations and Swell His Income—An Aid to Better Credit—Shows Profits and Prevents Losses.

THE owner and operator of one of the most successful dairy farms in Wisconsin prepared recently for the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association a first hand statement of the part farm accounting has played in the management of his enterprise. This operator, W. J. Dougan, tells the following story:

"When I started farming I began keeping a simple cash account, but soon found that it was not sufficient accounting for farm purposes. Such a record did not take into consideration the vital factors of improvements, growth of livestock or depreciation.

"Since 1910 I have kept a complete account on the accrual basis. The accounts, however, are no more than any farmer can easily keep. The outstanding benefits from keeping such accounts might be listed as follows:

The Way It Works

"1. Income tax reports made easier.—Accurate and dependable income tax reports can be made from the yearly accounts. By keeping them on file I am always ready to satisfy the tax inspectors.

"2. Accounting makes possible a budget system.—With the accumulated data of the past years, I can make out the budget for the coming year. The income being fairly stable, the budget problem is to adjust the expenditures. If one branch of the business will need extraordinary expenditure such as new machinery, there must be a cut in some other branch, such as building or livestock purchased, or fencing.

"3. Accounting gives a true basis for credit.—Especially has accounting meant for me larger credit and happy relations with my banker. With a complete financial statement before him the banker can intelligently determine what credit I should have. With a full knowledge of the farm profits in the past, I know what credit I should accept. No farmer or business man should accept credit from his bank unless he is able to put the money into productive investment, and his margin of profit assures the ability to repay the loan within a reasonable time.

"For the farm this reasonable time cannot be three or six months. The farm turnover is too slow for that. A helpful and just period of farm credit for working capital must be from one to four years.

"There is another benefit from accounting—the benefit of knowing whether one is going up or down. By extra sales one might be flush of money and buy heavily, thinking he is coming out ahead, but in reality he is sacrificing the future. On the other hand, one might feel pinched, and have little money to spend, but in reality he is laying up capital."

The bankers Agricultural Commission has suggested the following form of farm credit statement, indicating the records necessary to be kept:

Since it is impossible for me to see all the voters before the primary, I take this means of bringing my candidacy before you.

In anonuncing myself for the office of Circuit Clerk of Chilton County, I did so after thoroughly considering the responsibilites connected with the office. Believing that I was fully competent to discharge the duties, I announced as a candidate.

I have, so far, conducted a clean campaign, which has been free from all forms of "mud slinging". I want the office, but I want to get it on my own merits, and not the demerits of my opponent.

I am not making any promises except that if elected, I shall conduct the office above reproach with a fair, and impartial deal to all whether Democrat or Republican.

I was born and reared in Chilton County in and near Clanton. Since graduating from the Chilton County High School in 1924, I have been teaching in the fall and attending Normal School in the summers at Jacksonville. As a teacher I feel that I have been reasonably successful and if elected to the office which I aspire I fully believe I can be equally as successful as I have as a teacher. I know how to deal with the public, as most all teachers do after teaching a few years. As to my character, I will let that speak for itself.

It will be impossible for me to see any more voters before the primary, as I am in school, but after June 1st, I hope to see everyone of the voters in the County and have a personal talk with you.

Let all Democrats go out to the polls on May 8th and work towards a real Democratic victory next November.

Sincerely,
UDAH CURLEE.

A suggestion to parents with youngsters away at school . . .

Next to seeing them in person there is nothing so utterly satisfying as hearing the voices of the youngsters who are away at school. And the young people, too, are cheered and encouraged after a chat with the folks at home.

Thoughtful parents arrange to have their son or daughter call home, say once or twice a week, using the cheaper station-to-station service, and reversing the charges.

Ask the long distance operator to give you the night station-to-station rate to the town in which the school is located. It is sure to be less than you expect.

PINK BOLL WORM DANGER IS SEEN IN COTTON CROP

Auburn, Ala., April 11.—The pink boll worm is threatening the cotton crop of Alabama. If allowed to spread it will make cotton production very difficult, in the opinion of entomologists of the college of agriculture at Auburn.

Like the boll weevil, it is a Mexican insect. A few years ago outbreaks were discovered in East Texas and in Louisiana. They were small areas and were exterminated by sanitary work and by establishing non-cotton zones for three years.

With the exception of these infestations the pink boll worm has been confined to Mexico and to isolated cotton sections near the Mexican border until it gained entrance to the main belt and spread into seven counties now infested.

Entomologists here say that the pink boll worm is very difficudt to control with poison. Eggs are laid on bolls and the larvae bore into them for housing and feeding, the seed being the principal part of the boll eaten. Where infestation is heavy several larvae are found in one boll; and several acres are required to produce a bale of low-grade cotton.

The insect winters largely in the seed. It spreads by movement of seed and also of its own accord.

Entomologists at Auburn point out that this insect begins where the boll weevil ends. The boll weevil attacks squares and small bolls and the pink structive.

To prevent further spread, congress is being asked for an appropriation to establish a non-cotton zone in the Texas area. Ordinarily about 500,000 acres produce cotton in these seven counties.

TIMELY FARM FACTS

Eggs stored in waterglass now will be good next winter.

The grey-haired woman can usually wear blues, blue greens, and greys very successfully.

As a general practice Alabama farmers leave their cotton too thin and their corn too thick.

The curb market at Gadsden was started November 1923, and its sales to date have exceeded $160,000.

Fried or highly seasoned foods, pickles, coffee ,or tea should never be fed to small children.

When pastures become good in the spring feed for dairy cows may be reduced but successful dairymen know that they cannot depend entirely on pastures. They feed.

When the hatching season is over male birds should be killed, penned, or sold in order to have infertile eggs during the remainder of the season.

A mattress wears best if it is the exact size of the springs. In buying a new mattress, remember that it will spread from one to two inches as it is used.

Grand Jury Report For January Term of Court

Comment On Condition Of Roads In Certain Beats Of The County

To the Honorable George F. Smoot, Judge of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama:

We, the grand jury, empanelled for the January term of the Circuit Court after receiving your Honor's most able charge entered upon our investigations of the matters that came before us as grand jurors, and herewith submit the following report:

During out investigation we have considered 27 cases and have examined 36 witnesses, and are returning herewith 21 true bills.

We have made a personal inspection of the county jail and believe it to be sufficiently safe for the keeping of the prisoners and find that the prisoners confined therein are being well fed and cared for with reasonable comfort, and on our inspection of the alms house we find that it is being well handled by those in charge, and that the occupants get meals and attention in so far as the arrangements for taking care of the inmates will reasonably permit.

We have examined the fee book of the Probate Judge and find it neatly kept and correct in so far as we were able to ascertain. We have examined the bonds of the various county officials and find that they are ample for the protection of the public, with the exception of the bond of the County Treasurer. We find that the treasurer had on hand on March 2, 1928, $138,252.28, and that her bond was in the sum of $60,000.00. We feel that this should be brought to the attention of the Commissioners Court in order that the court may take such steps and will best preserve the interest of the public. We have examined the books of the Tax Assessor and find them exceptionally well kept, and that he has administered the oath to those giving in their taxes as the law provides, and in our examination of the Sheriff's account with the State for feeding prisoners we find it being kept in accordance with the law. On our examination of the office of the County Superintendent of Education, we find that his books, records and papers are neatly kept, and in so far as we ascertained were being kept fully in accordance with the law.

Our observation of the general report over the county is to the effect that the county roads are being kept as a whole, with the exception of those of beats 5 and 8, better than ever before. There has been much complaint that the roads in these two beats are in bad conditions. We feel that road authorities should be given a word of praise and commended for the way they have kept the roads of the county as a whole, but that their attention should be called to the bad condition of the roads in beats 5 and 8, that they may be improved to such extent, as to make them equally as good as the roads of the other section of the county where like conditions prevail.

The grand jury thanks your Honor for the instructive charge given us when we were first empanelled; it has been very helpful to us throughout all our investigations.

Sheriff Collins and his deputies and Mr. Robinson, the bailiff for the grand jury, were most courteous to us during our investigations, and rendered us valuable assistance in the dispatch of the business before us, all of which we greatly appreciate.

We wish to thank our Solicitor for his faithful and untiring service during this term of Court, whch we feel has been very helpful in all our deliberations.

And now having complied to the best of our ability with your Honor's charge we respectfully ask that we be dismissed until such time as your Honor may see fit and think proper to have us convene again.

SPEED DEMONS NOT THE ONLY OFFENDERS ON OPEN HIGHWAY

A question that is being generally asked nowadays is, "Why is there not someone appointed or elected to enforce the automobile laws of Alabama? Especially does this question refer to automobiles and trucks running along the highway and parked on the highways at night with but a single headlight and no tail light and often without any lights at all.

A case in point was the horrible accident a few miles south of Clanton, Ala., recently, when a Mr. Hancock of Montgomery, was killed outright and his two companions seriously wounded These deaths are said to have been caused by "an old piece of a truck" parked near the middle of the Birmingham-Montgomery Highway or pavement, the truck having no lights of any kind at front or rear. The driver of the truck, said to be a Mr. Hill, of Birmingham, was going through to Florida, with a load of furniture and a few small children. It is said he casually left his unlighted truck parked on the highway while he called at a nearby house to see if he could get lodging for the night.

In the truck driver's absence the car in which Mr. Hancock was riding came along at a moderate rate of speed, while another car, going north, was also approaching. Neither driver of the passenger cars saw the truck on account of his own lights. The northbound car was stopped before it mixed with the collisions. A little child** *** *** **** .

Just another pleasant day of outing ruined. Just another family plunged in sorrow. Just another victim fatally marred by the carelessness of a driver who, it is claimed, appeared to be one of the transient and often-moving variety. All of the sorrow and trouble springing from the wreck would have been avoided if the truck had been equipped with a small, inexpensive tail-light.

A further question is: Are the automobile laws of the commonwealth made for the cities only, where policemen and other officers are on hand to enforce regulations? The highways of Florida and other states are patrolled by gentleman-officers to make travel safe for all.

It is not only the speed demon who is a menace to automobile travel today. Often it is the ordinary driver of second-hand automobiles or nearly worn out cars, who seldom has a thought for the safety or rights of other drivers.

If a few of the one-light and no-tail light autoists were placed in jail for a while it would make the highways safer for those who drive at night.—Birmingham News.

SCIENTIFIC BEAUTY

The one hundred and thirty-fourth birthday of the cotton gin has brought to the minds of many people in the textile world and elsewhere the endless changes in machinery, methods, designs and types of fabrics which the last century has seen developed in this country.

Eli Whitney, revolutionized the cotton industry with his amazing invention, and by steady upward bend other changes have come. Silk weaving machinery has replaced older methods. Wool just the past season has appeared on teh market as something sheer and summery instead of heavy and warm. This change in the nature (almost the identity) of wool has been the greatest single innovation which textile and fabric men have welcomed It is called by the United States Department of Commerce the "only commercially successful textile invented by the creative brain of man."

Changes, which have come in the growing, reeling, spinning and knitting of the ancient textiles, cotton wool, silk and linen, have been mostly those of technical evolution. So, too, the advent of their younger sister, rayon, has been a precise industrial and the desire of man for ever increasing chemical problem brought about thru efficiency in the making of beauty.

Beauty is quite as much a part of the industrial and commercial world's problems as it is of painters, sculptors, and musicians. Many of us look for beauty in the depth of wool; for beauty in a sunset, but we all are looking for beauty in the clothes we wear, in the materials with which we decorate our homes, in the upholstery of our motor cars; in our very overshoes and shower bath curtains. Thus science is duty bound to keep in step. Today it is giving us really beautiful rubberized rayon bath curtains and raincoats—of magnificent colors and suppleness in place of ugly white ones; sheer woolens instead of heavy; immensely beautiful flowers of new and marvelous types by means of unique grafting; taller, more beautiful buildings; trimmer, faster ships; safer, more graceful areoplanes. Science, in short, is improving upon the beauty of the world.

Originality: Doing what some other fellow did so long ago that people have forgotten all about it.

Fine Group of Buildings to be Completed with Funds Raised During Alabama and West Florida Memorial Hospitals Campaign, April 16-28

This will be one of the finest hospital plants in the South, complete in every respect and thoroughly modern in design and equipment.

A similar model hospital will be constructed in Birmingham for all North Alabama.

Half a million dollars will be subscribed by the people of South Alabama and West Florida to complete the Memorial Hospital situated in Montgomery, while the people of North Alabama will contribute $500,000 for the new Memorial Hospital to be built in Birmingham. These hospitals will respectively serve the above-mentioned regions, without creed or class distinctions of any sort.

"Modern Hospitals for Modest Incomes" is the slogan of this great humanitarian movement. One of the principal objects of the campaign is to provide the best in hospital service to people in moderate circumstances at rates they can afford to pay. These hospitals are expected to stop the all too common cry of "That hospital bill almost ruined me!"

Authoritative figures show that Alabama should have two and one-half times as many general hospital beds for its white population and four times as many registered nurses as it has now, to equal the national ratios. Should an unforeseen calamity or epidemic arise, the situation would be extremely serious.

Charity Work Important

So inadequate have the accommodations at the Memorial Hospital become, that additional facilities are imperative. Last year patients from 198 communities in Alabama and West Florida were cared for. The $1,000,000 fund about to be raised will double the present Memorial Hospital's capacity and provide modern hospital service at moderate rates for the people of North Alabama as well, thus greatly relieving the hospital shortage.

Charity work has been one of the outstanding features of the Memorial Hospital's services. Last year out of 2,017 patients treated, one out of every six was a recipient of charity. The expansion program briefly described above will greatly increase the facilities for charity service, one of the noblest and most necessary functions of hospital work.

Contributors to the building fund will have two and one-half years, beginning July 1, 1923, to pay their subscriptions, in ten equal quarterly instalments.

MEET OPPORTUNITY AT YOUR FRONT GATE

Most people fail in life because they let the day of preparation pass while waiting for somebody else to give them a chance to go on to success. A truly ambitious young man or young woman doesn't wait for opportunity to knock at the door. The door is opened and opportunity is met at the front gate.

Give yourself a chance instead of waiting for someone else to give it to you. Young DeForest, inventor of the radio, picked up bits of broken carbon from the street to complete his first experiment. Later he worked for a long time for $5 per week on his invention, the $5 being paid by an interested friend.

George Young, youth of 17, borrowed $130, bought a second-hand motor cycle, and rode a thousand miles to compete in the Catalina Island swim which he won with a prize of $25,000 beside the fame.

The fellow with that sort of spirit wins in any department of life. The world recognizes and rewards the "go-getters." "Go-getters" are born, not made. A gold mine may be buried deep but there is always an out-cropping. The stuff that makes for real success in life outcrops in youth.

TRANSIENT SHOW TAX IS UPHELD BY COURT

Montgomery, Ala., April 6.—Reaffirming a decision rendered some time ago, upholding the constitutionality of the license tax provided by law to be paid the state by transient tent, vaudeville show or shows of like character, operating in Alabama, the Supreme Court yesterday denied application for rehearing in the case of H. D. Hale, vs. the state, appealed from Houston County.

Hale was charged with operating a tent show without a license and upon being found guilty was fined $300 and costs. He appealed, maintaining that the license tax of $300 a week was confiscatory and prohibitive and it was therefore unconstitutional. The Supreme Court, however, held that the act is valid and declined to change that ruling.

Nurse Advises WEAK, RUN-DOWN

WOMEN

To Take Cardui

"I have known of Cardui for nearly twenty-five years," says Mrs. Selma Meissner, 1072 Harrison Ave., Beaumont, Texas. "During that time, I have taken it several times and have frequently recommended it to others, for it is a splendid medicine and I am glad to give people the benefit of my experience.

"I have been a nurse for several years and have often come in contact with patients who were run-down and weak. Often I have told sufferers of Cardui, and the way I, myself, had been helped after taking it, and advised them to give it a trial. Many of them have since thanked me for what I told them, so I am willing that other women should know about it, too.

"I first took Cardui because I was awfully run-down. I had no appetite, and was weak and listless. It was hard to keep going under such conditions, and I looked for something which would help me.

"I had read of Cardui and decided to try it. After taking it, I improved so much that I have taken it since whenever I needed a tonic."

THIRTY-SIX DEALER MEETINGS HELD BY CHEV. MOTOR CO

Detroit, Mich., April 11.—Keen enthusiasm over the industrial outlook for the coming Summer and Fall was voiced here today by officials of the Chevrolet Motor Company upon their return from the country-wide dealer meetings that brought them into direct contact with representatives of every city, town and hamlet in the United States.

Thirty-six such meetings, held at as many key centers during the past ten weeks, afforded the Chevrolet executives an excellent opportunity to see and study at first hand the various factors that determine the business future.

Confidence that the abnormal prosperity enjoyed last year would continue in accelerated measure well into 1928 was expressed by R. H. Grant, vice-president in charge of sales, whose official party traveled throughout the East, and H. J. Klinger, general sales manager, who headed a second group that covered the West.

Among the favorable factors noted were: Small and relatively few areas of depression; no disturbing political issues; widespread employment, with unemployment at normal; a Winter and Spring advantageous to the farmer; large building and construction programs under way, and a general realization that the "presidential year" bugaboo is purely a mental hazard and not a deterrent to business.

The Middle West farmer is in a particularly advantageous position, Mr. Klinger reported. "Farm prices are now for the first time since the War on a level with other commodities; the weather this Winter and Spring is favorable to good crop yields, and inflated lands values have generally subsided. Farming in now on a stabilized, healthy and normal basis. The farmer is prosperous and his prosperity, because of the basic nature of the industry, is reflected throughout our economic system.

"In the Rock Mountain and Pacific Coast states industry is humming; curtailment of over-production of oil and lumber has had a healthy and stabilizing effect in the South and Northwest section, and crop prospects are everywhere excellent. Coast reports also are growing. Huge building projects under way throughout this district, and the unqualified optimism of the people backing them, show the tremendous importance which the West Coast is destined to have in our national growth and welfare.

Similar healthy undertones of optimism prevail throughout the East, Mr. Grant said. He pointed out that New England made such a phenomenal recovery from the several natural calamities which befell it last Fall that during the early part of 1928 NewEngland led the entire United States in percentage of Chevrolet sales over quota, with every indication that the fundamental economic soundness that made that showing possible would continue.

Reports of unemployment in the North Atlantic states were discounted by the Chevrolet sales head on the basis of personal observation and from reports of Secretary of Labor Davis stating that there are 42,000,000 people gainfully employed in the United States

Mr. Grant paid high tribute to the youth for the forward programs that are bringing that section rapidly to the front in national importance. This was recently evidenced by the Chevrolet Motor Company with the opening of regional headquarters at Dallas and Atlanta to maintain more intimate contact with the section, and with the building at Atlanta of a $2,500,000 assembly plant to supply cars exclusively to the Southern market.

Among the favorable factors noted by Mr. Grant were huge road building programs that will bring increased wealth to the South, crop diversification, and opening of textile mills and other industries that are giving the South a manufacturing character.

In line with these enthusiastic predictions, the Chevrolet Motor Company is proceeding with the heaviest production and sales schedules it has ever undertaken. Old records have consistently fallen every month so far this year, while the 1928 program calls for a substantial increase over even the record outlet of a million cars and trucks in 1927.

ALL-DAY SINGING AT MT. CREEK CHURCH, APRIL 22TH

MISS KATIE LIMBRICK DIED AT BILLINGSLEY APRIL 2

On April 2, the death angel visited the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Limbrick and took from their home their daughter Katie, who was nearing her 25th birthday. Miss Limbrick joined the M. P. Church at the age of 10 years and has been an untiringworker these fifteen years, a teacher in the Sunday School. She was Secretary of Sunday School, church organist, and in fact, a leader in every occasion where she could better her church or community. Her death has created a vacancy in her home, in her church, and in her community, that cannot be filled. Only through God's directing and upholding them are her parents, brothers and sisters, her relativs and friends able to bear her loss.

Weep not, bereaved ones, your loss is Heaven's gain. Remember, that within a few yeou may be re-united, where there are no tears, sighs or heart aches, but one glad triumphant song around God's throne.

DICKSON LOSES SUIT IN DINSMORE DEATH

Birmingham, Ala., April 5.—A verdict for $7,500 was returned late Wednesday by a jury in Judge Denson's court, in favor of Mrs. Byna Dinsmore, widow of Marvin A. (Colonel) Dinsmore, who sued City Commissioner W. E. Dickson for the fatal injury received last year by her husband while in an automobile driven by Mr. Dickson.

The jury returned a verdict at 8 p. m. Wednesday after being out nearly four hours. The case went to trial Tuesday morning and the jury was finally released at 4:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Close Friends

In the case, which attracted widespread interest in city political circles, the widow of Mr. Dinsmore brought suit against one of her husband's closest friends.

"Col." Dinsmore and Commissioner Dickson were frequently in each others company at the City Hall during the last four years of Dinsmore's life. In 1921 the two were opponents in the race for the City Commission, and Dickson won out over Dinsmore by about 300 votes for fith place on the commission.

Mr. Dinsmore was fatally injured on the night of July 6, while enroute to Montgomery in a car with Commissioner Dickson and Robert E. Sessions. The accident occurred about a mile south of Verbena, and 70 miles from Birmingham. The car overturned and Mr. Dinsmore suffered concussion of the brain, dying three days later in a hospital at Clanton. Mr. Sessions was also injured.

Although the suit was brought against Commissioner Dickson, it is understood that Commissioner Dekson is protected by an automobile liability policy.

Attorneys Altman and Koenig represented the plaintiff, while Walter Brower an Jim Smith were counsel for the defendant.

about one month. The plans for this modern little home were laid out by Mrs. John T. Ellis. They expect to occupy the house as soon as it is completed.

Mr. J. B. Downs is completing a modern seven room, brick and tile bungalow just below south Clanton, on the Birmingham-Montgomery highway. This home is to be one of the most most modern and attractive homes located in Chilton County outside the city limits of Clanton. Mr. Downs states that the house will be completed within a few days and ready for occupancy.

Mr. J. Lee Smith of the J. Lee Smith Grocery Co., stated to a representative of the News that the large new home for his wholesale business, on South Seventh Street is rapidly nearing completion. The building is fifty feet by 126 feet, reaching to the side tracks of the L. & N. railway. Mr. Smith has in connection with this building, a warehouse constructed of frame work and corrugated iron.

Mr. A. L. Popwell will erect a one-story brick building on the lot between Hodges Dry Goods Co., and Popwell's Watch Repair Shop, on Second Avenue, known as Main Street. The contract was awarded to Mr. Perry Mims of this city. The work will begin in the near future, according to Mr. Popwell. It is rumored that a part of the building will be occupied by a grocery store.

Usually when this company enlarges its plants it constructs a splendid building which any town or city can be proud of, and if the people continue to co-operate with the Southern Bell Telephone Company, we feel confident that Clanton will soon have one of these buildings, which will add to our growth and make the town more attractive.

Millions of Model T Fords are still in active service

FOR nearly twenty years, the Model T Ford led the motor industry and it still is used by more people than any other automobile. More than eight million Model T Fords are in active service today—an indication of their sturdy worth, reliability and economy.

Because of the tremendous investment which people have in these cars and because so many of them will be driven for two, three, and even five more years, the Ford Motor Company will continue to make replacement parts until, as Henry Ford himself says, "the last Model T is off the road."

For the Ford Motor Company has always believed that its full duty consists not only in making a good automobile at a low price, but also in keeping it running efficiently for you as long as possible at a minimum of expense.

No matter where you live, therefore, you can still buy Model T Ford parts with the same assurance as formerly, knowing that they will give you the kind of service you have a right to expect, and at the same time protect the money you have invested in your car.

All Ford replacement parts, as you may know, are made of the same materials and in the same way as those from which your car was originally assembled, and are low in price because of the established Ford policy.

So that you may get the greatest use from your Model T Ford over the longest period of time, we suggest that you take the car to the nearest Ford dealer and have him estimate on the cost of any replacement parts which may be necessary. You may find that a very small expenditure will maintain the value of your car and will be the means of giving you thousands of miles of additional service.

VOLUME 6 — CLANTON, ALABAMA, THURSDAY APRIL 19, 1928 — NUMBER 29

B. H. Jones Writes About County Roads

Condemns Condition of Old Maplesville - Clanton Road

In last week's issue of the Union Banner, there appeared the following letter, which we belive may be of interest to our readers. It is as follows:

Clanton, Ala., April 10, 7928

Editor Union Banner;

After reading the Grand Jury report in last week's Union Banner on the roads in this county I feel it my duty to make to the Editor and the readers of your paper a truthful report of the condition of the old Clanton and Maplesville road from the Silas old sawmill place to what is known as the Deadwily place.

Curtis LeCroy lives at the 10-mile post on this road. A few days ago he carried a load of corn to Clanton and he had to go twenty miles to get there with the load. Last week a Mr. Popwell came down after a load of seed cane and had to make the same round Mr. LeCroy made to get out.

About the only work done on this road in the last two years was to fill up a mud hole with gravel when it became impossible to get around it. And the road machine only scraped over this road lightly.

On five miles of this road, to the Walter Headley place where it intersects the old Dixie road, there are 23 families living and 103 people, and between two and three hundred people who use the road more or less to and from Maplesville and Clanton.

There has not a grub, stump, or tree been moved off this road since Doc Roberson went the first trip over it with a road machine twelve years ago The road has been narrowed in many places instead of from the McGraw place to Benson Cross roads is in just as bad condition.

To travel up and down the L & N Railroad and its towns one will know, where the road money is being spent. We are tax payers and law-abiding citizens as well as the people in the eastern part of the county and we ask the road authorities to investigate these roads and give us what belongs to us on roads. —B. H. Jones, Clanton, Route 7.

J. A. M. JACKS CONDEMNS ROADS ON RURAL ROUTE 8

Clanton, Ala., Route 8

To the patrons of Rural Route No.8;-

The roads on our route are getting in an awful shape for the carrier to go over. Every day it is out of the question to get a machine to go over them until they get parking grounds, and the roads to same finished so the wild sports of the country can have a good time while the farmers have to go over bad roads or stay at home.

OFFICERS GILLESPIE AND MURRAH MAKE ARREST

Federal Prohibition Officer, W. H. Gillespie and Deputy Sheriff, George Murrah, with way bill in hand and everything ready for the drive, motored out in Beat 16, near Providence last Monday to see if everything was ready for the boil of the mixture they call beer, by someone who had constructed a nice wild cat still out in the woods in that precinct.

After arriving and surveying the situation, they finally crept up to the boiling apparatus, which was churning away with the usual hum of a distilling outfit and found one Jim Caten there watching the outfit produce a real stream of spirits of fermenti. Of course they destroyed the still and some three hundred gallons of beer and mash and brought Mr. Caten to Clanton, where it is said thhy placed charges against him for violating the prohibition laws of Alabama. Pity that these efficient officers were not on the hill side near the place where the setting sun, on a September afternoon last year furnished such a beautiful scene for the reporter, and where the river waters rippling down through the valley of the Chilton and Coosa hills caused such a sensational feeling to some of our countrymen that they were capable of delivering orations like the silver tongued orators of years ago, or either singing songs in keeping with any of our modern primma donnas. Yet Jim will have to take the curse laid out for the hickory shirt boys, as usual.

HAVE YOU ENROLLED IN COKESBURY SCHOOL?

All Denominations Cordially Invited To Join Classes In the Work

Have you enrolled in the study classes to be conducted next week at the Methodist Church? Every Sunday School worker in Clanton and adjoining communities would find profit in the course in the "Small Sunday School" to be taught by Mr. H. L. Tate. This is not a denominational study. Mr. Green taught a similar course in Eutaw some months since and had only one more Methodist in the class than the sum of Baptist and Christian. You are invited and will be profited by the study regardless of your church affiliation.

All adult Methodists (and others of open minds) who do not take the course on the Sunday School will be interested, instructed and we believe profited by a course in the meaning of Church membership, taught by Mr. Green. The text book to be read will be Dr. Geo. R. Stuarts' "What Every Methodist Should Know," but the Rev. A. F. Gibson of Clanton, R. F. D. was in Clanton last Tuesday, looking after some legal matters and while here gave us some interesting stories about the way the old school lawyers handled legal matters when he was a young man. His ability to relate the happenings of his boyhood days are always interesting and he cannot be beat, when it comes to telling a real nice wholesome joke, and he has one for every occasion.

EVERY DEMOCRAT SHOULD VOTE MAY 8

In this issue of the News is a list of the Democratic candidates to be voted on in the forthcoming primary election. The men on this list are all well qualified for the places which they are asking the Democrats to nominate or elect them. We urge the readers of this paper to investigate the candidates and vote for those who will render the people the best service, in office.

Every Democrat of this county should make it a point to cast his vote in the primary. The candidates who have opposition are entitled to have the voters decide which one should be nominated, and if only a small number of the Democrats vote in the primary, the best man may be defeated, who otherwise would be nominated, or elected if the entire vote of his party is cast. Those candidates who have no opposition should have the vote of the entire party as an expression from the voters of their confidence and as a proffer of their moral support after their election.

The Democratic party of Alabama has rendered her people a clean, honorable and progressive administration of governmental affairs and has a record that is free from corruption and defalcations in office. The National affairs under the Wilson administration although confronted from start to finish with tasks that looked impossible to perform, was clean, honest and the most progressive of any in the history of the government.

The farmers of this county and state were receipients of good prices for their cotton and other products during the Wilson administration and with all the number of persons employed by the government during the war which was no small number, there was no frauds and scandals. The fact that searching investigations were made by the republican administration after assuming the reins of government in 1921, and nothing was brought to surface by this oiled machine, is evidence of the clean, fair and honest administration of affairs by the Democratic party, while in power.

COMMUNICATIONS MUST BE SIGNED

Every newspaper is forced, from a standpoint of self protection to require that all communications be signed in the correct name of the contributor in his or her handwriting. It seems that the public is slow to learn this fact and it becomes necessary at intervals for every paper to call it to the attention of its readers.

Frequently the News must omit publishing news items of value or interesting comment on some matter because the name of the writer is not signed nor is there any indication as to where the communication comes from.

In news items the name of the contributor is never published and, if requested, it will be omitted from the publication of other articles. But as stated, we must have the name of the writer in order to protect ourselves against those who would abuse the privilege by havng articles published which are not founded on fact.

The News welcomes contributions in the form of news items and letters on current questions, limiting the subjects of the latter only to the extent that none can be published where the interest of some candidate for local or state office is sought to be furthered or damaged, or where controversy over religious beliefs might be generated. But contributors should bear in mind the invariable rule of all newspaper offices: Such articles must be signed.

CLANTON GIRL TO TAKE PART IN UNIQUE EXPERIMENT

One of Clanton's popular young women, Miss Jean Johnson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Johnson, a student at Alabama College, will take part in a unique experiment which will be undertaken this year by the college home economics department. Miss Johnson, with other members of the classes in child care study, has volunteered for special hostess duty to the college "grandchildren" who have been invited to attend commencement exercises.

It is expected that more than one hundred children of former students will accompany the mothers who attend the annual meeting of the Alumnae Association at the college during commencement week. A program has been arranged which includes a special menu for the children, games and other recreational features, and nursery facilities for the very young ones who will need extra care. A special feature of the program will be the picture to be taken of the children, with their mothers and the group of young women students who volunteered for hostess duty.

Why do some people go to church? and Why do some stay away from Church? and when people go, for what do they go? "Who goes to Church, and why?" will be the subject at the Methodist Church next Sunday morning, April 22.

LOCAL MASONS TAKING MUCH INTEREST IN LODGE

Clanton Lodge 423. A. F. & A. M., at its last meeting confered the Master's degree on two candidates, Evan Parrish and J. Walter Teel, of Clanton, Alabama. During the past ten months, Clanton Lodge has been very active and under the leadership of its present officers, Guy Higgins, W. M.; C. C. Marcus, S. W.; Grady Harris, J. W.; J. E. Edgar, S. D.; M. B. Arant, J. D.; G. C. Harris, Secretary, and J. R. Mullins, Treasurer, the lodge will, this year, completes one of its most successful years. The lodge and its officers are to be congratulated upon their having rebuilt and renewed the fraternal spirit which should prevail among the craft.

It has been said that a good secretary is the life of a lodge and if that aphorism is true, Clanton Lodge is very much alive, as Mr. Harris very seldom allows the brethren to be suspended for N P D's, and unless prevented by sickness he is always on the job.

Following the sermon the second quarterly conference of 1928 was held with 12 of the 20 church officers present.

May Day Festival To Be Staged Here

Queen to be Elected; Gay Costumes and Dances to be Among Features

The May Day Festival to be staged at the Chilton County High School is scheduled for Thursday afternoon, May 3, 1928.

Minuets, flower dances, doll dances and gaily colored costumes are to be among the features of the afternoon, and the main feature is to be the election of a May Day Queen from a group of girls who have been nominated by the student body of the Chilton County High School. The nominees for the May Queen are: Misses Velma Spencer, Mildred Danforth, Feryl Martin, Gladys Williams, Carrie Foshee, Mary Goodwin Jones and Gertie Fiquette. Votes are for sale at Moore's, Upchurch Drug Co. and Alred Drug Co.

The contest closes on the night of Friday, April 27, and the last votes will be taken up on that night, at the High School auditorium between the acts of the play "Little Miss Jack" which is to be staged at the High School on that night. The cast of the play is made up of picked talent, and is said to be one of the best four-act plays ever put on here.

This is the first time Clanton has had the pleasure of witnessing anything in the way of a May Day festival to our knowledge, and this gay occasion is predicted to be one that those who attend will not soon forget. The gaiety will begin about four o'clock and continue for several hours. Admission will be 20 and 25 cents. Refreshments will be sold.

The girls athletic department of the Athletic Club of the High School under the direction of Miss Betty Lewis are sponsors of this occasion, and the proceeds are to go to the advancement of athletics for girls at the Chilton County High School.

COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD SELECTS NEW PRINCIPAL

New Man To Succeed Elsworth Ellis, Who Has Advanced School's Rating

The Chilton County Board of Education on the recommendation of its Superintendent, B. Lawrence, at a meeting last Wednesday, April 11, elected Prof. L. C. Warr, Principal of the Chilton Cohnty High School for the scholastic year of 1928-29.

Mr. Warr succeeds Prof. Elsworth Ellis, who has been principal of the school for the past two years and during that time has improved the standing of the school to one of the best in the state, it having been admitted to the Southern Association of High Schools early this year.

Prof. Warr is a graduate of the 3rd. District Agriculture School, at Abbeville, Alabama, State Normal School at Troy, George Peabody College at Nashville, Tenn., receiving a B. S. degree at the latter. He is a graduate student of the Columbia University of New York City and comes to Clanton from Luverne, Alabama where he has been principal of the Crenshaw county high school for the past three years. He served with distinction in the late war and has 14 years experience in school administration.

The Chilton County High school will graduate a large class this year and is ending one of its most successful years, which is due to the co-operation of the County Superintendent of Education, B. Lawrence, the faculty and the P - T. A. 's of Clanton and Chilton County.

Mrs. V. J. Gragg spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Will Roper at Speigener. She was accompanied home by her little daughter, Elizabeth.

More Economic Cotton Production Needed

Cotton Contest Being Conducted by J. P. Montgomery of Jemison School

"In an ffort to demonstrate to the farmers in Chilton County that cotton can be produced at a price per pound that will assure a farmer a reasonable margin of profit, twenty farmers of my Adult Evening School at Freeman s school house, have entered a cotton production contest this year. Fifteen farmers, who attended my evening school at Pleasant Grove, also entered this contest," states J. P. Montgomery of Jemison High School.

He says: "The total acreage, which will be grown by the twenty farmers in the Freeman school community is 194, while the acreage represented by farmers in the Pleasant Grove community is 112.

"These farmers", explained Mr. Montgomery, "will fertilize their cotton according to the recommendations of the Alabama Experiment Station using acid phosphate, nitrate of soda and muriate of potash. Years of carefully conducted experiments have proven that the above fertilizer materials in the following proportion give best results; namely, 400 pounds acid phosphate, 200 pounds of nitrate of soda and 50 pounds of muriate of potash per acre and irrespective of the amount per acre the ingredients should be mixed in the above proportions. The phosphate, one-fourth of the nitrate of soda and the potash should be put down not later than planting and the remaining three-fourths of the soda should be used as a side application just before the cotton begins to square or at about the second plowing after chopping."

"Correct fertilization", according to Mr. Montgomery, "is one of the surest ways of producing cotton at a lower cost per pound. In the Georgia Cotton Contest last year the ten contestants with the highest yield made an average of 956 pounds of lint cotton per acre as compared with 176 pounds of lint for the ten lowest. "COOL KNIGHTS" MAKES BIG HIT HERE THIS WEEK

"Cool Knights", a clever three-act musical comedy was presented here Tuesday and Wednesday evenings to a packed auditorium at the High School auditorium. The play was given under the direction of Miss Lucille Phillips, and was sponsored by the local P. T. A. of the Grammar School.

"Cool Knghts" is one of the most clever musical comedies ever presented in Clanton and was an unusual success.

The comedy was enacted with naive charm and "pep." For local talent the play went over great. The costumes were very chic and adapted beautifully to the setting. The stage was effectively decorated for the out-door scenes. Most notable of the talent was Misses Willodean Reynolds, Sara Pollard, Lucille Sherwood, Mavis Grantham and Marzelle Mullins, who provoked quite a bit of mirth throughout the entire performance. The part of the dean was most admirably depicted by Mrs. E. E. Smith, who had the play well in haud at all times.

The part of the hero Phil, was well carried out by Burton Mullins, who was well supported by Vernie Teel, Barney Burnett, L. C. Hendricks, Dewey Smith. Sam, the black face comedian played by Mitch Williams, provoked quite a bit of laughter. The part of the professor well received and acted splendidly by Mr. E. E. Smith.

Special praise should be given the chorus girls who were indeed as graceful as nymphs.

The special features were dances by Theda Wyatt and Mary Heard. Little Miss Wyatt danced the Charleston and Mis Mary Heard, beautifuly attired in a ballet costume, gave a graceful toe dance.

Long Troubled by Constipation

"Black-Draught has been a family medicine with us for fifteen years," says Mr. F. M. Huntley, of Neosho, Mo. "I read about it first in the Ladies Birthday Almanac and what I read there sounded so convincing I made up my mind to try Black-Draught, as I had been troubled with constipation for a long time.

"I found Black-Draught to be the ideal medicine for this trouble. It gave me quick relief. Frequently I had bad headaches and pains, due to toxic poison. By taking a course of Black-Draught I gave my system a thorough cleansing, and I have had little or no trouble since then.

"Now, if I am becoming constipated, I take several small doses of Black-Draught, and am very soon feeling fine."

MARY ANTIN, WELL KNOWN WRITER, TELLS EXPERIENCES

Education was free. That subject my father had written about repeatedly a comprising his chief hope for us children, the essence of American opportunity, the treasure that no thief could touch, not even misfortune or poverty. It was the one thing that he was able to promise us when he sent for us; surer, safer, than breath or shelter. On our second day I was thrilled with the realization of what this freedom of education meant. A little girl from across the alley came and offered to conduct us to school. My father was out, but we five between us had a few words of English by this time. We knew the word school. We understood. This child who had never seen us till yesterday, who could not pronounce our names, who was not much better dressed than we, was able to offer us the freedom of the schools of Boston! No application was made, no questions asked, no examinations, no rulings, exclusions: no fees. The doors stood open for every one of us. The smallest child could show us the way. This incident impressed me more than anything I had heard in advance of the freedom of education in America. It was a concrete proof—almost the thing itself. One had to experience it to understand it.

It was a great disappointment to be told by my father that we were not to enter upon our school career at once. It was too near the end of the term, he said. We had to wait until the opening of the schools in September. What a loss of precious time—from May until September!—not that the time was really lost. Even the interval on Union Place was crowded with lessons and experiences. We had to visit the stores and be dressed from head to foot in American clothing; we had to learn the mysteries of the iron stove, the washboard and the speaking tube; we had to learn to trade with the peddler through the window and not to be afraid of the policeman; and above all, we had to learn English.

The kind people who assisted us in these important matters form a group by themselves in the gallery of my friends.—Mary Antin.

HOSPITAL EFFORT NOW IN PROGRESS

Thousands Of Workers In Alabama And West Florida Aim At Million Dollars

On Monday, April 16, an intensive campaign extending throughout Alabama and West Florida in behalf of two great Memorial Hospitals, a new one to be constructed in Birmingham, and one now located in Montgomery, got under way. Over 200 campaign committees, in as many communities, are supervising the labor of thousands of individual workers soliciting public-spirited citizens in behalf of this great humanitarian cause. The campaign will continue until April 28.

One million dollars is the goal aimed at. One-half of this sum will go toward the construction of a fine new Memorial Hospital in Birmingham, to serve the people of North Alabama, while the other half will be used to carry out a well-planned expansion and improvement program for the Memorial Hospital situated in Montgomery which serves the people of South Alabama and West Florida.

For People of Moderate Income

"Modern Hospitals for Modest Incomes," is the slogan of the campaign. It sums up the purpose to provide the best in hospital service to people in moderate circumstances at rates they can afford to pay.

In addition, a great charity program is contemplated. Memorial Hospital with its cramped facilities last year treated 2,017 patients, of whom one out of every six was a charity patient. A free general clinic for the poor and a contageous disease ward are other features planned for each hospital.

Indicative of the wide extent of Memorial Hospital service, in 1927, patients from 198 communities in Alabama and West Florida were treated.

Beds and Nurses Urgently Needed

The urgent need of additional hospital facilities in Alabama is reflected in American Medical Association figures, which show that Alabama should have two and one-half times as many general hospital beds and four times as many registered nurses as it has now to equal the average for the entire country, in proportion to population. Grave consequences might arise from such a situation in the event of an epidemic or unforeseen calamity such as visited the Mississippi Valley, St. Louis or California recently, doctors point out.

One of the outstanding activities of Memorial Hospital work is its training of nurses. This work will be extended greatly under the new program dependent upon the present campaign.

The Memorial Hospitals will also offer increased facilities for medical research and modern surgery. The span of human life has risen 13 years in the past 30, and authorities predict that we will all live a century in the not very distant future. Surgical operations that were once fraught with great peril to life are now practically without danger. These results can be traced directly to the advantages offered by hospitals, both to patients and to those who heal them.

Memorial Gifts

Contributors of substantial amounts have the privilege of creating a definite hospital unit and having it permanently identified with their own names and the names of departed or living relatives, friends or business associates by means of suitably inscribed memorial tablets. For subscribers of $100 or more who are unable to donate this sort of a memorial gift, a special Memorial Wall will be built in each hospital with their names inscribed in alphabetical order. Towns, churches or other entities may have rooms named after them by subscribing the amounts required for their construction and equipment.

Two and One-Half Years To Pay

All subscriptions will be payable in ten equal quarterly payments extending over a period of two and one-half years commencing July 1.

The Memorial Hospital will be non-denominational and open to all creeds and classes without distinction of any sort. Last year 25 different religious beliefs as people without any religious affiliation, were represented among the patients as well. Though under Methodist auspices, patients of other beliefs considerably outnumbered the Methodists last year; and this year, so far, more Baptist than Methodists are being treated.

Campaign Committee

Headquarters for the campaign are at 701 Vandiver Building, Montgomery, where all inquiries should be addressed. Those who desire to contribute but are not reached by a solicitor, may send their subscriptions to J. L. Gaston, Treasurer, at headquarters. Literature will be gladly sent on request.

Dr. B. J. Baldwin is chairman of the Campaign Executive Committee; Gen. R. E. Steiner vice-chairman, and Dr. J. S. Chadwick secretary. Others on the committee are Gov. W. W. Brandon, J. Bruce Airey, E. R. Berry, J. E. Britt, Judge R. B. Carr, J. L. Carroll, Mrs. W. B. Crumpton, A. C. Davis, J. Hubert Farmer, J. E. Finlay, Humphrey Foy, Judge Leon McCord, R. Oscar Noojin, Judge A. G. Patterson, C. C. Peake, J. E. Z. Riley, Dr. E. M. Robinson, J. O. Smith, D. T. Tatum, J. Callaway Thomas, J. H. Walston, I. Weil, L. B. Whitfield, A. T. Wilkinson and Judge R. H. Williams.

CARD OF THANKS

To the many friends who so sweetly ministered unto our wife and mother in her recent illness, and death, and let me in a humbl way, as best I can, with words express all of our thanks.

Mrs. N. Duffee, of Jemison, having been ill for some six weeks or more and who died at 10:50 Tuesday night, April 10, 1928, had been in ill health for most two years.

We wish to say to all the people at Jemison and surounding community, and many friends in Birmingham and elsewhere that we have never met with and been treated sweeter and better by any people, in any community, and at any time, and we desire to make known to the world that we are so proud to live with and have lived with so noble a people.

In the death of the mother and wife we have lost one of the sweetest mothers and best wives ever, and we miss her so much as there is none who can take her place.

The wonderful services rendered by friends with the funeral and friends at Verbena who looked after the grave, and assisted there, and to all for the wonderful, sweet, God given flowers that spoke so sweetly of love and admiration of those left behind and honor to the one gone before. All of which inspires us to live better and to never tire in aiding and assisting in the care of the sick and needy, we again thank all.

N. Duffee, and children.

CHILTON TIED WITH MONTEVALLO HIGH LAST FRIDAY 5-5

Chilton's baseball team went to Montevallo last Friday afternoon to engage Montevallo High. The game was a tie, 5-5, which was called at the end of the 9th inning so that some of the members of the Chilton team who were members of the cast of characters of "Am I Intruding?" could return home in time to put on the show at Verbena High School.

The game was played on a rough ground, hence several errors by both teams were made. Edwards had the better of a pitching duel with Kendrick. Edwards struck out 12 batters and Kendrick 9.

When Montevallo comes to Clanton in the near future the tie will be played off, as well as the regular scheduled game, giving us a double-header with them. The date has not been announced.

Bruner batted for Edwards in 9th and pitched last 2 innings.

Score by innings:

Chilton—010 010 210—5

Montevallo—000 103 010—5

J. Wash Mims Died In Temple Community

Was 58 Years Old and Spent Less Than a Week Outside of Chilton County

The last few minutes of Friday, April 13, carried with them the spirit of J. Wash Mims, of Temple Community.

Mr. Mims was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. A. Mims, better known as "Uncle John" and "Aunt Penn" Mims and was born September 24, 1869. He was the oldest of six children. Mrs. Walter Maddox, Mrs. Sam Johnson, E. P. Mims, G. N. Mims, all survive him, another sister, Mrs. C. C. Baker having died several years ago. At the time of his death he was 58 years, 6 months and 19 days old.

J. Wash Mims was born and reared in Chilton County. In all his life he spent less than a week outside the boundaries of Chilton, leaving the county only four times—going to Montgomery one time on a shpping trip, and three times visiting relatives at Sylacauga. He stayed at home, attended to his own business, molesting no one, and was for a long time considered one of the mainstays of his community. His neighbors called upon him for able advice, knowing that his advice and opinions could be depended upon at all times. An energetic worker, a highly reputable citizen, a true Christian, a man without reproach, and highly honored and respected among his neighbors and by all who knew him, "Uncle Jimmie" was truly a man among men. He was ever at the command of any who were in need of his service, and it can truthfully be said that his community, county, state and country is much better for his having lived.

The passing of such a man as J. Wash Mims is a distinct loss to the community, and we join with the family and his many friends and acquaintances in mourning the untimely passing of one so willing and able, realizing the great loss that is ours.

Since the death of a grand daughter some six months ago, he was very noticably different from the old jovial self, stating on several occasions that his earthly task was done, and that he eagerly awaited the call of his Creator, that he might enjoy that peace and rapture for which he had so humbly lived and labored, and which is his without doubt.

After suffering with Pneumonia, since April 1st, he had an attack of paralysis of the brain about 10 o'clock Friday night, from which he died less than two hours later.

In early life he was married to Miss Mary Jane Johnson, and to this union three daughters, Mrs. Monroe Baker, Mrs. Claud Baker and Mrs. Sewell Driver, were born. His wife and daughters all survive him, as well as his father, and the brothers and sisters above named. As proof of the esteem in which he was held, throngs took the opportunity of looking upon his face for the last time, and the church was filled to overflowing during the funeral service and other proceedings.

Funeral ceremonies were conducted by Rev. Bell of Mattoon, Ill., with Martin in charge. His remains were laid to rest Sunday morning in the cemetery at Temple church, of which he had been a member for over 25 years.

We bow in submission to wisdom superior to our own, knowing that the will of our Creator must be done, and hoping and striving that we may meet our brother again where happiness shall reign forever, and tears and heartaches will never be known.

DOMINO TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD AT CLANTON

There are many good domino players, "bone heads," so to speak, in Chilton County, and several have expressed the desire that a County domino tournament be held to determine who really is the "King of Bone Heads of Chilton County." As there are many old heads at the game, such an event should arounse quite a bit of interest. In other counties of the state the domino and checker tournament are annual events, providing four or five evenings of unusual interest for contestants. An as so many of the fellows seem to want the tournament, we will set forth the usual form and rules under which these contests are held.

1. Fee for admission to the contest as a contestant is $1.00, which, after deducting enough to pay for dominoes and any other expense that might arise, goes toward the purchase of a silver loving cup to be given to the winner. Anyone winning the cup three years in succession receives it to keep, and his name is engraved on the proper place on the cup. After the first year, or until another cup must be bought, the money from fees may be used in any manner the contestants decide, but is generally divided into smaller prizes.

2. Contestants meet at a designated place at a given time, where drawings are held, and usually the contestants for first elimination are: 1 vs. 2, 3 vs. 4, etc., after which this rule is followed in later eliminations. Series usually consist of winning first six games out of eleven, in all matches, elemination and final.

3. At each table, besides the players, there is a scorer, who acts as judge of all situations that may arise; also, each player appoints a man to sit beside his opponent, to check his play, to to overdraws, etc. An overdraw is sufficient cause for forfeiture of the game to opponent of player who has overdrawn.

So, all you old "heads" who think you are good or that Lady Luck is camping on your trail just let us know. If a sufficient number enter the contest before the next issue of the County papers, or if it seems that there may be enough by May 1st, we will make further announcement. Accompany your application with $1.00, check or money order, (don't send currency), to Paul C. Mims, Box F, Clanton, Ala. A report of how things are coming will be published next week. Unless entry fee accompanies application to the contest you will not be allowed to enter. Please get your application in this week if possible so that it may be ascertained just what to expect. Come, "bone heads," let's hear from you!

CHAMPION 4-H GIRLS FOR ALABAMA NAMED

Auburn, Ala., April 16.,—The two club girls who will represent Alabama at the second National 4-H Club Congress in Washington during June, 1928, have been named. They are Miss Bonnie Keltz of Elberta, Baldwin County, and Miss Agnes Whetstone of the Hanover club out from Goodwater in Coosa County.

These winners are announced by Miss Helen Johnston, State chairman, committee on home demonstration work, Auburn. The winners in 1927 were Miss Lizzie Mae Dees and Miss Bettie Raoul of Montgomery County.

Miss Keltz has been in club work seven years. She had two years of poultry, one of sewing, one of canning, one of home improvement, and two in foods. She has seven certificates and one diploma; in addition to winning several prizes at community fairs and a blue ribbon for being a 100 per cent health girl.

Miss Whetstone has a unique record in 4-H club work in which she has been engaged five years. During these five years she has missed only two of her club meetings. Measles caused her to miss one, and the other was caused by her being at Auburn at a State short course for 4-H girls.

Miss Whetstone and Miss Keltz are community leaders also. Each has attended a State short course at Auburn which means that each was a county winner before coming to Auburn.

These two girls and two 4-H club boys will represent Alabama at the Washington Club Congress. They will be accompanied by representatives of the extension service.

Mr. Leon Mullins of Lock 18, spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Nick Mullins.

ALABAMA FARMER PROTECTED FROM TEXAS PINK BOLL WORM

That Alabama cotton farmers will receive every protection from the inroads of the pink boll worm, now a ravaging pest in parts of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico, comes as positive assurance from the State Board of Agriculture, which authorized a quarantine against Texas cotton, cotton seed and household goods, effective April 15, 1928.

Sensing the imminent peril to Alabama cotton interests, Commissioner of Agriculture S. M. Dunwoody authorized B. P. Livingston, entomologist of the Department, to investigate Texas condition in detail. The report of this scientist was given to the State Board of Agriculture, and it at once hastened to enact a quarantine with heavy penalties of fine and imprisonment against the importation of Texas cottonseed.

JEMISON PLEASED WITH SHIPMENT OF POULTRY

By J. P. Montgomery

The farmers of Jemison and Thorsby are well pleased with the carload shipment of poultry thru the Farm Bureau. Three thousand three hundred and forty three pounds of poultry was loaded on the car at Jemison. Mr. Sylvest, who accompanied the car states that the shipment was unusually large for a town the size of Jemison on its first venture.

The merchants of Thorsby and Jemison lent enthusiasm and encouragement to this cooperative idea. They assisted in the advertisement of same, many brought poultry to the car and some made special efforts to have plenty of money on hand to cash the checks. Such a spirit can only be highly appreciated by the farmers, by Mr. Stapp, by Mr. Boyd, secretary of the Farm Bureau and all others interested in the welfare of Chilton County.

Mr. Stapp states that the Bureau may have another car through in about six weeks.

CHICKEN SALE WAS BETTER THAN EXPECTED

According to those who had charge of the project, it is stated that the chicken sale in Chilton County last week was far better than was expected. The total sales amounted to $2,670.74, which was paid in cash to farmers at Maplesville, Verbena, Clanton and Jemison.

The car was at Verbena last Wednesday afternoon, at Clanton all of Thursday, and at Jemison Friday morning. The car was at Maplesville Thursday. The shipment of poultry in these cars was made direct to New York City.

The Chilton County Farm Bureau, with County Agent C. E. Stapp, sponsored this method of marketing poultry in carloads lots. The shipment is made to distant markets, which, according to Farm Bureau officials, will serve to get off our surplus stock at a good price, and will take much of the surplus off the local markets in this State, thus keeping the price of local chicken sale up to a higher peak.

The prices paid at the cars were as follows: Hens 18 and 20 cents; cocks 9 cents; friers 34 cents; turks 24 cents. Mr. Stapp states that the Farm Bureau is arranging for another chicken sale in about six weeks.
